MACDONNELL BAY, AND RED BUOY, SEMAPHORE SPIE, ST. VINCENT GULF, SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

THE accompanying Sailing Directions for Macdonnell Bay, near Cape Northumberland, and nautical description of a Red Buoy on the north of the Semaphore Spit, St. Vincent Gulf, which have been received from the Government of South Australia, are published for the information of navigators and others.

Notice to Mariners.

SAILING DIRECTIONS FOR MACDONNELL BAY, NEAR CAPE NORTHUMBERLAND.

Variation, 6° 19' east. High water at full and change at three hours. Rise and fall, five feet.

MACDONNELL BAY is formed by the indentation and trend of the coast line to the eastward of Cape Northumberland, and may readily be distinguished by the lighthouse standing on the summit of the Cape.

Cape Northumberland Lighthouse is in latitude 38° 3' S., longitude 140° 35' E. The lighthouse is twenty-eight feet in height, and stands on the summit of the rocky headland, which is 103 feet above high-water mark.

The light, which is catoptric and revolving, consists of three faces, and exhibits alternately, every minute, a white, red, and green light, on an arc visible from seaward from N. 74° E. to N. 69° W., round by south.

The white light may be seen from the deck of a moderate sized vessel about eighteen miles.

The red light will be distinguishable from a distance of fifteen miles.

The green light will not generally be distinguished beyond a range of eight miles.

During storm weather and northerly winds, when there is much refraction, the white light will be frequently observed at a great distance.

Vessels approaching from the eastward, and bound past Port Macdonnell, should not bring the white or red light to bear to the westward of W.N.W., and when the green light becomes visible on that bearing, they should steer more southerly, in order to give the reef which stretches to the eastward of Cape Northumberland a wide berth. Vessels from the northward, should never sight the red or white light on a bearing more southerly than E. ½ S., and on seeing the green light should, immediately alter the course, so as to give the reefs running parallel to the coast, at a distance of a mile, an offing. In bad weather, with the wind hanging from the southward, it will be advisable to give the Cape such an offing as will enable a ship to pass the lighthouse without seeing the green light, and should the weather be thick, or it be blowing hard, it will be prudent not to sight the red light, which, under such circumstances, will not be seen at the distance first given. The coast to the north-westward of the Cape soon becomes low, and owing to the heavy ocean swell which sets directly on the shore, should be very carefully avoided.

The land about Cape Northumberland may be known from the offing by day by two remarkable mountains near each other. Mount Gambier, the northernmost, is peaked, and bears from the cape N. by E. four (4) leagues; Mount Schanck, the other, is flat-topped, and bears N.N.E. ½ E. nine or ten miles from the same cape.

SAILING DIRECTIONS—PORT MACDONNELL.

Vessels bound into Port Macdonnell by day should give Cape Northumberland a good offing, taking care not to bring the Cape to bear to the westward of N.W. by N., until Mount Schanck bears N. by W., when a course may be shaped for the anchorage, which will then bear N.W.; stand boldly on, carefully observing the breakers on the reefs. On this course the water will shoal rapidly from ten (10) fathoms to six (6), and as the beach is approached to three (3) fathoms on a rocky bottom, generally in the latter depth the soundings will be very regular; as, although the ground is rocky, the patches appear to be composed of limestone flats covered slightly with seaweed.

Before thus closely approaching the coast, strangers should hoist the signal for a pilot, who will, if the weather be not too bad, come off.

Should the pilot not be able to board, it is recommended to obtain an offing until the weather moderates.

At night, except under the charge of the pilot, it is not prudent to enter the bay; and masters of vessels should keep the light bearing from N.N.W. to N.N.E., taking care not to come under twenty-five (25) fathoms water, which will place a ship about five (5) or six (6) miles from the Cape. Masters of vessels acquainted with this port will find no difficulty in entering it by observing the following directions:—

On approaching from seaward keep Point Douglas, a headland to the W.N.W. of Cape Northumberland, well open of the latter, and Mount Gambier more than the length of Mount Schanck open to the eastward of the latter before standing in, after which steer for Mount Schanck until the mooring-buoys are made out. By keeping the eastern set, bearing between N.W. ½ W. and W.N.W., they may be safely approached, when the Harbor Master will, if possible, come off and moor the ship.

