Payment on death of a depositor being illegitimate and dying intestate.

21. If any depositor, being illegitimate, shall die intestate, leaving any person or persons who, but for the illegitimacy of such depositor, and of such person or persons, would be entitled to the money due to such deceased depositor, it shall be lawful for the Postmaster-General, with the authority in writing of the Attorney-General, to pay the money of such deceased depositor to any one or more of the persons who in his opinion would have been entitled to the same according to the Statute of Distributions, if the said depositor and such person or persons had been legitimate.

22. If any depositor shall become insane, or otherwise incapacitated to act, and the same shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Postmaster-General, and if the Postmaster-General shall be satisfied of the urgency of the case, he may authorise payment, from time to time, out of the funds of such depositor to any person whom he shall judge proper, and the receipt of such person shall be a good discharge for the same.

23. If any dispute shall arise between the Postmaster-General and any individual depositor, or any executor, administrator, next of kin, or creditor or assignee of a depositor who may become bankrupt or insolvent, or any person claiming to be such executor, administrator, next of kin, creditor or assignee, or to be entitled to any money deposited in the Post Office Savings Bank, then and in every such case the matter in dispute shall be referred, in writing, to the Attorney-General, and whatever award, order, or determination shall be made by the said Attorney-General shall be final, to all intents and purposes, without any appeal.

REGULATIONS FOR THE GUIDANCE OF OFFICERS EMPLOYED IN THE TRANSACTION OF POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANK BUSINESS IN THE CHIEF OFFICE, MELBOURNE.

(Made by the Governor in Council under 29 Victoria No. 277, Part IV., ss. 46-58.)

Treatment of Savings Banks in Chief Office.

1. When the Savings Bank Accounts, with their accompanying vouchers, have reached the Chief Office in the envelopes containing the Money Order Accounts, they will be sorted off to the Examiner, and will be checked as to the cast by that officer, who will also ascertain that the entries of payments correspond with the warrants, and that the total numbers and total amounts of Savings Bank deposits and payments have been duly carried into the Money Order Accounts, and that the total amount of deposits has been duly added to the total of orders issued, and the total amount of payments to the total amount of orders paid.

Introduction of daily totals of Savings Bank transactions into Money Order Account Current Book and its summary.

The Savings Bank Accounts and their vouchers will then be separated from the Money Order Accounts; the latter accounts having undergone the usual examination, will be entered in the Postmaster's Account Current Book (pattern 18). The introduction of the Savings Bank totals into this book will enable the Money Order Office to maintain as perfect a check upon the Postmasters, in regard to their remittances of Money Order and Savings Bank cash, as that office now maintains in regard to Money Order cash alone; and further, it will raise a check against the books of the Savings Bank in regard to the total number and total amount of Savings Bank deposits and repayments, which will be of considerable advantage.

The Savings Bank Accounts will then be recorded in a Summary (pattern 16), in which the total numbers and total amounts of deposits and payments at each office, and the aggregate of the transactions at all the offices, will be shown.

2. The Account will then be placed in the hands of the Acknowledgment Clerk, whose duty will be to fill up and address an acknowledgment for each deposit named in each account, then to pass the accounts, with their accompanying declarations and warrants, to the Deposit Ledger Keeper, and to retain the acknowledgments for subsequent comparison by the Examiner with the entries in the ledger. Acknowledgment of deposits.

3. A separate account for each depositor will be opened in the Depositors' Ledger (pattern 20); these accounts will be grouped under the Post Office at which the first deposits are made. There will be a separate series of consecutive numbers for the accounts of each group. To carry out this arrangement, each depositor's book, and all the forms connected therewith, have been made to show the name of the office at which the first deposit is made, and the numerical position of the depositor in the group of depositors proper to that office. Thus, if a depositor has received book 46 from the Post Office at Ballarat, his account in the Ledger of the Chief Office will be No. 46 of the accounts grouped under Ballarat. Depositors' Ledger.

The groups of accounts will be arranged alphabetically, according to the names of the Post Offices, and thus there will be no difficulty whatever in tracing the account of any one of them, or in at once assigning any application or paper connected with that account to the officer qualified to deal with it.

