[No. 11 of 1888.]

GULF OF ST. VINCENT.—PORT ADELAIDE RIVER.

NOTICE is hereby given that the deepening operations have been so far completed that a depth of not less than 20 feet, at ordinary low water, or 28 feet at ordinary high water, spring tides, will now be found in the channel of the Port Adelaide River, from the anchorage to the wharves.

The first cutting, through what is known as the Outer Bar, is 250 feet wide, and 22 feet deep at low water. To keep in the centre of this cutting, No. 12 beacon and the leading light beacon should be kept in line, until about one and a half cables past the reflecting beacon.

The next cutting commences about mid-way between Nos. 11 and 10 light beacons, and continues 250 feet wide and 20 feet deep, at low water, until abreast of No. 8 light beacon (Schnapper Point). It then gradually widens to 450 feet abreast of the No. 7 light beacon, decreases to 250 feet abreast of No. 6 light beacon, and continues the same width and depth to the north end of the Coalshed Creek Wharf, with the exception of immediately opposite Nos. 3 and 2 light beacons, where the channel is 300 feet wide.

Opposite the Government Coalshed Creek Wharf the channel has been widened to 550 feet, with not less than 21 feet at low water. Alongside this wharf, for a distance of 1,650 feet by 100 feet wide, a depth of 24 feet at low water has been provided.

From the Coalshed Wharf to the Jervois Bridge the channel varies in width from 300 feet to 450 feet, with a depth of 20 and 21 feet at low water.

The widths mentioned refer to the deep water channel, the river itself being, of course, much wider.

The mid-channel course, between Nos. 2 and 3 light beacons, may be obtained by keeping in line two black leading beacons, with V-shaped heads, on Torrens Island.

The channel throughout is marked by red buoys and light beacons on the starboard hand, and black buoys on the port hand coming in, except where leading beacons are provided.

Secretary Marine Board.

Ceremonies.

24. All salutes and ceremonies shall be carried out in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Imperial Navy, as laid down in the Queen's Regulations and Admiralty Instructions.

SECTION III.—DISCIPLINE.

1. Officers are to discountenance and suppress all cursing, swearing, drunkenness, gaming, rioting, and quarrelling; all abusive and irritating language to inferiors; all dissolute or disorderly conduct; and in general everything tending to the disparagement of religion or to the promotion of vice and immorality.

2. Officers will at all times, and under all circumstances, show an example of respect and obedience to their superiors, of unremitting attention to their duties, and of cheerful alacrity in performing it.

3. Commanding officers will see that all the persons under their command obey the several instructions which are addressed to them, or which, when of a general purport, concern them. They will correct or report to their superiors any reprehensible conduct on the part of those under their command. They will notice their conduct and abilities, in order that they may be enabled to give them the recommendations they deserve, or, if called on, make correct reports of their merits. They will, whilst upholding the legitimate authority of all the officers under their command, check by timely rebukes any tendency they may notice to abuse of power, recommending by their example that firm but conciliatory manner of conducting duty which is the more sure way to gain the respect and confidence of the men.

4. Should the Naval Commandant find it necessary to reprimand an officer or petty officer for any grave offence, he is to cause an entry of the particulars to be made in the log at the time, and the said entry is to be read to the officer concerned, and a note made in the log that such has been done.

Respect to Superiors.

5. Every person in the Naval Forces is to conduct himself in the discharge of his duty with the utmost respect to his superior officers, whether attached to the same ship or not, and is on all occasions of meeting, passing, or addressing his superior officers, knowing them to be such, whether afloat or on shore, to pay them the accustomed marks of respect.

6. Officers and men of the Victorian Navy are to pay the customary mark of respect to the officers of the Military Forces when in uniform, and also to foreign officers.

Salutes.

7. Salutes are to be made in a smart and decided manner. A slovenly mode of saluting is disrespectful, and brings discredit upon the person saluting and also on the service to which he belongs.