Masters of vessels are requested to carefully observe if any of the signals hereinafter mentioned are made from the flagstaff near the jetty.

In the event of all the moorings being occupied, vessels entering the bay must anchor, and should be kept in such a condition, as to ballast and trim, as will enable them to seek an offing in the event of bad weather coming on.

Although the moorings now laid down at this port are of the heaviest description, and fully competent to hold any vessel that can enter Port Macdonnell, it must be remembered that, during heavy south-west gales, the sea rolls in over the outlying reefs, and breaks in the bay very heavily. On these occasions vessels will ride very uneasily, and be cut off from communication with the shore.

The responsibility of remaining in the bay after the bad weather signal has been made must devolve on the commander of a ship, although fast to the moorings.

It is obvious, from the nature of the bottom, that no vessel can be considered safe in bad weather from the westward, if at her own anchors, although their weight may be in excess of the prescribed scale.

The following moorings are now placed at Port Macdonnell:

One set	{ One 165 fathoms of 3 inch mooring-chain Two 13 fathoms of 2½ inch bridles Two anchors of four tons	} Two buoys, 18 feet water.
One set	{ One 147 fathoms of 1½ inch mooring-chain Three 15 fathoms of 1½ inch bridles Two anchors of 3½ tons
One set	{ One 60 fathoms of 1½ inch mooring-chain One 7 fathoms of ½ inch bridle One anchor of 1½ tons	} One buoy, 10 feet water.

The anchors are placed in holes blasted in the rocky bottom. Commanders, masters, and others in charge of vessels, are hereby required, when using the moorings laid down at the outports in this province, to observe the following directions:—

In a fine weather, when there is little sea, a line may be made fast to the large buoy; but, on no account must a vessel hang to the buoy longer than is absolutely necessary to moor the vessel to the bridle, the buoy chains not being intended to moor by, the buoys being placed solely for the purpose of indicating the position of the moorings, and assisting vessels in picking up the mooring bridles.

In the event of the weather being such as would render it improper to take hold of the large buoy, ships must let go an anchor clear of the direction of the mooring chain in the bottom.

At those outports where harbor masters are stationed, or where pilots take charge of vessels, the direction and position of the mooring anchors and chains will be duly pointed out, and instructions given to masters of vessels in mooring and unmooring.

Having brought the ship near the mooring buoy, a small black wooden buoy will be observed. To this buoy a small chain is attached, to which is shackled the mooring bridle lying on the bottom. Having hauled up upon the small chain, and brought the large link or shackle on the end of the bridle to the hause, shackle on the ship's cable. Should an anchor be down, lift it; and, if necessary, or so instructed, shackle on the second chain, unshackle the small buoy, and veer away cable as requisite, observing that, as the bridles are in short lengths, a ship should ride with as much range as locality or the state of the weather may require were she simply riding to her own anchors.

In unmooring, the small buoy chain must be carefully secured before slipping, and the large buoy be used under the same conditions as expressed in the first section of these regulations.

It will be obvious to commanders and masters of vessels that no confidence can be felt in using the large buoys for securing ships to, when it is remembered that the constant friction of that portion of the chain touching the bottom so wears the stoutest chains that a very few months shakes out the studs, and renders them quite unfit to hold on by in any weather likely to cause a strain on the chain.

The board take every precaution in keeping the moorings in a perfect state of efficiency, and will hold commanders, masters, and other persons in charge of vessels, liable for all expenses in the event of the moorings being injured, in addition to the penalties imposed under the following clause:—

Persons not complying with these regulations, render themselves liable to a penalty of not less than £5, nor exceeding £20.

on such offence being proved before one or more of Her Majesty's justices of the peace, in addition to any expenses to be incurred by the board in refitting, replacing, removing, or repairing any moorings injured or displaced by any vessel making use of the same contrary to the provision of these regulations.

