HYDROGRAPHIC NOTICES.

[No. 11.]

PACIFIC OCEAN.—NOTICE No. 47.

WESTERN PART.

The following information is derived from the surveys and reports of Lieutenant W. U. Moore, commanding H.M. surveying schooner Atacurty; and from the remarks of officers of Her Majesty's ships employed on the Australian Station, received through Commodore A. H. Hoskins, C.B., Senior Officer, 1877-8.

All bearings are magnetic. Variation in 1879:
Banks' Group  $9^{\circ}$  easterly. Fiji Islands  $10^{\circ}$  easterly.
Solomon Islands  $9^{\circ}$  easterly.

EASTERN GROUP.—The rock shown as bearing S. by W. distant 10 miles from Vanua Vatu; and the rock reported N.W. distant  $\frac{4}{3}$  miles from Frost Reef, near Mago Island, do not exist.

Argo Reef.—The correct position of the S.E. horn of the Bukatatanoa or Argo Reef is in latitude  $18^{\circ} 21' 3''$  S., longitude  $178^{\circ} 13' 3''$  W.

VITI LEVU. WEST COAST.—Kamba Island is a low coral island, wooded, 80 feet high, situated on the west side of Thivu Harbor, and connected with the main island of Viti Levu at low-water spring tides.

The coast from Kamba Island to Songo, which is an island of much the same character as Kamba, trends W.  $\frac{1}{2}$  N. for about 5 miles, and is fringed by reef which extends from  $\frac{1}{2}$  cables to one mile from the coast; this reef can be passed over by boats at low-water.

Na Tandola Harbor.—Songo Island is situated on the south and east sides of Na Tandola Harbor, which harbor is formed by a break in the reef  $\frac{1}{2}$  miles in depth, and 5 cables broad. The best anchorage is in 4 or 5 fathoms, sand, close to Songo Island, on the north side of which landing can be effected in ordinary weather.

The swell rolls into this harbor although the prevailing wind is E.S.E., and coasters prefer the more secure shelter of Likuri to the northward.

The coast from Songo Island runs in a north-west direction for 2 miles to a sandy point, from which it trends north for  $\frac{1}{2}$  miles to the Tuva River, off the mouth of which is Likuri Harbor. Boats can pass over the reef bordering the coast between Na Tandola and Likuri harbors, which extends from one to two miles from the coast.

LIKURI HARBOR is found by bringing Koromba (Pickerings Peak) to bear N.E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E. when approaching the entrance, which is situated about half-way along the reef between Vatuloa and Uverite points; the cocoa-nut grove on the island of Likuri will attract attention, as it stands out in relief against the land.

The harbor, which is formed by the stream from the Tuva River, lies in a N.E. by E. and a S.W. by W. direction, and is 1 mile long by  $\frac{3}{4}$  cables broad. It is well sheltered from all winds and easy of egress, but sailing vessels will find entering difficult with the prevailing wind blowing, and no attempt should be made to enter under sail with the ebb tide unless the wind be from a commanding quarter.

Likuri Island half-way between Likuri Harbor and Tuva River, is low and sandy, being about 700 yards long by from 100 to 200 yards in breadth, and covered with palms, the tops of which are 70 feet above high-water. At low-water the island is connected with the sandy point  $\frac{1}{2}$  miles to the south-east of it.

Anchorage may be had in Likuri Harbor with Mount Le Jeune in line with the north point of Likuri Island, 3 cables distant from that island, in 3 fathoms, sand and mud.

Tides.—It is high water, full and change, at Likuri Island at 6h. 30m. Springs rise 4 feet. Neaps range 3 feet. The tides run strongly in and out of Tuva River, the ebb being felt most in the harbor.

Tuva River is a tidal stream navigable for boats some 5 or 6 miles from its mouth.

Wind and weather.—The wind prevails at Likuri from E.S.E., between 5 a.m. and 5 p.m. At night, a light breeze generally comes off the land from the north-east. These breezes are locally reported to blow with regularity throughout the year, except in the months of March, April, and September.

The climate is dry, very little rain falls, and bush fires are common.

The coast from Tuva River to Uverite Point, the western extremity of Viti Levu, takes a north-west direction for a distance of  $\frac{6}{3}$  miles, and consists chiefly of mangrove. A fringing reef extends throughout for from one to two miles from the shore. Near the land there is a passage for boats and small craft, which connects Likuri Harbor with Nandi Waters.

From Uverite Point to Navula Point the bearing is north, and distance about 4 miles. Situated on a stream at the head of the bay between these two points is the native town of Momi. Along this part of the coast is a coral fringe, and overlooking Navula Point is a double hill with two peaks, the highest of which is 760 feet.

From Navula Point the coast runs for 2 miles in a N.N.E. direction, then trending to the eastward and forming a bay  $\frac{7}{3}$  miles long and  $\frac{2}{3}$  miles in depth, into which flows the main or north mouth of the Nandi River.

From Nandi River the coast runs N.  $\frac{1}{2}$  W. for 3 miles to the south point of Nandi Bay. For a description of which bay see Hydrographic Notice No. 13, Pacific Ocean No. 36, of 10th May 1877.

Nandi Bay ends at Vunda Point, which lies north 5 miles from Takuilan Island. A rock awash at high-water lies at the edge of the fringing reef W.S.W.  $\frac{1}{2}$  cables from Vunda Point. From Vunda Point to Na Korokoro Point the general direction of the coast is N. by W. and distance  $\frac{2}{3}$  miles. The entrance to the Ndrekiti River lies between the two points, and a narrow coral fringe borders the coast.

Climate of the west coast of Viti Levu is dry and exhilarating. The wind by day is from north-west during the trade-wind season, and a south-east wind generally comes off the land at night.

Between Nandi Bay and the Mamanutha Islands the winds are very baffling, within a few minutes on the same spot strong puffs from opposite directions being often experienced.

The barrier reefs of the west coast of Viti Levu commence at Uverite Point, and extend in a north-west direction for 34 miles. A space of 17 miles then intervenes, directly to leeward of Viti Levu, where there is no barrier. The Viwa (Biva) Reef, north of this space is the westernmost danger of the Fiji group.

Passages to Nandi.—The only safe passages through the reefs to Nandi for sailing ships are the Navula and Malolo Passages. The Navula Passage is to be found by bringing Mount Evans in line with the north summit of Double Hill bearing N.E. The channel lies E.N.E. and W.S.W., is about one mile in length, and 5 cables in breadth in the narrowest part, fringed with coral heads on the south side, and having a depth of from 18 to 50 fathoms in the middle. Sailing vessels should not attempt to beat through against the tide.

Steam vessels bound from Nandi to the eastward might make use of the Navula Passage with advantage, as it enables them to make southing in smooth water.

