MILITARY CADETSHIPS.

The Governor has directed the subjoined Despatch and Enclosures to be published for general information.

By His Excellency's Command,

ROBERT RAMSAY,
Chief Secretary.

Chief Secretary's Office,
Melbourne, 16th April 1880.

[Victoria, No. 22.]

Downing street, 25th February 1880.

My LORD,—I caused to be submitted for the consideration of the Secretary of State for War, in a letter of which a copy is enclosed, your despatch No. 105 of the 2nd September last, and I have the honor to transmit to you, for the information of your Government, a copy of a letter with its enclosures received in reply from the War Office, stating that, after consultation with His Royal Highness the Field Marshall Commanding in Chief, Colonel Stanley has consented to allow the allocation of one cadetship per annum at the Royal Military College to students of each of the Colonial Universities to which a charter by Letters Patent has been granted. The nomination to be made in the manner specified.

I have, &c.,

M. E. HICKS BEACH.

Governor the Most Honorable
The Marquis of Normanby, G.C.M.G.,
&c., &c., &c.

Enclosure 1.

[Copy.]

Colonial Office to War Office.

Downing street, 29th October 1879.

SIR,—I am directed by the Secretary of State for the Colonies to transmit to you for the consideration of Secretary Colonel Stanley, the accompanying copy of a despatch from the Governor of Victoria with its enclosures, and also a copy of one from the Governor of Tasmania, suggesting that additional facilities should be conceded with the view of enabling the sons of colonists in Australia to become candidates for commissions in Her Majesty's service.

Sir Michael Hicks Beach would be glad if Colonel Stanley would give the subject his favorable consideration, and would cause him to be informed of the answer which should be returned to the application from Captain Payne forwarded in Lord Normanby's despatch.

I am to add that the proposal contained in his Lordship's despatch that such privileges as may be enjoyed by candidates for commissions who have taken degrees at the universities in England, should be extended to sons of Colonists who have taken similar degrees at the University in Victoria, does not seem to Sir M. Hicks Beach to be open to objection in the case of those few universities in the colonies, such as the University of Melbourne, to which a Charter by Letters Patent have been granted, but he would not be prepared to recommend the extension of such privileges to Colonial Universities not constituted by Royal Charter.

I am, &c.,

J. BRAMSTON.

The Under Secretary of State,
War Office.

Enclosure 2.

The War Office to the Colonial Office.

[Copy.]

War Office, 11th February 1880.

SIR,—I am directed by the Secretary of State for War to acquaint you that he has had under his consideration your letter of 29th October last, with its accompanying copies of despatches from the Governors of Victoria and Tasmania, suggesting that additional facilities should be conceded, with the view of enabling the sons of colonists in Australia to become Candidates for Commissions in Her Majesty's Service.

In reply, I am to acquaint you, for the information of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, that, having conferred with His Royal Highness the Field Marshal Commanding in Chief, Colonel Stanley has no objection to the allocation of one Cadetship per annum at the Royal Military College to students of each of the Colonial Universities to which a Charter by Letters Patent has been granted; and he is of opinion that it should be left to each University to make the nomination, after testing the candidates in such a manner as may seem to be the most satisfactory.

I am to enclose a copy of the Regulations respecting the admission of Candidates to the Royal Military College, by which Sir Michael Hicks Beach will learn the subjects of study in that establishment, upon a successful examination in which the ultimate reward of a Commission is dependent.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) RALPH THOMPSON.

The Under Secretary of State,
Colonial Office.

[Enclosure 3.]

War Office, November 1876.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING EXAMINATIONS FOR ADMISSION TO THE ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE AND FOR FIRST APPOINTMENTS THEREFROM TO THE ARMY.

[These Regulations will come into force on the 1st December 1876.]

I.—OBJECT OF THE ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE.

1. The Royal Military College is maintained for the purpose of affording a special military education to candidates for commissions in the cavalry and infantry.

2. Candidates for first appointments to the army will, with the exception of lieutenants of militia, and non-commissioned officers recommended for promotion, be required in future to pass through a course of instruction as cadets at the Royal Military College.

II.—REGULATIONS FOR ADMISSION.

I. GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS.

3. Admission to the Royal Military College as cadets will be granted,—

(a.) To a successful candidate at a competitive examination in general subjects to be held under such regulations as may be issued from time to time.

(b.) To a graduate in Arts at the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Durham, London, Dublin, Edinburgh; St. Andrew's, Glasgow, Aberdeen, and the Queen's University, Ireland, or to a student who has passed "moderations" at Oxford, the "previous examination" at Cambridge, the "final examination of the senior freshman year," at Dublin, "the first year's examination" at Durham, "the first university examination in arts or in engineering" at Queen's University, Ireland, the "examination for candidates for the army" at Scotch Universities, and the "first examination" for the degrees of B.A., LL.B., B. Sc., or M.B., at London University; subject in each case to the competitive examination prescribed by paragraph 22.

(c.) To cadets styled "Queen's Cadets"; "Honorary Queen's Cadets"; "Indian Cadets"; and to Pages of Honor.

4. The number of cadets admitted to the college will vary, according to the requirements of the service.

5. The dates of admission will be the 10th February and 1st September in each year.

6. The examinations of candidates for admission to the Royal Military College as cadets will be conducted by the Civil Service Commissioners, and will take place twice a-year, in the months of December and July.

7. Notice will be given from time to time of the day and place of the examinations, and of the number of vacancies open to competition at each periodical examination.

8. The number of trials allowed will not exceed two in the case of university candidates, and three in that of other candidates.

9. All candidates will be inspected by a medical board; and no candidate will be considered eligible for a commission unless certified by the board to be free from any bodily defects or ailments, and in all respects, as to height and physical qualities, fit for Her Majesty's service. Cases of exceptional shortness of stature will be referred to the War Office for special consideration.

10. The limits of age for candidates for admission to the Royal Military College by competition, for Queen's cadets, Queen's honorary cadets, and pages of honor, will be from 17 to 20; for students of the universities who shall have passed the interim examination as specified in paragraph 3 (b), from 17 to 21; and for graduates of the universities who shall have passed the examination for the degree of B.A. or M.A., from 17 to 22.

11. Competitors who desire to obtain commissions in West India regiments may be admitted up to the age of 24. This extension of the limit of age will not apply to university candidates.

12. Candidates must be within the prescribed limits of age on the following dates:—

Candidates for admission by competition, Queen's cadets, Queen's honorary cadets, Indian cadets, and pages of honor.	} On the first of January next following the winter examination, and on the first of July for the midsummer examination.
Graduates and students from the universities

II. EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION BY OPEN COMPETITION.

13. A candidate for admission by competition at the December or July examination, must send to the Military Secretary, not later than the 15th October or 15th May respectively, an application to be examined, accompanied by the following papers:—

(a.) An extract from the register of his birth; or, in default, a declaration made by one of his parents or guardians before a magistrate, giving his exact age.

(b.) A certificate of good moral character, signed by the tutors or heads of the schools or colleges at which he has received his education from his twelfth year to the date of application, or some other satisfactory proof of good moral character.

14. When a candidate who has once been examined applies to be examined again, he will only be required to forward a certificate as to his moral character for the interval between the two examinations.

15. A candidate will be required to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners in the following subjects:—

- (1) Mathematics, viz., (a) arithmetic, including vulgar and decimal fractions, proportion, and simple interest; (b) geometry, not beyond the standard of the first book of Euclid.
- (2) French, German, or some other modern language; the examination being limited to a translation from the language, and grammatical questions.
- (3) Writing English correctly, and in a good legible hand, from dictation.
- (4) The elements of geometrical drawing; including the construction of scales, and the use of simple mathematical instruments.
- (5) Geography.

16. No marks will be allotted for the above preliminary examination, excepting for geometrical drawing, the maximum number for which will be 300. The preliminary examination will be dispensed with in the case of candidates who have passed it at previous examinations, but they may again take up geometrical drawing if they wish to obtain marks in that subject.

17. The "further examination" will be proceeded with immediately on the conclusion of the "preliminary examination." Candidates who fail in the preliminary examination will be informed of their failure as soon as possible and they will then be released from further attendance.

18. The subjects of the further examination, and the maximum number of marks obtainable for each subject, will be as follows:—

	Marks.
(1) Mathematics, viz., algebra, up to and including quadratic equations; the theory and use of logarithms; geometry; plane trigonometry; and mensuration	3,000
(2) English composition, tested by the power of writing an essay, letter, or précis; English literature, limited to specified authors; and English history, limited to certain fixed periods: the authors and periods being notified beforehand	3,000
(3) Latin	3,000
(4) Greek	2,000
(5) French; the examination to be partly colloquial	2,000
(6) German; the examination to be partly colloquial	2,000
(7) Experimental sciences, viz., (a) chemistry and heat; or (b) electricity and magnetism	2,000
(8) General and physical geography, and geology	2,000
(9) Drawing, free-hand	1,000

Of these nine subjects candidates will not be allowed to take up more than four nor less than two, exclusive of drawing.

19. In order to secure a proper proficiency in all the subjects taken up by a candidate, a certain number will be deducted from the marks gained by the candidate in each subject.

