HIS Excellency the Governor is pleased to direct the publication, for general information, of the following copy of a Treaty of Commerce and Navigation, between Great Britain and the Kingdom of the two Sicilies, done at Naples on the 29th April, 1845.

By His Excellency's Command,

E. DEAS THOMSON.

TREATY OF COMMERCE AND NAVIGATION, BETWEEN HER MAJESTY AND THE KING OF THE KINGDOM OF THE TWO SICILIES.

Signed at Naples, 29th April, 1845.

(Ratifications exchanged at Naples, 25th June, 1845.)

HER Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and His Majesty the King of the Kingdom of the two Sicilies, being equally desirous of improving, extending, and regulating the commercial relations between their respective States, and of affording every facility and encouragement to the commercial intercourse between their respective subjects, and being persuaded that nothing will more contribute to the attainment of this desirable object than a reciprocal abrogation of all discriminating duties of navigation and commerce, and of all exclusive privileges of trade hitherto enjoyed by the subjects of either party in the dominions of the other, have appointed Plenipotentiaries to conclude a Treaty for this purpose; that is to say:—

Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, the Honorable William Temple, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of Her said Majesty at the Court of Naples; and Sir Woodbine Parish, Knight, Commander of the Royal Guelphic Order;

And His Majesty the King of the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies, Don Giustino Fortunato, Knight Grand Cross of the Royal and Military Constantinian Order of St. George, and of that of Francis the 1st., Minister Secretary of State of His said Majesty; and Don Michael Gravina Requesenz, Prince of Comitini, Knight Grand Cross of the Royal Order of Francis the 1st., Gentleman of the Chamber in Waiting, and Minister Secretary of State of His said Majesty; and Don Antonio Spinelli of Scala, Commander of the Royal Order of Francis the 1st., Gentleman of the Chamber of His said Majesty, Member of the General Consulta, and Superintendent General of the Archives of the Kingdom:—

Who, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers, found to be in due and proper form, have agreed upon and concluded the following Articles:—

ARTICLE I.

Her Britannic Majesty confirms the abolition agreed upon by the First Article of the Convention of Commerce and Navigation between Great Britain and the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies, signed at London on the 26th of September, 1816, of all the privileges and exemptions which Her subjects, their commerce and merchant ships, did enjoy within the dominions, states, and ports of His Sicilian Majesty, in virtue of the Treaty of Peace and Commerce between Great Britain and Spain, concluded at Madrid on the 13th and 23rd May, 1667; of the Treaties of Commerce between the same Powers, signed at Utrecht, the 28th November, 9th December, 1713, and at Madrid, the 3rd and 14th December, 1715; and of the Convention between Great Britain and the Kingdom of Sicily, concluded at Utrecht, the 25th February, 1712, 8th March, 1713; and it is agreed in consequence, between their said Britannic and Sicilian Majesties, their heirs and successors, that the said privileges and exemptions, whether of persons, flags, or shipping, are and shall continue for ever abolished, even when the present Treaty shall cease to be in force.

ARTICLE II.

His Sicilian Majesty, on his part, confirms in like manner the engagement contained in the 2nd Article of the said Convention of the 26th September, 1816, not to grant for the future, to the subjects of any other Power whatever, the privileges and exemptions abolished by that Convention, and to which the preceding Article refers.

ARTICLE III.

With respect to the personal privileges to be enjoyed by the subjects of Her Britannic Majesty in the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies, His Sicilian Majesty engages that they shall have a free and undoubted right to travel and to reside in the territories and dominions of His said Majesty, subject to the same precautions of police which are practised towards the subjects or citizens of the most favoured nations.

They shall be entitled to occupy dwellings and warehouses, and to dispose of all their personal property, of every kind and description, by sale, gift, exchange, will, or in any other way whatever, without the smallest hindrance or obstacle. They shall not be obliged to pay, under any pretence whatever, any taxes or impositions other or greater than those which are paid, or may hereafter be paid, by the subjects or citizens of the most favoured nations in the dominions of His said Sicilian Majesty. They shall be exempt from all military service, whether by land or sea; from forced loans, and from every extraordinary contribution, not general or by law established. Their dwellings, warehouses, and all premises appertaining thereto, destined for purposes of residence or commerce, shall be respected. No arbitrary search or visit to the houses of British subjects, and no arbitrary examination or inspection whatever of the books, papers, or accounts of their trade shall be made; but such measures shall be executed only in conformity with the legal sentence of a competent tribunal. And generally, His Sicilian Majesty engages that the subjects of Her Britannic Majesty residing in his states or dominions, shall enjoy their property and personal security in as full and ample manner as his own subjects, and as the subjects or citizens of the most favoured nations.

