WHEREAS the Legislative Council of New South Wales now stands prorogued to the 30th day of April instant: Now, I, Sir Charles Augustus Fitz Roy, Knight Companion of the Royal Hanoverian Guelphic Order, in pursuance of the power and authority in me vested as Governor of the said Colony, do hereby further prorogue the said Legislative Council to Tuesday, the fourth day of June next; and I do hereby further announce and proclaim, that the said Council shall assemble for the despatch of business on the aforesaid fourth day of June next, at twelve o'clock at noon, in the Council Chamber situate in Macquarie-street in the City of Sydney, and the Members of the said Legislative Council are hereby required to give their attendance at the said time and place accordingly.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

TO MARINERS AND OTHERS.

SHORTLAND'S BLUFF LIGHTHOUSE.

HIS Honor the Superintendent directs it to be notified for general information, that a "New fixed White Light of the second class," consisting of 24 lamps, is now exhibited at the Bluff, in place of the former light of 9 lamps.

This light will be exhibited from sunset until sunrise.

The necessary alterations of the column for the erection of the new lantern have not occasioned any change in the original height of the light.

HENRY GINN,
Clerk of Works.

NOTICE.

ONE of the editions of the Chart of Port Phillip, made by Captain Hobson, of H.M.S. 'Rattlesnake,' and the first edition of the Chart published by Captain Stokes, of H.M.S. 'Beagle,' containing a serious misprint in the bearing laid down, as the course, for vessels entering the Port Phillip Heads. Masters of vessels should be very careful in examining their Charts, and altering, should they give the bearing of North-east by East (N.E. by E.) Such a course must inevitably carry the vessel pursuing it from the outside, directly upon the point Lonsdale Reef.

The proper course for entering the Port Phillip Heads is, North-east by North (N.E. by N.)

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

HIS Excellency the Governor directs the republication, for general information, of the following notice, from the 'South Australian Government Gazette,' of the 21st March last, respecting the survey of the south coast of Kangaroo Island.

By His Excellency's Command,

SURVEY OF SOUTH COAST OF KANGAROO ISLAND.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor directs the publication of the following Report from the Harbour Master, for general information.

By His Excellency's Command,
CHARLES STURT,
Colonial Secretary.

Harbour Master's Office,
Port Adelaide, 15th March, 1850.

Sir,—I have the honor to forward, for the perusal of His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor, the subjoined observations which I have been enabled to make in the course of a minute survey of the South Coast of Kangaroo Island, from the completion of which I returned on the 9th instant.

I will, as soon as completed, transmit a chart, on which will be seen a delineation of the coast and of the obstructions to be found in each vicinity, as also the track-lines of the schooner whilst employed on this duty.

It should be premised, that the Southern Coast of Kangaroo Island not having been laid down in the Survey of New Holland, made by Captain Flinders, I have been under the necessity, with a view to distinguish the different land marks, of adopting, in the absence of English names, those appearing on a French chart, which, in as far as regards this particular part, I have found tolerably accurate, though in some instances, the projections are not sufficiently pronounced.

Proceeding first round the east end of the Island, and following a westerly course, I approached a rock thirty feet high, distant from Cape Willoughby thirty-eight miles, and bearing from it S.W. by W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. a considerable ledge even with the surface of the water, extends two miles to the S.E. of this rock, which latter is observable eight miles off; its position, with regard to the nearest coast projection (Cape Lenois), is S.W. by S. distance seven miles.

I persevered five miles further on the same course; when, turning round the east horn of an extensive bight (Vironne), I was agreeably surprised to find a bay, so far protected, as to afford perfect shelter against all winds, except that from the S.E. The holding ground is good and clear, and the soundings vary with great regularity from eight to two fathoms. The existence of a roadstead is, I believe, very little known; but might prove of essential advantage to navigators when overtaken by heavy weather in the neighbourhood of this otherwise unharboring line of coast. The principal shelter must be sought as near as possible under the west extremity of the bay, where a vessel may be anchored only a quarter-of-a-mile from the shore, in four fathoms. A tracing of the anchorage, with its soundings, will accompany the chart. When entering the bay caution must be taken to avoid concealed rocks which lie four miles E. $\frac{1}{2}$ S. from the west, or Kersaint Cape. They generally produce broken water, but when the wind is not sufficient to cause a lash of the sea, the danger might be neared unperceived.

As these rocks are placed nearly in the middle of the bight, with deep water all around, the mere knowledge of their existence would be sufficient, with ordinary precaution, to remove any possibility of an accident.

During my stay in this bay, I caused the schooner's whale-boat to be carried some distance over the sand, to a considerable sheet of salt water observable inland, and which I at first considered to be a lagoon. After rowing a distance of six or seven miles, the water became too shallow to permit our further progress with the boat; we therefore desisted, and returned to the more immediate object of my mission, though not before we had, with a few casts of a net, procured a considerable supply of fish, which appeared to abound there.

Eighteen miles further west, I reached a reef, of which a part is visible above the water, and the remainder on a level with the surface. It bears S.S.W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W., seven miles from Cape Bouquer—a projection W. by S. fifteen miles from the western extremity of the bay above described.

Continuing six miles to the westward, I perceived a line of rocks standing two miles from a prominent cape (Cape du Comedie), which from that spot extends its bearings from S. to S.W.

The remainder of the south coast is clear, but too uniformly unbroken to offer any shelter whatever.

