Melbourne, 7th February 1878.

1. Where any goods are detained under the 10th section of the Act 593, notice in writing (in the form or to the effect hereto) of such detention shall forthwith be given to the person entering the same, either by delivering such notice personally, or transmitting the same by post, addressed to such person at his place of abode or business stated in his entry.

If the importer or his agent shall, within seven days after the detention of such goods or within such further time as the Commissioner may allow, satisfy the Collector or other principal Acting Officer of Customs that the goods detained have been valued at the true value thereof, or that they are not chargeable with a higher rate of duty, or amount of duty than that to which they would be subject according to the value or rate thereof as described in the entry, then the goods shall be delivered to such importer or his agent: but if such importer or his agent shall fail to satisfy the Collector or other principal Acting Officer of Customs that the goods detained have been valued at the true value thereof, or that they are not chargeable with a higher rate or amount of duty than that to which they would be subject according to the value or rate thereof as described in the entry, such Collector or other principal Acting Officer shall then make a report thereof to the Commissioner who may, after hearing the importer or his agent (if they so desire), confirm or annul the decision arrived at by the Collector or other principal Acting Officer. And, should the Commissioner confirm such decision, the Collector or other principal Acting Officer shall forthwith take for the Crown any whole package or packages or separate or distinct parcel or parcels or the whole of the goods mentioned in the Bill of Entry.

2. In any case, when goods are detained and the difference in duty on the goods described in the entry does not exceed Ten shillings, or if the goods are not undervalued more than fifty per cent., and the duty does not exceed Twenty shillings, the Collector or other principal Acting Officer of Customs, may, upon the application of the person entering the goods, made before the goods have been taken for the Crown, and with the consent of the Commissioner, permit an amendment of the entry to be made.

3. The Collector or other principal Acting Officer of Customs, upon taking any such goods shall, upon request in writing, pay to the importer or person entering such goods, the sum at which the same are respectively valued for duty in the bill of entry, together with ten per cent. thereon.
