NOTICES TO MARINERS.

FAREWELL SPIT, COOK STRAIT.—KAIKOURA PENINSULA ANCHORAGES

THE following Notices to Mariners, which have been extracted from the New Zealand Government Gazettes, Nos. 45 and 46, are published for general information.

WILLIAM M. K. VALE,
Commissioner of Trade and Customs.

Department of Trade and Customs,
Melbourne, 19th August, 1868. 2579.

FAREWELL SPIT, COOK STRAIT.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

NOTICE is hereby given that observations taken by the Chief Marine Surveyor, from the colonial surveying steamer St. Kilda, show that Spit-end or the extreme eastern end of Farewell Spit has shifted, and is now about one nautic mile and a quarter to the north-east of its position as shown on the Admiralty Chart (sheet No. 7) of New Zealand, Admiralty number 2616. This alteration is not sufficiently great to render the courses given in the New Zealand Pilot for clearing this danger unsafe.

JAMES M. BALFOUR,
Colonial Marine Engineer.

Wellington, 21st July, 1868.

THE following description of the anchorages of the Kaikoura Peninsula and the coast-line adjacent, from the Hapuka River on the north to the Kowhai or Waite's River on the south; also the entrance of the Waiau-ua River, and the anchorages of Gore Bay, prepared by G. A. Woods, Colonial Marine Surveyor, Government surveying vessel St. Kilda, is published for general information.

(By Order) J. M. BALFOUR,
Colonial Marine Engineer.

DESCRIPTION OF THE KAIKOURA PENINSULA ANCHORAGES.

Kaikoura Peninsula.

The Kaikoura Peninsula, situated in lat. 42° 26' S. and lon. 173° 44' E., is a projecting tongue of land running some two miles to the eastward from the main line of coast and forming on each side of it bays (Ingles Bay on the north and Gooch Bay on the south), which afford shelter to coasting vessels from north-easterly and south-easterly gales.

Kaikoura Township.

The Kaikoura township, situated on the shores of Ingles Bay, is the natural outlet for a large area of pastoral and agricultural country, and promises in future to be a place of some importance. Provisions of all kinds are easily procured at this port by ship-masters requiring them, and water is plentiful.

Ingles Bay.

That portion of the coast-line known as Ingles Bay lies between the Hapuka River on the north, and the northern point of the Kaikoura Peninsula (Point Kean) on the south. The usual anchorages are well sheltered from the N.N.W. through W. to S.E. with good holding ground, in depths varying from (7) seven to (10) ten fathoms, but open to N.E. and easterly gales.

As a rule, with north-easters, the sea does not rise to any extent, but with easterly gales it is very heavy, and although a portion of the peninsula and Lynch's Reef are then to windward yet a heavy sea runs into the bay; it is therefore advisable when seeking shelter from southerly and south-easterly gales to anchor close under Lynch's Reef in (7) seven to (9) nine fathoms, sandy bottom, which enables a sailing vessel to make a good board to the N.N.W. should the wind shift to the N.E. quarter.

Vessels from the northward making for the anchorage in ordinary weather, may steer a course direct for Mount Eyes, in the centre of the peninsula, until within about (2) two miles of the shore, when they will shape their course about S.W. quarter S. on a line of bearing shown by leading marks, consisting of two triangular perches, on the hills under Mount Eyes. This course will bring them into a good outer anchorage with (10) ten and (11) eleven fathoms, dark sand, and within a few hundred yards of the St. Kilda Rock, care being taken to anchor with the Nine Pin Rock open north of the St. Kilda Rock.

Vessels approaching Ingles Bay from the south in ordinary weather may steer within a cable's length of Lynch's Reef with safety, and haul up on to a course of N. 65° W., keeping the Nine Pin Rock open north of the St. Kilda Rock, and anchoring in any position on that line of bearing.

In bad weather it is necessary to give Lynch's Reef a wider berth, as a shoal rocky patch of from (5) five to (6) six fathoms lies off the N.E. point of the reef about two cables' length, over which the sea breaks with considerable force in heavy weather from the S. and S.E.

Fyffe's Cove.

