BALLAARAT MINING DISTRICT.

No. III.—BYE-LAW OF THE MINING BOARD OF BALLAARAT.—
[14th May, 1858.]

At a meeting of the mining board of the mining district of Ballaarat, begun and holden at Ballaarat, in the said district, on the 14th day of May, One thousand eight hundred and fifty-eight, it is ordained by the said board as follows, that is to say:—

MINING REGULATIONS FOR THE MINING BOARD DISTRICT OF BALLAARAT.

1. Division of district.—That the mining board district of Ballaarat be divided into ten (10) sub-districts, the boundaries of which to be fixed by the mining board, and the board shall have power to enlarge or diminish such sub-districts.

2. Appointment of surveyors.—That a mining surveyor be appointed to each sub-district, whose duty it shall be to make, when required, engineering reports of ground applied for for mining purposes, measure and mark off claims within the sub-district, number them, and register the names of applicants for shares or claims; survey claims when the lead or gutter is discovered in such claims, and mark its position on the surface by fixing a flag on the spot; survey in all cases of encroachment or alleged encroachment; see that the mining regulations of the district are strictly carried out, and furnish to the chairman of the mining board on the fourteenth day of each month a report of the progress and condition of each lead and other workings within his sub-district made up to the last day of the preceding month, together with the registration, plans, and sections of the workings of each lead and other workings.

The following rules will be applicable to frontage claims:—

3. Method of laying off claims.—All frontage claims shall be marked off in accordance with the method indicated by the plan marked A, registered in the mining board, and when the depth of sinking on any lead has been ascertained, the length of gutter to which eight (8) men shall be entitled will be according to the following classification:—

Depth of Sinking.		Length of Lead for a Claim		Depth of Sinking.		Length of Lead for a Claim
Exceeding.	Not exceeding.	Exceeding.	Not exceeding.	Exceeding.	Not exceeding.	Exceeding.	Not exceeding.
Feet.	Feet.	Feet.	Feet.	Feet.	Feet.	Feet.	Feet.
50	60	50	230	240	140
60	70	55	240	250	145

90	100	70	270	280	160
100	110	75	280	290	165
110	120	80	290	300	170
120	130	85	300	310	175
130	140	90	310	320	180

160	170	105	340	350	195
170	180	110	350	360	200

190	200	120	370	380	210
200	210	125	380	390	215
210	220	130	390	400	220
220	230	135	400	410	225

and in a like proportion for any greater depth of sinking.

4. Increase in size of claims.—Measuring from the prospect claim in the direction in which the lead becomes deep, each claim shall increase in length one (1) foot upon the claim immediately preceding it. Example—Suppose the lead to dip in a westerly direction, and the depth of the claim No. 1 west of the prospect claim to be one hundred and twenty (120) feet, then the length (according to the above classification) of lead for No. 1 claim would be eighty-five (85) feet, for No. 2 eighty-six (86) feet, No. 3 eighty-seven (87) feet, No. 4 eighty-eight (88) feet, and so on.

5. Decrease in size of claims.—Measuring from the prospect claim in the direction in which the depth of sinking becomes less, each claim shall decrease in length six (6) inches on the claim immediately preceding it. Example—Suppose the lead becomes shallow in an easterly direction, and the depth of the first claim east of the prospect claim to be one hundred and twenty (120) feet, then would the length of lead for No. 1 claim be (according to the above classification) eighty five (85) feet, No. 2 eighty-four feet six inches (84 ft. 6 in.), No. 3 eighty-four (84) feet, No. 4 eighty-three feet six inches (83 ft. 6 in.), and so on until the length of claim shall have decreased to fifty (50) feet, which shall be the minimum length for eight (8) men on any frontage lead.

6. Datum for measurement of lead.—The length of gutter to which the parties registered for the first claim on either side of the prospecting claim may be entitled, shall be determined by, and be in accordance with, the depth of the prospect claim, and the increase or decrease, as the case may be, shall take place from the first claim on either side of the prospect claim.

7. Mode of determining depth.—The depth of any lead (at the point where it is discovered) shall be determined by measuring from the surface to the deepest known point in the gutter within the claim in which the discovery has been made. In cases where the surface presents sudden and abrupt rises, it will be the duty of the surveyor to report upon the same to the warden, in which case the warden shall have power to order such an increase in the areas of claims as will compensate for the additional depth of sinking resulting from such sudden rise: Provided always that such increase does not interfere with the existing rights of claim-owners.

8. Abolition of spare ground.—The length of claims ascertained as above shall only have reference to surface measurement, and any additional length of gutter found to lie within the surface boundaries of any claim shall belong to the parties registered for the parallel in which it may occur; consequently there cannot be any spare ground upon a frontage lead.