It is expected that depositors will frequently move from place to place. So long as they are merely travelling, their accounts will be retained in the group in which they were originally placed; but when they make a new and permanent settlement, their accounts will be transferred to the group proper to the new place of residence.

4. When the Ledger Keeper receives from the Acknowledgment Clerk the daily Savings Bank Accounts of the Postmasters, he will take those accounts in their alphabetical order and enter the deposits therefrom into the accounts of the depositors. When he opens a fresh account, on the occasion of a first deposit, he will take care that the statutory declaration has been duly made and forwarded with the account. These statutory declarations will daily be extracted from the accounts when the Ledger Keeper has examined them and sorted in alphabetical order, in which order they will be retained, and will thus form a complete alphabetical index to the depositors' names, and save the compilation of any such index. Duty of Ledger Keeper.

The deposits having been entered from the accounts into the ledger, the acknowledgments of these deposits will be compared with the entries in the ledger. This comparison will secure the accuracy of the ledger entries and of the acknowledgments. When this comparison has been concluded by the Examiner, the acknowledgments will then be folded and transmitted to the depositor.

5. When notices of withdrawal reach the Chief Office, they will be sorted by the Ledger Keeper, whose duty it will be—(a.) To compare the notice with the account of the depositor, and ascertain if the required amount is due to the applicant; (b.) To enter the amount proposed to be withdrawn in the proper column of the account in the ledger, in anticipation of the payment; and (c.) To pass the notices on to the Examiner, by whom the warrants will be prepared and checked against the entries in the ledger, and by whom the corresponding advices will be made out and issued. Withdrawals.

Thus, when the warrants, after presentation to and payment by the Postmasters, return to the Ledger Keeper in the daily Savings Bank Account, the Ledger Keeper will not then have to make an entry of the payment, but he will then have to compare the entry in the Postmaster's account with the entry previously made by him in the ledger, against which entry he will have to note the date of payment. This previous entry of the warrant in the ledger, and subsequent comparison of the entry in the Postmaster's account with that entry in the ledger, will secure the immediate detection of any fraudulent alteration of the warrant, if the Postmaster had failed to detect such an alteration by a comparison of the warrant with the advice.

The Ledger Keeper will also require to make up the Monthly Summary, to insert the interest in each depositor's account annually (unless when the account is closed within the year, in which case the interest must be inserted on the closing of the account), and to cast and balance each depositor's account annually.

6. As has already been shown, the entries in the ledger will in all cases be checked by the Examiner; the accuracy of the debit sides of the depositors' accounts will be secured by comparing the acknowledgments of deposits with the entry of deposits in the ledger, and the accuracy of the credit sides will be secured by comparing the warrants (which will be prepared from the notices of withdrawal) with the entries in the ledger previously made by the Ledger Keeper from the same notices. Duty of Examiner.

The warrants will be numbered consecutively, and each separate warrant will be entered in a book (pattern No. 17). After all the warrants have been issued, they will be sorted to the Post Office at which they are made payable. An advice sheet will then be filled up, containing entries of all the warrants drawn upon each Postmaster, and reference made to their Money Order balance, for the purpose of ascertaining if they have sufficient funds to meet the withdrawals.

As a general rule, notices of withdrawal received on any given day will be so treated that the warrants and advices will be prepared on that day, and transmitted on the following day to the depositors and postmasters.

7. The check upon the aggregate of Post Office Savings Bank transactions will be as follows:—The daily totals of each Postmaster's receipts and payments will be carried into the Postmaster's Account Current Book and into the monthly summary of that book, which will give an aggregate total of the receipts and payments of all Postmasters on Savings Bank Account. (b.) The items composing the daily totals of receipts and payments by Postmasters will be entered in the Depositors' Ledger and in the summary of Check upon the aggregate totals.

that ledger, which will give the aggregate of all sums deposited and withdrawn. (c.) The total receipts by Postmasters, as shown by the summary of the Account Current Book, should agree with the total of the deposits, as shown by the summary of the Depositors' Ledger; and the total payments by Postmasters, as shown by summary of Account Current Book, should agree with the total of sums withdrawn, as shown by the summary of the Depositors' Ledger, due provision being made for warrants issued to depositors, but not cashed by them at the date of comparison of accounts.