20. The following will be the mode of selecting the successful candidates at the open competitive examination. After the proper deduction (in accordance with paragraph 19) has been made from the number of marks gained by each candidate in the several subjects in which he has been examined, the remainders will be summed up, and the marks gained by the candidate, in geometrical drawing, at the preliminary examination, will be added thereto. The resulting total will determine the place of the candidate in the competitive list; the successful candidates being those who stand at the head of the list up to the number of cadetships competed for.

III.—EXAMINATION OF UNIVERSITY CANDIDATES.

21. A graduate or student of one of the universities specified in paragraph 3, who, having obtained his university qualification while within the maximum limit of age specified in paragraph 10, is desirous of becoming a candidate for a cadetship at the Royal Military College, must send an application to the Military Secretary in the month of May or October, with a view to his appointment under the provisions of paragraph 22; but no such application can be admitted before the candidate has actually attained the age of 17, nor later than the 31st of May or 31st October next following the date of his attaining the maximum limits of age prescribed for graduates and students, respectively, in paragraph 10. The application must be accompanied by papers (a) and (b), described in paragraph 13, and by a certificate from the proper authority that he has taken his degree in Arts, or has passed the University examination specified in paragraph 3 (b).

22. Notice will be given, from time to time, of the number of cadetships which will be allotted half yearly to University candidates. In case there should be more candidates than vacancies, the required number will be selected by competition among the said candidates at the ensuing July or December examination, but without a preliminary examination, except in geometrical drawing, which is obligatory. University candidates who may have been unsuccessful at their first examination, will be allowed a second opportunity of competing, provided that 'students' shall not have exceeded their twenty-second year, and that 'graduates' shall not have exceeded their twenty-third year, at the time of such second examination. These limits of age will be ruled by the 1st July for the summer, and by the 1st January for the winter, examinations.

IV.—EXAMINATION OF QUEEN'S AND INDIAN CADETS AND PAGES OF HONOR.

23. Queen's cadets are sons of officers of the army, royal navy, and royal marines, who have fallen in action, or died of wounds received in action, or of disease contracted on service abroad, and who have left their families in reduced circum-

(See Article 5 of the Royal Warrant of 27th November 1873, Clause 151, Army Circulars 1873.)

25. Applications for Queen's cadetships and honorary Queen's cadetships should be addressed to the Military Secretary, if the candidate is the son of an officer of the army; or to the Secretary of the Admiralty, if the candidate is the son of an officer of the royal navy or royal marines.

26. Indian cadets are the sons of persons who have served in India in the military or civil service of Her Majesty, or of the East India Company, and are nominated by the Secretary of State for India in Council, under the provisions of 21 and 22 Vict., c. 106, and 23 and 24 Vict., c. 100. Applications for Indian cadetships should be addressed to the Military Secretary, India Office.

27. A Queen's cadet, honorary Queen's cadet, Indian cadet, or page of honor, when ready for examination, will apply in the manner directed by paragraph 13 or 14.

28. Queen's cadets, honorary Queen's cadets, Indian cadets, and pages of honor, before admission to the Royal Military College, will be required to pass a qualifying entrance examination only—i.e., after having passed the preliminary examination under paragraph 15, they must obtain under paragraphs 18 and 19 such an aggregate of marks as may indicate in the judgment of the Civil Service Commissioners a competent amount of general proficiency.

29. A Queen's cadet, honorary Queen's cadet, Indian cadet or page of honor, who can produce a university certificate, as prescribed in paragraph 3 (b), will be exempted from the qualifying entrance examination described in the preceding paragraph.

[13.] If a cadet be rusticated or removed during a term, his daily pay shall cease from the date on which he is sent away, and the contribution made for the half year shall be forfeited.

He shall also be required to pay the regulated contribution in advance, for each half-year of the time during which he remains under instruction; and a deposit of 5*s.* on account, for contingent expenses, which latter sum he shall be required to make up on returning to the Royal Military College after each vacation, to cover any expense that may be incurred on his account during the ensuing half-year.

IV.—GOVERNMENT AND ORGANIZATION.

31. The Commander-in-Chief will be the President of the Royal Military College.

32. An independent inspection by a Board of Visitors, appointed by the Secretary of State for War, and reporting to him, will be made once a-year. Such visitors will not be a permanent body, but will not be all changed at the same time. The report of this board will be presented to Parliament.

33. The College will be under the control of a Governor, appointed by and responsible to the Secretary of State for War through the Commander-in-Chief.

34. He will be assisted in the arrangement of the studies by a board, composed of the commandant and the professors or senior instructors in the different branches. The head of each branch will have the general power of supervision and inspection over the studies in his department, with the duty of reporting on them to the Governor.

35. The Governor will be assisted by a staff officer, who will be responsible in his temporary absence for the charge of the establishment. This officer will have the custody of the records and correspondence of the College, and will give the Governor such assistance as he may require.

V.—DISCIPLINE.

36. The cadets will be subject to such rules and regulations as are, or may be from time to time, established for the maintenance of good order and discipline.

37. The Governor will have the power of rustication and removal from the College, reporting the circumstances to the Commander-in-Chief.

38. In cases requiring more serious notice, cadets will be liable, on the report of the Governor to the Commander-in-Chief, to be removed from the list of candidates for commissions.

39. The name of any cadet expelled for misconduct will be recorded in the department of the Commander-in-Chief, and will be made known to the First Lord of the Admiralty, and to the Secretary of State for India, in order to prevent his being admitted into Her Majesty's Naval, Military, or Indian Service.

40. The cadets will be distributed in divisions of not less than 25, each division being under the immediate charge of one of the professors or instructors selected by the Governor.

41. The officers of Divisions will be the channel of communication on all subjects between the cadets and the Governor. They will reside in the College, and will exercise a strict superintendence over their divisions, for which they will be responsible to the Governor. They and the unmarried officers will mess with the cadets.

42. During the hours of study the cadets will be under the charge of the professors and instructors, to whose orders they will be required to pay implicit obedience.

44. The professors and instructors will have certain limited powers of punishment, within and without the halls of study, at the discretion of the Governor, to whom they will report all punishments which they may inflict.

45. No professor or instructor will be permitted to give private instruction to a cadet, either during the vacation or at any other time; or be allowed to prepare candidates for admission to the college.

46. The cadets will be required to appear at all times in uniform, except when on leave of absence, or when otherwise exempted by the Governor.

47. The study undress may be worn at all times when cadets are under instruction, with the exception of riding or parade, when they will wear their uniform. The forage cap will be worn with the study undress.

VI.—COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

48. Candidates for first appointments in the army who are successful in the examinations specified in the foregoing regulations will join the Royal Military College as cadets for one year, to be divided into two terms, during which the course of instruction will last. The college terms will be—

(a.) From 10th February to 15th July, with suspension of study during a fortnight at Easter.

(b.) From 1st September to 20th December. The intermediate periods will constitute the vacations.

49. The following subjects will form the ordinary course of obligatory studies—

(a.) Queen's Regulations and Orders for the Army; regimental interior economy, accounts, and correspondence.

(b.) Military Law.

(c.) The elements of Tactics.

(d.) Field Fortification, and the elements of Permanent Fortification.

(f.) Infantry and Field Artillery Drill, Riding, and Gymnastics.

VII.—EXAMINATIONS FOR COMMISSIONS.

50. At the end of the course the cadets will be required to pass an examination in the field and on paper, and those who pass a satisfactory examination will, as provided in the Royal Warrant of 30th October 1876 (Clause 101, Army Circulars, 1876), become entitled to commissions in the army as second lieutenants, and will be gazetted to regiments in the order in which they pass.

51. Marks will be allotted to the obligatory subjects in the following proportions:—

Queen's Regulations, &c., &c.	1½
Military Law	2
Elements of Tactics	3
Fortification	3
Military Topography and Reconnaissance	3
Drill, Gymnastics, and Riding (one each)	3

52. In Tactics, Fortification, and Military Topography and Reconnaissance, one-fourth of the marks will be reserved for notes and drawings done during the course.

53. The standard of qualification for a commission will be decided upon from time to time by the Secretary of State for War, and announced to the cadets at the commencement of the course.

54. In order to ensure due diligence during the whole period of residence there will, at the end of the first term, be a probationary examination in the work of that term. A cadet failing to pass satisfactorily through the probationary examination at the end of his first term, will lose a term and not get class promotion. No cadet will be permitted to reside for more than one year at the college, except in cases of failure at the probationary examination, protracted illness, or long absence from any unavoidable cause, or of his being prevented by unavoidable cause from undergoing the final examination. In these cases an extra term will, if specially recommended by the Governor, be allowed.

VIII.—INTERIOR ECONOMY, MESSING, ETC.

55. The dining-halls, halls of study, reading and recreation rooms, and quarters of the cadets will be furnished in all essentials by the Government.

IX.—GENERAL REGULATIONS.

56. A cadet will be removed from the Royal Military College for moral or physical unfitness.

57. A cadet who fails to pass the examination at the end of his second term of residence will not be permitted to return to the Royal Military College, but will be allowed to be re-examined once at the next ensuing examination.

58. A failure at this re-examination will disqualify a cadet for a commission in the army, and his name will be at once removed from the list.

59. No person whatever belonging to the Royal Military College is to receive a present from any cadet, or from the relations or friends of any cadet.