Fyffe's Cove is a boat harbor formed by Observation Point and the projecting reef to the eastward, capable of holding when properly moored, three or four coasters, of a draught of water not exceeding (6) six to (8) eight feet.

Vessels making for this inner anchorage, must keep on the upper line of bearing past the St. Kilda Rock, until the lower set of beacons at the head of the Cove are in one, when they will immediately haul up on to this new line of bearing, which will carry them into the harbor, clear of a rock awash lying on the eastern side of the entrance. Care must be taken not to go off the line of bearing for Fyffe's Cove, as a dangerous rock with but (6) six feet of water lies nearly half-way between the St. Kilda Rock and Observation Point.

Vessels bound for Fyffe's Cove can also enter by a passage which exists between the St. Kilda Rock and Observation Point, but care must be taken to avoid the six feet rock mentioned above; and in no case must the bearing line shown by the lower beacons at the head of the cove be crossed to the eastward.

Moorings to the rocks on both sides of the harbor are laid down, enabling vessels to lie moored with their heads to the north, with comparative safety.

A jetty has also been constructed by the Government to allow of small craft hauling alongside to discharge their cargoes.

Mariners are cautioned against bringing up amongst the kelp, for, as a general rule; the bottom is rocky and broken, and not good holding ground.

Davidson and Ruby Rocks.

Davidson's Rocks, lying N. 32° W., and distant (7) seven cables from the shore, and (11) one mile and three-eighths from Observation Point, is a dangerous and shoal patch awash at L.W. springs, and between these rocks and the shore, and bearing N. 50° W. from Observation Point, is another dangerous patch known as the Ruby Shoal, distant two cables from the shore, consisting of two conical rocks lying N.W. and S.E. of each other, (6) six feet apart with (3) three feet of water at L.W. springs.

To avoid these rocks when working in or out of Ingles Bay, mariners are cautioned to tack before the Nine Pin Rock is in a line with Point Kean, as that line of bearing (about S. 40° E.) leads on to the eastern portion of the Davidson Shoal; they must also bear in mind that the current almost invariably sets to the northward on this portion of the coast, generally running stronger as you approach the shore.

Beacons.

The beacons erected for the anchorage leading marks are painted as follows, i.e.—Upper outer anchorage beacon, black and white with white perch.
 Alt. 105 ft. from H.W.M.
 Alt. 95 ft. from H.W.M. Lower outer anchorage beacon, red and white with red perch.
 Alt. 55 ft. from H.W.M. Upper inner anchorage beacon, red
 Alt. 40 ft. from H.W.M. Lower inner anchorage beacon, white.
 Alt. 40 ft. from top of perch.

Gooch Bay.

Gooch Bay, situated on the south side of the peninsula, lies between Haul-round Point, on the north, and Kowhai or Waite's River on the south.

Anchorage.

The anchorage in this bay is well sheltered from all winds but those between the south and east, good holding ground being found at a depth of from (8) eight to (9) nine fathoms, with the southern extreme of Baxter's Reef on with Haul-round Point. In hauling into this anchorage care must be taken to avoid the Cone Rock, nearly awash at low water, lying S.W. of the end of Baxter's Reef, and distant about (4) one-quarter of a mile.

Vessels approaching this anchorage from the north can haul close round the reef off Haul-round Point, where they will steer a course west towards Bullen's Woodshed, a conspicuous mark on the coast between the Kowhai and the Kahutara River, until the northern peak of the Looker-on Ranges bears N.N.W., and nearly on with Mount Wharton, they can then, with safety, haul up on that bearing for the anchorage clear of the Cone Rock.

Bullen's Cove.

Bullen's Cove, formed by Baxter's Reef to the westward and Haul-round Point to the east, cannot be recommended as a good anchorage, on account of the holding ground being bad, and various detached sunken rocks that lie on the S.E. side.

Currents and Tides.

The usual set of the stream at the Kaikoura Peninsula is to the northward, varying a point or two according to the direction of the coast-line. The velocity is from (2) three-quarters to

(14) one and a half knots per hour. H.W., F. and C. at 5 h. Springs rise (6) six feet; Neaps (4) four feet; but both the velocity of the current and height of the tides are greatly influenced by the prevailing winds.