9. Width of frontage claims.—The width of claims shall vary each consecutive ten (10) claims in the following manner:—The width of the first ten (10) claims shall be a mean between the length of claim No. 1 and claim No. 10; the width of the second ten (10) claims shall be a mean between the length of claim No. 11 and claim No. 20, and so on until the width shall have arrived at two hundred (200) feet, which shall be the maximum width allowed to frontage claims.

10. Taking possession of frontage claims.—No person shall be registered for frontage claims until such claims have been marked off by the surveyor, and when frontage claims have been marked off, the surveyor shall register the first applicants for shares in such claims: Provided always that such applicants are qualified in accordance with the provisions of these rules.

11. Proceeding to work.—When the requisite number of shares for any claim shall have been registered, the surveyor shall post, or cause to be posted, a notice of the same on his office, and the shareholders or company registered in such claim shall, within four days from the date of such notice, proceed to work and keep working regularly on such claim, unless the company shall have given notice to the surveyor of an intention to amalgamate.

12. Notice of intention to amalgamate.—As soon as the requisite number of shareholders for two (2) claims are registered, where the depth of sinking does not exceed one hundred (100) feet, four (4) claims where the depth exceeds one hundred (100) feet, and does not exceed two hundred (200) feet, six (6) claims where the depth exceeds two hundred (200) feet, and does not exceed three hundred (300) feet, and eight (8) claims where the depth exceeds three hundred (300) feet, and does not exceed four hundred (400) feet, the surveyor shall post a notice upon his office, such notice to state that the parties registered for such claims are to meet at his office, at Twelve o'clock, on the third day from the date of the notice, when he shall (provided there is no reasonable objection) give them a written authority to amalgamate, and within four days from receiving such authority the parties receiving the permission as aforesaid shall proceed to work and keep working regularly on such claim; and any shareholders and company not so proceeding to work, as provided in this and the preceding rule, or holding their shares or claim in reserve or unworked, shall forfeit such shares or claim, the registration for the same will be null and void, and the surveyor shall post a notice of such forfeiture on his office and on the claim in which such forfeiture has taken place, and conditionally register the first applicants for forfeited shares in such claim.

13. Conditional registration.—When the conditional registration, as provided in Rule No. 12, is complete, the person or persons so conditionally registered shall take possession of such share or claim, and the surveyor shall forthwith post a notice on his office, and also on the claim, intimating that such conditional registration has taken place, and that unless the registered party make good their title to such claim by law within the space of eight (8) days, the parties conditionally registered shall be finally registered, and the names of the original parties cancelled in the registration book.

14. Discovery of the gutter.—All parties when they have bottomed their shafts shall, within a reasonable time, put one main drive along the course of the gutter or lead to the boundaries of their claims, such drives not to exceed twelve (12) feet in width, and as soon as the gutter or lead is found in any claim the shareholders of such claim must report the same forthwith to the surveyor.

15. Junction.—When it shall appear to the surveyor that any two or more leads will form a junction, he shall report to the warden the position of such leads. Upon such information the warden may order further registration to be stayed on one or more of such leads, and should it be afterwards ascertained that there is any space left between the last claim on the lead on which the registration was stopped and the junction, the surveyor shall post a notice on his office for six days, stating the number of claims for which there is room, and on a certain day to be named in the notice he will register applicants for shares on such lead.

16. Name of lead after junction.—After the junction of two or more leads, the lead after such junction shall be called by the name of that one on which the registration was not prohibited.

17. Registration too far.—When claims shall have been registered too far previous to the prohibition as before provided, the number of shareholders so registered beyond the real junction shall be entitled to an equal interest with the same number of claims and shareholders on the main lead, beginning at the point at which such junction has been formed; and after the amalgamation of such parties, only the usual number of men provided for such claims shall be required to work the same, and the additional number of men added to the parties by such amalgamation shall be entitled to employ themselves as the party may think fit.

18. Definition of a junction.—A junction shall be considered to have taken place when the two leads come within the breadth allowed by these regulations for one claim.

19. Ground lying between leads.—When, from the convergence of two leads, the quantity of ground lying between such leads is insufficient to allow of the parties on each lead getting the full width of claim allowed by these regulations, the surveyor shall divide equally the ground lying between such leads between the parties holding claims on the leads thus converging, and the width thus determined shall be the extent of width to which such parties shall be entitled.

20. Party sinking on parallels.—In the event of the shareholders of any lead complaining that the shareholders of another lead are sinking their shaft too near them, the surveyor shall have power to define what space shall be left between each shaft.