8. All officers in the Chief Office receiving deposits from, and making repayments to, the public, must, in the transaction of this business, observe the regulations for the guidance of Postmasters and other officers as far as such regulations are applicable.

Dated at Melbourne, 7th August, 1865.

JAMES McCULLOCH,
Chief Secretary.

1. The Postmaster-General having selected your office to be, on and after a place of receipt for deposits in the Post Office Savings Bank, you are hereby instructed to keep it open for that purpose, and for the repayments to depositors, during the hours appointed for the transaction of money order business; and on Saturdays, in addition, from 6 until 8 o'clock p.m., for receipt of deposits only.

2. You are supplied herewith with the undermentioned forms and books, viz.:-
A.—Copy of general regulations for your own use.
B.—Copy of general regulations for exhibition to the public.
C.—Declaration forms for ordinary depositors (see Clause 3 of Regulations).
D.—Declaration forms for deposits on trust (see Clause 7 of Regulations).
E.—Depositors' books, numbered (see Clause 5 of Regulations).
F.—Forms of daily account, for reporting deposits and repayments to the Postmaster-General (see Clause 5 of Regulations).
G.—Forms of daily money order and savings bank account.
H.—Monthly statements of money order and savings bank transactions.
I.—Notices of withdrawals (see Clause 15 of Regulations).
K.—Orders to pay warrants when depositors cannot attend in person (see Clause 16 of Regulations).

You must return to the Controller of the Money Order Office any old forms of money order, daily account, or monthly statement, which may be in your possession on the day of commencing savings bank business.

3. You will place the large copy of the printed regulations in some conspicuous position in your office, where the public can read it conveniently. You will retain the small copy for your own guidance, and study it carefully; and if there be any part of the regulations, or of these instructions, which you do not understand, you will at once apply for further information to the Controller, Savings Bank Department, General Post Office, Melbourne.

4. You will learn from Clause 2 of the Regulations that you may receive deposits of one sixpence, or of any number of sixpences, or of pounds, shillings, and sixpences, from any depositor. You are not to understand from this clause that deposits of copper coin may not be made, but that every deposit must be of the value of one sixpence, or of some number of sixpences. You will also learn from this clause that no depositor (with the exceptions specified in Clause 10) may deposit more than £50 within any period of fourteen days. You must therefore be careful not to take more than £50 from a depositor when he first makes his deposit; and when he makes a further deposit, you must ascertain, by the examination of the previous entries in his book, that his deposits made within the previous fourteen days, together with that which he is about to make, do not exceed £50.

5. When a person applies to you to receive his first deposit for transmission to the Post Office Savings Bank, furnish him with the form of declaration required by Clause 3 of the Regulations (Form S. B., No. 8), and direct him to read it. If he cannot read, you must read it to him. He must sign it, and his signature must be witnessed by yourself, or by some person known to you, or by a clergyman, or by a justice of the peace. If he cannot write, he must affix his mark, and his mark must be witnessed. Next obtain the money intended to be deposited. Next take one of the numbered depositor's books referred to in Clause 5 of the Regulations, and require the depositor to sign his name in the space allotted for that purpose within the cover of the book. If the depositor cannot write, his mark is, to be taken, and witnessed by yourself. Next enter in the book the christian name, surname, address, and occupation of the depositor, the date of the receipt of the deposit, and its amount, sign your name against the entry, and affix an impression of your dated stamp in the place prepared for the same in the depositor's book. You will next enter the whole of the particulars of the deposit in the form of daily account supplied to you for that purpose (Form S. B., No. 2), and after satisfying yourself that you have made correct entries of every item, namely, the number of the depositor's book, the amount deposited, the christian name, surname, address, and occupation of the depositor, you will insert on the form of declaration in the place indicated thereon the name of your office, and the number of the depositor's book, which you will copy from the book itself, and then deliver the book to the depositor, whom you must inform that in a few days he will receive an acknowledgment from the Postmaster-General, that the deposit has been entered in the books of the Post Office Savings Bank, and that if he does not receive that acknowledgment within ten days, he must write to the Postmaster-General and state that he has not received it. This course is enjoined in Clause 5 of the Regulations.

Entry in depositor's book.

Entry in daily savings bank account.

