SCHEDULE B. REFERRED TO IN THIS ORDER.

Manner in which the Streets, Courts and Alleys, enumerated in Schedule "A," referred to in this Order, are ordered to be freed from obstruction, paved, flagged, Macadamized, levelled, drained and sewered.

The natural soil is to be reduced or made up, as the case may require, so that the longitudinal section of the whole right of way shall in no part have an inclination of less than 1 in 120; and wherever practicable, the entire length is to form one incline. In laying on any stuff it is to be spread in layers of not more than one foot thick. The transverse section of the right of way is to show a roadway, whose crown shall be one inch above the kerbs of the footways, and the fall from the crown of the water channels is to be at the rate of 1 in 25.

On either side of the roadway there is to be a water channel eighteen inches wide, consisting of two rows of bluestone pitchers, nine inches deep, and not less than nine inches by fourteen inches on the surface, with upright sides, set in loam, and rammed with a rammer weighing forty pounds so as to subside four inches.

The bottom of the channel is to be seven inches below the top of the kerbs.

On either side of the roadway there is also to be a footway not more than three feet wide; and these are to be separated from the roadway by a red gum plank or kerb ten inches by three, set on edge, and fastened with five inch spikes to piles four inches by four of red gum, three feet long, driven into the soil.

The footways are to be covered with a coat of gravel, three inches thick, and the surface is to fall towards the channel at the rate of 1 in 10. The roadway is to be covered with a coat of broken metal, broken to a two and a-half inch gauge, and laid on seven inches thick at the channels, and eight inches at the crown; and this, when necessary, is to be covered with a coat of loam one and a-half inches thick. Wherever private entrances lead from the rights of way they are to be paved to the full width, with bluestone pitchers in the same manner as the channels; the paving is to extend from the channels towards the line of houses or fences, so as to cross the entire footway.

The whole of the work must be done under the inspection and subject to the approval of the City Surveyor, who is authorised to order any deviation from these general principles, which the particularities of any case may require.

Colonial Secretary's Office,
Melbourne 15th July, 1851.

GOVERNMENT GAZETTE.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor directs it to be notified, that as it is intended the Government Gazette of Victoria, shall contain not only the ordinary notices for public information, but likewise all Regulations and Orders, which may from time to time be deemed necessary, for conducting the public business of the Colony, and for the instruction and guidance of the several branches of the Service,—Heads of Departments, Clerks of Petty Sessions, and others to whom the

All Notices, with the exception of those from Poundkeepers, which are intended for publication in the Government Gazette, must, in the first instance, be sent to the Colonial Secretary.

OFFICIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor directs that until further notice the following Rules are to be invariably observed in conducting official correspondence in this Colony.

1. Letters having reference to patronage, or applications for employment in the Colonial service, are to be addressed to His Excellency's private Secretary.

2. All other correspondence of a public nature is to be carried on through the Colonial Secretary.

3. Subordinate Officers and others of a department are not to address themselves directly to the Colonial Secretary, but are to make their communications through the head of the Department, who in forwarding them will add any observations he may consider necessary to illuminate the subject.

4. Each Letter must be confined to a single subject.

5. Letters are to be written in a distinct hand, on foolscap paper of a uniform size, and in order to reduce the expense of postage as much as possible, ordinary letters should be written on half sheet of foolscap with a quarter margin and in as compact a form as to closeness of lines as distinctness will allow; where the subject is of more than ordinary importance, requiring perhaps reference to other correspondence, or Departments, the inner margin must be half the width of the page, but still written in a compact form.

6. Each Department is to number its letters in succession commencing annually with a fresh series, and if any Department has much correspondence with two or more others, it should have a separate series of numbering for each of them.

7. Letters are to be divided into distinct paragraphs according to the several points, or heads of the subject, and each paragraph is to be numbered for the greater facility of reference.

8. If a letter consists of two or more sheets, the pages should be numbered.

9. In replying to a letter, the date and number of the letter replied to should be given.

10. Where enclosures are necessary, they must be written on paper of a uniform size with the letter, and in as compact a form as possible.

11. The paragraphs of enclosures must also be numbered, and if consisting of more than two sheets, should be likewise pagged.

12. Whenever a minute can be made upon a letter referred for further information, this course is to be adopted instead of adding another letter to it.

13. Whenever large packages of returns, &c, exceeding the weight of sixteen ounces, can be safely sent by any public conveyance, as by a steam boat or mail cart, at a less cost than if sent by the post, such mode of transit must be adopted; [this rule, however, will principally relate to Departments in Melbourne.]