The following General Order (69 of 1877) modifies paragraphs 13 to 17 of the Regulations issued with General Order 88 of 1876.

G. O. 69.—EXAMINATION FOR ADMISSION TO THE ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE.

I. After the examination in July 1878, the "preliminary" will be separated from the "further," or competitive portion of the examination for admission to the Royal Military College.

II. Special preliminary examinations will be held in the spring and autumn of each year by the Civil Service Commissioners, to whom intending candidates should apply.

III. The further examinations will be held half-yearly, in the months of July and December, as at present; and candidates for examinations are to apply to the Military Secretary, as prescribed by existing regulations.

IV. No candidate will be allowed to attend the "further" until he has passed the "preliminary" examination, or can produce a certificate as laid down in para. V.

V. Candidates will be exempted from the "preliminary" examination, in all subjects except Geometrical Drawing, if they can produce the certificate of the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board, provided it embraces mathematics. If it does not include that subject, they will be required also to undergo an examination therein.

Paragraph V. of the above General Order comes into operation at once, but the other paragraphs will not apply until after July 1878.

AUSTRALIA.—BASS STRAIT.—KING ISLAND.

Flashing Light at Currie Harbor.

With reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 163, of 16th October 1879, on the intended exhibition, on 1st March 1880, of a light from a lighthouse erected on the south side of Currie Harbor, west coast of King Island:—

The following further particulars have been received from the Government of Tasmania, the light will be exhibited on 1st March 1880:—

The light will be a flashing light, showing five flashes and eclipses alternately in a minute, elevated 150 feet above the sea, and should be visible in clear weather from a distance of 17 miles. The light will illuminate an arc of 180°—from New Year Islands on the north, to Cataraque Point on the south.

The lighthouse, 70 feet high, constructed of iron, with central tube for staircase, and supported on six iron columns, is situated on an eminence about 80 feet high.

Position as given, lat. 39° 56' 45" S., long. 143° 51' E.

CAUTION.—Mariners approaching King Island are specially warned to note the distinctive features between Currie Harbor flashing light and Cape Otway revolving light, on the coast of Victoria, viz.:—

Currie Harbor light shows five flashes every minute.

Cape Otway light attains its greatest brilliancy once every minute.

[No. 202.]

NEW ZEALAND.—MIDDLE ISLAND.—SOUTH-EAST COAST.—OTAGO HARBOR.

The following information relating to the bar and entrance of Otago harbor has been received from the New Zealand Government:—

According to a survey made by order of the Otago Harbor Board, in March 1879, the least water on the bar of that harbor, with the leading lights in line bearing S.S.W., was 15 feet at low water ordinary spring tides.

The green light open north of the white light, and bearing S. by W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W., leads across the bar in 16 feet.

The least water found in the north channel was 19 to 20 feet.

Note.—Within the bar the channel (on entering) is marked by red buoys and beacons on the starboard hand, and black buoys and beacons on the port hand. The light-vessel is moored S.W. by S. 2 cables from the first red beacon.

According to the survey above referred to, the lighthouse on Tairoa head is situated N. 7° E. 190 yards from the position heretofore assigned to the signal staff.

Caution.—It should be observed that the depths on the bar of Otago harbor are subject to change. For some years there was reported to be not less than 18 feet at low water, but the great tidal wave of August 1868 suddenly reduced the depths to 12 feet. After that date the bar slowly resumed its original depth, so that in February 1871 there was stated to be again 18 feet in the channel across it, and according to information published by the local authorities, the same depth was maintained in 1876.

The depths in the north channel are also reported subject to change.

AUSTRALIA.—SOUTH COAST.—ST. VINCENT GULF.—MACDONNEL SOUND.

(1.) Fixed Light on Edithburg Jetty.

The Government of South Australia has given notice that, on 4th October 1879, a light would be exhibited from the outer extremity of Edithburg jetty (De Mole point), Macdonnel Sound:—

The light is a fixed white light, and should be visible in clear weather from a distance of about 5 miles.

Position approximate, lat. 35° 5' S., long. 137° 44½' E.

NEW ZEALAND.—MIDDLE ISLAND.—FOVEAUX STRAIT.

(2.) Light-vessel and Jetty Light in Bluff Harbor.

The Government of New Zealand has given notice that a light is now exhibited from a small vessel placed on the western side of the narrowest part of the entrance to Bluff (Awarua) Harbor:—

The light is a fixed white light.

The light-vessel, moored with four anchors (quarterly), swings in her own length, and lies with the following bearings and distances, viz.:—

Triangle rocks (sunken), S.S.E., distant $\frac{3}{4}$ ths of a cable.

Burial Point, S. by E., distant 2 cables.

Position approximate, lat. 46° 36' 15" S., long. 168° 22' 20" E.

Jetty Light.—A red light is exhibited from the end of a jetty situated west 3 cables from the light-vessel.

Note.—Care should be taken by vessels dropping past the light-vessel not to hook the moorings, which extend 20 fathoms from her. Close to the light-vessel, there is a depth of 13 feet at low water spring tides. Vessels drawing over 12 feet should not at low water come southward of the line joining the light-vessel and the northern face of the jetty.

(1.) Revolving Light on Dent Island.

The Government of Queensland has given notice that, on 13th October 1879, a light would be exhibited from a lighthouse recently erected on the western side of Dent Island, Whitsunday Passage:—

The light is a revolving white light, attaining its greatest brilliancy every thirty seconds, elevated 120 feet above high water, and should be seen in clear weather from a distance of 16 miles; it is visible from the Anchor Islands, through east, until shut in to the northward by Cid Island.

The illuminating apparatus is dioptric, or by lenses of the fourth order.

The lighthouse, 33 feet high, circular in shape and painted white, is situated about three-quarters of a mile from the southern extremity of Dent Island.

Position, lat. 20° 22' 20" S., long. 148° 58' 20" E.

SOUTH-WESTERN PART.

FIJI ISLANDS.

The following information relating to the Lau or Eastern group of the Fiji Islands has been received from Lieutenant W. U. Moore, commanding H.M. surveying schooner Alacrity, 1878-9.

[All bearings are magnetic. Variation 10° easterly in 1879.]

LAU OR EASTERN GROUP.¹

SUVA TO LOMALOMA.—Sailing vessels bound from Suva to Lomaloma should endeavor to weather the island of Ngau by daylight, and then steer to pass to leeward of Thithia.

In approaching the Tongan pass, which leads into the Vanua Mbalavu lagoon, it is better to keep well towards Vekal, as a westerly current is often experienced off the horn of the barrier reef, south of Munia.

LEVUKA TO LOMALOMA.—In sailing from Levuka to Lomaloma it is customary to pass half-way between the Horse-shoe reef and the north point of the Nairai barrier, using a bearing of Mbatiki to clear the latter.

The "EXPLORING ISLES" was the name given by the U.S. Exploring Expedition, 1840, to a group of islands enclosed within a barrier reef, of triangular shape, 77 miles in extent, with many passages leading into it.

This group, the most important in Lau, will first be described.

VANUA MBALAVU is an irregular shaped island 14 miles long, and from a half to 2½ miles broad, with several peaks on its backbone ridge, the highest of which, Koro Mbasanga, in the centre of the island, is 930 feet high. The direction of the island is N.N.E. and N.W., a sharp bend occurring in the centre and broadest part under Koro Mbasanga. The southern half of Vanua Mbalavu is chiefly volcanic, and the soil very fertile, but the north-western part is formed of coral upheavals covered with impenetrable bush.

The population in 1878 consisted of 23 whites, 24 half-castes, 60 Tongans, and 1100 Fijians. The Roko Tui of Lau, Henry Maafu, the once powerful Tongan chief, who, for many years, contended with Thakombau for the chief authority in Fiji, lives in this island, and has supreme control over the colored inhabitants, an English magistrate being resident also, to carry out the processes of the law in Lau. There is also an English missionary, a collector of taxes who is postmaster, and a health officer, and two or three European merchants.

Lomaloma is the chief town of Vanua Mbalavu and the principal depôt for produce in Lau. It is situated near the south end of the island, on the eastern coast, and behind the small island of Yanu Yanu, which is wooded, and 260 feet high. Lomaloma is chiefly composed of native houses, but there are a few European stores and residences, a court house, and a spacious native church.

Lomaloma Harbor.—Between Yanu Yanu and the town of Lomaloma there is a small well-protected harbor, where good anchorage can be obtained in a vessel of large size in 7 fathoms, sand and mud. Vessels of over 200 tons have to warp out, as there is a long spit of coral grit running out west of Yanu Yanu, which narrows the space for tacking. The beach is well adapted for hauling-up vessels of 6 feet draught and under.

Fresh water can be obtained in casks from a stream one mile north of the anchorage, but as it runs through taro beds it is not recommended for drinking purposes.

Supplies of yams, eggs, turkeys, fowls, milk, and bread can occasionally be obtained from the European residents.

Health regulations.—Lomaloma is one of the four ports of entry of the colony of Fiji. The following regulations are extracted from Ordinance No. XII. 1877, regarding quarantine:—

No vessel coming from beyond the colony shall communicate with any island or place within the colony until she shall have received pratique at a port of entry; and every such vessel on approaching a port of entry with a view of communicating shall hoist a yellow flag by day or a green light at night at the mast or foremast head, and such yellow flag by day or green light at night shall be kept hoisted until such vessel shall be admitted to pratique.