Navula Reef is a patch of coral, awash at low-water,  $\frac{2}{3}$  miles long by  $\frac{1}{2}$  broad, situated  $\frac{2}{3}$  miles west of Navula Point. Between this reef and Tavaruva Island there is a passage suitable for small craft, one mile wide, in which, however, are coral heads having upon them from 12 to 18 feet at low-water.

Malolo Passage leads between the two sand islands of Tavaruva and Namotu (Spieden and Waldron of Wilkes). It may be readily found from seaward by bringing Mount Evans to bear N.E. by E., and steering on that course until the islands are recognized. The direction of the channel, which is 7 cables long by 6 cables broad, is north-east and south-west, the depth in the middle being from 13 to 28 fathoms. Sailing vessels would find this a preferable passage to the Navula; but unless they have a commanding breeze it is not prudent to enter with the ebb tide.

Directions.—After clearing Malolo Passage Mount Evans should be steered for until Iakuilau Island is seen, when anchorage in Nandi Bay can be chosen as convenient.

Tavarua Island is 500 yards in diameter, surrounded by a coral reef and covered evenly with trees and bushes, making its entire height 40 feet.

Namotu Island, 300 yards in diameter, is surrounded by a coral reef, and is easily distinguished by its cocoa-nut trees, the highest of which are about 40 feet high.

Wilkes Passage is a narrow channel between Namotu and the Malolo Barrier Reef.

Malolo Barrier Reef lies N.W. by W. and S.E. by E., is 8½ miles long, and awash at low-water. It has two prominent horns in the middle, and the north-west end has numerous rocks scattered to the north of it. The southerly swell breaks with great violence on the horns of the reef.

MAMANUTHA REEFS lie north-west of the Malolo Barrier Reef, and between them are numerous passages. The south-east Mamanutha reef is awash at low-water, as is also the south end of the next reef to the north of it; but the remainder are sunken dangers having from 6 to 30 feet of water on them. Their edges are not well defined, and they break only in boisterous weather.

The northern of the Mamanutha Reefs is named after the s.s. Tartar which struck on it in 1874.

Eastward of the meridian of 177° east, between the parallels of Viwa and Monu, a number of banks were found on which the sea only breaks occasionally. This part affords unsafe navigation for sailing vessels, as the wind is uncertain, calms not unfrequent, and there are no anchorages except at Waia.

Winds.—The prevailing S.E. wind interrupted by the large island of Viti Levu finds its way to this part sometimes as a north-east and sometimes as a south wind, but is not to be relied upon for many hours, and violent gusts from off the land are occasionally experienced at night.

Viwa Reef.—The island of Viwa (Biva of Wilkes), about 100 feet high, is surrounded by coral reef, and difficult to see at night.

Inside the barrier.—The space inside the barrier reefs is studded with coral reefs and islands, but navigation is practicable if carefully conducted from the masthead with a favorable light.

Nandi Water, the name given to the space inside the barrier reefs southward of Vunda Point, has fewer coral reefs than the northern part, owing probably to the fresh water of the Nandi River flowing into it. Immediately between the Malolo and Navula passages and Nandi, the bottom is fairly even (from 10 to 20 fathoms), and affords good holding ground, in mud.

Itai, Lovuka, Kandavu, Navini, and Malamala are small sand islands covered with bushes and trees in the Nandi Waters. There are also several sand cays.

MALOLO ISLANDS consist of Malolo, Malolo lai-lai, Nguaito, Mathiu, Wadingi, and Vatu Mbulo. The last three are mere rocks. Malolo Island only is inhabited. It has a conspicuous peak in the centre, 750 feet high, is of a light color, covered with grass, and has two villages which contain about 250 inhabitants.

MAMANUTHA ISLANDS, thirteen in number, are divided into two groups, called by the natives Mamanutha Ethake and Mamanutha Ira, or the windward and leeward Mamanuthas. Mamanutha Ethake consist of Mana, Matamanoa, Nautanivono, Tavua, Mondriki, Monu, Yanuya, and Tokoriki. Of these, the highest and most singular in appearance is Monu, which has a remarkable thumb peak to the westward of, and nearly as high as its summit, 730 feet above high-water. The only islands which are inhabited are Tavua and Yanuya.

Mamanutha Rocks are situated upon a reef between the two groups of islands; the highest is 3 feet above high-water.

Mamanutha Ira Islands are uninhabited, and consist of Yavurimba, Kandomo, Vanua Levu, Na Vandra, and Eori. The highest is Na Vandra, which has a well-defined summit 420 feet above high-water. The same coral reef surrounds this island, Vanua Levu, and a large rock called Naniukaleile.

Camel Rock, situated on a reef N.W. by W. about a mile from Kandomo, is conspicuous and 15 feet in height, taking its name from its resemblance to a camel in a recumbent position.

Vomo Island is flat-topped, 380 feet high, 9½ miles E. by N. ¼ N. of Yavurimba. It is of a light color, being covered with grass, and surrounded by a coral reef, on the north-west end of which is a rock 200 feet high, called Vomo lai lai.

White Rock is a small islet, 7 miles N.N.W. from Vomo. It is covered with guano and 40 feet high.

WAIA GROUP.—Of the north-west coast of Viti Levu, and distant from it 30 miles, is a chain of volcanic islands occupying a space of about 50 miles in a N.N.E. and S.S.W. direction, called the Yaaswa Group. The most southern of this chain are the islands of Waia, Waia Lailai, and Kowata, which by themselves form a small group. Standing out from the high ridges of Waia are several remarkable thumb-shaped peaks.

WAIA ISLAND is irregularly shaped, 3½ miles long by 2½ broad, the general direction of both of its eastern and western shores being about north and south. It has several singularly sharp peaks, the highest, which is towards the north-east end of the island, being 1870 feet above the sea. A rugged well-defined mountain overlooks the south-west cape. It is 1660 feet high, and perpendicular on its western face. The south-west cape is terminated by a quoin-shaped hill 270 feet high.

Situated 6 cables from the north-east cape of the island is a rocky islet 40 feet high, with a few bushes on its summit, called Windy Rock. Waia has five villages and a population not exceeding 500.

Waia Lailai is of a more even shape, but it has one remarkable thumb peak, which is, by a few feet, the highest point of the island. It overlooks the southern coast and is 1160 feet high. Waia Lailai is connected with Waia by a coral reef, which can be crossed by boats at high-water.

Kowata has an irregular summit which is 570 feet above the sea. A channel 2½ cables wide separates this island from Waia Lailai. The south cape of Kowata has been named Reef-topsail Point.

Anchorages.—There are two anchorages at Waia Island, called Alacrity Bay and Watering Bay.

Alacrity Bay, which is on the south side of the island, is fairly protected from all points but south, from which direction a considerable swell rolls into the bay at times.