No. of book and name of office to be entered on declaration.

Depositor to be informed that he is to expect the Postmaster-General's acknowledgment, and if necessary to report its non-receipt.

Second, and subsequent deposits.

6. On making every deposit after the first the depositor must bring his book with him, and you must enter in that book the correct amount of such deposit, with the date on which it is made, affix your signature against the entry, and affix in the proper place an impression of your dated stamp.

7. You will enter the particulars of every deposit, as it is made, in your daily savings bank account as before; and in any case in which the previous deposits entered in the depositor's book were made at another post office, you will be careful to enter the name of that office, as well as the number of the book, in the proper column of the account.

Entry in daily savings bank account.

8. You may receive deposits—

A.—From a trustee on behalf of another person, in the joint names of that person and the trustee (see Clause 7 of Regulations). In such cases the declaration must be made by the trustee on the form specially provided; but the names of both parties must be entered in the depositor's book and in your daily savings bank account.

Deposits may be received from trustees on joint account.

B.—From persons under twenty-one years of age (see Clause 8 of Regulations).

From minors under twenty-one years of age. From women, whether married or single. Refer such depositors to Clause 9 of Regulations.

C.—From women, whether married or single (see Clause 9 of Regulations), which clause you must recommend female depositors to read carefully.

From trustees of Friendly, Charitable, or Provident Societies legally established: After reference to the Postmaster-General who will give you the necessary instructions.

D.—From the trustees of any Friendly, Charitable, or Provident Society, the rules of which have been duly certified (see Clause 10 of Regulations). As it will not be in your power to ascertain whether the rules of any of these institutions have been duly certified, you must, upon a first application from the trustees of any one of them to be permitted to deposit, refer the applicants to the Postmaster-General, from whom you will receive the necessary instruction and form of declaration.

9. Any depositor wishing to withdraw the whole or any part of his deposits, and applying to you for information as to the proper mode of effecting his object, must be supplied with one of the forms of notice of withdrawal (Form S. B., No. 4), (see Clause 16 of Regulations); but before supplying the form, you will of course satisfy yourself by inspection of the depositor's book, or otherwise, that the party applying is a depositor. You will instruct the depositor how to fill up the form, and impress on him the necessity of stating accurately on the form the name of the place where the first deposit entered in his book was made, and the number of that book. A few days after the receipt of the notice in Melbourne a warrant for the amount to be withdrawn will be issued, and sent by post to the address of the depositor, and an advice of the issue of this warrant will be sent to you. When the warrant is presented for payment at your office by the depositor, you must compare it with the advice, and require the depositor to sign his name to the receipt at the foot of the warrant. You must then ask him for his depositor's book, and compare his signature to the warrant with his signature in the book when his first deposit was made, and if you are satisfied that he is the party entitled to receive the amount, and if the warrant corresponds with the advice, you must pay the amount accordingly. If the depositor cannot write this comparison cannot be made, and you must then require him to bring some person known to you who can identify him as the person named in the warrant. In such a case the depositor's mark must be affixed to the receipt at the foot of the warrant, and must be witnessed by the person identifying him. If the warrant does not correspond with the advice, or you have reason to think that the person presenting the warrant is not entitled to receive the amount, you must refuse payment, and report the same to the Savings Bank Branch, General Post Office, Melbourne.

Withdrawals.

If depositor cannot write he is to be identified.

10. Warrants can only be paid to the depositor in person, or to a person authorised by him in the (Form S. B., No. 7), a copy of which you must supply if applied for. The order must be signed in the manner prescribed in Clause 17 of the Regulations, and when the warrant has been duly paid you must attach the order to it.

Payment of warrants when depositors cannot attend in person.

11. When you have paid the amount, stamp the warrant with your office stamp, enter the particulars in that portion of the depositor's book appropriated to withdrawals, giving the date of payment and the amount withdrawn; sign your name, and affix an impression of your dated office stamp in the proper place in the depositor's book. When this has been done, enter the warrant on the credit side of your daily savings bank account, giving in each column of that account the information required by the respective headings of those columns.

Warrant to be stamped with the date of payment and entered in depositor's book.

Entry of paid warrants in daily savings bank account.

Transfer of deposit from Penny Savings Bank to the Post Office Savings Bank.