The Harbor Master has coir springs for the use of vessels in bad weather. Since the publication of the previous directions for this port the township has considerably increased. A convenient jetty, with trucks and cranes, has been constructed in the most sheltered part of the bay.

The Custom House, Court House, and Police Station will be found conveniently situated near the jetty.

The Head Keeper of the Lighthouse acts as Harbor Master and Pilot, and the Sub-collector of Customs as Shipping Master.

The telegraph has also been extended to the township. Convenient bonded and free stores have been established, and provisions, water, and ships' stores may be procured at the township at current rates. A steamer runs between Port Adelaide and Port MacDonnell every fortnight.

A lifeboat and an efficient boat's crew, together with Dinnett's rocket apparatus for saving life, has been established at this port.

The following signals are established at this port. The flag-staff at which the signals will be displayed is situated near the base of the jetty.

ARTHUR BLYTH, Treasurer.

RED BUOY, SEMAPHORE SPIT.

The red buoy placed on the north end of the Semaphore Spit is in eighteen feet low water springs.

Its position is as follows:—Jetty end E.S.E. one and one-third miles, touching north side of hotel. Light vessel N. ½ E. two miles.

The jetty end can be approached within half a mile in seventeen feet water, taking care not to bring it to bear to the eastward of E.S.E. Vessels passing to the southward should keep the buoy a little to the eastward of the bearing of light vessel. The bearings are magnetic.

WM. DAUGLAS,

UPPER PLENTY OR MORANG ROAD DISTRICT.
BYE-LAWS OF THE UPPER PLENTY OR MORANG DISTRICT
ROAD BOARD.

(Established 6th October, 1862.)

THE business of the board shall on all occasions be conducted with open doors.

2. At all meetings of the board, the business of the board shall commence as soon as the legal quorum shall be present; but, should a quorum not be present at the expiration of thirty minutes after the hour appointed for meeting, such circumstance shall be noted (with the names of those members present) in the minute book, and such meeting shall lapse.

3. The minutes of any previous meeting not previously confirmed shall be read as the first business at all meetings of the board, in order to their confirmation; and no discussion thereon shall be permitted, except such as to their accuracy as a record of their proceedings.

4. At all meetings of the board, unless otherwise provided for by law, the reading of correspondence unconnected with the business of the meeting, the presentation of petitions, and the bringing up of reports, shall have the precedence of all motions.

5. Every communication addressed to the board shall be in proper form, and presented by one of its members, who shall be responsible for its being properly worded.

6. On the presentation of a petition, no debate shall take place thereon until notice has been given in the usual manner, and the only question which shall be entertained on the occasion of its presentation shall be that the petition be received, and if necessary, that it be referred to a committee.

7. No report of a committee shall be considered or adopted on its presentation, nor until due notice shall be given; all such reports shall be read and received pro forma, and if ordered by the board, printed for distribution among the members.

8. If in the report of a committee there are distinct recommendations contained, such report shall not be adopted until the sense of the board shall have been taken separately on each.

9. The orders of the day shall include all matters arising out of the proceedings of former meetings of the board, and any business which the chairman may think fit to bring under consideration. Any member of the board may, however, bring forward such business as he may think advisable in the form of notice of motion. No such motion however shall be decided on at any such meeting of the board, unless notice thereof shall have been given to the secretary in writing by the member bringing it forward, at a meeting previous to that in which the same shall be considered.

10. No motion entered on the notice paper shall be proceeded with unless the member who has given such notice, or some other member authorised by him, be present when the business is called in order. Notices not so proceeded with shall be struck out of the papers.

11. No bye-law shall be finally passed or adopted at the meeting at which it has been first proposed, nor until the next meeting of the board regularly convened, and every such bye-law shall, in the interim, remain open for the inspection of any of the ratepayers in the office of the board, free of charge.

12. The mover of any motion which may be referred to any committee shall be pro hac vice a member of such committee.

ORDER OF DEBATE.

1. Any member when proposing a motion or amendment, or discussing any matter, must address the chairman, and no member shall be interrupted, unless by a call to order; the member calling to order shall be then heard, and the question decided before the subject is resumed or any other business entered upon.