21. Parallels not to be sunk upon till the gutter is defined.—No party shall be allowed to take possession of, or sink on the parallel of a party holding a frontage claim, until such time as the surveyor has declared the lead thoroughly defined in such frontage claim, and fixed all its boundaries.

22. Paying reef.—In the event of its being discovered that there is a paying reef adjoining any frontage claim, previous to the lead being defined in such claim, the surveyor shall, as soon as the lead is defined, post a notice stating that such paying reef exists; that he has measured and marked off claims, and that on a certain day to be named in the notice he shall register applicants for claims on such reef, and after such claims have been registered the shareholders shall proceed to work in same manner as provided for block claims.

The following rules will be applicable to block claims:—

23. Block claims.—All block claims where the depth of sinking does not exceed fifty (50) feet in depth shall have an area of 50 x 50 feet for eight men, and a proportionate area for any greater or lesser number of men, and such claims need not be registered unless the parties taking them up wish to have them so registered.

The following are the areas of block claims exceeding fifty (50) feet in depth, and the number of men entitled to hold them:—

Depth of Sinking.		Number of Men to each Claim.	Area of Ground for one Claim.
Exceeding.	Not exceeding.
Feet.	Feet.		Feet.
50	75	8	70 x 70
75	100	...	85 x 85
100	125	12	134 x 134
125	150	...	172 x 172
150	175	16	205 x 205
175	200	...	267 x 267
200	225	20	325 x 325
225	250	...	330 x 330

350	375	32	510 x 510

and in like proportion for any greater depth of sinking.

24. Taking possession.—No party shall be allowed to take possession of or be registered for any block claim, unless such party consists of the number of men allowed by these regulations.

25. Taking possession.—Any party taking possession of a block claim, except as provided in Rules Nos. 23 and 24, shall immediately define the boundaries thereof by posts standing not less than three feet above the ground, placed at each corner of said block claim, and shall immediately inform the surveyor of their having done so, who shall then fix a time when he shall be on the ground for the purpose of making a correct measurement of such claim, and shall afterwards register said parties for the claim, provided such registration does not interfere with the rights of others.

26. Proceeding to work.—As soon as any party is registered for a block claim, they shall within four days from the date of such registration proceed to work, and keep working regularly on such claim. Any shareholders or company not so proceeding to work, or holding their claim in reserve or unworked, shall forfeit such shares or claim, the registration for the same shall be null and void, and the surveyor shall post a notice of such forfeiture on his office, and on the claim in which such forfeiture has taken place, and conditionally register the first applicants for shares in such claim.

27. Conditional registration.—When the conditional registration (as provided in Rule 26) is completed, the person or persons so conditionally registered shall take possession of such shares or claim, and the surveyor shall further post a notice on his office, and also on the claim, intimating that such conditional registration has taken place, and that unless the registered party establish their title to such claim by law within the space of eight (8) days, the parties conditionally registered shall be finally registered, and the names of the original party cancelled in the registration book.

The following rules will be applicable to surfacing claims:—

28. Areas of claims.—Where the average depth of surface working does not exceed twelve (12) feet in old ground, and six (6) feet in unworked or new ground—

- For one (1) man, 100 x 100 feet,
- For two (2) men, 142 x 142 feet,

29. Surface claims not to prevent the working of leads.—Claims allowed for surfacing shall not prevent the working of leads or quartz reefs within such surface claims. The surveyor of the district shall have power, upon the recommendation of the warden, to enforce such regulations as may be deemed necessary to enable any lead or quartz reef when situated within a surface claim to be worked, but no person shall be permitted to mine upon any surface claim for a lead or quartz reef without a written permission from the surveyor of the district in which such surface claim is situated.

30. Manner of working surfacing claims.—Parties shall take up and proceed to work surfacing claims in the same manner as block claims which exceed 50 feet. Cutting a dam, erecting a dam or machinery in connection with a surfacing claim, shall be considered working in such claim.

The following rules will be applicable to old ground workings:—

31. Old workings—Size of claims.—On old workings or abandoned ground the size of claims shall be four (4) times the size of block claims on new or unworked ground, but in no case will claims be allowed to exceed in length three (3) times their width.

32. Old ground shall mean.—Old or worked ground shall mean and embrace all cases where the ground has been worked and abandoned without reference to the time of such abandonment.

33. Manner of working.—Parties shall take claims up and proceed to work old or worked ground in the same manner as block claims.

PROSPECTING.