It shall be unlawful for any vessel that has not been admitted to pratique to approach within one hundred yards of any other vessel in harbor, or to transmit any article therefrom; or for any person, except a health officer or pilot and their respective boats' crews, to approach within one hundred yards of a vessel before such vessel shall have been admitted to pratique.

The form of inquiry to be filled up by master or surgeon, known as Schedule B. on the Ordinance, is similar to that used in other ports.

Yanu Yanu (the island) was the quarantine station in 1878, but will probably not long remain so, as it is immediately to windward of the town.

MUNIA is a volcanic island, 2½ miles long, in a N.N.E. and S.S.W. direction, by three-quarters of a mile broad. One ridge

¹ See Admiralty charts, Nos. 780 and 2691, of South-west Pacific and Fiji Islands; also, Hydrographic Notices of the S.W. Pacific, Nos. 1 to 49 of 1873.

² This is one of the few barrier reefs in Fiji which have a sloping outer edge to windward, with a bank of soundings on which, in case of necessity, a vessel might anchor.

The majority of reefs in Fiji are steep-to on the south and east sides, and seldom admit of the possibility of bringing up with an anchor clear of the breakers.

runs through the centre of the island, the highest point of which is 950 feet high. The island is owned by an American, who employs foreign labor. Vegetables and water in small quantities can be obtained.

Landing is not easy, on account of the shore fringe of coral, which dries at half-tide, and connects the south coast of the island with the barrier reef.

THIKOMBIA is a densely wooded island of coral formation, with several small peaks of about the same height, which make the island appear from seaward as if it had a serrated summit. It is 550 feet high, and has one village, called Nukulau, on the south side, containing 50 inhabitants, who occupy themselves in cultivating vegetables and manufacturing tappa.

Taxes are paid in copra. A small supply of vegetables and water can be obtained. Landing is good at the village.

SUSUI is a wooded island, lying east and west, 2½ miles long, and two-thirds of a mile broad. It is 430 feet high, and the coral fringe which surrounds the shore joins the barrier reef. This island is used as a grazing ground for cattle. There are about 50 inhabitants.

MALATTA is a wooded island, 430 feet high, lying N.W. and S.E., and joined to Vanua Mbalavu by the coral reef which dries at three-quarters ebb. It is separated at its south-east point from Susui by a narrow passage, dry at half-tide. There are about 25 inhabitants.

Boats can pass between Vanua Mbalavu and Malatta at half-tide.

AVEA, off the north-east coast of Vanua Mbalavu, is a dark, wooded, coral island, lying N.E. by N. and S.W. by S., 14 miles long, and three-quarters of a mile broad in the centre, and 610 feet high. It has one village on the south-west point of the island, containing 40 inhabitants who are not well off for either food or water. The coral fringe which surrounds the island joins the barrier reef, but boats can pass the north cape at any time of tide.

Sovu Islets are three uninhabited wooded rocks, lying about east and west of one another, and E.N.E., 4 miles from the north-east point of Avea. The highest and most westerly has a well-defined peak, which is 230 feet high. The smallest has a grove of fan palms.

NGILLANGILLAH is a precipitous coral island, close off the north-west extreme of Vanua Mbalavu, 510 feet high, and densely wooded. There are no inhabitants.

Andicathe and Yanuhaloa are small islands off the west coast of Vanua Mbalavu, 250 feet and 170 feet high respectively. The former is the property of a European, and is cultivated. In addition to those islands already mentioned, there are several smaller islets and rocks around and near the coast of Vanua Mbalavu, for the position of which the navigator is referred to the chart.

Passages into the Vanua Mbalavu lagoon. Those most frequently used are—

- (1) The Tongan pass, on the south-east side of the barrier reef;
- (2) The American passage, on the eastern side; and
- (3) The Ngillangillah passage at the north-west corner of the lagoon, and close to the island of the same name.

The Tongan pass is that most frequently used for entering. It is situated about midway between the islands of Thikombia and Munia, is three-quarters of a mile broad, and has a coral patch 250 yards in diameter, and awash at low water in the centre. Running into the lagoon with the prevailing wind, this channel is easily navigated, provided the light is favorable.

Tides are irregular. The "flood" was observed by the Alacrity, more than once, to be setting out of the lagoon.

Directions.—A bearing of the summit of Avea N.W. ½ N. will lead a vessel to the Tongan pass. Continue this course for 1½ miles inside the lagoon until the bearing of Yanu Yanu (which appears as a point of the main island standing out in relief) bears W. ½ S., when steer for Lomaloma and enter the harbor to the north of Yanu Yanu.

These directions are intended as a guide for steering on a track the least strewn with reefs, but, from the nature of the ground, this cannot be altogether followed, and the course of the vessel must be occasionally altered to avoid coral heads.

Lomaloma harbor can be entered from either side of Yanu Yanu, but the north is generally the most convenient.

Caution.—Unless the light is favorable and the look-out vigilant, the navigation of this lagoon is hazardous. It is seldom safe to steer to the westward in it after 2 p.m.

American Passage bears east 5 miles from the Sovu islets. It is useful for vessels bound to and from Samoa and America, and has the advantage of being easily navigated with the prevailing wind either in or out. It is three-quarters of a mile broad, and the depth in the centre is 106 fathoms. On a clear day Koro Mbasanga bearing W.S.W. will lead to the passage.

Nuku Thikombia Reef lies 4 miles south-east of the American Passage, and protects it to some extent from the south-easterly swell; the reef is 3½ miles long, in a N.N.E. and S.S.W. direction. On its south-western end is a sand cay 200 yards in diameter and 4 feet above high water, upon which there is a cairn of stones 8 feet above high water.

Ngillangillah Passage is useful for steam vessels bound from Levuka to and from Lomaloma. There are many coral heads outside it, through which a course can be steered without difficulty, provided the light is favorable. The narrowest part of the passage is 300 yards wide. Tides run strong through it, but with regularity. The track to Lomaloma leads round the north coast of Vanua Mbalavu, which is fronted by numerous coral heads. Off Blackswan point the distance from the barrier reef to the shore is only 300 yards, and there is a coral patch in the centre of the channel. The shore should be kept close on board.

Besides the three passages described, there are others which are less frequented, but which are available for vessels of large size, viz., the three Sovu passages, north and north-west of the Sovu islets, and the Andivathe passage, west of Vanua Mbalavu. Large sailing vessels bound from Lomaloma to Levuka or Suva would find one of the Sovu passages an easier means of exit from the lagoon than beating through the Tongan pass, or navigating the north side of Vanua Mbalavu with an afternoon sun. The Andivathe passage, from its position, is of little use to any but coasting craft.

Malina Islets are two small uninhabited islands W. $\frac{1}{2}$ N., $8\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the Ngillangillah passage. They are situated in the centre of a lagoon which is $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 miles in diameter, and protected by a barrier reef which is awash at low water, except at certain places on the north side, where boats can cross at any time of tide. The largest and most southern of the islets has a conspicuous lump on its south-west extremity, which is 130 feet high. Pumice stone was found on the south-east beach of this islet.

KANATHEA is a round island, 2 to 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles in diameter, with some conspicuous peaks, the highest of which is 830 feet high. It is the property of two Europeans, who cultivate cotton and copra and employ foreign labor. The island is surrounded by a reef, which on the north side extends nearly a mile from the shore as a fringe, and which on the east side opens out into a barrier enclosing several miles of water, into which there is no entry at low water for even boats. The north-east end of this lagoon lies N. E. by N. 6 miles from Kanathea, leaving a passage of a little over a mile between it and the Vanua Mbalavu barrier reef.

The sea does not break on this barrier on the north-west side, and there are very moderate rollers on the south-east side in ordinary weather. Except in strong south-east winds, boats can pass over a sunken place on the south-east side of the reef at half-tide by bringing the northernmost house on the beach just open to the southward of a remarkable Thumb peak W. $\frac{1}{2}$ N.

Small craft harbor.—On the north side of the island there is an indentation in the shore reef about 130 yards broad, in which small craft can anchor within a short distance of the beach.

Boëhm Rock.—Boëhm rock is a coral patch awash at low water, and about 200 yards in diameter, N. N. E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E., $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Small Craft harbor.

Danger Marks.—The left extreme of Kanathea in line with the centre of Mango Island S. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. leads over the Boëhm rock.

Morse Reef lies $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles to the south-east of Kanathea, and half a mile S. S. E. of the south elbow of the barrier reef. It is of very small extent, and owing to its sloping edges breaks heavily in moderate weather. A sounding of 130 fathoms was obtained between this rock and the Kanathea barrier.

MANGO ISLAND is round, of volcanic origin and coral formation, 3 miles in diameter, and surrounded by a reef half a mile broad, except at one part of the coast on the north side, where there is merely a narrow fringe, and a ledge of sand and coral, suitable for anchorage in winds from S. W. through south to east. In this break of the reef a buoy has been moored in 14 fathoms, sand and coral, to which vessels of 200 tons may secure. Landing is good at the pier, except in strong north winds.

Caution.—The anchorage is not safe in the summer months, and sailing vessels should put to sea when the wind veers to N. E.

