GEO. VERDON,

Treasury, Melbourne, 2nd October, 1865.

2291 ..., IMPERIAL ACTS 28 & 29 VICT., CHAPTERS 63, 64, AND 113. THE Governor has directed the subjoined Despatch, and the accompanying Acts of the Imperial Parliament, to be published. By His Excellency's Command. Chief Secretary's Office, J. McCULLOCH. Melbourne, 2nd October, 1865. er all of the engage Downing street, 26th July, 1865. Sir,-I enclose, for your information, copies of three Acts which have been passed during the recent Session of Parliament (cap. 63, 64, & 113, 28 & 29 Vic.). The first of these Acts, cap. 63, was passed to set at rest certain questions which have been raised in the Supreme Court of South Australia respecting the validity of colonial laws. It is intended as far as possible to obviate doubt and litigation on this most important subject, by declaring that no colonial law shall be void for repugnancy to the law of England, unless it is inconsistent with an Imperial Act intended by Parliament to extend to the colony in which such law is passed, nor because it is at variance with the Governor's instructions. It also establishes the power of Colonial Legislatures to regulate the administration of justice, on which doubts had been thrown, and the power of every Representative Legislature to alter its own constitution. The second Act, cap. 64, is passed to obviate a doubt which has been suggested respecting the effect of a colonial law passed to give retrospective validity to marriages already informally solemnized in the colony. It is doubtless true that every Colonial Legislature may prescribe the formalities requisite to constitute a valid marriage within its jurisdiction, and that the formalities thus prescribed will be recognized elsewhere as sufficient for their purpose. But the case is different when a law is passed not to declare what shall be a valid contract in future, but to make valid ab initio that which was really invalid. It has been urged that such a retrospective law, though binding with respect to civil rights and property within the colony in which it is passed, may not be held to have the same effect with respect to rights or property which are exercisable or situate in other parts of Her Majesty's dominions. The first clause of this Act declares explicitly that these retrospective enactments shall have their intended effect throughout Her Majesty's dominions, and not only in the colony in which they may be passed. The third Act fully explains itself... with the most the most two with the contributions. Governor Sir C. H. Darling, K.C.B., (Signed) &c.. &c. COLONIAL LAWS VALIDITY. ANNO VICESIMO OCTAVO & VICESIMO NONO VICTORIÆ REGINÆ. CAP. LXIII .- An Act to remove Doubts as to the Validity of Colonial Laws. [29th June, 1865.] WHEREAS doubts have been entertained respecting the validity of divers laws enacted or purporting to have been enacted by the Legislatures of certain of Her Majesty's Colonies, and respecting the powers of such Legislatures, and it is expedient that such doubts should be removed: The transfer of the first property Be it hereby enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows: 1.