Her Britannic Majesty, on her part, engages to insure the enjoyment of the like privileges to the subjects of His Sicilian Majesty within her dominions.

ARTICLE IV.

The subjects of Her Britannic Majesty within the dominions of His Sicilian Majesty, shall be free to manage their own affairs themselves, or to commit those affairs to the management of any persons whom they may appoint as their broker, factor, or agent; nor shall such British subjects be restrained in their choice of persons to act in such capacities; nor shall they be called upon to pay any salary or remuneration to any person whom they shall not choose to employ. Absolute freedom shall be given in all cases to the buyer and seller to bargain together, and to fix the price of any goods or merchandize imported into or to be exported from the dominions of His Sicilian Majesty, save and except generally such cases wherein the laws and usages of the country may require the intervention of any special agents in the dominions of His Sicilian Majesty.

The same privileges shall be enjoyed in the dominions of Her Britannic Majesty, by the subjects of His Sicilian Majesty, and upon the same conditions.

ARTICLE V.

The subjects of Her Britannic Majesty shall not be liable, within the dominions of His Sicilian Majesty, to a more rigorous system of examination and search by the officers of the customs, than the subjects of His Sicilian Majesty. And in like manner, the subjects of His Sicilian Majesty shall not be liable, within the dominions of Her Britannic Majesty, to a more rigorous system of examination and search than British subjects.

ARTICLE VI.

There shall be reciprocal liberty of commerce and navigation between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies. No duty of customs or other impost shall be charged upon any goods the produce or manufacture of one country, upon importation by sea or by land from such country into the other, other or higher than the duty or impost charged upon goods of the same kind, the produce or manufacture of, or imported from, any other country; and Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and His Majesty the King of the Two Sicilies, do hereby engage that the subjects or citizens of any other State shall not enjoy any favour, privilege, or immunity whatever in matters of commerce and navigation, which shall not also and at the same time be extended to the subjects of the other High Contracting Party; gratuitously, if the concession in favor of that other State shall have been gratuitous, and in return for a compensation as nearly as possible of proportionate value and effect, to be adjusted by mutual agreement, if the concession shall have been conditional.

ARTICLE VII.

All articles of the produce or manufacture of either country, and of their respective dominions, which can legally be imported into either country from the other, in ships of that other country, shall, when so imported, be subject to the same duties and enjoy the same privileges, whether imported in ships of the one country or in ships of the other; and in like manner all goods which can legally be exported or re-exported from either country to the other, in ships of that other country, shall, when so exported or re-exported, be subject to the same duties, and be entitled to the same privileges, drawbacks, bounties, and allowances, whether exported in ships of the one country or in ships of the other.

ARTICLE VIII.

No duties of tonnage, harbour, lighthouses, pilotage, quarantine, or other similar duties, of whatever nature or under whatever denomination, shall be imposed in either country upon the vessels of the other, in respect of voyages between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or any of the British possessions in Europe, and the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies, if laden, or in respect of any voyage if in ballast, which shall not be equally imposed in the like cases on national vessels.

ARTICLE IX.

In all cases in which in either Kingdom, the duty to be levied upon any goods imported from the other Kingdom shall be not a fixed rate but a proportion of the value of the goods, such ad valorem duty shall be ascertained and secured in the following manner, that is to say:—the importer shall, on making his entry for the payment of duty at the custom-house, sign a declaration stating the value of the goods at such amount as he shall deem proper; and in case the officer or officers of the customs shall be of opinion that such valuation is insufficient, he or they shall be at liberty to take the goods, on paying to the importer the value thereof according to the declaration of the importer, together with an addition of ten per cent.; and the custom-house officer shall at the same time return to the importer any duty which the importer may have paid upon such goods.

ARTICLE X.

It is hereby declared, that the stipulations of the present Treaty are not to be understood as applying to the navigation and carrying trade between one port and another situated in the dominions of either Contracting Party; such navigation and trade being reserved exclusively to national vessels.

Vessels of either country shall, however, be permitted to load or unload part of their cargoes at one port in the dominions of either of the High Contracting Parties, and then to proceed to complete the said loading or unloading, to any other port or ports in the same dominions.

ARTICLE XI.

Neither of the two Governments, nor any corporation or agent acting in behalf or under the authority of either Government, shall, in the purchase of any article which, being the growth, produce, or manufacture of the one country, shall be imported into the other, give directly or indirectly, any priority or preference on account of or in reference to the national character of the vessel in which such article shall have been imported; it being the true intent and meaning of the High Contracting Parties, that no distinction or difference whatever shall be made in this respect.

ARTICLE XII.