8. Officers of the Victorian Naval Brigade, though for the most part performing their duties on shore, are to be considered in all respects as officers of the Naval Forces, and are entitled to the same marks of respect as those serving in the Permanent Forces.

Arrest.

9. Any person who shall disobey orders, or otherwise misbehave, may be placed under arrest by the Naval Commandant, or, in his absence, the commanding officer.

10. Arrest shall signify suspension from all duty until the case has been investigated and dealt with by the Naval Commandant; but if any emergency of the service should render it requisite that the person under arrest should be released without the charge against him being withdrawn, the commanding officer may give orders to that effect, and the person shall return to his duty accordingly, without prejudice to his future trial or the inquiry into the charge on which he was placed under arrest.

The Discipline Act.

11. The Naval Discipline Act shall be read at least once a month to all officers and men serving in the Naval Forces, and no officers or men are to be sworn in until they clearly understand the regulations under which they engage.

Petty Officers.

12. Petty officers are to be granted every reasonable indulgence, and treated with consideration. Being placed in situations of trust, they are to be made to feel that confidence is reposed in them.

Grievances.

13. If any member have cause to think himself aggrieved, he may represent the case to his commanding officer. Any appeal against the decision of the commanding officer will be made through the proper channel to the Commandant, and any further appeal will be made through that officer for transmission to higher authority.

Disrating, &c.

14. The Commandant may summarily reduce in rank any petty officer, or may fine or dismiss any petty officer or others below the rank of petty officer, for misconduct, or may discharge any petty officer or others below the rank of petty officer.

15. The Naval Commandant shall have power to enforce fines and other minor punishment according to the following scale:—

Offence.	Punishment.
A. { Drunkenness ...	Fine not exceeding 20s.
{ Disrespect ...	Fine not exceeding 20s.
{ Neglect of duty ...	Fine not exceeding 10s.
{ Breaking leave ...	Fine of 5s. for every 12 hours over leave, not to exceed 20s.

NOTE.—Leave to be considered a privilege, to be withheld or granted as circumstances may admit, and may be withheld, for a period not exceeding 42 days, for breaking leave or other offences against discipline.

B. Inattention at drill ... Extra drill, not to exceed 2 hours a day, for 7 days.

Caning (with clothes on) for the above or any serious offence (for boys only) not to exceed 12 cuts.

NOTE.—The Naval Commandant may give a written authority to any commanding or executive officer to inflict the following punishment:—

For A: Fine, not to exceed 3s.; stoppage of leave, not to exceed 14 days.
B: For the whole period.

16. All cases of insubordination, disrespect, drunkenness, or behaving in a discreditable manner, on board or on shore, are to be reported without delay to the Naval Commandant.

17. Any person subject to these Regulations found guilty of wilfully destroying, losing, or injuring, or through neglect suffering to be lost or injured, any Government property, shall, in addition to such of the above punishments as may be inflicted, be sentenced to make good such loss or damage.

18. Any person who shall behave with violence, or shall use mutinous or abusive language, may be placed in irons, handcuffed, or locked in a cell.

19. All persons regularly serving under the Discipline Act will be subject to be brought before the Court therein provided for, if charged with any of the following offences:—Losing, hazarding or stranding any ship, mutiny and sedition, violence to superiors, disobedience of orders, disrespect to superior officers, desertion, theft, absence without leave, sleeping on post, breaking arrest, drunkenness, malingering, neglect of duty, or any disgraceful conduct.

Leave of Absence.

20. The Naval Commandant may, at such times as shall be deemed convenient, grant leave of absence for recreation for any period or periods not exceeding, in the whole, three weeks in each year, to every officer, warrant officer, petty officer, and man permanently employed in the Naval Forces.

Absence through Illness.

21. Any person remaining on shore without leave, owing to illness, is without delay to send notice to his commanding officer, who will send the sick-bay man to inquire into his case. In serious cases, and when unable to communicate with his ship, a medical certificate must be sent. Persons failing to comply with these Regulations will be liable to the penalties for leave-breaking.

Desertion.