Directions.—Entering Alacrity Bay, keep the south-west high peak of Waia bearing N. by W. ¼ W. until the summit of Waia Lailai bears E. by S., when steer for the black rocks on the shore reef at the head of the bay, keeping clear of a 2-fathom patch on the port hand; and anchor in 14 fathoms, sand and mud, off the village of Yalombi, left extremity of Waia Lailai and the right extremity of Waia being in line, and the two islands appearing as one. No water or supplies were to be obtained.

Caution.—Sailing vessels entering Alacrity Bay with north-east winds should reduce their sail on rounding this point, as heavy squalls sweep down the gullies and between the islands.

Watering Bay is situated on the north side of the island. It is 2 miles long and 1 mile in depth. At high tide good water can be easily obtained from a stream at the head of the bay.

Directions.—In entering Watering Bay run in until Windy Rock is lost sight of behind the north-east cape of Waia, and the north-west cape bears W.N.W., or summit of Waia bears E.N.E., when anchorage can be had in 20 fathoms, mud. In this position a vessel would not feel the swell raised by north-east winds, and be in a good position for weighing.

Two coral heads with 12 and 15 feet of water on them lie just outside the bay, and there are many shallow coral banks between Waia and Viwa which have not been examined.

Naviti Island (Vaviti of Wilkes) was found by the Alacrity to be 740 feet high.

BANKS GROUP.<sup>3</sup>

Lient. Musters, commanding H.M. schooner Conflict, found good anchorage where fresh water could be obtained, near the south-west point and on the west coast of Santa Maria Island, in 7 fathoms, sandy bottom, with the following marks:—

Black sandy beach (only beach in the bay) bearing East, S.W. point of Santa Maria Island bearing S. 9° W.

After rounding the south-west point of Santa Maria Island a large bay opens out, and the depths will be found to decrease gradually as the anchoring ground is approached.

GUADALCANAR.—Marau Sound,<sup>5</sup> on the south-east side of the island, is a secure anchorage in all winds, protected from the sea by a chain of islands encircled by a barrier reef; during the S.E. trades the southern passage is the one recommended.

Directions.—Approaching Guadalcanar from the southward, the southern island of the group can be seen in clear weather about 10 miles distant, and should be steered for until the Barrier Reef is made out at a distance of about 5 miles. Ferguson Island, which is small and situated to the westward, will then be observed; this steered for on about a N.N.W. bearing leads through the reef passage.

Careful look-out is necessary, as two shoal patches lie in the centre of the channel to the sound, off Ferguson Island.

Anchorage may be found under Ferguson Island, but the principal one is in the sound about 1½ miles further to the north-west. A large island, the highest peak of which bears about N.N.W. from Ferguson Island, also bears about E. by N. from the entrance to the sound, and is a good mark for finding it. At the entrance is a rock awash.

Fresh water of good quality can be obtained from a creek situated about a mile W.S.W. from the rock awash just alluded to.

Soundings average from 8 to 12 fathoms over a bottom of mud between the rock awash and creek.

The main passage to the northward appeared clear of dangers with the exception of the reefs extending off the different islands, which a careful look-out can avoid.

KERMADEC ISLANDS.

DOUBTFUL DANGER.—A shoal marked on the chart as having 2 fathoms of water on it, in latitude 31° 9' S., longitude 178° 10' W., was not seen from H.M.S. Nymphe (Oct. 1878), nor could bottom be obtained in this locality with 35 fathoms of line. The position of this shoal may therefore be considered doubtful.

PACIFIC OCEAN.—NOTICE No. 48.
WESTERN PART.

THE following information, derived for the most part from the remarks and observations of officers of Her Majesty's ships employed on the Australian Station, has been received through Commodore A. H. Hoskins, C.B., Senior Officer, 1878.

All bearings are magnetic. Variation in 1879:
New Caledonia 10° easterly. Fiji Islands 10° easterly.
Solomon Islands 9° easterly. New Hebrides 9° easterly.

ISLANDS OF THE SOUTH PACIFIC.
TONGA OR FRIENDLY ISLANDS.

Reported Breakers<sup>6</sup> in latitude 20° 54' S., longitude 175° 28' W., north-west of Tongatabu were not seen from the masthead of the Imperial German corvette Ariadne, but a phenomenon caused by the sun shining through breaks in the clouds having all the appearance at first sight of breakers was observed in the neighborhood. Afterwards this similarity ceased to exist, and it is possible that a kindred cause led to breakers being reported hereabouts.

La Rance Banks<sup>7</sup> were searched for by Captain von Werner of the Imperial German corvette Ariadne, October 1878, under favorable circumstances, but no trace of shoal water could be discovered in their assigned position. H.M.S. Nymphe also passed over the position of La Rance Banks (latitude 24° 10' S., longitude 176° 0' W.), good observations having been obtained, the day bright and clear, but nothing could be seen from the masthead, nor could bottom be found with 35 fathoms of line.

These reports corroborate the statement that the position of La Rance Banks may be considered doubtful.

FIJI ISLANDS.<sup>8</sup>

Maufu Rock, described as having 18 feet of water over it at low tide, and situated in latitude 17° 54' S., longitude 178° 56' W., is about 5 yards in diameter and difficult to see in fine weather. It breaks only in gales. The discolored water in its neighborhood indicates 6 and 9 fathoms, the whole patch being hardly a cable in diameter.

Boehm Rock.—A coral patch awash at low water, and about a cable in diameter, has been found in latitude 17° 13' S., longitude 179° 7' W., 1½ miles N.N.E. of the small craft harbor at Kanathen.

Danger marks.—The east extreme of Kanathen in line with the centre of Mango Island bearing S. ½ E. leads over the rock.

NEW HEBRIDES.<sup>9</sup>

AMBRYM ISLAND.—Rodds Anchorage during the south-east trade wind is secure for vessels of any size. The high peak at the north end of Ambrym Island bearing S.S.E., and the white sandy beach bearing east, are good marks for the anchorage. This beach being the only one in the vicinity is easily recognized. The soundings decrease gradually from 20 fathoms sandy bottom.

The natives appeared friendly but shy, and no supplies could be obtained (1878).

API ISLAND.—About a mile south of Pane, and from a half to three-quarters of a mile outside the fringe reef on the west coast of Api Island, is a circular coral knoll, about 100 yards in diameter and awash at low-water, which is flat, and has deep water around, excepting on the south side, where a tongue runs out for about 100 yards.

TANNA ISLAND.—Port Resolution.—From information received from the British Consul at Noumea it appears that in August 1878, about a fortnight after H.M. schooner Renard had completed a re-survey of Port Resolution, rendered necessary by the volcanic upheaval which took place in Tanna Island in January and February 1878, another earthquake and extensive upheaval took place, and Port Resolution, as a harbor, is reported to be almost entirely destroyed.

