PRESENT:

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by The Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act 1862, it is enacted that whenever it is made to appear to Her Majesty that the rules concerning the measurement of tonnage of merchant ships for the time being in force under the principal Act have been adopted by the Government of any foreign country, and are in force in that country, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, by Order in Council, to direct that the ships of such foreign country shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in their certificate of registry or other national papers, and thereupon it shall no longer be necessary for such ships to be re-measured in any port or place in Her Majesty's dominions, but such ships shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in their certificates of registry or other papers, in the same manner, to the same extent, and for the same purposes in, to, and for which the tonnage denoted in the certificate of registry of British ships is to be deemed the tonnage of such ships:

And whereas it has been made to appear to Her Majesty that the rules concerning the measurement of tonnage of merchant ships now in force under The Merchant Shipping Act 1854 have been adopted by the Governments of Russia and the Grand Duchy of Finland, with the exception, as regards Russian steam ships, of a slight difference in the mode of estimating the allowance for engine-room, and such rules are now in force in those countries, having come into operation at the following dates, viz.: in Russia on the 20th day of December 1879, and in the Grand Duchy of Finland on the 1st day of June 1877:

Her Majesty is hereby pleased, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to direct as follows:—

1. As regards sailing ships; that merchant sailing ships of the said Russian Empire, the measurement whereof after the said 20th day of December 1879, has been ascertained and denoted in the registers and other national papers of such sailing ships, testified by the date thereof, and merchant sailing ships of the said Grand Duchy of Finland, the measurement whereof has, after the said 1st day of June 1877, been ascertained, denoted, and testified as aforesaid, shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in such registers and other national papers in the same manner and to the same extent and for the same purpose in, to, and for which the tonnage denoted in the certificate of registry of British sailing ships is deemed to be the tonnage of such ships:

2. As regards steam ships; that merchant ships belonging to the said Russian Empire which are propelled by steam or any other power requiring engine-room, the measurement whereof shall, after the said 20th day of December 1879, have been ascertained and denoted in the registers and other national papers of such steam ships, testified by the dates thereof, and that merchant steam ships belonging to the said Grand Duchy of Finland, the measurement whereof has, after the said 1st day of June 1877, been ascertained, denoted, and testified as aforesaid, shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in such registers or other national papers in the same manner and to the same extent, and for the same purpose in, to, and for which the tonnage denoted in the certificate of registry of British ships is deemed to be the tonnage of such ships: provided nevertheless that if the owner or master of any such Russian steam ship desires the deduction for engine-room in his ships to be estimated under the rules for engine-room measurement and deduction applicable to British ships instead of under the Russian rule, the engine-room shall be measured and the deduction calculated according to the British rules.

POCKLINGTON REEF.

By H.M.S. Renard.

This danger is a coral reef eighteen miles long, running in a N.E. and S.W. direction.

Its greatest breadth is not more than three miles, and in most places it is not more than one mile in width.

The East end is in latitude $10^{\circ} 45' 25''$ S., longitude $155^{\circ} 51' 40''$ E.

The West end is in latitude $10^{\circ} 52' 55''$ S., longitude $155^{\circ} 34' 30''$ E.

There are moderately heavy breakers on the southern side, but on the north side in the S.E. trade there is hardly any break.

The lagoon inside appeared perfectly smooth.

There are several large boulders (from their height probably always uncovered) on the northern edge of the reef; and on the middle of the south edge there was the wreck of an iron ship in August 1880.

The currents in the immediate vicinity of the reef set about N.N.W. from 17 to 21 miles per day.

FIJI GROUP.

By H.M.S. Alacrity.

Somo Somo Strait.—Somo Somo Strait is the channel between Taviuni and Vanua Levu. In the narrowest part, which is between Koro Levu and the Navukana Promontory, the navigable portion of the channel is $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles broad and from 120 to 202 fathoms deep. The reefs on both sides are of irregular formation and seldom break. The west limit of the narrows being formed by sunken banks, upon which there are strong tide rippings, and which are never easy to distinguish; the east or Koro Levu side should be preferred in passing through. At night it is hazardous to pass the narrows unless Koro Levu Islet can be seen distinctly.

In the narrows the flood sets S.S.W., ebb N.N.E., the turn of the stream being two hours late and the speed varying according to the wind and age of the moon at from 1 to 3 knots.

The passage through Somo Somo Strait is usually tedious for sailing vessels, occupying often as much as three days, owing to the calm and baffling winds occasioned by the lofty island of Taviuni obstructing the passage of the trade wind.

There is no passage for ships between Koro Levu and Taviuni.

Anchorage.—Anchorage can be obtained at Vuna Point, Wairiki, Somo Somo, Ngila and Maté on the Taviuni coast.

Lying to mark.—Vessels at either end of the strait waiting for daylight to pass the narrows would find it convenient to keep Koro Levu in line with the extreme of Taviuni. If in the neighbourhood of champion rocks vessels drawing over 12 feet should take care that no part of Koro Levu is open of the extreme.

Koro Levu.—Koro Levu Islet (Corolib) is wooded, 320 yards long, 200 yards broad, and 150 feet high. Situated 7 cables from the eastern limit of the narrows it is a useful landmark to vessels navigating the strait.

Rocks off Taviuni.—Phillips Rock is a coral bank of small extent 9 cables N. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. of Koro Levu Islet and separated from the reef off that islet by a passage 5 cables wide and having from 7 to 9 fathoms in it. The least water over Phillips Rock is 15 feet. It never breaks, and is difficult to see in cloudy weather.

McPherson Rock.—McPherson Rock is a coral head with 18 feet over it, situated $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.E. from Koro Levu and 1 mile N. by W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. from the anchorage at Somo Somo.

Champion Rocks.—Champion Rocks are two coral banks $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.N.E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. from Koro Levu and $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. by E. from the anchorage at Somo Somo. The shallowest and most westerly of the two has 12 feet on it at low-water. The largest and most easterly 15 feet.

