" To His Excellency Major General Sir
 " Richard Bourke, K. C. B., Governor and
 " Commander-in-Chief of the Territory of
 " New South Wales and its Dependencies,
 " &c. &c. &c.

WE, the undersigned, landholders and inhabitants of the District of Liverpool, respectfully approach Your Excellency on the important occasion of your arrival here this day, to testify our unabated attachment to you as the representative of our most gracious Sovereign, and of our personal esteem and respect for Your Excellency.

" We should be wanting in gratitude were we to omit the expression of our obligations to Your Excellency for the highly important benefits this District and the surrounding Country, must receive by the erection of that splendid structure Lansdowne Bridge, founded, completed, and now opened to the public under Your Excellency's direction.

Fully sensible of the interest you have at all times taken in the advancement of the Colony, and the advantages this Township and District will derive from the improvement contemplated, and now in progress, for the welfare and comfort of its inhabitants, we have the honor to remain, with great respect and sincere good wishes for the health and happiness of Your Excellency, your most obedient servants."

The following was His Excellency's reply :—

" I receive with much satisfaction the assurance of unabated loyalty to our gracious Sovereign, and the kind expression of attachment to his representative, contained in the address from the landholders and inhabitants of the District of Liverpool. The gratification it affords is much enhanced by the occasion of its presentation. I participate fully in the opinion expressed in the address, that this may be considered an important day in the history of Australia. It exhibits a work of art, of no mean value, the great resources of a Colony which but eight and forty years ago, was a waste wilderness, Whether the materials or the workmanship be examined, or the varied productions of this soil and climate which have been just now taken across it, the structure which has this day been appropriated to the public service, cannot fail to be regarded with interest and pleasure. It proves that means exist, and can be called into operation for extending the inland commerce, and securing a safe and easy communication between distant parts of this vast Country, and judging from what has been accomplished in less than half a century, under circumstances of greater difficulty than are likely to occur again, the inhabitants may anticipate the advancement of this their native or adopted Country, with a rapidity unknown to other lands, upon the unrivalled prosperity of the Colony. I beg leave to offer my sincere congratulations, and to assure them that no effort of this Government will be wanting to promote the welfare and happiness of all His Majesty's subjects in Australia."