Winds.

The fall of the barometer, with all distant objects, such as the Looker-on and Kaikoura Ranges, very distinct, and of a fine blue tint, the atmosphere being remarkably transparent, heralds the approach of a north-wester. A slight fall in the barometer, with a thick bank of clouds rising to the S.E., with rainy weather and the tops of the hills clothed with a white mist, are considered certain indications of a south-easter, the barometer rising almost immediately after the wind reaches you, when it continues to blow violently, with a rising glass. The prevailing winds during the winter are from the N.E. In autumn and spring the winds are variable between north and east, but frequently a N.E. swell sets in to the bay without the wind blowing home; this is considered a sure indication of there being N.W. weather in Cook Strait. The finest months are from December to March.

WAIKOU-UA RIVER.

The Waikou-ua River is situated in latitude 42° 47' 10" S., and longitude 173° 23' 10" E., and about (26) twenty-six miles south of the Kaikoura Peninsula.

The entry may be distinguished at a distance by a lofty mountain, Mount Caverhill, rising (2000) two thousand feet above the level of the sea, (7) seven miles N. and W. of the entrance. The Caverhill Range extends to the southward the whole distance, terminating abruptly on the north banks of the Waikou-ua River; the peaks of these ranges are stony and rugged. The Cheviot Hills form the southern boundary of the river, and are of a hummocky formation.

River Entrance.

The river has frequently two entrances, one immediately at the base of the Cheviot Hills and the other about half a mile north of this, on a shingle beach; both entrances are narrow and shifting, and the velocity of the outward current is so great as to make it nearly always dangerous for boats, being at the rate of (5) five knots on the ebb to (24) two and a half on the flood, rendering this river unfit for navigation, except with flat-bottomed steamers, when it must be taken at the last quarter flood. Vessels would, of necessity, have to be secured to the shore within the river, as the bottom is composed of boulder stones, excepting in a lagoon running parallel to the beach, on the north side of the entrance, at the head of which from (8) eight to (10) ten feet of water is found at all times, with room for two vessels to be moored.

The shoal banks within the entrance shift with every fresh, making it impossible to give specific directions to avoid those dangers, and rendering it necessary for a pilot to be stationed here before any attempt to open the navigation of this river could be made with any prospect of success.

No outlying dangers exist off the mouth of the Waikou-ua River, which can be approached boldly to within (4) half a mile, when a depth of (44) four and a half to (5) five fathoms, but vessels should not anchor within (6) six fathoms, as the sea breaks some distance from the land in southerly and S.E. breezes.

Currents and Tides.

The flood tide sets to the northward, the ebb to the southward, at the rate of (4) one-half to (2) three-quarter knots an hour, but a northerly set is generally experienced; the set of the current, however, is greatly influenced by the prevailing winds in the offing.

GORE BAY.

Gore Bay is an indentation of the coast-line situated between the Waikou-ua and Hurunui rivers, latitude 42° 50' 8" south, longitude 173° 21' 45" east, and it is the principal outlet for a large and valuable tract of country, but the difficulties of shipment, on account of the exposed nature of the coast, are very great.

The present landing-place is on the sandy beach lying between McLellan Point and the Jed River; the beach is very flat, and extends seaward an (8) eighth of a mile, with not more than a (4) quarter to (4) half a fathom of water, when it suddenly dips to (14) one and a half and (2) two fathoms. With any swell from seaward the sea breaks from this extreme to the shore with great violence, and in gales from the S.E. it has frequently been known to break nearly as far seaward as the general trend of the coast-line in (5) five fathoms water.

Every convenience that this landing-place admits of has been provided; the surf-boats belonging to the landing service are excellent, and are manned by Kanakas from the Sandwich Islands; a good warping buoy is laid down outside the break. Mariners must not attempt to land in an ordinary ship's boat, but in fine weather and on great emergency it is possible to land in a good whale-boat; as a rule, however, mariners are recommended not to venture in their own boats, but to wait the arrival of one of the fine surf-boats from the shore, when they can land with safety under the guidance of an experienced resident boatman. The best landing is to be found in that portion of the bay lying between Point McLellan and Point Gibson, the S.E. point of Gore's Bay, which has a steep beach, and is well protected from the southward; at present, however, this landing-place is comparatively unavailable, as until a road has been made, it can only be approached by passing round Point McLellan at low water.