22. If any person belonging to the Permanent Naval Forces shall absent himself without leave, he shall be checked in the books the day following his absence; and at the expiration of seven days, if he have not returned, shall be deemed to have deserted, and shall be liable to the penalties for desertion.

SECTION IV.—RANK AND COMMAND.

4. Officers of the Civil Branch are not to assume any Military command whatever, either afloat or on shore, but under the Captain or other superior officer they shall have all necessary authority within their own departments, and according to their relative rank, for the due performance of their respective duties, and they are to be obeyed accordingly by their subordinates.

SHIP'S COMPANY.

5. Petty officers, seamen, and others shall rank and command as laid down in Table D. Those printed in italics are not entitled to take Military command.

SECTION V.—INTERIOR ECONOMY.

DUTIES OF OFFICERS.—(MILITARY BRANCH.)

Commanding Officer.

1. The commanding officer is to thoroughly acquaint himself with the construction of the vessels in the Victorian Navy, the number of compartments, and the pumping and flooding arrangements; and, at least once a week, accompanied by the Engineer and Carpenter (if any), to inspect the ship, and ascertain whether she is, in all respects, complete, or whether she has any defects.

2. He will observe, and cause to be observed, the precautions against fire as laid down on the fire station for the Victorian Navy.

3. He is to be careful that lights are only allowed in the officers' mess places and cabins, in accordance with the General Order.

4. On no account or pretence whatsoever are spirituous liquors, varnishes, or other inflammable stores of any kind or description to be drawn off or moved from any cask, vessel, or package anywhere but on the upper deck, by daylight.

5. No cotton waste, saturated with oil or grease, is to be allowed to accumulate. All oil and tallow are to be stored in the iron tanks supplied for the purpose. Cans or jars of oil or turpentine are never to be stowed in a warm place. A can or jar is liable to burst, or the cork to be forced out by the expansion of the oil or turpentine arising from the increase of its temperature.

6. The paint-room is to be carefully inspected, and leaky vessels are at once to be replaced by sound ones, and the place kept properly clean and ventilated.

7. At evening quarters, the responsible engineer, painter, or other persons are to ascertain that all the taps of oil or other inflammable fluids in daily use are properly turned off, and that there is no leakage.

8. Coal bunkers are to be frequently ventilated, and always before men are sent to work in them, and the coals kept free from wet.

9. He will use his best endeavours to ensure cleanliness, dryness, and good ventilation, and will frequently examine the state of the holds in the lower parts of the ship; and when not perfectly clean and free from obnoxious smells, he will cause a thorough examination to be made, to detect or remove whatever may be likely to engender disease.

10. He is to see that the men are properly clothed in the established uniform, that they are generally cleanly in their persons and dress, and that they are never suffered to remain in wet clothes, or sleep in wet bedding, when it can possibly be avoided.

11. He is to see that his ship is at all times prepared for immediate action, and that the officers and men on board, no matter whether reduced in numbers by leave being given or other circumstances, are stationed at the guns, and that all arrangements are made for the rapid supply of ammunition from the magazine and shell-rooms; and every evening, when a portion of the crew have gone on leave, hoses are to be screwed on, and pumps rigged, and the watch on board told off for their station, in case of fire.

12. He will see that the routine of drills is properly carried out, and use his utmost endeavours to encourage the officers and men under his command to become thoroughly acquainted with their various duties.

Officer of the Watch.

13. The officer of the watch is responsible for the safety of the ship, subject, however, to any special orders he may have received from his commanding officer. He will on every occasion before taking charge of a watch, when the ship is in squadron, see that she is in her station; if out of the station, he will not take charge until the commanding officer has been informed, and his order received to take charge. In every such case, the bearings and distance of the next ahead, and of the flag, are to be noted in the log-book.

14. He will at all times, when at sea, as far as practicable, keep himself informed of the position of the ship, especially when approaching land or in pilot water; whether land or lights are in sight, and, if not, whether any are likely to be seen; and on all other particulars which may be of use in keeping the ship out of danger. If approaching land or pilot water, he is to see that the leadsmen are in the chains, and that the anchors and cables are clear.