34. Prospecting.—Parties prospecting for a new lead, quartz reef, or other gold workings shall be entitled to and receive, if practicable, areas of ground for protection according to the following scale, and such protection shall hold good against all other persons until a discovery shall have been made and reported, and a prospect claim laid off, or until the claim shall have been forfeited or abandoned. In cases where the surveyor of any district considers that the granting of the widths herein specified would be injurious to the public interest, he may, upon the recommendation of the warden, reduce such width to such extent as the warden may deem advisable:—

37. Discovery of a lead or other gold workings to be made known without delay.—Parties discovering a new lead or other gold workings under these regulations, shall, with as little delay as possible, report such discovery, on affidavit, to a justice of the peace; and as soon as the party have made such affidavit, they shall proceed with the same to the surveyor of the district, who shall forthwith proceed to the claim and thoroughly examine into all the attendant circumstances, a report of which he shall verify on oath to the warden; and the warden shall, as soon as possible, determine whether or not such workings shall be under the frontage system or otherwise, as well as the depth by which the extent of such prospecting claims shall be determined; and any party who shall refuse or neglect to make an affidavit as aforesaid, shall forfeit all right to the extended area allowed for a prospecting claim.

38. Prospecting grants nullified.—When the foregoing rule has been complied with, and the surveyor has defined the boundaries of the prospecting claim to which the parties discovering a new lead or other gold workings are entitled, all protection claims given for such discovery shall be null and void.

39. Boundaries after discovery.—The parties making any discovery shall have the sole power (irrespective of the position of their shaft) of determining in what direction they shall select the area allowed by the foregoing rules: Provided, always, such areas do not interfere with the existing rights of others.

40. Unsuccessful prospectors.—When it is shown to the surveyor that parties have been prospecting, and that they have spent considerable time and labor in the same, although such parties may not have been successful in first discovering the lead or other gold workings, the surveyor shall, upon the recommendation of the warden, give such parties two-thirds of a prospecting claim on such lead or other gold workings, agreeable with the number of men.

41. Discovery of a lead or other workings while in another claim. Any party working a claim (not a prospecting claim) discovering a new lead or other gold workings, shall make affidavit of the same, as provided in Rule 37, and shall be entitled to a claim proportionate to twelve (12) men in addition to their original claim, according to the scale for the frontage or block system, as the case may be (as provided in rules 3 and 23); but any party neglecting or refusing to make affidavit and proceed as hereinbefore provided, shall forfeit all right to any claim for such discovery. No party shall be allowed to take up claims till such lead or other workings are proclaimed.

42. Posting a notice.—When a lead or other workings has been declared (as provided for in Rule 37), the surveyor of the district shall post a notice of the same upon the claim in which such discovery has been made, and proceed forthwith to survey and mark off claims; and he shall also post a notice on his office, stating that on a certain day he shall register applicants for shares on such new lead or other workings. After such registration, the shareholders shall proceed to work in the same manner as provided for frontage or block claims, as the case may be.

PROSPECTING BY BORING.

43. Boring.—Any party prospecting for a new lead by boring, and finding such deep ground as to indicate the existence of a lead or gutter, the party so prospecting by boring shall be entitled to a prospecting claim, although they may not be the first party to reach such gutter by sinking, provided such prospecting party have not delayed sinking a shaft on such lead after they have determined the depth by boring as above stated.

44. Worked like block claim.—Parties shall take possession of and proceed to work prospecting claims in the same manner as provided for block claims.

The following rules will be applicable to quartz mining:—

45. Length of leaders or veins.—Any miner holding a miner's right shall be entitled to twenty (20) feet in length of quartz reef, and also any number of leaders or veins which may be found within a width of three hundred (300) feet.

46. Alluvial sinking on quartz.—The surveyor of the district shall, upon receiving authority from the warden, allow alluvial sinking to be proceeded with upon the areas hereinbefore mentioned in Rule 45; but such alluvial sinking shall be subject to such restrictions and conditions as the warden may deem necessary for the full protection of the parties working the quartz claim; but no alluvial mining shall be permitted on the area allowed for a quartz claim, except by a written authority from the warden.

47. Prospecting for reefs.—Any person or persons prospecting for and discovering any auriferous quartz reef shall be entitled to fifty (50) yards along such reef, besides twenty (20) feet for each person, as contained in Rule 45, provided the same be made known to the surveyor of the district immediately after such discovery.

48. Mode of taking up claims.—Parties shall take possession of and proceed to work quartz claims, in the same manner as hereinbefore provided for block claims.

GENERAL RULES, TO BE APPLIED TO ALL REGISTERED CLAIMS, WHETHER FRONTAGE, BLOCK, OR OTHERWISE.