Breaknot Rocks.—Breaknot Rocks lie $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles N.W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. from Naisilesele Point (the north point of Taviuni). They have 7 feet on them at low-water.

Maté Rock.—Maté Rock, $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. from Naisilesele Point, has 18 feet on it at low-water.

Gangway Rocks.—Gangway Rocks are a group of shallow spots in mid-channel between Taviuni and the Budd Reef. Two of these shallow spots are awash at low-water. They break occasionally.

Anchoring at Somo Somo.—When the light is not good vessels anchoring at Somo Somo or leaving that anchorage should pass to the north-east of the Phillips Rock. To do this the course from the anchorage is N.W. by W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W.

Kiaw Reefs.— $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles south-east of Kiaw (Kea of chart 269) there is a line of sunken coral dangers called the Kiaw Reefs. A connection can be traced between these reefs and those around the Navukana Promontory, and also with the Florida Reefs to the north-east. All these coral banks form one barrier. The Kiaw Reefs seldom break.

Rambe Channel.—The Rambe Channel is the name given to the thoroughfare between the Budd Reef and reefs off Rambe. It is $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles wide at the narrowest part and (to the southward) joins the Somo Somo Strait. The Budd Reef and Florida Reefs (off Rambe) seldom break.

Texas Reef, Rambe.—The Barrier Reef off the north-east cape of Rambe is called the Texas Reef, and stretches $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles N. by

E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. from the cape. Two cables from the north extreme of the reef a double rock is situated which is 3 feet above high-water.

Bearings given are magnetic.

SOUTH SHORES OF SANDWICH ISLAND OFF NEW IRELAND.

By H.M.S. Beagle.

The south shore of Sandwich Island not appearing to have been laid down, beyond its general trend, I examined it on September 29th and 30th. I take it to be about 12 miles in length, trending about W.S.W. Immediately to the southward of its east point (which I have named George Brown Point, after the missionary of that name at the Duke of York Group), is a small bay with many detached patches in it; on its western side is situated a village. Off George Brown Point is a small barrier reef extending about 100 yards or so, then it trends round to the southward and westward and joins the shore fringe reef some 200 yards S.W. of the point. Patchy Bay, as I called this bay, has a slight fringe reef along its shores; deep water appears to extend close up to the patches, for we got 0'28 fathoms. The bay is about a mile across from point to point, the shore then trends S.W. 2 miles, having a small fringe reef along it, it then curves sharply back to the N.N.E. and sweeps round forming a semicircular bay a mile and a half across; this bay also is full of coral patches, and the fringe reef extends some 200 to 300 yards along its shores; the bay has a white sandy beach with coconuts along it, deep water right up to the patches, and no anchorage in this bay. I called this Deep Bay. From the western extreme of this bay the shore trends W.S.W. some 8 miles; at 1 mile and again at 2 miles west of Deep Bay coral spits run out from the fringe reef for some $\frac{1}{2}$ of a mile; about two miles west of Deep Bay mangroves commence and extend some miles along the shore, and the fringe reef which extends all along the shore widens as it goes west.

The S.W. end of Sandwich I have named Beagle Point. Between 2 to 3 miles E.N.E. of Beagle Point the fringe reef sweeps out for quite 3 miles from the shore, and continuing at that distance till about south of Beagle Point it turns sharply to the northward and joins the land about Beagle Point. I believe this reef is fringe, but I am not sure, I could not see (from the boat) any deep water inside it; where it bends to the northward there are several reef stones above water at high tide, and about these reef stones the sea was breaking when I saw it. The two islands shown in the chart on the S.W. end of Sandwich I have named—the larger one Redlands Island, the smaller one Archway Island. From just off Redlands Island the reef begins anew and taking a barrier formation sweeps out to the southward for quite 3 miles, the reef then sweeps round in a circular shape to N.W., north, and N.E., and keeping about 3 miles distant from the islands, when about N.W. of Archway Island, comes direct in and nearly touches that island, it meets the fringe reef off that island, however, before it touches it, and goes off again to the northward for 2 miles, it then sweeps round and approaching Sandwich Island was lost to sight beyond one of the points of that island. The opening between the reefs south of Redlands is perhaps one mile across, and in it and rather to the westward of the centre is a patch awash, and inside this patch the opening is so full of detached patches that I do not think that anything but a small handy steamer could get in. If there is a clearer passage than another I believe it would be found close to the reef on the starboard side in entering, but as I saw nothing to induce any ship to enter I did not examine that part closely as I wished to reach the ship before dark. The first sounding I obtained in clear water was about 1 cable's length off the S.W. end of Redlands Island, I there got 17 fathoms sand. Anchorage could be got in 7 to 9 fathoms off the west shores of Redlands Island if a ship could get there, which I doubt. The weather for days previous had been very calm, and there was only a N.W. swell; the water broke in patches on the barrier reef, but from the summit of Archway Island (20 feet) the reef was plainly discernible, unbroken in continuity. Archway Island has a natural archway through its N.E. end. A reef extends across from Redlands to Sandwich Island with, I judge, less than a fathom of water on it. The opening in the barrier reef N.W. of Redlands Island seems pretty clear up to where it joined the fringe reef. On the N.E. end of Redlands Island is a patch of coconut and bread-fruit trees, and there has been a village here at some by-gone time. I don't think the south shore of Sandwich Island is inhabited, though at the S.W. end I think there is a village as we saw a snake, and on leaving the coconuts natives showed themselves on the opposite shores of Sandwich Island.

No decided set was noticed amongst the reef, but off the south shores of Sandwich Island a set to the W.S.W. of about $\frac{1}{2}$ of a mile per hour was experienced. The natives here as well as along the New Ireland coast use catamarans as well as canoes. A universal sign of friendship along the coasts of New Ireland, New Hanover, the Sandwich, and Portland Islands was found to be patting the top of one's head with one's hand. All along the shores the natives came off in numbers, trading masks, taro, coconuts, &c., for hoop-iron and beads; tobacco seems unknown as yet.