The island is the property of English colonists, and produces sea island cotton, said to be of excellent quality. In the year 1878, 400 tons of cotton were picked.

Coffee, limes, oranges, pine-apples, kumalas, yams, and bread-fruit are grown, and copra is exported. A fine breed of Angoro goats has been imported.

There are no natives on the island. Foreign labor is employed.

The highest hills in Mango overlook the south-east and west coasts, the greatest altitude being 670 feet.

Near the edge of the reef, on the south-west side, are three small islets, conspicuous when seen clear of the land.

Tide.—It is high water, full and change, at Mango pier, north side of the island (and clear from reef influences), at 6h. 10m.; springs rise 4 feet 8 inches; neaps range 3 feet.

Frost Reef, dry at low-water spring tides, lies W. by S. $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Mango pier. It is circular in form, and has a diameter of nearly one mile. A rock which shows 2 feet above high water is situated near its northern edge.

Clearing Marks.—Vessels bound from Mango to Levuka should keep the right extreme of Munia in line with the left extreme of Mango W. by S. $\frac{3}{4}$ S., until they have cleared Morse Reef.

Katofunga is a small island, south-east of the Exploring Isles, 9 cables long by 3 cables broad, lying north and south, and surrounded by a barrier reef, which on the east side reaches $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the island. There are two summits to the island, both covered with palms, and of the same height, 180 feet.

The formation of Katofunga is a combination of volcanic matter and coral. It is the property of a European, who employs foreign labor, and who has cultivated cotton of a good quality and copra with success.

Supplies.—Yams, kumalas, turkeys, fowls, eggs, and good water can be obtained.

On the south-east side of the island there is a small settlement. The passage into the lagoon is near the north-east coast. Several coral heads lie in it, but small vessels drawing 10 feet and less can navigate it with a commanding breeze. The greatest depth in the lagoon is 13 fathoms.

Maleneu Reef, N. by E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E., $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the Katofunga passage, is dangerous, because in the track of vessels approaching from the eastward bound from Tonga to Lomaloma. It is a pear-shaped barrier reef, lying N. by W. and S. by E. $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles long, $1\frac{1}{2}$ broad, and having a depth of 13 fathoms, sand and coral, in the centre. Near the south end is a sand cay awash at high water. Boats can enter on the west side at any time of tide.

Vekai is a coral rock, 30 feet high, covered with scrub, and situated on the inner edge of a circular reef S. W. by W. $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Katofunga.

The barrier reef is 2 miles in diameter, and the lagoon has a depth of 18 fathoms in the centre. Boats can enter on the north-west side of the reef at any time of tide.

TUVUTHA, $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles south of Vekai, is a coral island, densely wooded, with precipitous hills overlooking the coast, and a depression in the centre, in which there are four or five small lakes, one of which is reported to contain salt water.

A coral barrier, 2 to 3 cables in width, encircles the island. The lagoon within has a general depth of 2 to 9 fathoms, sand and coral. A horn of the barrier, one mile south of the village, affords protection from the sea to small vessels in winds from S. E. through east to N. W. Anchorage may be obtained in from 7 to 14 fathoms close to the reef. At a distance of $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. W. of the village there is a boat entrance in the reef, which may be used at any time of tide.

The fish called Balolo is caught off the eastern point of the island.

Near the north-west extreme of the island there is a conspicuous peak, 800 feet high, and 50 to 100 feet higher than the other elevations on the crater-like summit. The inhabitants, seventy in number, live in a village called Tinoa, on the south-west coast. Food is scarce, but good water can be obtained 50 yards north of the village, and also on the north coast. Taxes are paid in copra.

Tavanuku-i-wai (Quinin Reef) is situated 2 miles S. S. W. of the anchorage off Tuvutha. It is circular in form, 7 to 9 cables in diameter, and has a shallow lagoon in the centre.

Tavanuku i vanua (Smith Reef) is $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles S. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. from the anchorage. It is 4 to 5 cables in diameter, wall-sided, and has a sand cay in the centre, which can be seen for many miles on a bright day, being 4 feet above high water. Turtle are caught here in the summer months.

Yaroua is a sand islet, 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ cables long by two cables broad, and situated $8\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. $\frac{1}{2}$ S. from the south-east point of Tuvutha. It is covered with trees, making its entire height 70 feet. A fringing reef surrounds it, which extends from a half to 3 cables from the beach. Turtle are caught here in the summer months. The landing is bad.

Thakau Tumbu (Gordon Reef) bears E. by N., distant 15 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the conspicuous hill on the north-west end of Tuvutha. It is nearly square in form, the length of the sides being 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles. The barrier varies in width from 1 cable to 5 cables, and encloses a lagoon, which has a depth in the centre of 11 fathoms, and into which boats can enter from the westward at any time of tide. Small craft can anchor in south-east winds outside of the reef on the north-west side, with the summit of Munia just open to the right of the north hump of Katofunga—marks which can be seen in clear weather.

Thakau Nokeva, situated 2 miles east of Yaroua, is an irregularly shaped reef, called by Commander Wilkes "Freeman Reef," and by the natives Thakau Nokeva. It is $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles long, $1\frac{1}{2}$ broad, and broken in two places on the north-west side. There is a small lagoon in the centre, having a depth of from 4 to 9 fathoms. The reef dries at low water.

Thakau Lasemarawa (Hawkins Reef) bears south $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Yaroua. It is triangular in shape, $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles long east and west by $1\frac{1}{2}$ north and south, and there is a small lagoon in the centre with a depth of 7 fathoms, into which there is no entry for boats. In south-east winds small craft can pick up an anchorage in 9 fathoms on the north-west side of the reef.

A vessel having occasion to visit Yaroua would find this useful, as there is no shallow water suitable for anchoring off the island.

THITHIA is a volcanic island, nearly square in shape. Its greatest breadth, which is from north-east to south-west, is 4 miles. The island is of a light color, the undulating country being covered with grass, and widely scattered screw pines and casuarina trees. The highest point, which is towards the north-west, is 540 feet high.

A fringing coral reef, $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 4 cables in width, surrounds the island. It is dry at low water, but boats can pass round the island at three-quarters flood.

Two Europeans own property on this island, who cultivate cotton and employ about 150 foreign laborers. About 120 tons of cotton is produced annually.

There are 398 native inhabitants, who occupy five villages at various points on the coast.

Anchorage for small craft can be obtained in winds from south to east in a bight of the reef on the north-west side of the island, opposite Turokua village. There is also temporary anchorage to be found opposite a plantation one mile further south.

Landing can be effected on the north-west coast at any time. Good water is plentiful on the island.

Thakau Nava (Kneass Reef) is $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles south-west of Thithia. It is egg-shaped, one mile long, seven cables broad, and steep-to all round. There is a shallow lagoon in the centre.

NAIAU is a coral island with a similar crater-like summit to Tuvutha. The rim, which forms the summit, and which is perpendicular on the sea face, is from 530 to 580 feet high, and the depression in the centre is about 200 feet below it.

The island is of a dark color, being densely wooded, and appears from all points of view from seaward to be table-topped. It lies N. W. and S. E., is $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles long by 2 miles broad, and is fringed, except at one place on the north-west side (where the summit rim overhangs the sea), by a coral reef which extends on the north-east side to a distance of 6 cables from the shore.

There is no anchorage for vessels.

Boats can enter the reef opposite the village of Ndevo, on the east coast, by a passage 15 yards broad, through which the stream sets out at a speed of 2 knots an hour.

The number of inhabitants is 280, distributed among three villages, viz., Ndevo, Leku, and Narothisvo.

Boats can pass round the island, inside the reef, at half-tide, and when the passage off Ndevo is not safe, landing can be effected by crossing the reef on the north-west side of the island.

Maafu Rock (so named after the Tongan chief who reported its existence) is a coral head with 18 feet on it at low water, bearing N.E. $\frac{1}{2}$ N., 7 miles from the boat passage off Ndevo. The patch of discolored water, of which it is the shallowest part, is hardly one cable broad, and has a depth on it of from 6 to 9 fathoms, coral and sand. The rock, which is about 5 yards in diameter, is on the north-west edge of the bank. It seldom breaks, and is difficult to see in fine weather.

LAKEMBA is a rounded volcanic island, of a light color, 4 to 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles in diameter, with one projecting cape on the south side and several summits in the centre, about the same height and close together.

The highest point is Mount Goodenough, which is a double peak 720 feet high; but Kendi-Kendi, conspicuous from its palm clump, is only 30 feet lower. A fringe of coral surrounds the island, which extends from 2 to 10 cables from the coast. Round the north coast it dries at a quarter ebb, but on the south side boats can pass at half-tide. To the eastward of Lakemba is a lagoon enclosed by a barrier reef.

Anchorage.—Steam vessels can anchor in this lagoon in 13 fathoms, sand and coral, entering by the steamer passage, which may be found by bringing the right extreme of the island to bear W. by N. $\frac{1}{2}$ N., and conning the vessel in from the masthead with a favorable light. Numerous rocks lie in the passage.

The chief village of Lakemba is Toumbou, off which there is a small harbor capable of accommodating two small craft. The entrance is 30 yards broad, and lies N.E. and S.W. The southern, outer, horn breaks heavily.