49. Numbering of claims, and manner of registration.—All registered claims taken up for mining purposes shall be numbered in such manner as the surveyor may deem best, and registered with the names in full of the members of each company, also the number and date of their miners' rights; and a ticket of such registration shall be given to each shareholder obtaining a share in such claim.

50. Names of claim-owners shall be posted.—As soon as any company have commenced operations on their claim, such party or company shall post the names in full of each working shareholder on some conspicuous part of their claim, and such names, together with the name or title by which such company is designated, must continue to be posted and kept legible upon the claim until it is worked out or abandoned; and they shall also keep posted at the head of such list the name of a shareholder, who shall act as secretary and keep the books of the company, and sue and be sued in the name of the company; and any judgment or decree for or against such secretary (provided such judgment or decree be a matter affecting the company) shall be given to the benefit of or be valid against the shareholders of such company; but should any company fail to post a notice as herein provided, and the name of the secretary not be known, any working shareholder may be served with notices, or may be sued in all actions against the company.

51. Marking miner's right.—Upon any miner presenting his miner's right to the surveyor for the purpose of registration, such surveyor shall mark on the face of such miner's right the date of registration, the number of the claim, the name of the lead or working for which the applicant may desire to be registered, so that the same miner's right may not be again used for a similar purpose, except as provided in Rules 41, 70, 71, and 72, until a certificate be obtained from the surveyor stating that the claim or share for which it had been registered has been worked out, transferred, abandoned or otherwise disposed of.

52. Transfer of shares.—All shares shall be the bona fide property of the persons registered for them, who shall be at liberty to transfer the whole or any part or parts thereof: Provided, always, a half share, at least, be represented by a working shareholder, except where special permission to the contrary is given by the company or the accredited secretary of the company.

53. Person transferring his share to present his ticket.—When any shareholder is desirous to transfer a share or part of a share in a claim to another person, he shall produce to the surveyor the miner's right, register or transfer ticket, by virtue of which he holds the interest he intends to transfer; and when such interest has been transferred, the surveyor shall return the miner's right presented to him, and give to the person who has transferred, a new ticket, representing the remaining interest which may be held by such person after such transfer; but should such person transfer the whole interest contained in such register or transfer ticket, the surveyor must then retain such ticket in his own possession.

54. Secretary to enter names of shareholders.—The secretary of every company shall keep a book in which he shall enter the names of all shareholders, whether working or otherwise, together with the respective interest of each shareholder; and it shall be the duty of persons to whom any shares have been transferred immediately to inform the secretary that such transfer has been made, who shall then enter in the books of the company a duplicate of the transfer by the surveyor, and cancel the interest transferred so far as the party making such transfer is concerned.

55. Duplicate registry.—The district surveyor shall keep duplicate register and transfer books, in which he shall enter alphabetically the names of all parties registering or transferring shares in claims in his district, such duplicate register and transfer books to be made up daily, and be open to the inspection of the public during business hours.

56. Loosing a miner's right.—Any person losing a miner's right, register and transfer ticket, and wishing to transfer the share or part of a share which he holds by virtue of such miner's right and register or transfer ticket, shall immediately make a declaration of such loss to a magistrate or other duly authorised person, and upon presentation of such declaration to the surveyor, he shall consider it to stand in lieu of the miner's right, register or transfer ticket herein mentioned.

57. When a miner's right shall have expired.—When any miner's right shall have expired which may have been previously registered for any share which the owner is still in possession of by virtue of such registration, he shall obtain a new miner's right and produce the same to the surveyor of the district who executed the former registration, and the surveyor shall mark on the new miner's right a copy of such registration.

58. Absence.—If any miner be absent from his work when it is his duty to attend, unless he shall have sent a proper representative to work in his absence, the company shall have power to put a man in the place of such absentee.

59. Secretary to give notice.—Should any working shareholder be absent from his shift for four consecutive watches, the secretary of such company shall immediately give notice in writing to the surveyor of such absence, together with the liabilities on such share, such notice to be signed by the secretary and two working shareholders of the company; and the surveyor shall thereupon cause a notice to be posted on his office declaring such share vacant, and stating the conditions under which it was worked, together with the liabilities thereon (if any), and shall conditionally transfer and give possession of said share to the first applicant after the date of the notice; but, should the secretary and two shareholders give false information as to the absence of any parties, they shall be held liable for the share and any expenses which may be incurred thereon.