Havannah Harbor.<sup>10</sup>—The plan of Havannah Harbor, although accurate in position as placed upon the chart, appears incorrect in detail, and should be used with caution.

St. Bartholomew Island.—Anchorage for small craft may be obtained at the east end of St. Bartholomew Island, inside some small islets, which are connected at low-water with that island.

LOYALTY ISLANDS.<sup>11</sup>

Tiga or Boucher Island.—The eastern point of this island was found by Lieutenant G. E. Richards, commanding H.M. schooner Renard, to be in longitude 168° 17' E., or 15 miles eastward of the position shown upon the chart.

Ndundine or Molard Island and Markan Point (the north-west point of Maré or Britannia Island) are also a corresponding distance too far to the westward, and probably the whole of Maré Island is equally out of position. The latitudes of the above-named places correspond with those in which they are at present placed upon the chart.

NEW CALEDONIA.<sup>12</sup>

D'ENTRECASTEAUX REEFS.—Middle Huon Island, situated upon the tongue of the D'Entrecasteaux Reef, is about two miles in length N.E. and S.W. by three-quarters of a mile wide, bordered with white sand beach. It is about 12 feet above high-water, and covered with trees about 20 feet high. A mole has been built by an Australian company, from the north-west side of the island out into deep water, for the purpose of loading boats with the guano which is here found.

The Louisa anchored a quarter of a mile off shore, with the flagstaff (on Middle Huon Island) bearing S. by E., in a depth of 6 fathoms, coral and rocky bottom.

Anchorage may also be obtained about a mile from the shore, in from 14 to 20 fathoms, on the north side of the island.

At a distance of 9 or 10 miles westward of Middle Huon Island is a reef, which is said to extend from North Huon Islet to Surprise Islet, with passages leading through it.

The distance between South Huon and Middle Huon Islets is about 3 miles.

South-Huon Island is very similar to Middle Huon Island, from which it bears S.W. by S., distant 3 miles. Coral reef surrounds it on all sides for a distance of about half a mile, and anchorage may be obtained on its north-west side, in 25 fathoms, about a mile off shore.

Surprise Island.—The flagstaff upon which stands in latitude 18° 31' S., longitude 163° 8' E., is about 2 miles long by a mile wide in an east and west direction, situated on a coral reef, covered with trees, and surrounded by a white sandy beach.

Soundings.—Northward of the east end of Surprise Island, at a distance of about three-quarters of a mile, is a depth of 10 fathoms, and 1½ miles distant, in the same direction, 20 fathoms.

Coral Reef.—About 1½ miles north of Surprise Island is an isolated coral reef, about 2½ miles long, east and west, by three-quarters of a mile in breadth. On the north side of this reef, anchorage may be obtained in from 10 to 20 fathoms, at distances varying from a quarter to a mile from the reef.

Eastward of Surprise Island, D'Entrecasteaux Reef is said to branch off in two parts to the east and N.E. the latter branch connecting with the reef extending from Middle Huon Island.

Directions.—Vessels bound to Surprise or the Huon Islands from the southward should steer for the north end of New Caledonia, then continue along the French Reefs, which are generally distinctly visible, until abreast their northern end, which is marked by two black rocks, appearing detached, about 2 miles distant from the reef. From thence, steer northward towards Surprise Island, which is visible from a distance of 12 miles, and the west end of which can be rounded at the distance of about a mile.

Inside the D'Entrecasteaux Reef the sea is smooth, but, as the tides run strong at times, it is well not to enter without a commanding breeze.

Should a vessel pass Surprise Island too late to reach the Huon Islands during daylight, anchorage should be taken up near that island until the next morning. If unable to reach Surprise Island before dark, it is recommended to stand to seaward.

Anchorage.—If intending to stay at the Huon Islands, vessels should moor, laying out the heaviest anchor to the south-east. The bottom of coral and rocks affords fair holding ground.

Tides.—It is high-water, full and change, at the Huon Islands at about 5h. 40m. Rise and fall of tide about 6 feet.

Winds.—In this neighborhood the south-east trade wind prevails, interrupted at times by north-west and west winds. For the first four months of the year a prolonged stay here is not considered safe, as at that time hurricanes are not uncommon in this part of the Pacific.

A shoal, having over it 2½ fathoms at low-water, has been found in the Moueo passage on the west coast of New Caledonia, bearing N. 53° E., distant 3 cables from the beacon upon the isolated rock situated 200 yards from the west reef which forms the channel.

From the shoal, the west point of Grinout Island is in line with a white mark on the land behind the peninsula of Neponi, and Adio Peak is open 3° northward of the north point of Sone Islet.

NORFOLK ISLAND.<sup>13</sup>

Sunken danger.—From information received from the inhabitants of Norfolk Island, a sharp pinnacle rock, having 12 feet over it at low-water, lies due south of the west end of Nepean Island, distant three-quarters of a mile. This is the rock on which the ship Mary Hamilton struck and became a total wreck.

SOLOMON ISLANDS.<sup>14</sup>

GUADALCANAR.—Marau Sound was entered by H.M. schooner Beagle through a passage half a mile wide on the east side of Malpala Island. No soundings could be obtained until some two miles inside the outer reef. Anchorage was found in 10 fathoms close to the mainland and southward of the island south of Malpala.

The sound is of considerable extent, studded with small islands, and affords many good anchorages, though in rather deep water; there are three entrances, the southern one of which is about a mile in width.

Shoals.—Lieutenant de Hoghton, of the Beagle, reports two shoals off the south coast of Simbo Island extending about three-quarters of a mile in an east and west direction and the same distance apart. From a position between the shoals the following were the bearings taken:—

S. W. end of Simbo Island	...	N. 30° W.
N. E. " "	...	N. 8° E.
S. E. " Ronongo	...	N. 18° E.

The depth upon the northern shoal was found to be 5 fathoms.

that upon the southern shoal 6½ fathoms, the bottom consisting of coral rock and sand.

COUROMBANGARA ISLAND.—Ariel Cove situated on the west coast of this island is about three-quarters of a mile deep in a N.N.E. and S.S.W. direction, and has a narrow entrance, about 80 yards across between two reefs which extend from either shore, opening out inside to a breadth of half a mile. A fringe of sandy mud extends for a short distance around the shores of the cove. No natives were seen.<sup>15</sup>

Fresh water of excellent quality can be obtained in small boats from a stream at the head of the cove.

Directions.—Having entered the passage through the reefs on the north-west coast of New Georgia, steer a northerly course, and inside the first of two points visible off the west extremity of Courombangara Island, Ariel Cove will be found.