In winds from S.S.E., through south and east to N.N.E., there is anchorage at Wankatelatha in 10 fathoms, sand, where good water can be taken on board from a pool on the beach, the passage through the reef being clear for boats, and the water easy of access.

Lakemba was the first island in the Fiji group which was Christianized by English missionaries (1835).³

It is now populated by one English missionary, four European settlers, 150 Tongans, 100 mixed race, and 717 Fijians, making a total of 972.

There is good land round the coast, but the undulating hills in the interior are not fertile, being covered with grass, casuarina trees, and screw pines. The lower ground abounds in kumulas and yams. The latter attain great perfection in this island, and have been known to grow to a length of 8 feet. Copra is exported, and paid as taxes. Turtle abound in the hot months, and fish is plentiful.

BUKATANOVA OR ARGO ISLES lie several miles to the east of Lakemba, and may be roughly described as triangular in shape and 60 miles round.

The greater portion of the chain is in the form of a barrier reef, but the centre is much broken up by detached reefs and groups of sunken rocks. Distant 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles from the north extreme of the reefs there is a channel 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles wide and 140 to 170 fathoms deep. In the lagoons the depth varies from 8 to 40 fathoms, sand and coral. On the south-east horn the sea breaks heavily. Working round in the Alacrity no dangers could be seen to seaward from a height of 60 feet.

The English name of this reef is derived from the loss of the brig Argo in 1806 on its south-east end. A large number of copper bolts were found in 1878 near this part, which are supposed to have belonged to that vessel.

Vanua Masi.—Inside the barrier and 3 miles south of the north extreme of the Bukatanova or Argo Reefs lies Vanua Masi, a coral islet, 80 feet high, the resort of sea birds.

It is covered with scrub, 4 cables long, one cable broad, and has several rocks off its east end. Landing is easy at half-tide on a sandy beach on the north coast.

Bacon Island is a white rock (covered with guano), 60 feet high, N.E. by E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E., 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Vanua Masi, and 4 cables from the barrier.

REID REEF lies 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles to the north-east of the Bukatanova reefs. It is of the barrier character, 20 miles round, and encloses a lagoon which has three islets in it, but which appeared to be tolerably clear of coral heads, and to have a depth of 20 fathoms near the centre.

Reid Haven.—This lagoon has been called Reid Haven. The best entrance for ships is to be found by bringing Late i Viti to bear N.E. by E., and conning from the masthead with a favorable light.

The three islets in Reid Haven are called Late i Viti, Late i Tonga, and Booby rock. The two former are 60 feet and 50 feet high respectively, and white, being covered with guano; but Booby rock is only 10 feet high, and of a dark color.

Malan Bank lies S.E. one mile from the south-east horn of Reid Reef. The least water obtained was 8 fathoms, sand and coral.

There are tide rips around this bank and in the channel between Reid Reef and Bukatanova Reefs; and the current on both sides of the Reid Reef appears to run to the south-east at a speed of half a knot an hour.

Aiwa Islands are two uninhabited rocky islets, 210 feet and 200 feet high, honeycombed by the sea, and only a few yards apart. They are covered with bush, and connected by a reef which is awash at low water.

The west islet is 9 cables, the east 8 cables long, and both are about 3 cables wide.

A barrier reef which measures 19 miles in total length, and which has four sharp horns, trends round these islands, and several miles east and west of them. Within it is a lagoon with 20 fathoms, sand and coral, in the centre. N.N.W. of the islands there is no reef, and ships can enter at any time, picking up anchorage where convenient.

Between the north horn of the Aiwa Reef and the Lakemba barrier the strait is 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles wide. On both reefs there is but a light break.

VANUA VATU is a rounded island, of coral formation, 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles long N.W. and S.E., surrounded by a coral barrier which joins the shore in several places, and encloses a small lagoon full of rocks. The summit is crater-shaped, like Tuvuthá and Naiau, densely wooded, and 310 feet above the sea at the highest point, which overlooks the south-east coast. Off the north side of the island the reef forms a horn, which stretches out more than a mile from the beach. Boats can cross the reef at half-tide in the bright east of this horn, and there is a fair boat passage at high water on the west side of the horn, opposite a sandy spit of the island. Small craft are said to anchor here close to the reef in east winds, but it is not recommended.

There is one village containing about 100 inhabitants, who are badly off for food and water, and live on fish and cocoa-nuts. Taxes are paid in copra.

ONEATA is a low island lying N.E. by E. and S.W. by W. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles long and half a mile broad, situated within a barrier reef, which measures 26 miles round, and which has a dangerous horn 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles E. $\frac{1}{2}$ N. of Loa Island. The highest point of the island overlooks the south-east coast, and is 160 feet above the sea. Six cables to the north-east, and connected with Oneata by a sunken reef, is the small island of Loa (Observatory Islet of Wilkes), which has a sharp summit 140 feet high.

The village is to be found in a sandy bay, on the south-east coast of Oneata, and contains 155 people, two of whom are European traders. Portions of the island are cultivated. There are few supplies, and water is difficult to obtain.

Oneata Lagoon is the name given to the expanse of smooth water which surrounds the island, and which is enclosed by the barrier reef. It has four entrances which have been named Broken passage, Middle passage, Schooner passage, and Transit passage.

Broken Passage is 1600 yards across, with three patches in it dividing it into four channels. From the best of these channels the summit of Loa Island bears S.W.

Middle Passage is 500 yards across, and has 13 fathoms, sand and coral, in the centre. It is to be found by bringing the summit of Loa Island to bear E.S.E. A very small coral head with 2 feet on it at low water, is situated on this bearing, 2 cables inside the centre of the passage. It may be passed on either hand.

Schooner Passage is not well defined, and therefore not recommended for any but small vessels. From it Loa Island bears E. by S.

Transit Passage is 400 yards across, and has 6 fathoms, sand and coral, in the centre. The right extreme of the hill on Loa in line with the north point of Oneata bearing east, leads to the passage, but must not be carried through, as the end of a spit of rocks connected with the north side of the passage lies on the bearing.

When in the centre of the passage, therefore, vessels should bear to the southward, steering for the right extreme of Oneata until the rocks are passed on the port hand. H.M.S. Barracouta entered by this passage in 1875.

Caution.—The passages into Oneata lagoon should not be navigated by sailing vessels with a foul tide unless they have a commanding breeze.

Vessels bound for an anchorage off the village, if passing round the west side of the island, should keep about half-way between the reef and the shore, as there are rocks off the west point of the island.

MOTHE is a light-colored round island, 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles in diameter, with one conspicuous timber-capped peak rising in the centre 390 feet high. It is surrounded by a barrier reef, which stretches for 7 miles to the south-east (enclosing also Karoni), forming a remarkable horn, called by the natives Na Potu. Vessels cannot enter the lagoon, but there is a boat passage on the east side in a deep bight of the reef between Mothe and Karoni, and boats can pass over the barrier on the north-west side at half-tide.

Anchorage can be obtained outside the reef on the north-west side of the island, opposite the village of Natambua, protected from east through south to S.W. in 12 fathoms, sand, with the summit bearing S.E. by E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E.

There are 187 inhabitants distributed among three villages, the principal of which is Nassau, on the south coast. Water is plentiful on the island, but cannot easily be shipped. Breadfruit, bananas, kumulas, and yams can be had in abundance.

Karoni, a small wooded coral islet, is situated 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.E. by S. of the summit of Mothe. It has a conspicuous peak 120 feet high. Several rocks lie off its west coast.

The lagoon is comparatively shallow, the greatest depth obtained being 9 fathoms inside Na Potu. The deepest sounding north of Karoni was 7 fathoms.

There are three well-defined reefs off the island of Mothe, viz., Thakau Lekaleka, which is in the middle of the Oneata passage, Thakau Vau, and Thakau Motu. The two first are circular reefs of no large extent, with small lagoons inside of impounded water, but the last is an extensive danger, with the west side open, and a lagoon inside, in which the deepest water found was 23 fathoms.

The rock reported in lat. 18° 32' 00" S., long. 179° 25' 10" W., was searched for by the Alacrity, both in its geographical position and also in its position relatively with Vanua Vatu. In neither of these positions, however, was anything seen from the masthead, though the swell and weather were favorable for detecting banks with anything less than 2 fathoms upon them.

³ All the natives in the "Lau or Eastern group" profess the Christian religion.

There are two English Wesleyan missionaries (one at Loma-loma, and the other at Lakemba), and a native minister in every village throughout the group.

Tide.—In the channel between Mothe and Komo the flood sets to the southward and the ebb to the northward. The latter appeared to have but little strength both in this and the neighboring channels.

KOMO ISLAND lies E.N.E. and W.S.W., and is $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles long and half a mile broad. The summit is well marked by a clump of cocoa-nut trees, the fronds of which are 270 feet above the sea. The village, which is on the south-east side, contains about 100 inhabitants. A path leads across from the village to the north side of the island. Cocoa-nut trees are thick on the flat land round the coast, but the hills are covered with grass, casuarinas, and screw pines.