2. All motions or amendments shall be taken down in writing by the secretary, and read by him and approved of by the proposer before being put from the chair.

3. No member shall speak twice on the same subject, unless by way of explanation merely, or in reply as the mover of the original motion, or upon any amendment, and upon such explanation or reply the question shall be put to the vote.

4. The chairman, when called upon to decide a point of order or practice, shall state his opinion on the subject, and his decision shall be final.

5. The chairman shall, in taking the vote on any motion or amendment, put the question first in the affirmative and afterwards in the negative, and he may do as often as is necessary to form and declare his opinion from the show of hands which party has the majority; and at the desire of any member of the board the names of the members so voting shall be entered in the minutes.

6. No motion or amendment shall be entertained or discussed, unless it be seconded. Any member may, however, require the enforcement of any standing order of the board by simply directing the chairman's notice to its infringement.

7. If two or more members rise to speak at the same time, the chairman shall determine which is entitled to pre-audience.

8. No member shall digress from the subject-matter of the question under discussion, or impute improper motives to others, and all personal reflections upon any member shall be considered highly disorderly.

9. The chairman shall address the board standing in discussing any question.

10. Any member may require the secretary to take down, in writing, any particular words used by a member immediately on being used.

11. Any member who shall use any expression capable of being applied offensively to any other member shall, if required by the board, withdraw such expression, and make a satisfactory apology to the board.

12. Any member may of right require the production of any document of the board relating to the question or matter in discussion.

13. One amendment only shall be discussed at one time, but if lost, any other may be moved previous to the original motion being put to the vote.

14. Upon the adoption of any amendment by the board, such amendment shall be held to have quashed the original motion, and for all purposes of subsequent discussion the amendment so carried shall be acted upon as an original motion.

15. The board shall in all cases vote by show of hands.

16. No discussion will be allowed on any motion for adjournment of the board, but upon the question being put, the motion being negatived, the subject then under consideration, or the next on the notice paper, shall be discussed, or any other that may be allowed precedence, before any subsequent motion for adjournment shall be entertained; but if the motion for adjournment be carried, the remaining business to have precedence next meeting.

17. Any member of the board may enter his protest against any resolution of the board, provided that such protest is not inconsistent with truth or disrespectful to the board; notice of intention, however, to protest must, in every case, be given on the adoption of the resolution protested against; and a protest, signed by the member or members, and signifying the reasons for protesting, must be entered before the next regular meeting of the board, by the protesting member, in a book to be kept for that purpose in the secretary's office, and duly referred to in the minutes of the board, the same to be considered also a part of such minutes.

18. No motion, the effect of which if carried would be to rescind any motion which has already passed the board, shall be entertained during the same year, unless a call of the whole board has been duly made for that purpose; and no such motion for rescinding any resolution of the board which shall have been negatived by the board shall be again entertained during the ensuing six months.

19. No election to any office at the disposal of the board shall take place until six clear days' public notice shall have been given by advertisement in one or more of the local newspapers, inviting applications from candidates properly qualified for such offices.

20. The salary or allowance attached to all officers and places at the disposal of the board shall in all cases be fixed before proceeding to the election, unless when tenders may be called.

FORMATION OF CONTRACTS.

1. No member or officer of the board shall be allowed to tender for any work to be done for or in connection with this board, or be received as surety for any contractor for such work, or surety for any officer of this board; and in all cases where security shall be required, the expense of preparing the bond for the same shall be borne by the party giving the same.

2. All contracts shall be made by tender, advertised not less than by two insertions in one or more of the local newspapers; each tender to be deposited in the tender-box, or addressed to the chairman of the board; and such tenders to be opened only at the time of their consideration by the board; the respective amounts, together with the names of the parties tendering, to be entered in every case on the minutes of the board, and when the tenders are accepted, a contract bond, if required, shall be entered into and signed by the contractor and the chairman of the board.

3. All work done in connection with this board must be duly inspected by the engineer or other competent person appointed by the board to inspect and pass the same by certificate, and in no case will the board pay any moneys unless first approved of and ordered by the board.

PAYMENT OF MONEYS.