Anchorage.

The roadstead is open to all winds between the S.E. and north, and the general shallow nature of the bottom renders it available only for small coasters; the holding ground is for the most part good, sand and clay; but in some places foul ground exists below the sand, necessitating a stout crown rope to insure canting the anchor.

Vessels from the southward making for Gore Bay must not approach within (4) one quarter of a mile of Point Gibson on account of one or two dangerous sunken rocks which lie to the northward and N.E. of that point, but must stand on a northerly course until the outer White Rock is well open south of the Woolshed on the beach, they may then haul up on a line of bearing, the beacon under Cavern Hill in one about W. $\frac{1}{2}$ N. with North Gable of Summer House, leads clear of Mid Bay Rocks into an anchorage within (200) two hundred yards of the warning buoy, with (4) four fathoms. There is at all times a swell in the roadstead, and a vessel must be prepared to leave with the first symptoms of a south-easter. Vessels can also anchor with safety within about (4) cables' lengths of the shore in the southern bight, but much care would be required in approaching this portion of the bay until beacons have been erected to indicate the safe entrances.

Currents and Tides.

In the offing strong currents setting to the northward are experienced, often running (14) one and half knots per hour after S.E. gales. High water, full and ebb 4h. 10m., springs rise (5) five feet.

Colonial Marine Surveyor.

(Circular.)—Victoria.

Downing street, 30th May, 1868.

Sir,—At the request of the Lords of the Committee of Council on Education, I have the honor to inform you of the endowment by Mr. Whitworth of certain Scholarships for Mechanical Science. As will be seen from Mr. Whitworth's memorandum (Science Form No. 293, South Kensington, May, 1868), he proposes that "Thirty Scholarships of £100 each should be open to all of Her Majesty's subjects, whether of the United Kingdom, India, or the Colonies, who do not exceed the age of twenty-six years, and be held either for two or three years, as experience may prove to be desirable."

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient humble servant,
BUCKINGHAM AND CHANDOS.

Governor the Honorable
Sir J. H. T. Manners Sutton, K.C.B.,
&c., &c., &c.

Science Form, No. 293.
South Kensington, May, 1868.

SCIENCE AND ART DEPARTMENT OF THE COMMITTEE OF COUNCIL ON EDUCATION, SOUTH KENSINGTON.

MR. WHITWORTH'S SCHOLARSHIPS FOR MECHANICAL SCIENCE. At Whitehall, the 5th day of May, 1868.

By the Right Honorable the Lords of the Committee of Her Majesty's most Honorable Privy Council on Education.

My Lords read Mr. Whitworth's letter of 4th May, 1868, transmitting a memorandum on his scholarships and on the establishment of sixty exhibitions of £25 for the present year preparatory to the competition for his scholarships, and requesting that the Science and Art Department may conduct the necessary examinations and correspondence.

Their Lordships have great pleasure in acceding to Mr. Whitworth's request and giving every assistance in their power in carrying out his patriotic munificence.

Manchester, 4th May, 1868.

Sir,—Referring to your letter of March 28th, by which you transmit to me a copy of the minute which the Lords of the Committee of Council on Education had passed in acknowledgement of my endowment of scholarships for promoting mechanical science, and to the concluding sentence of the minute which invites further suggestions and offers to render assistance in carrying out the intentions of the endowment.

1. I beg leave to enclose for the information of the Lords of the Committee of Council on Education a memorandum on the subject of the endowment, which I trust will meet with the approval of their Lordships, and that they will cause it to be circulated, and the necessary correspondence arising out of it to be conducted by the Science and Art Department.

2. I would beg leave to ask the Lords of the Committee of Council on Education to undertake the examinations for these scholarships.

3. As respects the preparation of the necessary details for the examination in the use of tools, I am willing to be responsible myself with the aid of friends, and I propose to obtain the consent of a few gentlemen to advise with me from time to time in whatever may arise in the future for my consideration.