15. After taking charge of the watch, he is to be constantly on deck until properly relieved; he is to see that the watch are alert, and attentive to their duties; that every necessary precaution is taken to prevent accident from squalls; that when approaching land or pilot water, casts of the lead, whether hand or deep sea, are obtained with sufficient frequency; and that the ship is as perfectly prepared for battle as circumstances admit. He is to be careful that the ship is properly steered, and that a correct account of her way, by the log being duly hove, and the distance made good, and the leeway, are noted in the deck log, together with every other occurrence worthy of notice, and all accidents occasioning loss of stores.

16. He is, at the end of the watch, to sign the deck log-book properly filled up, and the signals made (if kept separately), with his initials; and when the occurrences of the day have been entered in the ship's log-book he will in the same manner place his initials at the end of each watch, in proof that the entries are correct.

17. He is to see that the officers and men under his orders are constantly at their posts, and attentive to their duties. He will, when he takes charge at night, and at any other time he may think necessary, muster the watch and the lifeboat's crew, and he will satisfy himself that the lifeboat is ready for lowering, and that a compass, lantern, signal lights, water, and bread and rifle are in it.

18. He is to be extremely careful to keep station when sailing with other ships; he will report at once to the commanding officer if unable to do so.

19. He will take care that a good look-out is kept for all signals, whether general or to the ship; that none are answered until made out and understood; that during the night the flashing apparatus, lanterns, and everything else necessary for making signals, are in good order and ready for instant use; that the signal guns are loaded without shot; and that, at sea, none but the authorized lights of the ship are visible, so as to prevent possible mistakes when night signals are being made.

20. He is never to change the course without directions from the commanding officer, unless to avoid immediate danger.

21. He will see that an officer or petty officer goes the rounds below every hour, and that no unauthorized smoking or other irregularities take place between decks. He will see that the helmsman thoroughly understands his duties, and he will carefully observe the rule of the road at sea to prevent collision. He will cause the bell to be sounded at least every two hours.

Torpedo Officer.

22. The torpedo officer is to take care that a uniform system of drill, as directed by the Naval Commandant, is strictly carried out, and that the maintenance and proper order of the stores supplied for torpedo service as well as of the torpedoes themselves are strictly adhered to, and that the officers and men having special duties in connexion with torpedoes are thoroughly conversant with those duties.

23. He is to superintend all drills and instructions connected with torpedo work, and is to use his utmost endeavours to make the officers and men placed under his instruction thoroughly efficient.

Torpedo Warrant Officer.

24. The torpedo warrant officer will assist in carrying out all torpedo drills and instructions, and will pay particular attention to keeping the torpedo boats, torpedoes, and all other stores connected with his department in a thoroughly efficient state and ready for service.

Gunner.

25. The gunner is to make himself thoroughly acquainted with the construction, ventilation, and flooding arrangements of the magazines and shell-rooms, and assure himself that they are properly fitted, and that the magazines are perfectly dry before powder is received. Should he detect any appearance of dampness, he is to inform the commanding officer at once, that they may be properly dried.

26. He is to attend himself to the stowage of powder and shells, and when all are stowed he is to see that the battens and stanchions are fixed, that the mouths of all the cases are properly luted and secured, that the magazines and shell-rooms are in working order, and that the magazines are swept; and he is to take care that the men are out of magazine and the lights extinguished in the light-room before he leaves.

27. He is to take care that the cases of friction-tubes are stowed in lockers, properly constructed, in his store-room, and on no account are the cases or any loose friction-tubes to be placed in the magazine. He is on no account to go into the magazine without being specially ordered. He is never to allow the magazine to be opened but by himself, a gunner's mate, or some other trustworthy officer or petty officer.

28. He or the petty officer in charge is to be very careful to ascertain that persons who go into the magazine have no matches or anything else about them which can strike fire, and that every such person before entering either puts on the leather shoes supplied for the purpose or goes in without shoes. He is to instruct the men appointed to attend in the light-rooms in the right management of the lamps, so that inconvenience may not arise from an accumulation of grease, smoke, &c.