60. Surveyor shall post notice of conditional transfer.—When the surveyor has made a conditional transfer of any share, he shall forthwith post or cause to be posted a notice of the same on his office or place of business, which shall continue to be posted and kept legible for the space of eight days, and shall also give a copy of such notice to the person conditionally registered, who shall post the same on some conspicuous part of the claim, such notice to be kept posted and legible by the company also for the space of eight days, and at the expiration of that time, provided that the original shareholder should not have established his right to said share according to law, and paid all expenses incurred on said share, whether as wages or otherwise, including wages for the person so conditionally registered, the holder of such transfer shall to all intents and purposes be the bona fide owner of the share so conditionally transferred, and the surveyor of the district shall forthwith register him as such upon payment to the company of all expenses incurred by them on said share.

61. Portions of shares.—In case the interest held by any shareholder shall be forfeited as before provided, such forfeiture shall only include the portions then the legal property of the persons incurring such forfeiture, and not relate to any portions previously disposed of by transfer; and any person taking possession of a forfeited share shall do so subject to whatever liabilities may be upon it, and the conditions under which it was previously held.

62. Responsibility of working forfeited shares.—In the event of any share being forfeited by a working shareholder, and a portion of such share having been transferred by such working shareholder to other shareholders, and the interest of such working shareholders in said share not being sufficient to induce any person to take possession of the said share, the responsibility of working it shall fall upon the last portion of such share which shall have been transferred from the working shareholder, and so on in like manner until such share is taken possession of.

63. Working partner's responsibility.—The working partner in a share shall be responsible to the company for all calls and expenses incurred in working such share, and when a working partner in a share has incurred expenses by fines or wages amounting to ten pounds (£10), and refused to pay such sum, the company shall summon such working partner to the court of mines for payment thereof; and should such company neglect to do so, all expenses incurred by said working partner over said sum of ten pounds (£10) shall be at the company's own risk, and not be chargeable against the other partner or partners in said share.

64. Sleeping partner's responsibility.—Should any person holding sleeping interests in shares in claims or mining companies neglect to pay such portions of calls or other liabilities to which they are legally subject, either by special agreement or arising in any other way, and the working shareholders or company sus-tain any loss by such neglect, the sleeping shareholder shall be liable to make good such loss, and the working partner or company shall summon such sleeping partner to the court of mines for payment thereof; but, should such sleeping partner not be found, so that a summons may be served upon him, a notice shall be posted by the working partner or company on said claim for eight days, and also an advertisement inserted in one at least of the local papers for eight consecutive days, stating that should such sleeping partner or his agent not come forward within that time, and pay to the clerk of the court of mines all expenses incurred by said working partners or company through such neglect, the district surveyor shall register the said working partner or company in all the sleeping partner's interest in such claim on production of a certificate of such failure from the clerk of the court of mines.

65. Parties receiving gold to present transfer ticket.—No party shall receive a share or portion of a share of gold from any claim unless such party shall produce to the secretary of the company in such claim the register or transfer ticket for such share or part of a share, and said party shall only be entitled to receive the portions of said share mentioned on the register or transfer ticket; and in the event of any shareholder not being present, or having an agent who must be in possession of such register or transfer ticket, and be lawfully authorised, in writing, to act for him, at the division of gold by said company, the secretary shall lodge such gold in the Treasury, in the name of the judge of the court of mines, until such time as the party or parties establish their claim to the same.

66. When a share of gold is disputed.—When a share or part of a share of gold or money is disputed by any person or persons, such disputing person or persons shall give notice of such dispute to the secretary of the company in which such dispute occurs, who shall immediately lodge any gold or money belonging to such disputed share or portion of a share in the Treasury, in the name of the judge of the court of mines, and the person or persons so giving notice shall (if practicable) within eight (8) days from the date of the lodging of the said gold or money (as herein provided) bring such dispute before the proper authorities, that the same may be settled; and should they fail to do so (except some good reason be assigned for delay) the company shall receive back such gold and give the same to the other partner or partners in said share.

67. Surveyor to stop transfers.—Upon the surveyor receiving notice from the warden or the clerk of the court of mines that legal proceedings have been taken against any registered shareholder, he shall stop all transfers of the share held by such shareholder until he shall have received notice in writing from some competent authority that such legal proceedings have terminated.

68. Size of claims not altered.—When any claim has been laid off by an authorised surveyor, and afterwards the depth is found to be greater or less than was supposed at the time of laying off, no alteration will be permitted to be made in the size of such claim, except in special cases, when a written authority (to increase or diminish the size of such claim) must be obtained from the warden, signed by the warden.