4. In reply to the invitation of their Lordships to submit any suggestions, I venture to submit for consideration whether honors in the nature of degrees might not be conferred by some competent authority on successful students each year, thus creating a faculty of industry analogous to the existing faculties of divinity, law, and medicine. I am of opinion that such honors would be a great incentive to exertion and would tend greatly to promote the object in view.

5. I venture further to express a hope that the Government will provide the necessary funds for endowing a sufficient number of professors of Mechanics throughout the United Kingdom.

6. In conclusion, I inform you that the necessary arrangements for securing the endowment have been made, and I have given instructions for the preparation of the draft of a deed of trust which will be sent for the approval of the Lord President.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,
JOSEPH WHITWORTH.

To Henry Cole, Esq.,
Secretary of the Science and Art Department.

MEMORANDUM ON SCHOLARSHIPS FOR MECHANICAL SCIENCE. To be competed for in May, 1869.

I. Having offered to the Lords of the Committee of Council on Education to "found thirty scholarships of the annual value of one hundred pounds each, to be applied for the further instruction of young men, natives of the United Kingdom, selected by open competition for their intelligence and proficiency in the theory and practice of mechanics and its cognate sciences, with a view to the promotion of engineering and mechanical industry in this country," I propose that the following should be the general arrangements in the first instance, which may be modified after the first competition has taken place in May, 1869.

II. That the thirty scholarships of £100 each should be open to all of Her Majesty's subjects whether of the United Kingdom, India, or the Colonies, who do not exceed the age of twenty-six years, and be held either for two or three years, as experience may prove to be desirable; that ten scholarships should be competed for and awarded in May, 1869, at the annual national examinations in science, provided that a sufficient number of candidates prove themselves to be competent; that the successful candidates should be required to spend the period of holding the scholarships in the further satisfactory prosecution of their studies and practice of mechanical engineering, and pursue their studies according to the spirit of the endowment, making periodical reports of them; that the student should state where he proposes to pursue his studies, the Lord President of the Council deciding if the proposal can be allowed, also if the student's progress be satisfactory, and the manner in which it shall be tested from year to year. In deciding if the plan of study proposed by the student be satisfactory, as much latitude as possible may be allowed. If the student wish to complete his general education instead of continuing his special scientific study, he may be permitted to do so. He may go to the universities or colleges affording scientific or technical instruction, or he may travel abroad. The successful artisan should be encouraged to study Theory, and the successful competitor in Theory aided in getting admission to machine shops and other practical establishments. All further details would be hereafter prepared and issued by the Science and Art Department.

III. The candidates must be of sound bodily constitution.

IV. The first competition should be in the following theoretical subjects:—

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1. Mathematics (elementary and higher). | 3. Practical Plane and Descriptive Geometry, and Mechanical and Freehand Drawing. |
| 2. Mechanics (theoretical and applied). | 4. Physics. |
| | 5. Chemistry, including Metallurgy. |

And in the following handicrafts:—

- | | |
|------------------|---------------------------------|
| 1. Smith's work. | 3. Filing and Fitting. |
| 2. Turning. | 4. Pattern Making and Moulding. |

V. No candidate should obtain a scholarship who has not shown a satisfactory knowledge of all the following theoretical subjects:—

- | | |
|----------------------------|--|
| 1. Elementary Mathematics. | 3. Practical Plane and Descriptive Geometry, and Freehand Drawing. |
| 2. Elementary Mechanics. | |

With the power to use one or more of the following classes of tools:—

- | | |
|---------------------------|---------------|
| a. The Axe. | d. The File. |
| b. The Saw and Plane. | e. The Forge. |
| c. The Hammer and Chisel. | |

I propose that the maximum number of marks obtainable in the theoretical subjects and those obtainable by the most skilled workman should be about equal.

VI. My object in devising the foregoing scheme has been, while requiring a practical acquaintance with a few simple tools as a sine qua non, to render the competition accessible on fairly equal terms to the student who combines some practice with his theory, and to the artisan who combines some theoretical knowledge with perfection of workmanship.

PREPARATORY EXHIBITIONS OF £25 FOR THE YEAR 1869.