PORTLAND ISLANDS.

The Portland Islands are situated on a reef which on their eastern and N.W. side is but a fringe reef stretching some 100 yards from the shore. These islands lie N.E. and S.W. and S.W. of the S.W. island; the reef runs out quite two miles, and is, I think, barrier, but I am not sure of this. The sea was breaking heavily on this reef when I saw it on October 1st. Coming from the eastward three low woody islands are seen all on and consequently connected by this reef, which does not extend more than 100 yards off the N.E. end of the islands. I landed on the northern island, which is inhabited by apparently a very quiet lot of natives, for neither in their canoes nor on shore did I see a weapon of any description. Landing for boats is to be found close up to the N.E. end of the N.E. islands in a break of the fringe reef. No perceptibly strong current was experienced off these islands. I don't think there are more than 100 inhabitants on this island. In crossing over to New Hanover a fourth island was seen to the westward of the N.E. island; it was much smaller than the others, and there may be more not seen by us, but I don't think so. The fringe reef round these islands seems steep to on the eastern side.

REEF OFF NORTH SHORE OF NEW HANOVER.

The chart in making the reef on the north shores of New Hanover a fringe reef to the eastward of 150° east longitude is decidedly wrong. Beating to the westward on the 6th of October and being close off the reef, from the mast-head the reef was plainly seen to be barrier for some distance.

To the westward of the third island from the easternmost one of the "north islands," a large clear break takes place in the barrier reef—I suppose $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ of a mile wide. Inside it was quite deep blue water, apparently stretching to the shore, some 2 or 3 miles inside. The shore was fairly high land, and I should think excellent well-sheltered anchorage is to be found here. The four eastern north islands are on the barrier reef. The third from the east is a fair-sized islet with many apparently dead trees on it. The fourth (which would be left on the starboard side entering) is very small and has a clump of very tall trees on it. I think this part would repay a close examination.

SANDBANK OFF BOUGANVILLE ISLAND, SOLOMON GROUP.

A small sandbank lies in latitude 60° 10' longitude 154° 32' 30", extent about $\frac{1}{2}$ of a mile; above high-water has a tree on its S.E. end, and a reef off that end also.

MONTAGUE ISLAND, N. S. WALES.

By Marine Board, Sydney.

It is hereby notified that a temporary light will be shown from the flagstaff on Montague Island, from sunset to sunrise, which will be visible all round the horizon at a distance of from 6 to 8 miles, on and after the night of Monday the 1st November, until the permanent light is exhibited.

SOLOMON ISLANDS.

By H.M.S. Renard.

Renard Island.—This island has an average length of 18 miles and breadth of 8 miles. The east side of the island is steep to, there being in most cases no bottom with 20 fathoms of line close to the shore. It is of coral formation, and densely wooded to the water's edge. At the north-east end of it are three small islands—Blanche, Renard, and Observatory Islands. The two former are one mile and a half long and 280 and 220 feet high respectively. Observatory Island is about 100 yards in diameter and 180 feet in height. They are all densely wooded and steep to all round.

Renard Cove.—Round a point immediately to the westward of Observatory Island is Renard Cove, a small but apparently secure anchorage, three-quarters of a mile in depth, with 15 fathoms 90 yards from the beach, the only danger being a small reef running parallel with the shore for a distance of nearly a quarter of a mile towards the head of the cove, and extending about 300 yards from the shore. This reef partly dries at S.W., and there are two or three large stones on it which are always uncovered. At the head of the cove are several lagoons leading into one another, making good boat harbors. In the centre of the cove the water is deep (42 fathoms black mud). The Renard anchored here, being unable to reach the head of the cove, the wind having fallen, and there being a strong outset from the lagoons before mentioned.

The Coast.—From the point inside Observatory Island the coast runs about N.E. for one mile, and then trends away to N.N.E. $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles to Cape Richards, the N.E. point of the island. Up to this cape the coast is pretty regular and densely wooded. From Cape Richards it trends to the N.N.W., and becomes broken up into several small creeks, in one or two of which small craft can obtain anchorage.

Tippinge Creek.—Two and three-quarter miles past Cape Richards is a creek (Tippinge Creek), formed by a small coral islet and the main island. The Renard anchored in 15 fathoms black sand, and remained there two days. The creek is small, but secure from all winds except from the north. It may be recognized coming from the northward by the cocoanut trees on the right-hand side, and some conspicuous large dead trees beyond them. There is a small reef awash on the left-hand side entering, extending about 30 yards from the shore. Water could be obtained from a good running stream close to the before-mentioned cocoanuts. A few natives were seen, but they probably only make it a calling-place during the yam season. Fish were plentiful in the creek.

The Coast.—From Tippinge Creek the coast trends away to the northward and westward for four miles to Renard Entrance to Rendova Harbor; and there are several bays and inlets where, no doubt, small craft could obtain anchorage if necessary; but a complete examination of them was not made.

Rendova Harbor.—This harbor seems to be the only one about here adapted for vessels of any size, and must be used with caution, in consequence of the numerous shoals and reefs which exist in it.

Renard Entrance.—This passage is about one-eighth of a mile broad, and carries an average depth of eight fathoms sand and coral. A slight reef fringes each side of it. After passing through the Renard anchored just to the northward of the Observatory Island of the published plan, in 14 fathoms sand and broken coral. On the occasion of visiting the harbor she anchored in the middle of the passage. This place cannot be recommended on account of the strength and uncertainty of the tides, and the liability of a foul anchor.