Komo Ndriki.—Connected by a sunken reef with Komo is the dark rocky islet of Komo Ndriki, 70 feet high and $1\frac{1}{4}$ cables in diameter. A coral reef surrounds the islands, and joins the shore on the east side of Komo, but north of the island forms a barrier, enclosing a harbor conspicuous for its moderate depth, good anchorage ground, and scarcity of coral heads; also for the facility with which it may be entered and departed from.

Komo Harbor can be entered by vessels of large size, and there is good anchorage near the island in 5 to 10 fathoms, sand and shells. There are two passages, the east passage and the west passage, either of which is available for steam vessels, but sailing vessels of over 200 tons should choose the west passage, where there is room for working. A good light and favorable tide (or commanding wind) is necessary for either.

The East Passage was used by H.M.S. Barracouta in 1875. It is 320 yards broad, but has two coral heads in it, the most southerly being nearly in mid-channel, leaving a channel of only 140 yards between it and the east inner horn of the reef. This patch is awash at low water, and though small, easily detected on a bright day. There is 9 fathoms, sand and coral, between the rock and the east reef.

The east passage is to be found by bringing the clump of palms on the summit of Komo to bear S.S.E.

The west passage is 550 yards broad. The rocks which form its east side are sunken, and seldom break.

From the west passage the cocoa-nut clump on the summit of Komo bears S.E. by E.

Anchorage of a temporary nature can be obtained outside the barrier reef, on the north side, in southerly winds.

A boat passage, which can be made use of in almost any weather, is to be found by bringing the cocoa-nut clump on the summit to bear S.W. by W., and the Mushroom Rock, off the north-east point, in line with the right extreme of Komo. Boats can approach the village at all times of tide.

Between the Komo Barrier and Thakau Vuite the flood sets to the southward and the ebb to the northward.

Thakau Vuite.—Separated from the Komo Barrier by a passage $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles in width, is the egg-shaped reef called Thakau Vuite (the Chicks Reef of Wilkes), which is $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles long by 2 broad. There is a sand cay near its north-east end, which is 2 feet high and conspicuous in bright weather. The greatest depth inside the lagoon is 16 fathoms. Small craft can enter between the rocks on the north-west side.

Tides.—Between Thakau Vuite and Olorua reefs the flood sets to the south-west and the ebb to the north-east.

Olorua is a small but steep island with three humps on the summit, the highest of which is 250 feet above the sea. The island is surrounded by a pear-shaped reef, which has a conspicuous horn $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.S.E. of the summit, upon which there is usually a heavy break.

On the north side of the island there is a lagoon which has a depth of 8 fathoms in places, but which is studded with rocks. Boats can cross the reef at high water on the north side, and in south winds small vessels might obtain temporary anchorage close to the coral heads which front the reef here. There are no inhabitants.

Tavunahihi is a small circular, wooded, coral island, half a mile in diameter, and 200 feet high. It is surrounded by a fringing coral reef, through which there is no passage, but boats can cross over the north-west side of the reef at high water. There are no inhabitants. The island belongs to Kambara.

WANGAVA is a crater-shaped coral island, with no conspicuous feature, lying N.E. and S.W., $3\frac{1}{4}$ miles long, one mile broad, and 350 feet high. There are no inhabitants, the owners of the land living at the neighboring island of Kambara, and only visiting it to fish and gather cocoa-nuts. The natives report a salt lake in the centre of the island.

Surrounding the island is a coral reef, which can be entered by boats and small vessels on the north-west side at any time of tide, as, at this part, it is much broken up into coral heads, with deep water between them. There is no anchorage worth the name.

Tides.—In the passage between Wangava and Kambara the flood runs E.S.E., and the ebb to the north-west.

KAMBARA is a dark, wooded, egg-shaped island, lying north and south, $\frac{1}{2}$ miles long and 3 miles broad, the highest land forming a rim overlooking the coast, and enclosing a shallow basin which is covered with useful timber. There is a hill on the north-west side, in the shape of a truncated cone, and having a clump of palms on its summit (470 feet high), which is conspicuous from all points of view, being 150 feet higher than the other elevations on the rim.

The island is surrounded by a coral reef which almost disappears north of the highest hill, admitting of good anchorage in 12 fathoms, sand and coral, protected from winds from N.E. through east and south to S.S.W.

There are four villages, the principal of which is Tokalau, under the highest hill and opposite the anchorage. The total number of inhabitants is 290, forty-nine of whom pay taxes (in copra).

Canoes are built here, and kava bowls are manufactured in large numbers.

Directions for anchoring.—Bring the cocoa-nut clump on the summit to bear S. by E., and swinging room will be found in 12 fathoms, sand and coral, $1\frac{1}{4}$ cables from a sandy beach, on which there is fairly good landing in boats, if care is taken to avoid the half-tide coral heads which front it.

Kumulas, kava, pumpkins, and arrowroot can be obtained, but there are no facilities for watering.

Morambo, a small, wooded, uninhabited island, E. by N., 7 miles from the south point of Kambara, is 6 cables in diameter, and has a badly-defined summit 160 feet high. It is surrounded by a fringing coral reef which stretches half a mile from the island on the south-west side. There is no anchorage. Boats can cross the reef through a break 3 yards wide on the north side.

NAMUKA is a dark, wooded, coral island lying east and west, 4 miles long and 1 mile broad, with a badly-defined summit 260 feet high, overlooking the north coast. A coral reef surrounds the island joining the shore at the west cape, and on the south and east sides, but opening out on the north-west side, forming a harbor available for small vessels. The village is in a picturesque, sandy bay, on the south coast, and contains 127 inhabitants, 27 of whom pay taxes (in copra). Boats can communicate with the village by passing round the west cape at half-tide, or the east cape at three-quarters flood. A path leads across the island from the village to a sand beach half a mile east of the summit, where there are two huts.

Namuka Harbor has fair anchorage in from 7 to 13 fathoms, sand and coral. The entrance is between the coral patches, which, on the north-west side of the island (as is frequently the case), take the place of continuous barrier reef.

Vessels drawing over 14 feet should not enter, as there are sunken coral heads between the patches.

Entrance Mark.—By bringing the highest hill (rendered distinct by a sharp fall immediately eastward of it) to bear S.E. by E., a channel may be chosen where the space between the coral patches (awash) is over 100 yards. A good light is necessary, and for a sailing ship a favorable tide or commanding breeze.

Wilkes Reef lies $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. of the entrance to Namuka harbor. It is 7 cables long by 3 cables broad, and dries at low water. Two cables south of the reef is a 2-fathom bank.

The Yangasa cluster consists of four wooded, uninhabited, coral islands in one lagoon, which is protected by an irregularly shaped barrier reef, 22 miles round, and open on the north-west side.

Yangasa Levu, the largest of the cluster, lies N. by E. and S. by W., and is $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles long by half a mile broad, and densely wooded. It is table-topped, and 390 feet high. There is no landing.

Navutuloma is densely wooded, and has a badly-defined summit 210 feet high. Good landing can be found on the north-west side.

Yavutha is a small, densely wooded island with one sharp peak 240 feet high, easily distinguishable from all points of view.

Navutaira is densely wooded, and has a well-defined summit 270 feet high. Landing is good on the south-east side.

On the western portion of the barrier reef there are several conspicuous rocks showing above high water, which attract attention in passing.

This cluster belongs to the people of Mothe, who visit it occasionally to gather cocoa-nuts from Navutuloma and Navutaira.

Thakau Levu is a coral reef situated off the north-east side of the Yangasa barrier and separated from it by a channel only 7 cables in width. It lies east and west, is open on the west side, and has a prominent horn forming its east end, upon which there is always a heavy break. On the south-western prong is a sand cay, 2 feet above high water, and conspicuous in bright weather.

Thakau Chikondua, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles S.E. by E. of the sand cay on Thakau Levu, is a small, round, flat reef, half a mile in diameter.

Naiabo is a small coral islet, 40 feet high, covered with scrub and fringed with a high water-line of sand. It is surrounded by a triangular-shaped barrier reef which measures 3 miles round, and encloses a shallow lagoon of impounded water.

Thakau Reivareiva and Thakau Nasokesoko are two small flat coral reefs between Naiabo and Ongea. They are steep-to all round. Both reefs dry in places at low water.

FULANGA ISLAND is of volcanic and coral formation, and the circular shape of the island leads to the supposition that it is the rim of an extinct crater. The interior of the basin, on the south and east sides, is thickly studded with rocks, varying in height from 20 to 50 feet, but the north-west part is clear, and affords good anchorage to small craft.

The exterior coasts of the island are surrounded by a coral reef of a fringing character, with a passage on the north-east side 6 cables long, 60 yards broad (in the narrowest part), and pointing N. by E. and S. by W., which admits small vessels into the crater if taken with a commanding breeze and favorable tide. When wind and tide are in contrary directions there are overfalls in this passage which are dangerous for boats. The strength of the tide was estimated at three knots, but it moves directly through the channel. The passage occurs in the largest gap between the detached islands which form the north-eastern limit of the crater, and can be found without difficulty, as it appears from seaward to be the natural entrance.

The highest point of Fulanga is 260 feet. There are about 260 inhabitants distributed among three villages, the chief of which is Monothake, on the south coast. Canoes are built here. There are indications of upheaval on the south-west side of the island.

Good water can be obtained on the north-west side of Fulanga, at the village of Navindom.