NEW GEORGIA.—H.M. schooner Beagle passed over two shoals, extending parallel to each other for about three-quarters of a mile in a W.S.W. and E.N.E. direction, from 4 to 5 miles south of East Island. The least water obtained was 5 fathoms, coral bottom; but from the appearance of the water, and numerous tide rips, it was considered that shoaler water existed.

Foul ground apparently extends for some distance eastward of East Island.

Montgomery Island has a small reef off its western extremity.

NEW GUINEA—NORTH-EAST COAST.

Breakers.—In the space between Rich Island and Crown Island off the north-east coast of New Guinea, breakers were sighted by Mr. W. Symington, commanding the steamship Hankou, March 10th, 1877, and by careful observations he placed the position of the centre of the breakers in latitude 4° 55' S., longitude 146° 50' E., and estimates their extent at about a mile each way.

Pallas Reef was reported in June 1878 by a Bremen barque of that name to be situated in latitude 3° 37' S., longitude 145° 40' E., or about 50 miles from the north-east coast of New Guinea and the same distance from the Schouten Islands. The Pallas passed close to the reef which was clearly visible; the sea was calm, and the depth of water upon the reef estimated at a few feet.<sup>16</sup>

AUSTRALIA DIRECTORY, VOL. 3.—NOTICE No. 10.

THE following hydrographical information concerning the north-west coast of Australia, together with certain islets and reefs off-lying, was collected in the hired colonial schooner Airlie, by Navigating Lieutenant William Tooker, attached to the Admiralty survey of West Australia; August to December 1878.

[All bearings are magnetic. Variations 1° 15' E. to 1° 30' W. in 1879.]

TROUGHTON ISLAND, situated in latitude 13° 43½' S., longitude 126° 12½' E., and bearing N. 20° E., 8 miles from Cape Bougainville, is 1½ miles long, N.N.W. and S.S.E., half a mile wide, and 20 feet high. The island is composed of ironstone rock covered with thin wiry grass; a few clumps of mangroves grow on the western side, and a low sloping sand beach gives it the sandy appearance as described on the chart. A reef, dry at low-water, surrounds the island, extending 2 miles to the north, one mile to the south, and three-quarters of a mile to the east. The tide runs very strong in this vicinity:—west of Troughton Island the ebb sets to the south and S.E. at the rate of 4 knots; and the flood to the N.W. 2½ knots.<sup>17</sup>

SANDY ISLET.—A sandy islet covered with coarse grass and rushes, is situated in latitude 13° 49' S., longitude 125° 52' E., on the long reef between Cassini Island and Cape Bougainville. The islet is 8 feet high, 500 yards long north-east and south-west, and 100 yards broad. A short distance to the northward of the islet are two low sand banks, dry at low-water.<sup>17</sup>

Caution is requisite when navigating between Holothuria Banks and the long reef last mentioned, for the water is so thick and muddy, especially on the ebb tide, that it is impossible to distinguish the deep from the shallow water even in 20 fathoms. The lead is therefore the only guide and will give sufficient warning when approaching this reef.

The tides run with considerable strength, the flood to the N.W. and S.W., the ebb to the S.E.

BARKER ISLANDS, latitude 13° 54' S. to 13° 57' S., longitude 124° 47' E. to 124° 52' E. An area embracing 20 miles west, 20 miles north, 20 miles east, and 10 miles south of the charted position of these islands was examined by Lieutenant Tooker during a search extending over two days; but nothing was seen of the islands, neither did the soundings indicate that the ground was very uneven.<sup>18</sup>

As these islands have been unsuccessfully searched for by several other vessels it may be assumed that they do not exist, and have accordingly been expunged from the chart.

ADELE ISLAND.—The south-west extreme of this island is in latitude 15° 33' S., longitude 123° 13½' E. The greater part of the surface is covered with thick tangled bushes and long coarse grass 3 feet high. Near the south-east end is a small patch of guano. A considerable number of birds were on the island.<sup>19</sup>

HIBERNIA REEF of coral, 6 miles long, and one mile wide, is dry at low-water, and has near its eastern end a small sand bank which uncovers at half tide. The north-east part of the reef is in latitude 11° 59½' S., longitude 123° 27' E., and the west end in latitude 12° 0½' S., longitude 123° 22' E.<sup>20</sup>

ASHMORE REEF is composed of coral and sand, on which are three low islets, and also several sand banks which uncover at half tide. The western and largest islet, in latitude 12° 13½' S., longitude 123° 1½' E., is 660 yards long, north-west and south-east, 500 yards broad, and 8 feet above high-water; it is covered with rushes and coarse grass, and contains a considerable deposit of guano (phosphate).<sup>20</sup>

Middle Islet bears S. 71° E. distant 3½ miles from West Islet, and is composed of sand covered with coarse grass, the top of the islet being depressed. It is 9 feet high, 400 yards long, east and west, and 230 yards broad.

East Islet bearing N. 84° E. distant 3½ miles from Middle Islet, is also sandy and grass covered. It is 9 feet high, and in shape is nearly square, about 400 yards long. On its western side is a small deposit of guano.

Fresh water having a better taste consequent on its filtering through the guano has been found in considerable quantity on the western islet.

The west extreme of the reef lies in latitude 12° 14' S., longitude 122° 59' E.; the south side of the reef trends to the eastward, an unbroken ridge of coral marked by heavy breakers, to the east extreme in latitude 12° 13½' S., longitude 123° 13½' E. Here the reef trends in a N.W., west, and W.S.W. direction; its northern edge being broken, and forming four passages to the interior lagoons, but only the westernmost passage was examined. Between the second and third opening the shoal water extends across to the southern edge of the reef thus separating the interior into two lagoons, both of which contain many detached patches of coral; they were not closely examined.

The western passage lies 2 miles N.E. from the western islet and (passing the western arm of the reef forming it) leads into a lagoon. There are several detached shoals with 6 to 10 fathoms between them, but this lagoon would be a safe and convenient anchorage for vessels. A good look-out from aloft, with the sun in a favorable position for seeing the discolored water, being all that is necessary to ensure safety in entering.

Anchorage may be had anywhere along the north side of the reef in 17 to 25 fathoms, about a mile distant.

It is high water, full and change, at West Islet between 10h. and 11h.; rise of tide 15 feet. The streams set east and west.

Turtle are very numerous. Beche de mer exist in some quantities.

CARTIER ISLET was found to be a small dry sand bank, 10 feet high, surrounded by a reef which is dry at low-water, and to be situated in latitude 12° 31½' S., longitude 123° 38' E. The islet is about 4 miles long east and west and 2 miles broad. No bottom with 64 fathoms of line could be obtained ½ miles to the eastward.

