On the Procession moving off, seventeen Minute Guns will be fired from the Flag Staff Battery, and a similar number over the Grave.

The Guns to be manned by a Party of the 40th Regiment, and Victoria Volunteer Regiment of Artillery.

The further necessary Military Detail will be issued from the Brigade Office.

It is particularly requested, that all carriages and horsemen follow in rear of the Procession, and to prevent accidents, instructions will be issued for the strict observance of this rule.

With the concurrence of the Right Worshipful the Mayor of Melbourne, that portion of William-street, from the top of Collins-street to that of Lonsdale-street, will be kept clear from all carriages and persons passing, not classed in the Procession.

The formation of the Troops, as well as the whole of the Procession, will be under the direction of the Major of Brigade; but Mr. Inspector Bookey will be instructed to afford assistance and superintend the formation of the Civil Branch.

Gentlemen are requested to assemble on the open space in front of the Government Offices at half-past Three o'clock precisely.

Carriages to be in Lonsdale-street, with the horses' heads to the west, not extending beyond the junction of William-street.

On arrival at the Cemetery, the Funeral Party will form North and South of the Grave, facing inwards, the Guns pointing to the East. Between the Firing Party, no one, except the Clergy, Chief Mourners, and Pall Bearers, will be admitted. The remainder of the Procession is requested to station themselves between the Troops and the portion of the Cemetery enclosed for the occasion.

By Command,

THOMAS NELSON,

Major of Brigade, Victoria,

Acting Deputy Adjutant-General.