69. Drawing slabs from abandoned claims.—In no case will parties be allowed to draw slabs from any shaft without filling up such shaft as the slabs are drawn. When a claim is abandoned or left unworked, the surveyor of the district, on the recommendation of the warden, shall be empowered to enforce such order as the warden may deem best for protecting parties holding adjoining claims; and any person or persons not complying with such order, when signed by the warden, shall be guilty of a breach of these regulations.

70. Furnishing shares.—Any share or shares given to any parties for furnishing materials to a claim, or for any other purpose, shall be registered by the surveyor upon the production to him of a certificate from the secretary of the company of said claim, certifying what interest the parties are to receive, and the purpose for which they are to receive such interest; and the surveyor shall (provided always that such share or shares be additional to the number of working shares required by the regulations) register the name in full of such person or persons, and also attach the conditions to the registry ticket, and a duplicate of such registration shall be given to the parties, who shall then to all intents and purposes be partners in the company.

71. Additional share.—Any shareholder working in a frontage claim shall be allowed to work for wages, or be owner and work one (1) additional share, either in a prospecting claim, old ground claim, or surfacing claim.

72. Plurality of claims or shares.—Any person being registered for more than one (1) share, except such additional share or shares be sleeping interests, or as provided in Rules 72, 71 and 70, shall forfeit all such shares in such claim or claims, and shall not be entitled to any compensation for work or money expended on such shares or claims. "Sleeping interests" shall mean portions of shares where the owner is not required to work.

73. Mode of proceeding to obtain one, or two, or more shares.—Any person discovering that another person is in possession of two (2) shares at one time, except as provided in Rules 41, 70 and 71, may summon the party in possession of such shares before a justice of the peace for a breach of the regulations, and at the same time may apply for one (1) of the shares so held; and the party obtaining such summons shall immediately give notice thereof to the surveyor of the district, who shall stay any transfer of such share until such justice of the peace has adjudicated on the matter of dispute; and should such justice of the peace decide that the person complained against was, at the date of the summons, in possession of the two (2) shares as aforesaid, the justice of the peace shall order the surveyor to transfer one of the shares to the party applying, provided the person so applying be qualified according to the provisions of these rules.

74. Permission to hold claims in reserve.—When companies are waiting the arrival of machinery, or when other good cause can be shown for delay, either in commencing or continuing mining operations, the warden may grant permission to such companies to hold their claims unworked for such time as he may deem necessary.

75. Abandonment of claim.—Should any party or company working in a claim abandon the same, and such party shall immediately inform the surveyor of the district of such abandonment; and should any claim be neglected for three successive days, except as provided in Rule 74, such claim shall, unless good cause can be shown for such neglect, be considered abandoned, and may be taken possession of by another party, who shall immediately give notice to the surveyor of their having taken possession of such abandoned claim, and the surveyor shall then conditionally register the party so taking possession of the same, and shall also post a notice on his office of such abandonment and repossession as aforesaid; and should the original party in the said claim fail, within eight days from the date of such notice, to assert their right to such claim according to law, the surveyor shall register for such claim the party conditionally registered.

76. Compensation.—Any party taking possession of an abandoned shaft or claim shall be required, if demanded within eight days after taking possession, to make compensation to the original party for any slabs or other materials which are in such abandoned shaft or claim, should the party taking possession use said materials or keep possession of them.

77. Plurality of applicants.—In all cases where there are more than one applicant for a share at one time, or where there are more than one number of applicants for a claim at one time, and the surveyor has any doubts as to which was the first applicant, he shall decide which party is entitled to such claim or share by ballot.

78. Authority to surveyors.—In all cases in which a district surveyor, or any other surveyor authorised by the warden, shall deem it necessary in the execution of his duty, to descend, examine, or measure any shaft, or examine or measure any workings, it shall be imperative on the miners working the claim in which such shaft or workings shall be situated, to give him all necessary assistance in doing so; and in cases where any party refuses to comply with this rule, it shall be competent for the surveyor to call in such other assistance as he may require, and the party refusing to comply or render the assistance as required by this rule, will be liable for the expense incurred.

79. Dissolution.—At least eight days previous to the dissolution of any company, the secretary of said company shall advertise such pending dissolution in at least one of the local newspapers, on the Monday, Wednesday and Saturday previous to the dissolution, and also post a notice on the claim to the same effect.

80. Extended areas allowed by the warden.—The warden, upon the recommendation of the mining board, shall have power to allow areas more extended than those mentioned in the regulations for any recognised improvements in mining or for mining purposes, and also allow areas more extended where the ground is not so auriferous as to produce a sufficient remuneration for the labor of working it. Parties obtaining such extended areas shall be subject to such conditions as may be imposed by the mining board at the time of making such grant. Extended areas under this rule shall not be allowed where the permission would interfere with the existing right of claim owners.