As no bank or islet was seen in the position assigned to Cartier Islet by the ship Cartier in 1800 (namely, latitude 12° 28' S., longitude 123° 57' E.), it is probable that the bank seen by the Cartier is identical with the sandy islet now visited by Lieutenant Tooker.<sup>21</sup>

The ground between Ashmore Reef and Cartier Islet is uneven and rocky, the soundings varying from 12 to 50 fathoms; but no dangers were seen from the masthead of the Airlie.

SERINGAPATAM REEF is triangular in shape enclosing a lagoon and having on its western side a few sand banks which appear at half ebb. The reef dries at low-water and round its edges are large boulders. Its south-west corner is in latitude 13° 40' S., longitude 122° 2' E., from which point it extends E. by S. 4½ miles to the south-east corner which is in latitude 13° 41' S., longitude 122° 6' E. Thence the reef extends N.N.W. to its north extreme in latitude 13° 35' S., longitude 122° 2' E.; and thence south to the south-west extreme.<sup>22</sup>

The reef is steep on its southern side, but no soundings were obtained either to the east or west. The breakers on the reef were heard at a distance of 6 miles on a calm night.

Between Scott and Seringapatam reefs the tidal streams are strong, setting nearly in an east and west direction.

SCOTT REEF comprises three separate coral shoals: the north and south of which, of considerable extent, are almost dry at low-water and have on their outer edges several dry rocks. On the central reef is a small sandy islet 8 feet high, 600 yards long, and very narrow; at low-water a long spit of dry sand extends to the S.W. of the islet. From this islet which is in latitude 14° 3' S., longitude 121° 48½' E., a coral reef, dry at low-water, extends a mile to the north-west, one mile to the south-east, and about half a mile to the north-east and south-west respectively.<sup>23</sup>

The north-west extreme of the southern reef is situated in latitude 14° 4' S., longitude 121° 45½' E., 2 miles S.W. from the islet last mentioned, from which point it extends (a narrow strip of coral marked by heavy breakers) to the south and south-east; its south extreme being in latitude 14° 13' S., longitude 121° 53' E.; thence it trends to the north-east terminating in latitude 14° 5' S., longitude 121° 58' E., the eastern extreme being in latitude 14° 8' S., longitude 122° 0' E. A short distance south of the end of the reef a patch of sand dries at low-water, and immediately south of the patch there appeared to be a narrow passage. Between the north-west corner of the southern reef and the reef which extends from the sandy islet the water appeared clear and free from danger.

The south-west elbow of the northern shoal is situated in latitude  $14^{\circ} 0' S.$ , longitude  $121^{\circ} 48' E.$ , and thence the reef extends one part to the northward and the other to the eastward; the eastern branch was not traced but breakers were seen for some distance. The western side, a narrow strip enclosing a lagoon, extends from the above-mentioned elbow to latitude  $13^{\circ} 55' S.$ , longitude  $121^{\circ} 50' E.$ ; thence it trends north-east to its northern extreme in latitude  $13^{\circ} 53' S.$ , longitude  $121^{\circ} 52' E.$ ; from this corner the reef extends to the southward having been seen in latitude  $14^{\circ} 4' S.$ , longitude  $121^{\circ} 53' E.$ , but beyond this position it was not traced.

The passage between the islet and the north patch appeared free from danger, with the exception of two small coral reefs N.E. of the islet.

The soundings round Scott Reef are deep, there being no bottom with 84 fathoms of line close to the south-west corner of the north patch, no bottom with 124 fathoms three-quarters of a mile N.W. of the islet reef, no bottom with 134 fathoms one mile from the southern edge, and no bottom with 60 fathoms half a mile from the eastern edge of the south patch.

In the month of September the sea was breaking heavily on the western side of Scott Reef, and at night the breakers were distinctly heard at a considerable distance; but the leeward side being quite smooth, and the tide strong, caution is necessary in approaching from this direction, for the lead gives no warning.

At the islet it is high-water full and change at about 11 hours, rise of tide 13 feet; the flood sets to the east.

DARTAGNAN SHOAL, latitude  $13^{\circ} 20' S.$ , longitude  $120^{\circ} 40' E.$  The position of this shoal was passed over by the Airite without anything being seen to indicate its existence.<sup>24</sup>

CORONA REEF, latitude  $12^{\circ} 25' S.$ , longitude  $118^{\circ} 20' E.$  The position of this reef was passed over by the Airite without anything being seen to indicate its existence.<sup>24</sup>

LACPEDE ISLANDS are a group of four low sandy islands lying in a general N.W. and S.E. direction, and are nearly surrounded by a coral reef. This reef terminates north-east of the second or Mid Islet, leaving the shore clear for boats between it and the reef off the west extreme of the western islet.

West Islet is  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles long, a quarter of a mile wide, and 15 feet above high-water; it is separated from Mid Islet by a channel which is half a cable wide, and has 3 fathoms at low-water.

Mid Islet is  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles long N.W. and S.E., and half a mile wide; like the others of the group it is low and sandy. Mid Islet at one time contained a large deposit of guano, which has been nearly all removed; buildings for the Government staff and persons employed working the guano have been erected. The flagstaff of the Government Resident's house is in latitude  $16^{\circ} 51\frac{1}{2}' S.$ , longitude  $122^{\circ} 9' E.$ <sup>25</sup>

Vessels loading guano lie in 5 to 7 fathoms at low-water, 1 to 2 miles N.N.W. to N. by E. of the flagstaff.

The rise of the tide at springs is 20 feet.

Two smaller islets lie E.S.E. and S.E. of Mid Islet, distant  $1\frac{1}{2}$  and  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles respectively; they are low and covered with coarse grass.

Turtle are numerous.

There is no fresh water on Lapepe Islands, but it may be obtained at Beagle Bay on the mainland, about 25 miles distant.

Caution is necessary when approaching Lapepe Group as shoals are said to exist some distance to the westward of West Islet, and the barque Eastern Chief recently grounded at low-water on a patch said to lie N. by W. 2 miles from the flagstaff.

BEDOUT ISLAND in latitude  $19^{\circ} 34\frac{1}{2}' S.$ , longitude  $119^{\circ} 5\frac{1}{2}' E.$ , is half a mile long north and south, a quarter of a mile broad, and 20 feet high. It is surrounded by a reef (dry at low-water) which has several patches of rocks showing at half-tide. The reef extends three-quarters of a mile from the north-west side of the island, nearly half a mile from the south-east end, and a third of a mile from the north-east end. The water appeared shoal further to the north-east, and a spit extends off the south-east extreme of the reef a quarter of a mile.<sup>26</sup>

Strong tide rips were seen at high-water, N.E. and S.W. of the island, indicating rocky and uneven ground. The flood stream sets to the seaward, ebb to the westward. The rise and fall is about 14 feet.