29. He is never to keep powder in any other part of the ship than the magazine, except that which may be ordered by the commanding officer himself to be kept on deck, in cases properly secured, and placed under the charge of a sentry. He will take care, whenever he delivers cartridges from the magazine, that they are in cases properly shut.

30. He will see, on going into action, that the leaden floors of the landing-rooms are covered with water, that the aprons and pockets are let down, that the lids of the powder cases are loosened, the screens hung round the magazine hatchways, and that there is a good supply of fresh air.

31. He is never to return, or allow to be returned, wet or damp cartridges into the packages from whence they were taken.

32. He or the gunner's mate or other trustworthy person to whom the keys of the magazine, the landing-rooms, the light-rooms, or the shell-rooms, are entrusted, when the purpose for which they were received is accomplished, is himself to lock the same very carefully, and return the keys to the commanding officer or to such officer as the commanding officer shall appoint to take charge of them.

33. He is frequently to examine the state of the guns, sights, and carriages, that anything defective may immediately be repaired or exchanged. He is frequently to examine the rifles and all other small-arms, to see that they are kept clean and in every respect perfectly fit for service.

34. He will take care that no leather articles issued in a brown condition, such as pouches, belts, magazines for cartridges, &c., are blackened.

35. He is at all times to be particularly attentive to see that everything necessary for the service of the guns, and for boarders, firemen, and others, is ready to be supplied to all quarters.

SECTION VI.—NAVIGATION.

1. The senior officer is responsible for the safe conducting of the squadron, ships, or ship present with him, and acting in concert under his orders; the senior officers in charge of divisions or columns being responsible for the ships under their immediate orders.

2. The commanding officer is responsible for the safe conduct and steering of the ships.

3. The officer ordered to undertake the navigating duties is, under the direction of the commanding officer, to have charge of the navigation of the ship; and, whenever the ship is approaching the land or any shoals, the commanding officer is to take care that a good look-out is kept upon deck, and that soundings are carefully taken and continued until the safety of the ship's position be clearly ascertained and secured.

4. The commanding officer is to take care that the speed of the ship be reduced, where there is a possibility of doubt, to such a speed as shall ensure the leadsmen getting correct soundings at every cast.

5. If it shall appear that the ship has been run on shore, or brought into danger of being run on shore, or wrecked, and that there has been any want of due care and precaution, or that the foregoing orders have been disobeyed, the commanding officer will be held responsible for neglect of duty.

Report of Touching Ground.

6. In the event of the ship touching the ground, the commanding officer and officer for navigating duties are, by the first opportunity, to transmit a joint statement, through the Naval Commandant, for the information of the Minister of Defence, of every particular relating thereto, giving the rate at which she was going over the ground at the time she struck, the exact time she remained on shore, the nature of the bottom, the means taken to get her off, the injury they suppose she has received, the direction and force of the wind, the state of the weather, sea, and tide, the ship's draught forward and aft, and the least depth of water under the stern, under the bows, and amidships, at any time while she remained on shore. This statement is to be accompanied by a copy of the log, a track chart, commencing from the date the ship last left Port, and, if possible, by a clear and comprehensive plan of the place where the accident occurred.

Chronometer Journal.

7. A chronometer journal, in the form supplied with the instruments, is to be kept by the officer in charge of the navigating duties. He will note in it the rate and error of each chronometer, when determined.

Daily Observations.

8. Each Lieutenant, Sub-Lieutenant, and Midshipman, whether confirmed or acting, is daily, when at sea, to take sights to determine the latitude by meridian altitude, and the longitude by chronometer. They are to be worked out and delivered to the commanding officer shortly after noon.

9. Night observations, to ascertain the latitude by observations of the moon, planets, or stars, are to be taken by these officers when on watch, and when it does not interfere with other duties, and the results are to be noted on the deck log.