VII. As the scholarships scheme can only come into full operation by degrees, I propose from the fund ultimately available for the scheme at once to create sixty exhibitions or premiums of the value of £25 each, tenable until April, 1869, and to place them at the absolute disposal of the governing bodies of the following educational institutions and towns, in order that they may award them to youths under twenty-two years of age, who may thus be aided to qualify themselves, and must undertake to compete for the scholarships of £100 in May, 1869.

VIII.

- | | |
|--|----------------------------|
| 8 Exhibitions to Owens College, and | 3 University of Oxford. |
| 2 to the Grammar School, Manchester, the seat of my workshops. | 3 University of Cambridge. |
| | 3 University of London. |

And one to each of the following Universities, Colleges, and Public Schools:—

- | | |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| University of Durham, | Westminster, |
| University of Dublin, | Winchester, |
| University of Edinburgh, | St. Paul's, London, |
| Watt Institution, Edinburgh, | Merchant Tailors, |
| University of Glasgow, | Christ's Hospital, |
| Andersonian University, Glasgow, | City of London, |
| University of St. Andrew's, | Shrewsbury, |
| University of Aberdeen, | Marlborough, |
| To each of the Queen's Colleges at | Cheltenham, |
| Belfast, Cork, Galway, Ireland, | Chertsey, |
| King's College, London, | Clifton, |
| University, College, London, | Brighton, |
| Eton, | Liverpool. |
| Harrow, | |
| Rugby, | 2 to the College of Preceptors, |
| Charter House, | 3 to the Science and Art Department. |

I propose that the following Exhibitions shall be given to artisans only:—

2 to the Society of Arts.

Also one for artisans to each of the following towns:—

- | | |
|---------------------------|--------------|
| Birmingham, | Leeds, |
| Bristol, | Northampton, |
| Swansea and Cardiff, | Sheffield; |
| Huddersfield, or Halifax, | |

and if there be any of the above unapplied, they may be given by the Science and Art Department to any other scholastic institution which makes satisfactory arrangements for affording instruction in mathematics and mechanics, freehand and mechanical drawing.

IX. I would point out that the exhibitions to artisans may perhaps be increased to £50 for the year, by connecting them with the Science and Art Department, under the Minute of the 21st December, 1867.

(Signed)
Manchester, 4th May, 1868.

JOSEPH WHITWORTH.

MINUTE ON MR. WHITWORTH'S OFFER TO ENDOW SCHOLARSHIPS.

At Whitehall, the 27th day of March, 1868.

By the Right Honorable the Lords of the Committee of Her Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council on Education.

My Lords consider Mr. Whitworth's letter to the First Lord of the Treasury, dated 18th March, 1868. In this letter Mr. Whitworth offers to found thirty scholarships of the annual value of One hundred pounds each, to be applied for the further instruction of young men, natives of the United Kingdom, selected by open competition for their intelligence and proficiency in the theory and practice of mechanics and its cognate sciences, with a view to the promotion of engineering and mechanical industry in this country; and he expresses hopes that means may be found for bringing science and industry into closer relation with each other than at present obtains here.

It is unnecessary now to repeat the thanks which the First Lord of Her Majesty's Treasury and the Lord President of the Council have already conveyed to Mr. Whitworth for his generous offer, which they are convinced the country will fully appreciate.

Mr. Whitworth proposes that these scholarships should be tenable on conditions to be defined by a deed of trust regulating the administration of the endowment fund during his life, and that thereafter the management of this fund, subject to the conditions specified therein, should rest in the Lord President of the Council or other Minister of Public Instruction for the time being.

It is the wish of my Lords to see provision made in several large centres of manufacturing industry in the United Kingdom for affording to all classes of Her Majesty's subjects ample opportunities for acquiring instruction in the sciences which are applicable to productive industry. My Lords are of opinion that by the union of local and private efforts, supplemented as far as is proper by State assistance, this provision will be best made.

This will be rendered easy, if the munificent example set by Mr. Whitworth shall be extensively followed by others.

My Lords will be happy to receive any further suggestions from Mr. Whitworth, should he desire to make them, and to be informed if the department can render him any assistance in carrying out his liberal intentions.

The tender of any person failing to comply with the foregoing conditions will not be entertained.
