NOTICE TO MARINERS.

THE accompanying Notice having been received from Captain the Count Du Bouzet, of the French corvette "La Brillante," communicating the discovery of two coral reefs, in the situations therein described, His Excellency the GOVERNOR is pleased to direct its publication, for general information.

His Excellency desires at the same time, to acknowledge to Captain the Count Du Bouzet his attention in furnishing the Government with this information.

*By His Excellency's Command,
E. DEAS THOMSON.*

(Translation.)

On the 28th August, 1847, the French corvette "La Brillante," having left Anatam on the 26th, with a gale of wind from the east, which changed on the next day to the south, after having veered round to the north-east and north-west, was, at half past five in the morning, by reckoning, in latitude $23^{\circ} 9' 30''$ south, and longitude $167^{\circ} 51'$ east (from Paris); the day was just dawning, the weather thick, with a fresh breeze from the S. S. W., but the sea still very high; the vessel was on the port tack, under plain sail, and making three knots; the look-out signalled a shoal ahead, very near the ship. The helm having been put up, she fell off immediately, and cleared the shoal to the E. N. E., at the distance of little more than a cable's length; the commander gave orders to wear, and to heave-to on the other tack, it was then only that bottom could be found, two soundings were obtained, of twenty and twenty-three fathoms, on a rocky bottom, no other indication being visible on the sounding lead than the removal of the arming. Immediately after, soundings could not be obtained with fifty fathoms, the corvette being then about three cable's lengths to the E. $\frac{1}{4}$ S. E., of the shoal. The sea still running high, the commander did not send a boat to examine it, but having passed so near, it could be perceived, from the colour of the sea, which was quite yellow, that there was very little water upon it, at most, two or three metres, (from 6.5 to 9.75 feet.)

The shoal appears to be a mass of coral, its form is round, and it is about forty metres wide. It is the more dangerous, as the sea did not break upon it, although there was a heavy swell.

The weather cleared in the forenoon, so that good observations for time could be taken, and an excellent latitude at noon. With the aid of these observations, the position of the danger was fixed (approximately) to be in $23^{\circ} 13' 52''$ of south latitude, and $167^{\circ} 35' 18''$ east of the meridian of Paris, and consequently, a considerable distance from the Durand Reef, as marked on the charts. The commander of the corvette, believing it to be unknown, thought himself justified in calling it "La Brillante's Shoal." If, instead of coming upon it at daybreak, the vessel had encountered it during the night, especially as the weather was so dark, it would have been almost impossible to avoid it. It is to be regretted that the weather did not admit of this danger being examined more minutely.

Coral Reef discovered to the north-east of the Wallis Isles, by an American Whaler.

The ship "Lalla Rookh," of New Bedford, Captain Reynard Ower, discovered a reef of coral forty miles to the north-east of the Wallis Isles, ten fathoms of water were found on it. The ship was going at the rate of three knots, and was two hours in passing over the bank, running $W. \frac{1}{4} S. W.$ The captain supposed that the reef extended about two miles on each side of his course. In many parts there appeared to be less water. The latitude of this reef is $13^{\circ} 2'$ south, and its longitude $175^{\circ} 38'$ west of the meridian of Greenwich.

This information was given by Captain Reynard Ower, of New Bedford, during his stay at the Wallis Isles.

The supplies for each of the other Districts, with the exception of those for the Male and Female Orphan Schools, the Institution for Destitute Roman Catholic Children, and the Lunatic Asylum, are intended to be included in one Contract, and therefore no Tenders can be received, unless for supplying the whole that may be required in the entire of a District, and for each District there must be a separate Tender, excepting Hartley and Blackheath, and Yass, Gunning, and Narrawa, for each of which places Tenders may be sent in separately.

Separate Tenders must also be made for the Male Orphan School, the Female Orphan School, the Institution for Destitute Roman Catholic Children, and for the Lunatic Asylum.

15. In the event of a difference of opinion between the Contractor and the party receiving the supplies, as to the quality, the same is to be decided, in cases where the article is not of a perishable nature, by a Board of Survey, composed by persons named by the Government, according to the practice of the service. But in country districts, where such a Board of Survey cannot be conveniently assembled, the party objecting will name one person as arbitrator, the Contractor or his agent another, and these two will (previously to any other proceeding on their part,) concur in naming a third as umpire, who, in the event of the arbitrators not agreeing in opinion, will be called upon for his decision, which shall be final.

19. A repetition of irregularity in the quality or quantity of the supplies, or of any delay in delivering or replacing them when required, will also subject the Contractor, upon the Report of the Officer in charge of the parties or establishment, to such mulct, not exceeding one-fourth the amount of his monthly account, as the Governor may direct. It will also be in the power of the Governor, upon such repetition, to terminate the Contract forthwith.

20. It will be in the power of either party to limit the duration of the Contract, by giving, in writing, a notice of three full calendar months to the opposite party, and to end the Contract at the expiration of that period, it being understood that such notice can be given only from the first day of a month, and within the period for which the Contract is made, or agreed to be made.

21. The Contractor will be required to prepare his own cash account, monthly or quarterly, in the prescribed form; and on the production thereof, with the requisite vouchers, in a complete state to the Officer receiving the supplies, the same will be forwarded by the latter to the Auditor General, in order that a warrant may be prepared and payment made from the Colonial Treasury.
