Colonial Secretary's Office,
Melbourne, 15th April, 1853.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING CLERKS
IN THE SERVICE OF THE COLONIAL GOVERNMENT.

HIS Excellency the Lieutenant Governor has been pleased to direct that the Regulations of the 30th October, 1851, relative to the appointment, promotion, remuneration, and general duties of Clerks attached to the different departments of the Government of this Colony shall be revised, and that the following Regulations shall be in force from this date.

APPOINTMENT.

No person shall be taken into the service of the Government as a Clerk, until the Head of the Department to which he is to be attached, has taken the proper steps to ascertain his fitness in every respect, and has forwarded a certificate to this effect to the Colonial Secretary, and that His Excellency's sanction for the appointment has been given.

REMUNERATION.

The system of classing Clerks, and granting an Annual Increase of Salary, as directed by the former regulations, being now found to be inoperative, is cancelled, and the salaries voted for the Clerks of each Department, from time to time, are to be dealt with in the following manner.

All Clerks, on their first entering the service, are to be placed on the lowest rate of Salary, unless they should be appointed to some particular office of trust or responsibility, or requiring more than ordinary talents or acquirements, and all such cases are to be specially reported for the Lieutenant Governor's decision, before any increased rate can be granted to a Clerk entering the service of the Government.

The Salaries for other Clerks will be regulated according to the positions which they may occupy in their respective departments, and as far as can be, by their length of service.

The rates of Salary will for the present graduate in sums of £50 a year from £200 to £400, which latter will be the highest salary, except for First or Chief Clerks, who will receive from £500 to £600 a year. In the Post Office the lowest rate of Salary is £300 a year.

Whenever Boys can be employed with advantage, they will receive from £75 to £100 a year, but no one of this class is to be taken into the service, unless he is fully competent for the work required of him.

It does not follow because certain rates of salary are voted by the Legislature, that they must of necessity be all granted, as Junior Clerks may have entered the Department subsequently to the Estimate having been made, who would not be entitled to the rates voted.

PROMOTION.

It is to be distinctly understood when a vacancy occurs in any of the senior grades, or among those Clerks receiving more than the lowest rate of salary, that no one can claim to occupy the vacancy solely on account of length of service, which however, will always have its due influence and consideration; but it must be coupled with the indispensable requirements of capacity, character, and conduct, for the advanced position; and of general intelligence and industry in the performance of his duty.

When the Head of a Department wishes to recommend any one of his Clerks for promotion, he must do so in the form annexed, which is to be submitted for the Lieutenant Governor's approval.

Office,
Melbourne, 18

REMOVAL FROM OFFICE.

It must be distinctly understood, that should a Clerk be found to be incompetent, or should he contract habits which would render his further employment undesirable, he will subject himself to immediate removal from the service without any claim for compensation. His habitual infringement of any of the following general rules would also subject him to the same penalty.

GENERAL RULES.

The whole of the time above specified must be entirely devoted by the Clerks of all Departments to their public duties, neither must they permit any one to visit them during office hours to occupy their attention upon private affairs.

No fee, or anything else by way of remuneration, can under any pretence be allowed to be taken by a clerk, for the performance of anything connected with the office to which he is attached.

No information out of the usual course of duty is ever to be given from an office, unless by the express sanction of the Head of the Department.

All public property, as Furniture, Stationery, &c., in the charge of, or used by clerks, is to be taken the strictest care of.