81. Special permission to amalgamate.—In all cases where persons wish to amalgamate more claims, for which amalgamation is provided for in Rule 12, they must obtain a written permission for protection from the warden at least eight days previous to the application being entertained, and a notice of the same must be posted on the claim and on the warden's office; and within six days after such notice is given, the parties shall lodge a statement containing—1st, date of application; 2nd, situation and plan of ground; 3rd, the class of mining; 4th, if claims are to be worked by machinery, if so, stating its description more particularly as regards its efficiency with respect to the drainage of the ground; 5th, whether worked or unworked ground; 6th, the name or title of such firm or company; 7th, names in full, also dates and numbers of the miner's rights of every shareholder; 8th, the rules and regulations of such firm or company. The register tickets must also accompany such statement.

82. Amalgamated claims one claim.—When any number of claims are amalgamated, the entire number so amalgamated shall be considered as one claim.

83. Mining partnerships.—A mining partnership shall include all cases where two or more persons shall consent to divide the proceeds of any mining transactions, whether such person or persons may themselves be actually engaged in mining operations or not; and should the parties thus contracting agree to divide the proceeds of any other business or undertaking in lieu of or connection with the mining transaction, such other business or undertaking shall be considered to come within the mining partnership.

84. Taking advantage of foregoing regulations.—All parties who now occupy claims under any regulation published in the Government Gazette previous to the present date, shall be allowed (should they be desirous of doing so) to hold and work their claims proportionally to the number of men to the size of the claims in the present regulation.

85. Certificate from surveyor.—In cases where parties reduce the number or men as provided in Rules 84 and 17, they must, before doing so, obtain a certificate from the surveyor of the district to the effect that the party so drafted out cease to work in the claim, the shareholders of which are so entitled to reduce their number; such certificate must be obtained before the party so drafted out can register for any other shares.

86. Permission to occupy for residence.—Any person in possession of a mine's right shall be permitted to occupy for the purpose of residence in connection with mining twenty perches of the crown lands of the district, provided that the length shall not exceed twice the width; and provided that in the event of such residence area being at any time found to interfere with the lawful prosecution of mining operations, the warden shall have power to permit such mining operations to be conducted on such area, on such conditions as he may consider just and reasonable.

87. Areas for machinery, &c.—The warden shall have power to permit parties to cut races for the purpose of conveying water to occupy areas of ground on which to erect dams, puddling machines, engines, tramways, or any machinery or appurtenances connected with mining, and to permit such privileges on or through any claim in possession of other parties, such permission to be subject to any conditions or restrictions the warden may deem necessary to impose at the time of giving such permission; and should any party or parties fail to act in accordance with such conditions and restrictions, the warden may cancel such privilege.

88. Notice of application.—Any party or parties applying for a special privilege as authorised in Rules No. and No. 87, shall, at least eight (8) days previous to the application being considered by the warden, give intimation of such application to the warden, who shall give such party or parties a certificate of such application, which shall be an authority for holding the ground applied for against all other parties until such application shall have been considered as aforesaid, and such party or parties shall, for not less than eight clear days previous to such application being considered as aforesaid, keep posted on some conspicuous part of the ground a notice stating the nature of such application and the date upon which it is to be considered by the warden.

MUNICIPAL INSTITUTIONS.

PETITION FOR ANNEXATION TO MARYBOROUGH.

IN pursuance of the Act of Council 18 Victoria No. 15, His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, has directed the publication of the substance and prayer of a petition addressed to His Excellency as hereinafter set forth, signed by two hundred and eighteen householders resident beyond the limits of the municipal district of Maryborough, praying to be included therein.

By His Excellency's Command,

F.4383.

JOHN O'SHANASSY.

The petitioners refer to the proclaimed boundaries of the municipal district of Maryborough, the limited area of which they state is found to be extremely inconvenient.

They express themselves desirous of being brought within the municipal jurisdiction.

They add, that if the municipal district is extended as proposed, it will still not include a greater area than the Act allows, and no one point thereof will be distant more than six miles from any other point.

And the petitioners pray as follows:—

"Your petitioners therefore humbly pray that the limits and boundaries of the municipal district of Maryborough may be altered and extended as follows:—Commencing at the rear of the Camp Hotel; from thence bearing south 285 chains; from thence bearing north 45 degrees east, 240 chains; from thence bearing north 45 degrees west, 240 chains; from thence bearing south 45 degrees west, 240 chains; and from thence bearing south 45 degrees east, 240 chains."