TIEN TAIN OR PORT WALCOTT is a shoal bay formed between Point Sampson and Jarman Island, 4 miles to the south-east of Cape Lambert. The bay is sheltered from all winds from the westward, but vessels of more than 15 feet draught must anchor at a considerable distance from the shore. Jarman is a small rocky island, 62 feet high, and having at its northern extreme, which is bluff, a white stone beacon, 14 feet high. In the south-west part of the bay is Reader Head, a bluff point, immediately east of which is a creek where vessels of light draught generally lie aground at low-water. A bank, dry at low-water, extends seaward from Reader Head to nearly abreast the south end of Jarman Island, leaving close to the latter a narrow channel to the creek, but at low-water springs it is difficult for even a boat to get in.<sup>27</sup>

The best anchorage in the bay is in 4 fathoms, with Jarman Island beacon bearing S. by W., and Point Sampson W.N.W.

<sup>21</sup> The German vessel of war Cazelle in May 1875 also passed over this position of Corona Reef with like result; a sounding of 2855 fathoms brown mud was obtained 13 miles eastward of the assigned position, and Captain Von Schleinitz considers that the reef does not exist in this locality; Nachrichten für Seefahrer, Berlin, No. 50 of 1875. See Australia Directory, vol. 3, page 151.

Two rocky ledges above water lie east, nearly a mile from the beacon on Jarman Island.

Position.—The beacon on Jarman Island is in latitude  $20^{\circ} 39' S.$ , longitude  $117^{\circ} 12\frac{1}{2}' E.$

Tides.—The rise of tide, at ordinary springs, is 18 feet at Port Walcott.

Township.—The township of Cossack, situated just within the creek, has a population of 100, most of whom are connected with the pearl-fishery vessels which make Port Walcott their head-quarters. Supplies can be obtained here, but vegetables can seldom be procured. Water may be purchased at a cost of three shillings a hogshead.

At Roebourne, a small township 8 miles distant from Cossack, the Government Resident for the district resides. Though there are but few people in the township, there are several large sheep and cattle stations in the neighborhood.

ROWLEY SHOALS.—Imperieuse Shoal is 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  miles long in a north and south direction, and 4 miles broad. About a mile from the north extreme is a small sand bank, which probably covers at high tides. The edges of the reef dry at low-water, but on the eastern side several clusters of rocks show at three-quarters ebb. Two large lagoons appeared to occupy the centre of the shoal; but, at low-water, they seemed very shallow. The shoal is steep on all sides: soundings of 110 fathoms were obtained at a quarter of a mile to the eastward, and no bottom with 32 fathoms of line within  $1\frac{1}{2}$  cables of the north extreme.<sup>28</sup>

The north end of the reef is in latitude  $17^{\circ} 31' S.$ , longitude  $118^{\circ} 52' E.$

Clerke Shoal is of coral, 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  miles long north and south, by 4 miles broad; its north extreme is in latitude  $17^{\circ} 16' S.$ , longitude  $119^{\circ} 21\frac{1}{2}' E.$  The edge of the reef dries at low-water, several large stones being visible at three-quarters ebb. At the distance of one mile from the north end is a small sand bank 10 feet high. Clerke Shoal is steep, there being 36 and 40 fathoms a third of a cable from the north-east side; no bottom with 126 fathoms of line three-quarters of a mile to the westward, and no bottom with 100 fathoms  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles to the southward.

Minstrel Shoal.—Nothing was seen of Minstrel Shoal, and Lieutenant Tooker considers it evident that Minstrel and Clerke Shoals are one and the same. Minstrel Shoal has accordingly been expunged from the chart.

Mermaid Reef, the north extreme of which is in latitude  $17^{\circ} 2\frac{1}{2}' S.$ , longitude  $119^{\circ} 36' E.$ , is 8 miles long north and south, and 6 miles broad east and west. The reef is atoll-shaped, there being a large and apparently deep lagoon, enclosed by a rim of coral, which is nearly dry at low-water. Several large rocks were seen on the north and north-eastern parts of the reef at three-quarters ebb; and on the north-east side, leading into the lagoon, is a channel a third of a cable wide, having about 3 $\frac{1}{2}$  fathoms at low-water. The tide rushes through this channel with great velocity.

Mermaid Reef is steep-to; depths of 18 and 36 fathoms were found within 100 yards of the southern edge of the reef; no bottom with 104 fathoms of line was found half a mile to the westward, and no bottom with 105 fathoms a mile to the south-east.

Lively Reef.—The position of this reef, latitude  $16^{\circ} 30' S.$ , longitude  $119^{\circ} 35' E.$ , on which the ship Lively was said to have been lost, was passed over without anything being seen to indicate its existence.<sup>29</sup>

RITCHEE REEF is composed of two coral reefs, N.E. and S.W. of each other, half a mile apart, with an apparently clear passage between. The northern reef is one mile long, N.N.E. and S.S.W., half a mile broad, and on it are several rocks dry at low-water; a small sand bank dries near the north extreme. The southern reef has also several rocks dry at low-water.<sup>30</sup>

Both reefs are steep: soundings were obtained in 28 fathoms W.N.W. 3 miles; 20 fathoms, coral sand, N.W. 2 miles; 21 fathoms, sand, N.N.E. three-quarters of a mile; and 19 fathoms N.E.  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles.

The north end of the northern reef is in latitude  $20^{\circ} 16\frac{1}{2}' S.$ , longitude  $115^{\circ} 23' E.$ , or 5 miles east of its former charted position.

Rock.—The position of the rock charted W.  $\frac{3}{4}$  S., 15 miles from Tryal Rock, was passed, but nothing was seen of a shoal near that position.<sup>30</sup>

Rosily Island consists of two islets, nearly surrounded by a coral reef. The eastern is a rock 21 feet high, 500 yards long, and 200 yards broad; the western islet, W.  $\frac{1}{4}$  N. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$  cables from the eastern, is a bank of sand, 17 feet high, surrounded by rocky ledges. The western islet is in latitude  $21^{\circ} 18\frac{1}{2}' S.$ , longitude  $114^{\circ} 58\frac{1}{2}' E.$ , or S.S.E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  E. 6 miles from the position formerly assigned to it on the chart.<sup>31</sup>

The shore reef extends from the east end of the east islet W.S.W. three-quarters of a mile; thence it extends N.N.E. one mile to its north-west corner, three-quarters of a mile distant from the west islet. The north side of the island is clear, and good anchorage may be obtained in 10 to 12 fathoms, sand, N.N.E. of the islets.

From Rosily Islet another island was seen, bearing S.  $75^{\circ} E.$ , distant 9 miles.

Winds and Weather.—During the month of September, between the parallels of  $15^{\circ}$  and  $20^{\circ} S.$ , the prevailing winds were N.W., west, and S.W., light breezes freshening towards sunset and falling calm near midnight. These winds were occasionally interrupted during two or three days by S.E. and N.E. breezes, the latter generally fresh.<sup>32</sup>

During the month of October, between latitude 12° and 15° S., almost continuous calms, varied occasionally by light airs from N.W. and S.E., were experienced. Towards the close of the month heavy rain squalls from N.E. and east, accompanied by thunder and lightning, were frequent; the squalls lasted from one to four hours.