Observation Spot.—The Renard's observation spot was on the white coral beach on the left side of Renard Entrance, and is in latitude 8° 23' 23" S., longitude 157° 15' 25" E., depending on Makua Harbor, San Christoval being 161° 26' 39" E. (Denham.)

Harbor.—About half a mile to the eastward of Renard Entrance is the entrance to a good-sized harbor, with many islets in it, which probably affords good anchorage. It was not, however, closely examined. It is connected with Rendova Harbor by a shallow passage, passable by boats at high-water.

The Coast.—From Rendova Harbor runs S.W. by S. for about 13 miles to Banyetta Point. This coast, for a distance of five miles south, has many reefs and outlying dangers off it, and vessels would do well to pass outside them and use Renard Entrance in preference to the western entrance to Rendova Harbor, thereby also avoiding the numerous reefs and shoals in the harbor itself, as the best anchorage is decidedly in the north part of the harbor.

From Banyetta Point the coast runs S.E. $\frac{1}{2}$ E. towards Bluff Point for eight miles.

There appears to be no anchorage of any sort to the southward of Rendova Harbor.

From the westernmost islets in the harbor of Rendova a barrier reef extends to the westward, and curves away to the southward for a considerable distance; but it was not closely traced.

From Cape Pleasant, the south-east end of the island, the coast trends to north-westward and northward to Renard Cove.

Deep water exists in nearly every case close to the shore. In one small cove (probably the Blanche Cove of the published chart) 21 fathoms was found; but there would be room for a small craft only, and it is open to the north-eastward and east.

NEW GEORGIA.

New Georgia is separated from Rendova Island by Blanche Channel, which is two miles across in the narrowest part. The water is deep, no bottom being obtained with 25 fathoms line, and it is clear of dangers, with the exceptions of the reefs skirting Rendova Harbor and the Barrier Reef off Moonda.

Moonda Harbor, W. by N., about five miles from Renard Entrance to Rendova Harbor, is the entrance to Moonda. There is a bar, or rather a break in the reef, with 12 feet on it at high-water, which must be crossed before the harbor can be reached. On this, with southerly winds, the sea breaks very heavily. The passage to the eastward into the harbor, after the bar is crossed, is intricate and full of coral patches, and should not be attempted by a stranger, unless in a steam vessel.

The Coast.—The coast of New Georgia, for a distance of 18 miles to the eastward, is broken up into innumerable islands enclosing shallow lagoons, inside which vessels having local knowledge sometimes pass. Immediately after passing through these passages between the islands shallow water is found. As the tide runs with great velocity in them they should only be attempted at slack water.

Natives.—The natives hereabouts seem friendly, but, of course, should not be trusted too far.

Montgomery Island.—About 15 miles long in an E. by S. and W. by N. direction. The coasts seem broken and rocky; they were not closely examined. It is uninhabited. There are some fringe reefs off the western extremity, but the eastern end is steep to. The Renard passed within half a mile of it. There is a cluster of about nine small islands, situated about midway between the east end of Montgomery Island and the land of New Georgia.

RUSSELL ISLAND.

The Group consists of two principal islands and a great number of small islets scattered round them, the water between them being deep. As a rule there is deep water close to, but in many cases there is a slight fringe reef, off which there is generally anchorage for a small craft in about 15 fathoms, with room to swing clear. The group extends 20 miles in an east and west direction, and 12 miles north and south. The general appearance of the coast is low and thickly wooded, in some cases fringed with mangroves, and in no cases exceeds 100 feet in height. The west coast is highest, and there is no bottom with 25 fathoms line close alongside it, or the coral reefs which border the cliffs. The highest ridge of the largest island is divided into four summits, the highest being 1600 and the other 1500 feet. The summit of the next largest island is in the form of a saddle, and attains a height of about 400 feet. The north side of the Group is partly bounded by a fringe reef, having numerous small islets on it varying in height from 10 to 50 feet. They have nearly all vegetation of some sort on them. In the centre of this reef there is a passage between two of the islets, It-a-matie and Ellavaline, the latter of which may easily be recognized when near enough by a tufted bush in its centre. This passage is deep (no bottom at 25 fathoms), and there is plenty of room for a vessel to work in or out. Inside the Barrier Reef there are several coral patches, some of very considerable extent, but all can be seen from the masthead. There are several places on the northern side where vessels may anchor, but in every case the water is deep. They are, however, so well protected from both wind and sea that there seems but little probability of danger. The Renard anchored in 15 fathoms sand and coral bottom, about 60 yards off the observation spot (a hut) in Renard Sound, which left her room to swing about 30 yards clear off the fringe reef. The other anchorages to the westward are, however, probably preferable, the only advantage of this one being that there is good water obtainable about $\frac{1}{4}$ miles up the creek on the left-hand side entering. The traders who visit the Group, it appears, generally anchor either off the hut opposite the island of Moco in Long Inlet, or else in the bight opposite the Island of No-no. This latter one certainly appears the most secure. In the inlet running to the south-eastward at the head of West Bay there is room for a large ship to swing easily.

Natives.—The group appears to be but thinly inhabited, the principal villages being in Paddy's Bay, and Long Inlet; the natives shifting from place to place according to the yam seasons. They nearly all speak some English, and seem a harmless and good-tempered people, and are certainly more civilized than any we have hitherto come across in the Solomon Group. They seem well provided with the European necessaries of life, being great traders.

Products.—The principal products seem to be copra and ivory nuts; also a little turtle shell.

Provisions.—In the way of provisions, very good yams, pigs, cocoa-nuts, pine apples, limes, mangoes, bananas, and spinach. A few of the eggs of the myapode (malau) were also brought off.

Observation Spot.—The hut off which the Renard anchored is in latitude 9° 03' 51" S., longitude 159° 09' 19" E., depending on Rendova Harbor being in longitude 157° 15' 25" E. (Richards).

PRINCESS ISLAND.

The Renard passed close to the chart position of this island, but saw nothing of it.

