Measles are on the decline at Boroondara, Brunswick, and Brighton. At Richmond scarlatina has nearly disappeared, but measles still prevail, and of the thirteen deaths that occurred during the past week in that district ten were of children under three years of age. Both scarlatina and measles are prevalent on Emerald Hill. At St. Kilda sickness is reported on the increase, and three deaths took place from scarlatina. At Williamstown the measles continue to spread in a mild form. The week has been a very fatal one, and more deaths than births have been recorded.