12. If any depositor in any Penny Savings Bank shall present to you his deposit book and claim repayment, you must supply him with a notice of withdrawal (Form S. B., No. 4a), and direct him to fill it up and forward it with his book (in a cover which will be supplied to you for the purpose) to the Postmaster-General, Melbourne, and inform him that he will obtain payment and a new Post Office deposit book, if required, within ten days. If any depositor of a Penny Savings Bank wishes to make further deposits at your office, he must also be requested to forward his Penny Savings Bank deposit book to the Postmaster-General, Melbourne, and a new Post Office deposit book will be supplied to him within ten days. The necessary instructions will be forwarded to you to enable you to enter the amount due to the above-described depositors in a Post Office Savings Bank deposit book to be issued from your office.

Savings bank account to be added up, and totals to be entered in daily money order account.

13. At the close of business you must carefully add up both sides of your savings bank account, and enter the respective totals in the places indicated on the account. You must then enter on your money order account, in the places marked for the purpose in the form of money order daily account, the total number and total amount of savings bank deposits received by you during the day, and the total number and total amount of savings bank payments made by you during the day. You must add the total amount of savings bank deposits to the total amount of orders issued, and the total amount of savings bank payments to the total amount of orders paid, and these totals must also be entered in your money order cash book. You must then tie up the paid warrants and the declarations made by new depositors, and enclose them in the savings bank account, which must then be placed inside the daily money order account, and sent up with it in the ordinary envelope to the Money Order Office.

Paid warrants and declarations to be enclosed in savings bank account. All to be sent up with daily money order account.

Surplus money to be remitted.

14. The balance of the moneys received and paid by you on savings bank account will thus have become part of the balance due from you on the money order account, and you must remit, as at present, any sum which may be in your possession in excess of your money order reserve.

Notice of no savings bank transactions.

15. Should no savings bank transactions take place at your office on any day, you will not be required to send up a form of account, but you will be required to enter in each of the places set apart for savings bank totals in the daily money order account the word nil.

When savings bank transactions occur, and no money order business.

16. Should any savings bank transactions have taken place during the day on which no money order transactions have taken place, you will be required to send up a money order account with the word nil written across that part of it which refers to money orders, and the totals of the savings bank transactions inserted in the part which refers to them.

17. The daily totals of the savings bank transactions are to be entered in places prepared in the new form of monthly account, and also in the copy of that account in the new money order cash book now supplied to you.

Secrecy.

18. You are forbidden by the Postal Act to give any information, except to the Postmaster-General and the proper officers of the Post Office, as to the name of any depositor, or the sum deposited or withdrawn by him, and disobedience to this rule will incur the severe displeasure of the Postmaster-General. You will also be liable to forfeit a penalty not exceeding £100 for an offence against, or a wilful neglect or omission to comply with, this or any other of the Regulations.

Dated at Melbourne, 7th August, 1865.

Chief Secretary.

Admiralty, 19th May, 1865.

SIR,—I am commanded by my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to request you will state to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, that it having been represented that a saving to the public may be effected by curing in Australia a portion of the salt beef required for the navy, they have given the subject their consideration.

My Lords are not prepared to incur the expense that would be involved (as a first outlay) by the purchase of land and the erection of the buildings and plant necessary for such an establishment, nor are they disposed to enter into contract with private individuals for the supplies which would be required.

But it has occurred to them that the Colonial Government of Victoria might be inclined to enter into an arrangement with the Admiralty for supplying at a fixed price per pound the quantity of salt beef which would be required, probably to the extent of 300,000 pounds annually, the whole of such meat to be the produce of oxen approved both before and after being slaughtered by an officer appointed by my Lords to superintend the process of curing, and to take charge of the store on the spot.

My Lords enclose, as a guide, a statement of the buildings and plant, with plans* of the same, that would be necessary for such an establishment; and they have further to observe that as it is contemplated to supply the naval depôts in China, India, America, and the Cape of Good Hope, from Australia, it would be desirable that the premises should be situated at or in the immediate vicinity of Melbourne (where freight is always obtainable), and possess a water frontage for the convenience of shipment.