Bridge-water Reef.—Nothing seen of this supposed danger; no indications of shoal water in the neighbourhood.

The traders fallen in with are of opinion that neither the island nor the reef have any existence.

Brougham Shoal.—The chart position was passed over by the Renard, but no indications of shallow water were observed. It is, however, believed to exist.

Buraquai or Murray Island.—By bearings from the Russell Island Group the centre of this island is in latitude 9° 00' 10" S., longitude 158° 40' 00" E. It is sometimes visited by the Russell Island natives on their way to Maroro, New Georgia, where they go to trade. The island is said to abound in wild pigs. The only landing-place is, on a small beach on the north-west side, where the natives haul up their canoes.

Lavinier Shoal.—This danger was not searched for by the Renard. The natives of Russell Island, however, state that it does exist, and is probably in the chart position. They say it is the only one, so that the reputed shoal of the charts and the Lavinier Shoal are probably identical.

SAN CHRISTOVAL ISLAND.

Makira Harbor.—This harbor, which is probably one of the best and safest in every way in the Solomon Group, is somewhat difficult for a stranger to make out, especially if coming from the westward.

After passing Point Achard, which can easily be distinguished by the white sand beach to the eastward of it, a high double peak will be seen. Steer for this in a S.E. by E. bearing, and soon the entrance to the harbor will be seen with the two small islets off the left-hand side, to the left of the double peak.

The best anchorage is between the observatory rock and the village, in 7 fathoms, sand and coral, about 120 yards from the shore; this position closes in the two entrance points, and is consequently perfectly land-locked.

There is a good spot for beaching a vessel, if necessary, just to the left of a very large tree to the left of the village.

Water.—The best watering-place is immediately opposite the entrance and to the right of some huts. The water is very good, and the stream is, probably, never quite dry.

Provisions.—The usual native provisions can be had, but in no great quantity. There is generally some difficulty in getting in and out of the harbor under sail, the wind being light and baffling under the land. There is usually, however, a slight land-breeze in the early morning which enables a vessel to get out clear of the land before the sea-breeze comes up.

Natives.—The natives of the whole of San Christoval are generally believed to be quite peaceable and friendly.

UGI ISLAND.

Anchorage.—The best anchorage is off the trader's house, which is situated on the west side of the island, between the Village of Ete-ite and the Bluff. Anchor in 15 fathoms, sandy bottom, about 1/4 mile from the shore.

Water.—Good water can be procured here from a stream to the right of the trader's house.

Provisions.—Yams, pigs, and fowls, &c., can be procured from the natives, who are quite friendly.

WINDS AND WEATHER, ETC.

S.E. Trade prevails from April to December or latter end of November, and seems to blow oftenest from E.S.E.; but from local information this wind has latterly not been so steady either in direction or force as in former years.

To the southward of San Christoval Island especially, in the early part of the season, light airs and calms sometimes prevail for many days.

Towards the latter end of the season there is occasionally much rain and squally weather, the barometer, however, seems to be but little affected by it.

Westerly Winds commence in December and continue until March, strongest in January and February. During this season violent squalls from W.S.W. are frequent, and likely to cause damage should a vessel be caught unprepared in them. During the westerly season a great quantity of rain falls, and the gales from the westward are very violent, and the more to be dreaded on account of the scarcity of harbors in the group which can be considered to be properly sheltered from them.

Barometer.—From July to December the average height of barometer was 29.74. It gives no indications of the weather that may be expected.

Currents during the S.E. season seemed to be very irregular, but generally set to the south-westward.

To the southward of San Christoval Island, where the Renard was at one time becalmed for nine days, the current about ten miles from the land set invariably to the eastward. Inside this limit she was alternately set east and west, apparently according to the tide. This was in the month of May. During the month of August also an easterly set was experienced.

Variation.—The variation of the compass in the neighbourhood of Russell Group and Rendova Harbor was found to be 7° 30' east in 1880.

AUSTRALIA, EAST COAST.

Shoal water.—The pilot at Cooktown, Queensland, reports a shoal with from 5 to 10 fathoms on it in latitude 14° 08' S., longitude 146° 54' E. or S.E. by E. 24 miles from the Osprey Reef. The Renard passed over this position on a bright moonlight night, but no indications of any shoal were observed.

Passages in Barrier Reef.—The Renard entered the inner route by the second opening in the barrier to the southward of Cook's Passage. Immediately after passing through, a shoal patch with probably about 5 fathoms on it was observed. But the ship passed too quickly to sound; the bottom was distinctly seen—coral rocks. Cook's Passage, by which the Renard passed out to sea, appears to be decidedly the best, as it is short and broad. With a south-easterly wind there is a heavy swell in it.

Two Islands.—The sand and coral spit extends further to the westward from the westernmost island than is shown on the chart. Six fathoms was obtained twice outside the 10 fathoms on the chart.

N.B.—In the foregoing directions all bearings given are magnetic.

PROCLAMATION

By His Excellency The Most Honorable George Augustus Constantine, Marquis of Normanby, Earl of Mulgrave, Viscount Normanby, and Baron Mulgrave of Mulgrave, all in the County of York, in the Peerage of the United Kingdom; and Baron Mulgrave of New Ross, in the County of Wexford, in the Peerage of Ireland; a Member of Her Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council; Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George; Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Colony of Victoria and its Dependencies, &c., &c., &c.