10. The officer of the watch is in no case to go below to work them out, unless properly relieved.

Compasses.

11. The commanding officer and other officers of the ship are to keep a constant watch over the deviation of the compasses, caused by the attraction of the iron used in the construction of, or fittings in, the ship, and they are to make themselves thoroughly acquainted with, and be guided by, the practical rules relating thereto, supplied in every chart-box.

12. All ships are to be swung at least once in each year, and azimuth and amplitude observations are also to be taken at sea for the same purpose.

13. The commanding officer is responsible for all charts, barometers, chronometers, and all instruments that may be supplied for navigating the ship, and he is to see that the chronometers are wound up daily at 8 a.m.

14. The officer of the forenoon watch—or, where there is no officer, the Quartermaster—is not to relieve the deck until he has ascertained that the chronometers have been wound up.

Collisions.

15. Regulations to avoid collisions, as issued by the Board of Trade, are to be observed in the Victorian Naval Forces.

Now therefore His Excellency the Governor of Victoria, with the advice of the Executive Council thereof, doth by this present Order direct that the following Rules and Regulations shall be and the same are hereby made:—

AMENDMENT OF EXISTING RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The Regulations heretofore made under the provisions of The Discipline Act 1870 shall, after the making of this Order, not apply to the Victorian Naval Brigade.

The following Rules and Regulations shall apply to Victorian Naval Brigade:—

SECTION I.—DEFINITIONS.

1. The term "Commandant," as used in the following Regulations, shall mean the Naval Commandant.
2. The term "Commanding Officer," as used in the following Regulations, shall mean the Senior Commanding Officer of the Naval Brigade for the time being, or any officer commanding a detachment. The Commandant shall determine when any portion of the Brigade is a detachment within the meaning of these Regulations.
3. The term "General Orders," as used in the following Regulations, shall mean any orders issued under the authority of the Commandant.
4. The term "Brigade," as used in the following Regulations, shall mean the Victorian Naval Brigade.
5. The term "effective" shall mean any member who has attended afloat and ashore three-fourths of the time laid down in these Regulations for drill and instruction.

SECTION II.—CONSTITUTION.

1. The Brigade shall comprise such commissioned and warrant and petty officers and men and boys as may from time to time be duly engaged, sworn in, and appointed under the provisions of The Discipline Act 1870 and the Acts amending the said Act. All future applicants for engagement in the Brigade, excepting officers and stokers, must produce a satisfactory discharge, showing that they have served as seamen either in the Royal Navy or the Mercantile Marine. In the case of stokers, they will have to show that they have served in that capacity.
2. The Brigade shall also consist of two Divisions, and each Division shall be divided into two Subdivisions. Each Subdivision shall be under the charge of a Lieutenant.
3. One Division shall be stationed at Sandridge, and the other at Williamstown. The head-quarters of the Brigade shall be as ordered by the Commandant.
4. Engagement shall be for a period of one year. Any person so engaged may, with the approval of the Governor in Council if an officer, or of the Commandant if below the rank of an officer, resign and obtain his discharge from the Brigade when not called out for actual service, on payment of the sum of £2. Such sum shall be taken to be as and for liquidated damages due by such person to Her Majesty, and shall become due immediately on the acceptance of the resignation of such person being signified to him by the Commandant, and may be recovered in the name of Her Majesty: Provided, however, that the Commandant may remit the whole or any portion of such penalties on the recommendation of the commanding officer.
5. No person shall be engaged unless he be a British subject and between the ages of 19 and 35, but persons who have previously served in the Imperial Regular or Auxiliary Naval Forces, or in any Colonial Naval Force, may be enrolled, if under the age of 40.
6. All applicants for engagement shall be subject to a medical examination, and must produce certificates of good character, or must otherwise satisfy the commanding officer that their character and conduct have been good.
7. The standard height will be 5ft. 6in. and upwards, with proportionate chest measurement. Exceptions to the standard of height may be allowed with the approval of the Commandant.
8. Boys may be engaged; but not more than two boys per Division will be allowed. Age, 14 to 17 years.
9. All men newly enrolled must attend at least twice a week in the drill-rooms, and at musters afloat, until passed at the preliminary Gun and Cutlass drills by the officer duly appointed for the purpose.
10. Every person so engaged shall take and subscribe before some justice, or before any commissioned officer in command of any vessel of war or corps, the oath in the First Schedule of The Discipline Act 1870.
11. All commissioned, warrant, or petty officers, or seamen, engaged under the provisions of the said Act, shall be entitled, subject to these Regulations, to receive an annual retainer or allowance, according to the following scale, on condition of their performing the necessary number of drills, afloat and ashore, as hereinafter mentioned:—