ONGEA ISLANDS.—Ongea Levu and Ongea Ndriki are two coral islands enclosed within a barrier reef which is 20 miles round, dry at low water, and through which there is a ship-entrance on the western side.

Ongea Levu lies N. by E. and S. by W., is 4 miles long, and from 1 to 2 miles broad. It is densely wooded, and 270 feet high. Numerous detached rocks are situated off its south coasts. The village is in an inlet out of view from the lagoon, and contains 80 inhabitants, who are badly off for water and have no superfluous supplies.

Ongea Ndriki is an uninhabited, rocky, coral island, lying east and west, 1 1/2 miles long and 1 mile broad. The summit is ill-defined and 300 feet high. Several detached rocks fringe its north coast.

Ongea Lagoon, the Port Refuge of Wilkes, has fair anchorage in from 4 to 11 fathoms, sand and coral.

Barracouta Passage (used by H.M.S. Barracouta in 1875) lies E. by S. and W. by N., is 250 yards in width, and has 13 fathoms in mid-channel.

It is to be found by bringing the most northerly of the rocks lying off the north shore of Ongea Ndriki to bear E. 1/4 S.

The vessel must be coned from the masthead, with favorable light. Sailing vessels cannot enter with tide against them unless there is a commanding breeze.

The reef dries at low water on both sides of the passage. Situated 250 yards east of the south inner horn (with which it is connected by shallow water) is a coral head with 6 feet on it at low water, which must be left on the starboard hand.

The strength of the tide through Barracouta Passage was estimated at 2 knots, the flood being rather stronger than the ebb.

On either side of Barracouta Passage there is a good boat passage.

Thakau Teteika is a small, circular, flat reef, half a mile from the north-east part of the Ongea Barrier. It is three-quarters of a mile in diameter, and has a rock showing 2 feet above high water on its north-western edge.

Nuku Ongea is a triangular-shaped reef, situated 3 1/2 miles E. by S. from the south-east coast of Ongea Ndriki. Inside it there is a shallow lagoon, and near its north corner a sand cay 2 feet high.

WINDS AND WEATHER.—In the Lau or Eastern Group, between May and November 1878, the wind was observed from the Alacrity to blow strongest and with most persistence from S.E. by E. and E.S.E., occasionally rising to the force of a moderate gale in September and October. Very little rain fell during those months. Strong easterly winds are generally accompanied by haze, which, however, permits of breaking reefs being seen 3 to 4 miles off.

The barometer in the fine months seldom moves more than three-tenths of an inch, showing highest for strong E.S.E. winds (though perhaps accompanied by passing showers), and lowest for winds from N.W.

After two or three days of calms or light winds with westing in them, the south-easterly winds sometimes set in with a smart squall, first felt from a south or S. by W. direction, and quickly veering.

The following is compiled from the log of H.M. schooner Alacrity.—

Between the 1st May and 20th November (204 days) the wind blew between south and S.E. for 38 days; from between S.E. and east for 111 days; from between east and N.E. for 19 days; from between N.E. and north for 7 days; and calms and light westerly winds were experienced for 29 days.

Current.—While surveying in the Lau or Eastern Group, the Alacrity experienced no current worthy of mention, except in the lagoon passages, where it was in nearly every instance distinctly tidal, and in the close neighborhood of reefs, where it is probably not regular nor exceeds half a knot an hour.

Doubtless, during strong winds from S.E. to east, there is a slight surface drift, but it ceases when the wind moderates. Oil casks from vessels shipwrecked at Vanua Vatu in the summer months have been recovered at the Argo Reef, showing that, at this time of the year, there is as much probability of an easterly as of a westerly set. In the lagoon passages the tide runs as much as 2 knots an hour, and the flood appeared to be as swift as the ebb.

SHIRE OF BENALLA AND PROPOSED NEW SHIRE OF MOIRA.

IN pursuance of the provisions of The Local Government Act 1874 (No. 506, § 46), the substance and prayer of a Petition, in accordance with the 44th section of the said Act, which has been presented to His Excellency the Governor in Council, are published, viz. —

The petitioners are two hundred and nine in number, and purport to be inhabitant householders having rateable property within the area described, being the parishes of Dookie, Currawa, Devenish, Stewarton, Upotipotpon, and Pine Lodge, in the Shire of Benalla, which area they desire to be severed and be constituted a new shire, to be called the "Shire of Moira," the boundaries whereof are thus described:—

"Commencing at the north-west angle of the parish of Pine Lodge; thence east by the south boundaries of the parishes of Katandra, Yabba Yabba, Waggarandall, and St. James to the south-east corner of St. James; thence south and south-east by the east boundaries of Devenish to its south-east angle, and west by the south boundary thereof to the north-east corner of the parish of Stewarton; thence south by the east boundary of Stewarton to its south-east corner; thence down the Broken River to the north-east angle of the parish of Upotipotpon, and south and south-west by the east boundaries of this to its south-east corner, and west by the south boundaries of the parishes of Upotipotpon and Gowengardie to the south-west angle of the last-named parish; thence north by the west boundary of Gowengardie to the south-east corner of the parish of Caniambo, and west by the south boundary of Caniambo to the south-west angle of same; thence north by the west boundaries of the parishes of Caniambo and Pine Lodge to the commencing point."

The petitioners state that the parishes above-enumerated form, as shown in the accompanying statement of boundaries, "an area of about 200 square miles of country, wholly selected or nearly so, and supporting a large and increasing population, with a rate roll we estimate at about £1300; but, from the distance from Benalla, we receive little or no benefit from that shire, in fact are considered and treated as an outlying district, a natural consequence of our position."

Your petitioners therefore pray that Your Excellency in Council may be pleased to make the following Order:—That the area herein described may be severed from the said shire and constituted a new shire, under the name of "The Shire of Moira;" that all rights and liabilities may be adjusted; that the council of the proposed new shire shall consist of nine members; and the said proposed new shire shall be divided into three ridings.

The name and address of person on whom notices may be served on behalf of petitioners is Thos. C. Kemp, Dookie; or may be posted to said address.

Commissioner of Public Works.

TENDERS FOR GRAZING LANDS.

NOTE.—The full fee for eight months must accompany the tender.

TENDERS will be received by the Board of Land and Works up to Noon of Friday, 30th April 1880, for the occupation for grazing purposes only of the following unappropriated portions of land, subject to the Regulations approved by the Governor in Council, and published in the Government Gazette of 11th February 1876, as under, and also the subjoined special conditions.

Every license granted under subdivision VII. of section 47 of The Land Act 1869 shall be subject to the conditions set forth in the schedule hereto, and to such special conditions and payment in advance of such fee as the Minister may determine, and shall be issued by an officer of the Department of Lands and Survey duly authorized on that behalf.

Schedule.

1. This license shall not be deemed to prevent the land comprised therein or any part or parts thereof from being sold, leased, or licensed under any of the provisions of parts I., II., or III. of The Land Act 1869, except subdivision VII. of the 47th section thereof, or proclaimed a common, or occupied by virtue of any miner's right or business license, or alienated or dealt with under the authority of The Land Act 1869, or any other Act now or hereafter to be in force, otherwise than for pastoral or depasturing purposes, or resumed by order of the Governor, acting by and with the advice of the Executive Council, for railways, roads, telegraph lines, dams, reservoirs, races, catchwater drains, pipe-tracks, quarries, or other public purposes; and no licensee shall in any such case be entitled to compensation other than the return of such portion of the fee paid by him as the Minister may think fit.

2. If the licensee, or any person claiming an interest through or under the licensee in the land comprised in this license, shall, at any time during the period for which the license has been issued, employ any person to apply for a license of an allotment under The Land Act 1869, contrary to the true intent of the provisions thereof, or shall make or cause to be made any agreement or contract, or shall give or take, or cause to be given or taken, any negotiable security for the purpose of defeating or evading the provisions of, or shall in any way whatsoever, directly, or indirectly, commit or be privy to a fraud upon the said Act, this license shall be void.

3. No land comprised in roads from time to time surveyed and marked out within the boundaries of the land comprised in this license shall be deemed within the operations of this license.

4. This license entitles the holder thereof during the period therein specified to use the land in respect of which the same is granted for depasturing purposes only, and does not confer any right to build thereon, or to cultivate, or fence any portion thereof; but if the holder thereof desire such use of the land beyond such period, notice to that effect must be given by him to the Minister one month prior to expiry thereof.

5. The interest in this license may not be transferred without the consent of the Minister and payment of a fee of One pound (£1), and upon sanction of transfer thereof a new license will issue to the transferee.

6. No claim whatsoever shall be made or entertained by reason of this license not being renewed or transferred.

Special Conditions.

1. The period of occupation will be, in the first instance, from 1st May 1880 to 31st December 1880.

2. The license fee must be paid every year in advance, if renewed. The fee for eight months—for which the first license will be issued—must accompany the tender or be paid by the successful tenderer or his agent immediately on the declaration of the acceptance of the tender, otherwise the offer of the next highest tenderer who may be prepared to comply with this condition may be accepted.

3. Tenders to be for so much per block per annum separately.

4. Tenders to be endorsed "Tender for Block 5," or "13," or "19," &c., as the case may be.

5. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

6. Tenderers must give their full name and ordinary postal address.