WHEREAS by The Land Act 1869 it was amongst other things enacted, that the Governor might divide into counties the territory not already included in any county, and might also subdivide any county into parishes and towns, and might divide into parishes and towns any territory not included in any county, and by proclamation to be published in the Government Gazette might define the boundaries of such counties, parishes, or towns, and might distinguish each by a name; and after such proclamation the territory comprised within the boundaries of any of the said divisions should thenceforward be recognized as a county, parish, or town by the name so given as aforesaid; the Governor might from time to time at the request of the council of any shire or borough alter by proclamation to be published in the Government Gazette the name of any such shire or borough, and might also from time to time by proclamation as aforesaid alter the name of any county, parish, town, township, land, area, goldfield, river, harbor, lake, bay, lagoon, swamp, mountain, glen, or other place or locality whatsoever within Victoria: Provided that it should be lawful for the Governor by proclamation in the Government Gazette to diminish or extend the area of any county or to alter the boundaries or name of any county, and to add the territory taken away from one county to any other adjacent county, and to divide any county into two or more counties and to give to each a distinguishing name: And whereas by a proclamation under the hand and seal of the Governor of New South Wales and its Dependencies, bearing date the twenty-ninth day of December, One thousand eight hundred and forty-eight, certain parts or portions of land in the said territory of New South Wales (including the Port Phillip or Southern District) were declared to have been admeasured and laid out as separate and distinct counties to be known or called by the names therein mentioned, with the boundaries and limits therein described; subject, nevertheless, to such more exact determination thereof, with reference to the natural features of the county, as might thereafter be deemed expedient: And whereas the counties of Grenville, Heytesbury, Mornington, and Polwarth, in the colony of Victoria (formerly called the Port Phillip or Southern District of New South Wales), were four of the counties named and described in such proclamation: And whereas by a proclamation under the hand of the Governor and seal of the Colony of Victoria, bearing date the twentieth day of February, One thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, the boundaries of the county of Buln Buln (amongst others) were defined: And whereas by another proclamation under the hand of the Governor and seal of the said Colony of Victoria, bearing date the twenty-fifth day of August, One thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, the boundaries of the said counties of Heytesbury and Polwarth were altered: And whereas it is expedient to alter the boundaries of the said counties of Buln Buln, Grenville, and Mornington, and to further alter those of Heytesbury and Polwarth: Now therefore I, the Governor of Victoria, with the advice of the Executive Council, in exercise of the power conferred by the Act hereinbefore recited, do, by this my Proclamation, alter the boundaries of the said counties of Buln Buln, Grenville, and Mornington, and further alter those of Heytesbury and Polwarth, and do hereby define and proclaim the boundaries of the said counties so altered as aforesaid in manner following, that is to say:—

The births of 716 children, viz., 373 boys and 343 girls, were registered in Melbourne and suburbs during the month of January. In the month of December 629 births were registered, or 87 less than in the month under review. The births were above the average of January during the previous six years by 28. If, however, allowance be made for the increase of population, they will be found to have been below that average by 14.

The deaths registered in January numbered 444, viz., 234 of males and 210 of females; the births thus exceed the deaths by 272. The deaths were less than those in December by 21, and below the average of January, during the previous ten years, by 89. If, however, allowance be made for the increase of population, they will be found to have been 146 below the average of those ten years.

The highest temperature in the shade recorded at Melbourne Observatory during the month was 99.9° on the 26th, and the lowest was 48.1° on the 31st. The mean temperature of the month (66.3°) was a fifth of a degree above the average. The greatest range of the thermometer in any one day (41.0°) took place on the 7th, viz., from a maximum of 97.2° to a minimum of 56.2°. The least range (9.4°) was on the 20th, viz., from a maximum of 66.4° to a minimum of 57.0°. The mean daily range was 22.4°. The mean atmospheric pressure (29.833 inches) was a fraction below the average.

Males contributed 53 per cent. and females 47 per cent. respectively to the total mortality of the month. Children under 5 years of age contributed 45 per cent., as against 43 per cent. in January 1880; 44 per cent. in January 1879; 47 per cent. in January 1878; 49 per cent. in January 1877; 52 per cent. in January 1876; 66 per cent. in January 1875; 57.5 per cent. in January 1874; 49 per cent. in January 1873; 56 per cent. in January 1872; and 57 per cent. in January 1871.

Fifteen of the persons who died during the month were stated to have been of the age of 75 years or upwards at the time of their decease, viz. —A seaman, aged 75, who died of brain disease; a female, aged 75, of heart disease; a gentleman, aged 76, of uræmia; a female, aged 77, of anasarca; a laborer, aged 78, of cancer; a male patient in the Lunatic Asylum, Kew, aged 79, of brain disease; a gentleman, aged 82, of diarrhoea; a female, aged 82, of pneumonia; a widow, aged 83, of dropsy; a grocer, aged 84, of heart disease; a gentleman, aged 85, of urinary calculus; a widow, aged 86, of cancer; a plumber, aged 81; a female, aged 83, and a gentleman, aged 94, of old age.

Of those who died, 154 were under one year of age, 23 were between one and two, 10 were between two and three, 8 were between three and four, and 6 were between four and five.

The persons who died at a more advanced age than five years numbered 243. Of these, 129 or 53 per cent., were males, and 114, or 47 per cent., were females; 8 were between five and ten, 4 were between ten and fifteen, 11 were between fifteen and twenty, 15 were between twenty and twenty-five, 14 were between twenty-five and thirty, 10 were between thirty and thirty-five, 18 were between thirty-five and forty, 29 were between forty and forty-five, 21 were between forty-five and fifty, 26 were between fifty and fifty-five, 23 were between fifty-five and sixty, 17 were between sixty and sixty-five, 20 were between sixty-five and seventy, 12 were between seventy and seventy-five, 6 were between seventy-five and eighty, and 9 were upwards of eighty.

CONVEYANCE OF MAILS.—1881-82-83-84.

FIRST DIVISION.

TENDERS are hereby invited, and will be received until Noon of Tuesday the 8th March 1881, for the Conveyance of Post Office Mails as undermentioned, for THREE YEARS from the 1st July 1881 to 30th June 1884.

1. Tenders are required to be written on a form, printed copies of which may be had gratuitously on application at any post office in the colony, and are to be forwarded (if by post, prepaid) for receipt at the General Post Office by the hour and date first above-mentioned, addressed to the Honorable the Postmaster-General, with the words "Tender for Mail Service, No. " endorsed on the cover, or placed in the tender-box at the General Post Office.

