

NEW SOUTH WALES
GOVERNMENT GAZETTE.

Published by Authority.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29, 1837.

THE following Address was presented to His Excellency the GOVERNOR, at Port Phillip, on the 4th instant :—

To His Excellency Major-General Sir Richard Bourke, K. C. B., Captain General and Governor-in-Chief of the Territory of New South Wales and its Dependencies, &c. &c.

SIR,—We, the undersigned Inhabitants of Port Phillip, beg to approach your Excellency, and offer our congratulations upon your safe arrival in this portion of your Government.

The pleasure we experience in thus addressing your Excellency is enhanced by the consideration that your arrival dissipates the reports which had reached us of your Excellency's resignation, and bids us hope that the Colony may continue to derive advantage from the exercise of those talents which have always been exerted for, and have tended materially to advance its prosperity.

We cannot sufficiently thank your Excellency for having at so early a period visited this newly settled District. It is very important that the sites of towns, and other preliminary arrangements, should be speedily and efficiently determined, and we congratulate ourselves that these will be effected under your Excellency's personal superintendence.

We may perhaps be allowed to express our regret that so few are present to meet your Excellency on this occasion, but the absence of several from the District, and the distant position of the residences of others, have prevented many from manifesting their respect and attachment to your Excellency, and joining us in welcoming you to this interesting and important part of New South Wales.

[Here follow the Signatures.]

His Excellency's answer.

GENTLEMEN,—I thank you for the kind manner in which you have welcomed my arrival in this promising Settlement. In the belief that its future progress will realise the sanguine expectations entertained regarding it, I have felt very strongly the necessity of fixing at once those points of occupation which are obviously of the greatest importance, in order to prevent the waste of capital, and to give to the industry of the Settlers a permanent direction. In coming among you for this purpose, I see no reason, notwithstanding the temporary effects of a dry summer, to doubt the eminent adaptation of the vast tract of country by which you are surrounded, to those lucrative pastoral objects which have been so successfully pursued in other parts of this Colony. The fostering care of His Majesty's Government will, I am assured, be never wanting to promote and protect to the utmost those useful pursuits. The difficulty of introducing all the advantages of order and society into new and remote Settlements is well known, but I trust that in the present instance the praiseworthy disposition evinced by the Inhabitants will continue to characterise the District, and to aid the efforts of Government in securing its peace and prosperity.
