*Council Office, Sydney,
Tuesday, 29th May, 1838.*
COUNCIL.

THE Legislative Council having met this day pursuant to summons, His Excellency the GOVERNOR took the Chair, and after administering to the Members present the Oath of Allegiance to HER MAJESTY the QUEEN, read the following Address.

WM. MACPHERSON,
Clerk of Councils.

Gentlemen of the Legislative Council,

In meeting you, for the first time, I am happy to be able to congratulate you on the general tranquillity which reigns throughout the Colony, and on the success with which the efforts of industry continue to be rewarded in this rising land.

It will be my first duty to lay before you a communication from Her Majesty's Government, addressed to my Predecessor, informing him of the reasons which have led to a further delay, in bringing before Parliament, the Bill for regulating the constitution of this Colony, and the consequent necessity of renewing, for a short time, the Act of 9 Geo. IV., under which it has been governed for the last nine years.

I shall have occasion, in the course of the present Session, to bring under your consideration various measures, either for the renewal of Acts which are about to expire, or for effecting such amendments in the Law as appear to be called for by the actual wants of the community. Some of these measures, I will now briefly explain to you.

The present Jury Act will expire on the 30th of the ensuing month, and I shall propose to you to renew it, though for the period only of two years, as it is a measure which, I think, ought again to be brought under consideration, as soon as the Legislature of the Colony shall have been established in its new form. The constitution of Juries is a matter of too much importance to be regarded with indifference by any persons attached to the principles of the British Constitution, or who desire to see those principles applied, as far as circumstances will allow, in this land of their adoption.

The Act for facilitating the apprehension of Transported Felons and Offenders, illegally at large, will expire on the 30th September next; and though this is a law, which I feel to be at variance with the general character of British Institutions, I have the less reluctance in proposing the renewal of it, as I am informed, that it has hitherto been carried into effect, with little inconvenience to persons of good repute, and because I believe it to be one which, in the present state of our population, is required for the security of life and property. I deem it, however, essential that it should not be rendered permanent, in order that its principles may undergo frequent revision, and that it may be dispensed with at the earliest possible period that the circumstances of the Colony will permit.

I propose, on an early day, to lay before you two Bills, for effecting an alteration in the Law respecting Insolvent Debtors. One will be calculated to give relief to Insolvents, and to provide for the due administration of their Estates; the other will limit the Law with respect to Imprisonment for Debt, whilst it will afford the means of preventing Debtors from leaving the Colony clandestinely.

My attention has been seriously called to the present state of the Law, respecting the sale of Spirituous Liquors, and to the necessity of rendering more efficient some of its provisions. In order to reduce, in some degree, the evils which arise from the excessive use of this pernicious article, I shall propose to alter that part of the Law which permits a master to supply his free servants with spirituous liquors, in part payment of wages; and to check, as far as possible, the illicit dealing that now prevails, I shall propose to put the wholesale dealer under certain restrictions, in order that no person whatsoever, in the Colony, may be allowed to sell spirits without a license. On this subject, I caused, some time ago, circular letters to be written to the several Benches of Justices, and Police Magistrates, in the Colony, which letters, together with the answers which have been received to them, I shall speedily lay before you.

The Act for restraining the occupation of Crown Lands expiring on the 31st December next, it will be necessary to take into consideration the expediency of renewing it. I am fully impressed with the importance, in this pastoral country, of giving every facility to the occupation, under proper restrictions, of the vacant lands of the Crown, and I shall readily give my assent to any measure which, whilst it recognizes the rights of the Crown, may permit to the honest settler, the occupation of these lands on easy terms, and at the same time exclude, as far as possible, men of dissolute character, who now only seek to become occupiers of them for dishonest practices.

On the subject of Immigration, so deeply interesting to the inhabitants of this Colony, I shall lay before you, without loss of time, some important communications, which have been addressed to my Predecessor, and to myself, by Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies. It will be seen, on a perusal of these Documents, that this subject continues to occupy the attention of Her Majesty's Government, and that extensive measures had been adopted, for introducing into this Colony, as large a supply as can be obtained of mechanical and agricultural labour. Fifteen large ships, with emigrants, selected by Government Agents, may be expected to reach the Colony, in the course of the next twelve months, and this supply will be independent of the emigrants, who may be expected to be introduced by private individuals, under the system of bounties. I am fully impressed with the vital importance of Immigration to this Colony, and ready to give to it every encouragement in my power; I will, moreover, freely lay before you, all the information of which I am in possession, respecting its progress. During the last Session of the Imperial Parliament, various Acts were passed, for the improvement of the Criminal Law, which I think it will be desirable to adopt in this country. A Bill, therefore, will be presented to you for this purpose.

There are several other measures of less general importance, which I shall, in the course of the Session, have occasion to bring before you.

A Bill to regulate the admission of properly qualified persons to the practice of Medicine. One to enable the principal Officers of Her Majesty's Ordnance to hold Lands in the Colony. One for the reduction of the fee on the registration of vessels; and several others, which it is scarcely necessary for me now to mention.

I have directed the usual Accounts of Revenue and Expenditure for the last year, to be laid before you, as well as Estimates for the ensuing one. The state of the Revenue continues, I am happy to say, most favourable.

I have observed with pleasure the progress which is making in the many Public Works commenced under the administration of my Predecessor. It is my intention, with your concurrence, to continue them with equal vigour. With a view to obtain further means, in the present scarcity of labour, for carrying on the Public Works, and to diminish the number of persons who are now unprofitably employed at the Penal Settlements, I propose to bring under your consideration the measure which was suspended during the last session, to enable the Governor to remit the punishment of a portion of the Convicts now serving under sentences of transportation to Norfolk Island and Moreton Bay, provided their conduct has been such, since their removal to those places, as to entitle them to a remission of punishment, and that they can with safety be returned to the Colony on condition of working for a period in irons on the Public Works.

I cannot, Gentlemen, conclude this address without acknowledging to you, that in a matter of far higher importance than the mere increase of wealth—I mean the moral condition of the people, a residence of three months among you has caused me to form a far more favorable estimate of the Colony than that which I entertained when I left England.

Of your wide Agricultural and Pastoral Districts, I am not yet in a condition to offer an opinion, but in respect to Sydney and its immediate vicinity, I feel happy to be able to avow that I have found a far greater degree of decorum and propriety of conduct to prevail than, from some accounts of the Colony published in England, I had been led to expect.

The numerous Churches, too, of all persuasions, which are already in progress, and, in great part, paid for by voluntary contributions, afford satisfactory proofs of a general desire to supply moral and religious instruction to the people, from which we may draw a favorable augury for the future; but, Gentlemen, it must be conceded that much yet remains to be done ere the evil impressions, which have been raised respecting the operation of the Convict System amongst us, can be dissipated in quarters where it is most desirable that we should maintain a good repute, or ere the standard of morals can be so raised, within the Colony itself, as to afford a pledge for the security and happiness of its people.

“GEORGE GIPPS.”

On the 25th November, 1823, Sir Thomas

his widow, Mary Baker, was allowed by Governor