My Lords request that the Secretary of State for the Colonies will obtain for them the views of the Colonial Government on this subject as early as convenient, and if the latter be disposed to accede to their proposal, they will without delay despatch an officer to Melbourne for the purpose of making all preliminary arrangements.

I am, &c.,

(Signed) W. G. ROMAINE.
The Under Secretary of State for the Colonies,
&c., &c., &c.

* It is probable some modification of these plans to suit the climate may be necessary.

MINUTE BY THE COMMISSIONER OF TRADE AND CUSTOMS.

It is unfortunate that the within suggestions from the Lords of the Admiralty should reach the colony at a time when, owing to long continued drought and the demand for stock to occupy the new country (to the northward), it would seem that meat was too scarce and too dear to induce such an operation as the one proposed being entered upon.

It is known, however, that the season is an exceptional one, and the fact of the demand for stock to occupy new country (now known as being well fitted for pasturage) promises in the future greatly enlarged supplies of meat suitable for the purposes herein referred to, and at a price enabling competition with any country in the world; and as regards climate and all necessary appliances our capability has long been proved. It is, however, in my opinion, beyond the province of the Government to invest in undertakings of this character; but it is none the less its duty to encourage and support their establishment, and I would therefore respectfully suggest that the within information should be published, and that the Government should offer the necessary land on easy terms to any person or company in proved position to comply satisfactorily with the within and other demands, including an arrangement with the home authorities. I assume that, to cover cost of buildings and to carry out the business, a capital of £50,000 would be required, and an early commencement of business should be demanded. As a first step, the correspondence, &c., including lithographing the plans, should be done at the Government Printer's, for publication or circulation.

The mortality of Melbourne and suburbs, the mean temperature in the shade, and the mean atmospheric pressure, during the month of July, for the last six years, were as follow:—

	Number of Deaths.	Mean Temperature.	Mean Height of Barometer.
July, 1860	319	47.3°	30.114 inches.
" 1861	268	46.6°	29.850 "

" 1865	270	46.4°	30.010 "
Mean of six years	251	48.1°	29.934 "

The mean temperature of July was nearly two degrees lower than the average. The mortality was less than in the two previous months, but was in excess of the average for July during a period of six years.

Males contributed 62 per cent. and females 38 per cent. to the total mortality; 44 per cent. of the deaths were of children under five against 48 per cent. in June, 44 per cent. in July, 1864, 45 per cent. in July, 1863, 46 per cent. in July, 1862, 50 per cent. in July, 1861, and 48 per cent. in July, 1860.

Twelve deaths was the highest daily mortality recorded and three was the lowest. The former number occurred on six different days and the latter upon two.

Eight deaths of persons more than 75 years old occurred during the month, which is an unusually large number. They were returned as follow:—A male of 77 and one of 78 died of old age, a male of 78 of pneumonia, a male of 80 of diarrhoea, a male of 81 of dysentery, a male of 91 of apoplexy, a female of 75 of bronchitis, and a female of 78 of nephria.

The deaths which occurred from external causes numbered eleven. Of these, 2 were from drowning, viz., a female aged 20 months and a male aged 30 years. Five were from fractures and contusions, viz., a carter aged 21 who was killed by a cart passing over him, a contractor aged 22 by a fall from his horse, a seaman aged 26 by falling from a mast, a farmer aged 30 who died in consequence of accidental injuries to his spine, and a gunsmith aged 57 from the effects of a fractured leg. Two were from accidental suffocation, viz., an infant aged 13 days, and another aged 5 months. A laborer aged 30 was accidentally killed on the railway at Williamstown in a manner not stated. A mattress maker aged 35 was hanged judicially.

Seventy deaths, or 26 per cent. of the whole number recorded, took place in public institutions. Of these 30 were in the Melbourne Hospital, 9 in the Benevolent Asylum, 9 in the Yarra Bend Lunatic Asylum, 3 in the Immigrants' Home, 14 in the Industrial Schools, 1 in St. Vincent de Paul's Orphan Asylum, 2 in the Melbourne Gaol, and 3 in the hulk Success.

The following table shows the number of persons of all ages according to the last census, the number of deaths of persons under and over five years of age, the total at all ages, and the number of deaths to every 1000 of the population during the month of July, in the Statistical District of Melbourne and suburbs, and in each of the sub-districts of which it is composed:—

TENDERS FOR THE SERVICE OF 1866. CONVEYANCE OF MAILS, 1866.