1. All payment of moneys shall be by cheque, signed by the chairman and treasurer of the board, and countersigned by the secretary.

LOCAL ASSESSMENT.

1. In all cases it shall be deemed sufficient for the collector to call once for payment of any amount due upon the assessment roll; and in the event of any such amount not being paid to him, a notice shall be left stating that unless the amount be paid to the collector of the board within fourteen days from the date hereof, legal proceedings will be taken for its recovery. A duplicate of such notice to be deposited in the office of the board.

2. Any one or more payments may be suspended pro tem, in cases of an emergency, with the consent of a majority of the board.

MISCELLANEOUS.

It shall be competent for any member, without previous notice, to move for a call of the whole board for the consideration of any subject at the next or any subsequent meeting, and upon such motion being carried, due notice thereof shall be given in the notice paper for the day.

JOHN WILTON,
Chairman.
MOSES THOMAS,
Treasurer.

Tenders must include the whole of the articles mentioned in the schedule, and one price must be stated for each article. The value of all packages, whether bulk be broken or not, must be included in the prices demanded.

No tender will be entertained unless accompanied by a certificate from two responsible persons that they are willing to become bound as sureties in the sum of £350 for the due fulfilment of the contract; and in the event of the tender being accepted, the bond must be executed within ten days, failing which the contract may be again advertised or another tender accepted.

The names of the tenderers and their proposed sureties, together with their addresses, must be stated at full length.

All tenders must be enclosed in a separate envelope, marked "Tender for Ironmongery, &c.," and be deposited in the Tender Box at the Government Stores, King street; or, if sent by post, they must be addressed to the Government Storekeeper, Melbourne.

The Government will not necessarily accept the lowest or any tender.

CONDITIONS.

1. The supplies are to be according to schedule, wherever the manufacture is indicated, and other items are to be the best of their several kinds.

2. All orders for supplies under these contracts must issue from the Government Storekeeper's Department, and unless otherwise specially ordered, the supplies must be delivered to the Government Stores. When ordered, they are to be delivered free of charge to any part of Melbourne, and in the case of Ship Chandlery and Oil for Lighthouses, at the Marine Yard, Williamstown.

3. When desirable, raw material will be ordered for the manufacture in the penal establishments of articles required by the Government Storekeeper.

4. All supplies when delivered must be accompanied by the order, which will be receipted, and must be rendered with the contractor's account. No goods will be received unless accompanied by the order.

5. In the event of supplies ordered under these contracts not being delivered within forty-eight hours, it will be competent for the Government Storekeeper, should circumstances require it, to purchase the same, or such articles as may be suitable for the service, at the risk of the contractor, from whose account any expense over and above the contract price will be deducted.

6. Each contractor will be required to prepare his own account monthly in the prescribed form, and present the same to the Government Storekeeper for payment at the Treasury.

7. In the event of a difference of opinion between the contractor and the head of the department requiring the supply as to the quality, the same to be decided by a board of survey, composed of persons named by the Government, and the decision of the board is to be considered final. Any expense incurred on account of the rejection of supplies by a board of survey will be charged to the contractor.

8. If the board shall decide that the article is not of proper quality, it must be immediately replaced by the contractor, failing which it will be procured elsewhere, and the extra expense, if any, will be charged as in clause 5.

9. The Government Storekeeper will have power to reject such article or articles as are obviously of inferior quality, it being understood that he will be responsible to the Government for so doing, and the contractor must take back the rejected article, and supply good in its stead, failing which it will be procured elsewhere, and the extra expense, if any, will be charged as in clause 5.

10. A repetition of irregularity in the quantity or quality of the supplies, or of delay in delivering or replacing them when required, will subject the contractor, upon report from the Government Storekeeper, to such mulct, not exceeding one-fourth the amount of the monthly account, as the Government may direct. It will also be in the power of the Government, upon such repetition, to terminate the contract forthwith.

11. It will be competent, either for the contractor on his own behalf, or for the Government Storekeeper on behalf of the Government, to terminate the contract by giving a notice in writing of three full calendar months to the opposite party; it being understood that such notice can be given only from the first day of a month, and within the period for which the contract is made.