During the month of November, between latitude 15° and 20° S., the wind prevailed from the westward with intervals of calm. It freshened at midday from W.N.W. and west, veered to the S.W. after dark, and fell light after sunrise.

Every license granted under subdivision VII. of section 47 of The Land Act 1869 shall be subject to the conditions set forth in the schedule hereto, and to such special conditions and payment in advance of such fee as the Minister may determine, and shall be issued by an officer of the Department of Lands and Survey duly authorized on that behalf.

Schedule.

1. This license shall not be deemed to prevent the land comprised therein or any part or parts thereof from being sold, leased, or licensed under any of the provisions of parts I., II., or III. of The Land Act 1869, except subdivision VII. of the 47th section thereof, or proclaimed a common, or occupied by virtue of any miner's right or business license, or alienated or dealt with under the authority of The Land Act 1869, or any other Act now or hereafter to be in force, otherwise than for pastoral or depasturing purposes, or resumed by order of the Governor, acting by and with the advice of the Executive Council, for railways, roads, telegraph lines, dams, reservoirs, traces, catchwater drains, pipe-tracks, quarries, or other public purposes; and no licensee shall in any such case be entitled to compensation other than the return of such portion of the fee paid by him as the Minister may think fit.

2. If the licensee, or any person claiming an interest through or under the licensee in the land comprised in this license, shall, at any time during the period for which the license has been issued, employ any person to apply for a license of an allotment under The Land Act 1869, contrary to the true intent of the provisions thereof, or shall make or cause to be made any agreement or contract, or shall give or take, or cause to be given or taken, any negotiable security for the purpose of defeating or evading the provisions of, or shall in any way whatsoever, directly or indirectly, commit or be privy to a fraud upon the said Act, this license shall be void.

3. No land comprised in roads from time to time surveyed and marked out within the boundaries of the land comprised in this license shall be deemed within the operations of this license.

4. This license entitles the holder thereof during the period therein specified to use the land in respect of which the same is granted for depasturing purposes only, and does not confer any right to build thereon, or to cultivate or fence any portion thereof; but if the holder thereof desire such use of the land beyond such period, notice to that effect must be given by him to the Minister one month prior to expiry thereof.

5. The interest in this license may not be transferred without the consent of the Minister and payment of a fee of One pound (£1), and upon sanction of transfer thereof a new license will issue to the transferee.

6. No claim whatsoever shall be made or entertained by reason of this license not being renewed or transferred.

Special Conditions.

1. The period of occupation will be, in the first instance, from 1st November 1879 to 31st December 1879.

The fee for two months—for which the first license will be issued—must accompany the tender or be paid by the successful tenderer or his agent immediately on the declaration of the acceptance of the tender, otherwise the offer of the next highest tenderer who may be prepared to comply with this condition may be accepted.

Schedule.

1. This license shall not be deemed to prevent the land comprised therein or any part or parts thereof from being sold, leased, or licensed under any of the provisions of parts I., II., or III. of The Land Act 1869, except subdivision VII. of the 47th section thereof, or proclaimed a common, or occupied by virtue of any miner's right or business license, or alienated or dealt with under the authority of The Land Act 1869, or any other Act now or hereafter to be in force, otherwise than for pastoral or depasturing purposes, or resumed by order of the Governor, acting by and with the advice of the Executive Council, for railways, roads, telegraph lines, dams, reservoirs, races, catchwater drains, pipe-tracks, quarries, or other public purposes; and no licensee shall in any such case be entitled to compensation other than the return of such portion of the fee paid by him as the Minister may think fit.

5. The interest in this license may not be transferred without the consent of the Minister and payment of a fee of One pound (£1), and upon sanction of transfer thereof a new license will issue to the transferee.

TAKE notice that on the 5th day of April 1879 an order was made in the Chancery division of the High Court of Justice in England in a certain action of Benjamin Cort Ogden and others, plaintiffs, and the Stamford, Spalding, and Boston Banking Company and others, defendants, 1878 O. No. 61, whereby it was ordered that an inquiry be made who were the persons interested in the hereditaments in the plaintiffs' statement of claim in that action mentioned, and in what shares and proportions and for what estates and interests, and whether they were parties to the said action; and if it should be certified that all the persons interested in the said hereditaments were parties to the said actions, and that the plaintiffs were interested to the extent of one moiety or upwards in the said hereditaments, it was ordered that the said hereditaments should be sold with the approbation of the judge, and that the money to arise from such sale to be paid into court to the credit of "Ogden v. The Stamford, Spalding, and Boston Banking Company, 1878 O. No. 61, proceeds of sale of real estate devised by the will of Augustin Pridmore deceased to Ann Geeson for life, with remainder to her children." But if it should appear that any of the persons interested were not parties to the said action, then it was ordered that any of the parties interested collectively or individually to the extent of one moiety or upwards in the said hereditaments were to be at liberty, when it should have been certified that the persons who ought to be served with notice of the said judgment had been so served, to apply to the judge, at chambers, for a sale of the said hereditaments. And also take notice that on the same day another order was made in the same division of the said court in a certain other action of Benjamin Cort Ogden and others, plaintiffs, and the Stamford, Spalding, and Boston Banking Company and others, defendants, 1878 O. No. 62, whereby it was ordered that an inquiry be made who were the persons interested in the hereditaments in the statement of claim in that action mentioned, and in what shares and proportions, and for what estates and interests, and whether they were parties to the said action; and if it should be certified that all the persons interested in the said hereditaments were parties to the said action, and that the plaintiffs were interested to the extent of one moiety or upwards in the hereditaments, it was ordered that the said hereditaments should be sold with the approbation of the judge, and that the money to arise from such sale be paid into court to the credit of "Ogden v. The Stamford, Spalding, and Boston Banking Company, 1878 O. No. 62, proceeds of sale of messuage and land in the parish of Spalding devised by the will of Augustin Pridmore deceased." But if it should appear that any of the persons interested were not parties to the said action, then it was ordered that any of the persons interested collectively or individually to the extent of one moiety or upwards in the said hereditaments should be at liberty, when it should have been certified that the persons who ought to be served with notice of the said judgment had been so served, to apply to the judge, at chambers, for a sale of the said hereditaments.

And also take notice that by an order of the same division dated the 6th day of August 1879 it was ordered that service of the said orders, both dated the 5th day of April 1879, by inserting this notice thereof three times in the "Victoria Gazette" and three times in the "Melbourne Argus" newspapers, should be deemed good service upon you of the said orders.