Her Britannic Majesty declares that the commerce of Sicilian subjects within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland is not restrained, interrupted, or in any manner affected by the operation of any monopoly, contract, or exclusive privilege of sale or purchase whatsoever; but that the subjects of His Sicilian Majesty within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, have unrestricted permission to buy from and sell to whomsoever they please, and in any form and manner which may be agreed upon being the purchaser and seller, and without being obliged to give any preference or favour in consequence of any such monopoly, contract, or exclusive privilege of sale or purchase; and Her Britannic Majesty engages that no change shall in this respect be made in regard to the trade of the subjects of His Sicilian Majesty. His Sicilian Majesty engages on his part, that a like liberty in respect to purchases or sales, shall be enjoyed by Her Britannic Majesty's subjects trading to or residing in the Kingdom of these Two Sicilies: the royal Sicilian monopolies of tobacco, salt, playing cards, gunpowder, and nitre, be being excepted.

It being understood that nothing agreed upon in the present Treaty is opposed to the right of His Majesty the King of the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies to grant, whether to the authors or others, patents for inventions or improvements.

ARTICLE XIII.

If any ships of war or merchant vessels be wrecked on the coasts of either of the High Contracting Parties, such ships or vessels, or any parts thereof, and all furniture and appurtenances belonging thereto, and all goods and merchandize which shall be saved therefrom, or the produce thereof, if sold, shall be faithfully restored, with the least possible delay, to the proprietors, upon being claimed by them or by their duly authorised factors; and if there are no such proprietors or factors on the spot, then the said goods and merchandize, or the proceeds thereof, as well as all the papers found on board such wrecked ships or vessels, shall be delivered to the British or Sicilian Consul or Vice-Consul in whose district the wreck may have taken place; and such Consul, Vice-Consul, proprietors, or factors, shall pay only the expenses incurred in the preservation of the property, together with the rate of salvage and expenses of quarantine which would have been payable in the like case of a wreck of the national vessel; and the goods and merchandize saved from the wreck shall not be subject to duties unless cleared for consumption; it being understood that in case of any legal claim upon such wreck, goods, or merchandize, the same shall be referred for decision to the competent tribunals of the country.

ARTICLE XIV.

Her Britannic Majesty consents that as soon as the present Treaty shall be carried into effect, she will give up for ever the privilege of the reduction of ten per cent. stipulated in favour of the trade of her subjects, by the 7th Article of the Convention signed at London on the 26th of September, 1816. And His Sicilian Majesty engages on his part, that so long as this Treaty shall last, the subjects of Her Britannic Majesty shall continue to enjoy a reduction of ten per cent. upon the duties payable according to the customs' tariff, upon the total of the merchandize or productions of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, her colonies, possessions, and dependencies, imported by them into His Majesty's dominions; and further, that the subjects of Her Britannic Majesty shall not pay any higher duties than those which upon the like merchandize or productions shall be paid by the subjects or citizens of any other nation, conformably always to the terms of the 6th Article of the present Treaty, and the principles laid down in that Article.

It is however understood, that nothing contained in this Article shall prevent or restrict the right of His Majesty the King of the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies to continue to his own subjects the enjoyment of a like reduction of ten per cent. on the custom-house duties, or to grant it, if he shall think proper, to other nations, and thus to place them in this respect on the same footing with Great Britain; and to make at any time such changes as His Majesty shall deem fit in the tariffs of his royal dominions.

ARTICLE XV.

The Ionian Islands being under the protection of Her Britannic Majesty, the subjects and vessels of those islands shall enjoy, in the Sicilian Dominions, all the advantages which are granted by the present Treaty to the subjects and vessels of Great Britain, as soon as the Government of the Ionian Islands shall have agreed to grant the same reciprocal advantages in those islands to the subjects and vessels of His Sicilian Majesty; it being understood that to prevent abuses, every Ionian vessel claiming the benefits of this Treaty, shall be furnished with a patent signed by the Lord High Commissioner, or by his representative.

ARTICLE XVI.

The commerce and navigation between the dominions of His Sicilian Majesty and Gibraltar and Malta, shall enjoy all the advantages granted to the subjects and vessels of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies, by the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XVII.

As soon as the ratifications of the present Treaty shall have been exchanged, the stipulations contained in the Convention of Commerce and Navigation between Great Britain and the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies, signed at London on the 26th of September, 1816, as well as in the Additional Articles of the same date, shall be, without distinction and for ever, considered as null and void.

ARTICLE XVIII.

The present Treaty shall be in force for the term of ten years from the date of the exchange of the ratifications thereof, and further until the end of twelve months after either of the High Contracting Parties shall have given notice to the other of its intention to terminate the same; each of the said High Contracting Parties reserving to itself the right of giving such notice at the end of the said term of ten years, or at any subsequent time.

ARTICLE XIX.

The present Treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Naples at the expiration of three months from the date of its signature, or sooner, if possible.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and have affixed thereto the seals of their arms.