All the rocks of which I have spoken are not at a sufficient distance from the coast to be much in the track of vessels; whilst their proximity to the land would be likely, in most instances, to prevent navigators being taken by surprise. But, as too much caution cannot be exercised towards guarding against the danger arising from these rocks, the existence of which I sometime since reported, it may not be deemed superfluous that I should now offer the precise information which a more favourable opportunity for investigation enables me to submit.

Three in number, and perfectly detached as far as soundings will reach, these rocks embrace an expanse of five miles, in a direction from N.E. to S.W. The exact position of the central one is $36^{\circ} 25'$ south latitude, $137^{\circ} 16' 30''$ east longitude; its bearings from Cape Willoughby is S.W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W., at a distance of fifty-eight miles; and from Cape Kersaint, (the west end of the bay described above) S. $\frac{1}{2}$ E., twenty-three miles. The water in the immediate vicinity of these rocks is of considerable depth; soundings taken as near to them as I could approach, gave forty-five fathoms. A channel of equal depth exists between each.

As the tides set with great force in directions E. and W., it is incumbent on Navigators, when within a possibly threatening distance from this danger, to maintain an ample offing to the southward, otherwise, in consequence of a drift tending strongly towards these rocks, a considerable error in the position of a vessel, during the hours of a single night, would, I can state from experience, be the almost certain result.

A report having reached me, that broken water had been observed forty-five miles S.W. of Cape Bedout, I steered in that direction, and made every effort, by numerous traverses and intersections, to obtain a view of the spot. I continued the search to the distance of sixty miles, but without succeeding in my purpose.

As I remembered to have observed, in some of the public prints, the mention of a statement emanating from the Master of the 'Augusta,' that he had seen heavy breakers seven miles south of Neptune Island, on the west coast of Kangaroo Island, I took occasion to satisfy myself of the correctness or otherwise of the assertion.

Thinking it right that all unnecessary alarm should be removed, I can affirm, with perfect confidence, as the result of a most diligent search, that the statement is erroneous, and the warning uncalled for.

On my return passage to Port Adelaide, I had reason to observe grounds for caution on the part of Masters of vessels when rounding Cape Willoughby, to keep at a distance of at least two miles from the shore on account of the currents to be met with in that neighbourhood. These are sufficiently strong to carry a vessel, when only acted upon by light winds, on a ledge of rocks projecting two miles S.E. from the easternmost horn of Antichamber Bay, and which point I have distinguished on the chart under the name of St. Alban's Cape.

The necessity for this caution will be apparent when I mention the fact of two vessels having recently come in contact with the ledge.

Whilst in Back Stairs Passage, I renewed a search (in which, on previous occasions, I had been unsuccessful) for a sand bank, which was reported to me as existing there; but which most coasting masters have, all along, been unwilling to credit.

After repeated trials, I succeeded in establishing the correctness of the information. I found a bank, from the east of which Cape Willoughby bears S. by W., Cape Jarvis N.W. by N., and the southern Page E. by S. $\frac{1}{2}$ S., a quarter of a mile in breadth, and three miles in length, in a N.W. and S.E. direction, having upon it—at low tide—a depth of water varying from three to eight fathoms; and as soon as the margin is passed, a sudden increase to fourteen fathoms is found.

As the upheaving of this considerable body of sand has no doubt been caused by the counteraction of tide, which, in this passage, operates with great violence, it appears to me likely, that each successive year will reduce the depth of water to be found on the bank; it should, therefore, be guarded against by those commanding vessels of heavy tonnage.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

THOS. LIPSON,

Naval Officer, Harbour Master, &c.
The Hon. Colonial Secretary.

VACATED RUN.

REFERRING to the Notice issued from the Colonial Secretary's Office, dated the 29th May, which appeared in the Port Phillip Government Gazette, No. 26, 6th of June, 1849, it is hereby notified, that no satisfactory tender having been received for the lease of the vacated Run, known as "Upper portion of Holland's Creek," fresh tenders will be received at this office, until noon of Monday, the 1st day of July next, from all persons who may be desirous to enter into competition for the lease of the said Run.

VACATED RUNS.

IT is hereby notified, that application having been made for the purchase of the leases of the runs of Crown lands hereunder described, which after having been occupied, have become vacant, Tenders, in the prescribed printed form, will be received at the office of His Honor the Superintendent, Port Phillip, until noon of Monday, the 6th day of August next, from the applicants and from any other persons desirous to enter into competition with them, for the purchase of the lease of the said runs.

2. Every such tender must state the term of years (not exceeding fourteen,) for which it is proposed to take the run, and whether in addition to the minimum rent required by Her Majesty's Order in Council, it is intended to offer any, and if any, what amount of yearly premium per thousand sheep, or equivalent number of cattle, for the lease.

3 As the grazing capabilities of the run have not yet been determined, it will be necessary that each tender contain an estimate of the number of sheep or cattle that the run will carry.

4. Until the run has been regularly surveyed and its grazing capabilities determined, the future lessee will be required to pay rent according to his own estimate, as given in his tender; and in the event of the rent so paid, proving to have been less than that determined by valuation, he will be required to make up the difference previously to the execution of the lease.

5. It is also to be distinctly understood, that the Government reserves to itself the right of excluding from the lease of the run, any land which it may be deemed proper to reserve for any of the purposes referred to in the 9th section of Chapter II. of Her Majesty's Order in Council, dated 9th March, 1847.

6. Forms of tender can be obtained from the office of His Honor the Superintendent, Port Phillip, and also from the Crown Commissioners of the districts.

MURRAY DISTRICT.