TENDERS are hereby invited and will be received until Noon of Wednesday, the 11th October, 1866, for the conveyance of Post Office Mails, as undermentioned, for one year, from the 1st January, 1866, to 31st December, 1866.

Tenders are required to be written on a form, printed copies of which may be had gratuitously on application at any post office in the colony, and may be forwarded (if by post, pre-paid) addressed to the Deputy Postmaster General, with the words "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails" endorsed on the cover, or placed in the Tender Box at the General Post Office.

Tenderers are requested to describe by their numbers, as below, the mail services for which they tender, and every tender will be taken to include the entire service as called for.

Every tender must bear the bona fide signatures and addresses of the tenderer, and of two responsible persons willing to become bound for the fulfilment of the same in such sum as the Government may direct, not exceeding the gross amount of the contract.

Every tender must be accompanied by a bank deposit receipt for a sum equal to twenty per cent. of the amount for which the tenderer is willing to undertake the service; the money to be lodged to the credit of the Deputy Postmaster General, and to be absolutely forfeited to the Government in case the person whose tender may be accepted shall fail to complete, within ten days of the date of notice being given of the acceptance of his tender, the usual bond and contract to the satisfaction of the Government. The notice of acceptance if delivered at the address named in the tender shall be deemed sufficient.

The money deposited by unsuccessful tenderers will be returned to them on application, and on their signing receipts for the respective amounts, but not otherwise.

Persons tendering are requested to state the description of the vehicle they intend to use, and the number of horses by which it is to be drawn.

A separate tender must be sent in for each service, but notwithstanding this condition any offer will be entertained for the performance of any number of services for a lump sum. The number of the service or services tendered for must be plainly endorsed on the outside of the cover.

The tender of any person failing to comply with the foregoing conditions will not be entertained.

The general conditions referred to in the printed form of tender, and upon which the tender is to be made, can be inspected by persons proposing to tender, either at the General Post Office or at any post office in the colony.

The Government will not necessarily accept the lowest or any tender.

Tenders for the Service of 1866.

CONVEYANCE OF MAILS, 1866.

TENDERS are hereby invited and will be received until Noon of Wednesday, the 11th October, 1865, for the conveyance of Post Office Mails, as undermentioned, for one year, from the 1st January, 1866, to 31st December, 1866.

Tenders are required to be written on a form, printed copies of which may be had gratuitously on application at any post office in the colony; and may be forwarded (if by post, prepaid) addressed to the Deputy Postmaster General, with the words "Tender for the Conveyance of Mails" endorsed on the cover, or placed in the Tender Box at the General Post Office.

Tenderers are requested to describe by their numbers, as below, the mail services for which they tender, and every tender will be taken to include the entire service as called for.

Every tender must bear the bond fide signatures and addresses of the tenderer, and of two responsible persons willing to become bound for the fulfilment of the same in such sum as the Government may direct, not exceeding the gross amount of the contract.

Every tender must be accompanied by a bank deposit receipt for a sum equal to twenty per cent. of the amount for which the tenderer is willing to undertake the service; the money to be lodged to the credit of the Deputy Postmaster General, and to be absolutely forfeited to the Government in case the person whose tender may be accepted shall fail to complete, within ten days of the date of notice being given of the acceptance of his tender, the usual bond and contract to the satisfaction of the Government. The notice of acceptance if delivered at the address named in the tender shall be deemed sufficient.

The money deposited by unsuccessful tenderers will be returned to them on application, and on their signing receipts for the respective amounts, but not otherwise.

Persons tendering are requested to state the description of the vehicle they intend to use, and the number of horses by which it is to be drawn.

A separate tender must be sent in for each service, but notwithstanding this condition any offer will be entertained for the performance of any number of services for a lump sum. The number of the service or services tendered for must be plainly endorsed on the outside of the cover.

The tender of any person failing to comply with the foregoing conditions will not be entertained.

The general conditions referred to in the printed form of tender, and upon which the tender is to be made, can be inspected by persons proposing to tender, either at the General Post Office or at any post office in the colony.