2. Tenders are requested to describe by their numbers, as below, the mail service for which they tender.

3. Every tender will be taken to include the entire service as called for. The amount of the tender must be stated AT RATE PER ANNUM in words as well as figures.

4. Every tender must bear the bona fide signatures and addresses of the tenderer, and of two responsible persons willing to become bound for the fulfilment of the same in such sum as the Government may direct, not exceeding the gross amount of the contract.

5. Every tender must be accompanied by cash, bank draft, or a bank deposit-receipt to the credit of the Deputy Postmaster-General, for a sum equal to TEN PER CENT. of the annual amount for which the tenderer is willing to undertake the service, and to be absolutely forfeited to the Government in case the person whose tender may be accepted shall fail to complete the usual bond and contract to the satisfaction of the Government within ten days of being notified that the documents are ready for execution. The notice of acceptance, if delivered at the address named in the tender, shall be deemed sufficient. CHEQUES ON ACCOUNT OF DEPOSITS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED.

6. The money or other security deposited by successful tenderers will be returned to them upon application, on the bond and contract being completed.

7. The money or other security deposited by unsuccessful tenderers will be returned to them upon application, and on their signing receipts for the respective amounts, but not otherwise.

8. In the event of a portion of railway affecting any particular service being opened for traffic during period of contract, and it being decided that the mails shall be conveyed by rail, the place of departure for the mail coaches may be altered in such manner as the Postmaster-General may from time to time direct; a rateable reduction shall be made in the amount paid for the service as then rendered by the contractor, such reduction to be computed on the basis of the average mileage rate of the accepted tender.

9. Persons tendering are requested to state the description of the vehicle they intend to use, and the number of horses by which it is to be drawn, or if by saddle and pack horse.

10. A separate bona fide tender must be sent in for each service. No. 14 of the "general conditions" of contract relating to assigning or sub-letting will be strictly enforced.

11. The tender of any person failing to comply with the foregoing conditions will not be entertained.

13. The attention of tenderers is drawn to the condition which requires that in cases where vehicles are used, Members of Parliament shall be conveyed free of charge between the districts they represent and the districts in which they reside and Melbourne.

14. The contractor shall not be entitled to claim any extra payment on account of the removal of any post office during the term of his contract, unless such removal shall increase the distance to be travelled by such contractor on any one day to the extent of one mile.

1. Tenders are required to be written on a form, printed copies of which may be had gratuitously on application at any post office in the colony, and are to be forwarded (if by post, prepaid) for receipt at the General Post Office by the hour and date first above mentioned, addressed to the Honorable the Postmaster-General, with the words "Tender for Mail Service No. " endorsed on the cover, or placed in the tender-box at the General Post Office.

2. Tenderers are requested to describe by their numbers, as below, the mail services for which they tender.

3. Every tender will be taken to include the entire service as called for. The amount of the tender must be stated AT RATE PER ANNUM in words as well as figures.

4. Every tender must bear the bona fide signatures and addresses of the tenderer, and of two responsible persons willing to become bound for the fulfilment of the same in such sum as the Government may direct, not exceeding the gross amount of the contract.

5. Every tender must be accompanied by cash, bank draft, or a bank deposit-receipt to the credit of the Deputy Postmaster-General for a sum equal to TEX PER CENST. of the annual amount for which the tenderer is willing to undertake the service; and to be absolutely forfeited to the Government, in case the person whose tender may be accepted shall fail to complete the usual bond and contract to the satisfaction of the Government within ten days of being notified that the documents are ready for execution. The notice of acceptance, if delivered at the address named in the tender, shall be deemed sufficient. CHEQUES OR ACCOUNT OR DEPOSITS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED.

6. The money or other security deposited by successful tenderers will be returned to them upon application, on the bond and contract being completed.

In the event of a portion of railway affecting any particular service being opened for traffic during period of contract, and if being decided that the mails shall be conveyed by rail, the place of departure for the mail coaches may be altered in such manner as the Postmaster-General may from time to time direct; a rateable reduction shall be made in the amount paid for the service as then rendered by the contractors, such reduction to be computed on the basis of the average mileage rate of the accepted tender.

9. Persons tendering are requested to state the description of the vehicle they intend to use, and the number of horses by which it is to be drawn, or if by saddle or pack horse.

10. A separate bona fide tender must be sent in for each service. No. 14 of general conditions of contract, relating to assigning or sub-letting, will be strictly enforced.

11. The tender of any person failing to comply with the foregoing conditions will not be entertained.

12. The general conditions referred to in the printed form of tender, and upon which the tender is to be made, can be inspected by persons proposing to tender, either at the General Post Office or at any post office in the colony.

13. The attention of tenderers is drawn to the condition which requires that in cases where vehicles are used, Members of Parliament shall be conveyed free of charge between the districts they represent and the districts in which they reside and Melbourne.

14. The contractor shall not be entitled to claim any extra payment on account of the removal of any post office during the term of his contract, unless such removal shall increase the distance to be travelled by such contractor on any one day to the extent of one mile.

CONVEYANCE OF MAILS.—1881-82-83-84.

FIFTH DIVISION.

TENDERS are hereby invited, and will be received until Noon of Wednesday, 20th April 1881, for the Conveyance of Post Office Mails, as undermentioned, for THREE YEARS from the 1st July 1881 to 30th June 1884.

The attention of tenderers for these services is specially directed to clause No. 15 of conditions.

1. Tenderers are required to be written on a form, printed copies of which may be had gratuitously on application at any post office in the colony, and are to be forwarded (if by post, prepaid) for receipt at the General Post Office by the hour and date first above mentioned, addressed to the Honorable the Postmaster-General, with the words "Tender for Mail Service No. " endorsed on the cover, or placed in the tender-box at the General Post Office.

2. Tenderers are requested to describe by their numbers, as below, the mail services for which they tender.

3. Every tender will be taken to include the entire service as called for. The amount of the tender must be stated AT RATE PER ANNUM in words as well as figures.

4. Every tender must bear the bona fide signatures and addresses of the tenderer, and of two responsible persons willing to become bound for the fulfilment of the same in such sum as the Government may direct, not exceeding the gross amount of the contract.

5. Every tender must be accompanied by cash, bank draft, or a bank deposit-receipt to the credit of the Deputy Postmaster-General for a sum equal to TEN PER CENT. of the annual amount for which the tenderer is willing to undertake the service; and to be absolutely forfeited to the Government in case the person whose tender may be accepted shall fail to complete the usual bond and contract to the satisfaction of the Government within ten days of being notified that the documents are ready for execution. The notice of acceptance, if delivered at the address named in the tender, shall be deemed sufficient. CHEQUES ON ACCOUNT OF DEPOSITS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED.

6. The money or other security deposited by successful tenderers will be returned to them upon application, on the bond and contract being completed.

7. The money or other security deposited by unsuccessful tenderers will be returned to them upon application, and on their signing receipts for the respective amounts, but not otherwise.

8. In the event of a portion of railway affecting any particular service being opened for traffic during period of contract, and it being decided that the mails shall be conveyed by rail, the place of departure for the mail coaches may be altered in such manner as the Postmaster-General may from time to time direct; a rateable reduction shall be made in the amount paid for the service as then rendered by the contractors, such reduction to be computed on the basis of the average mileage rate of the accepted tender.

9. Persons tendering are requested to state the description of the vehicle they intend to use, and the number of horses by which it is to be drawn, or if by saddle or pack horse.

10. A separate bona fide tender must be sent in for each service. No. 14 of general conditions of contract, relating to assigning or sub-letting, will be strictly enforced.

11. The tender of any person failing to comply with the foregoing conditions will not be entertained.

12. The general conditions referred to in the printed form of tender, and upon which the tender is to be made, can be inspected by persons proposing to tender, either at the General Post Office or at any post office in the colony.

13. The attention of tenderers is drawn to the condition which requires that in cases where vehicles are used, Members of Parliament shall be conveyed free of charge between the districts they represent and the districts in which they reside and Melbourne.

14. The contractor shall not be entitled to claim any extra payment on account of the removal of any post office during the term of his contract, unless such removal shall increase the distance to be travelled by such contractor on any one day to the extent of one mile.

15. Tenderers for services in connection with any Railway Stations are to state a sum for the number of trips specified in the call and a rate per trip for additional trips, or as a basis for reduction in the number of trips as above.

A "trip" must be understood to mean a journey from the Post Office to the Railway Station, and from the Railway Station to the Post Office, carrying Mails each way.

All contracts for such services are liable to be discontinued at one month's notice.

TENDERS will be received by the Board of Land and Works up to Noon of Monday, 28th February 1881, for the occupation for Grazing purposes only of the following unappropriated portions of land, subject to the Regulations approved by the Governor in Council, and published in the Government Gazette of 11th February 1876, as under, and also the subjoined special conditions.

Every license granted under subdivision VII. of section 47 of The Land Act 1869 shall be subject to the conditions set forth in the schedule hereto, and to such special conditions and payment in advance of such fee as the Minister may determine, and shall be issued by an officer of the Department of Lands and Survey duly authorized on that behalf.

Schedule.

1. This license shall not be deemed to prevent the land comprised therein or any part or parts thereof from being sold, leased, or licensed under any of the provisions of parts I., II., or III. of The Land Act 1869, except subdivision VII. of the 47th section thereof, or proclaimed a common, or occupied by virtue of any miner's right or business license, or alienated or dealt with under the authority of The Land Act 1869, or any other Act now or hereafter to be in force, otherwise than for pastoral or depasturing purposes, or resumed by order of the Governor, acting by and with the advice of the Executive Council, for railways, roads, telegraph lines, dams, reservoirs, races, catchwater drains, pipe-tracks, quarries, or other public purposes; and no licensee shall in any such case be entitled to compensation other than the return of such portion of the fee paid by him as the Minister may think fit.

2. If the licensee, or any person claiming an interest through or under the licensee in the land comprised in this license, shall, at any time during the period for which the license has been issued, employ any person to apply for a license of an allotment under The Land Act 1869, contrary to the true intent of the provisions thereof, or shall make or cause to be made any agreement or contract, or shall give or take, or cause to be given or taken, any negotiable security for the purpose of defeating or evading the provisions of, or shall in any way whatsoever, directly or indirectly, commit or be privy to a fraud upon the said Act, this license shall be void.

3. No land comprised in roads from time to time surveyed and marked out within the boundaries of the land comprised in this license shall be deemed within the operations of this license.

4. This license entitles the holder thereof during the period therein specified to use the land in respect of which the same is granted for depasturing purposes only, and does not confer any right to build thereon, or to cultivate, or fence any portion thereof; but if the holder thereof desire such use of the land beyond such period, notice to that effect must be given by him to the Minister one month prior to expiry thereof.

5. The interest in this license may not be transferred without the consent of the Minister and payment of a fee of One pound (£1), and upon sanction of transfer thereof a new license will issue to the transferee.

6. No claim whatsoever shall be made or entertained by reason of this license not being renewed or transferred.

Special Conditions.

The fee for ten months—for which the license will be issued—must accompany the tender or be paid by the successful tenderer or his agent immediately on the declaration of the acceptance of the tender, otherwise the offer of the next highest tenderer who may be prepared to comply with this condition may be accepted.

3. Tenders to be for so much per block per annum separately.

4. Tenders to be endorsed "Tender for Block 2," or "4," or "70," &c., as the case may be.