Lieut.-Commanders and Lieutenants	50
Sub-Lieutenants	25

Warrant Officers	25

		337 12 6	425 0 0

12. The annual retainer or allowance will be paid in quarterly instalments. The quarters are to be considered as commencing on the 1st January, 1st April, 1st July, and 1st October in each year. A proportionate number of drills to be performed during each quarter of the year, and any member failing to attend the prescribed number of drills will not be entitled to such quarter's retainer. Recruits, until passed, will be required to attend two drills per week at least, as well as the afloat drills; and, should they not make such progress at drill as to satisfy the commanding officer, they will render themselves liable to be dismissed upon his recommendation.

13. Every member of the Brigade will be required to drill 25 days in each year, to be made up of 150 hours, exclusive of reviews.

14. There must be two reviews a year, either afloat or ashore, and all members of the Brigade must attend one of such reviews.

Every member failing to comply with this Regulation shall be liable to be fined 20s.

NOTE.—Notwithstanding the above Regulation, all members must attend any inspection that may be made by the officer commanding the Imperial Naval Forces, providing their inspection is not called for more than once a year. The penalty for non-attendance at such inspection shall be 20s.

15. The following drills must be performed in order to entitle members to the retainer or allowance:—

First Quarter—3 half-days afloat	... 12½ hours
Drills ashore...	... 25 "
	—————37½ hours
Second Quarter—2 whole days afloat...	16 hours
Drills ashore...	... 21½ "
	—————37½ hours
In addition, two extra days afloat to complete the Easter cruise will be paid for at the rate of 10s. per diem for A.B.'s; other ranks in proportion.
Third Quarter—3 half-days afloat	... 12½ hours
Drills ashore...	... 25 "
	—————37½ hours
Fourth Quarter—3 half-days afloat	... 12½ hours
Drills ashore...	... 25 "
	—————37½ hours

These hours of drill are exclusive of Reviews or Inspections called by the officer commanding Imperial Naval Forces.

Should Easter fall in the first quarter of the year, the drills detailed above for the second quarter will be performed in the first quarter, and vice versa. Every member of the Brigade must be present during the Easter cruise, excepting those who are prevented by reason of sickness, in which case a medical certificate must be produced, or who can give a satisfactory reason for their absence to the commanding officer.

The yearly Musketry instruction at the Butts will also take place during the first or second quarter in each year, according to the date upon which Easter Monday may fall, or as the commanding officer may determine.

Arrangements may be made to enable absentees to make up sufficient drills to entitle them to the retainer for the quarter.

16. The musters and drills of the annual courses of Musketry and Gunnery may be included in the above drills.

Members who have passed the yearly Musketry instruction will be allowed facilities to pass, as trained men, in the use of breech and muzzle loading rifle guns, broadside gun drill, and Nordenfolt guns, as well as rifle, entlass, and single-stick exercises. After so passing, they will only be called upon to drill once a week, or thirteen times for 1½ hours during each quarter ashore, besides the usual drills afloat; and all such members will be called upon at the beginning of each year to pass as trained men.

17. Pay will be issued to commanding officers and Staff on the certificate of the Commandant that they have performed the necessary duties during the period for which it is claimed.

18. If temporarily resident in another district, or should the exigencies of the Service admit, a Brigade man may by order of the Commandant be attached to a Division serving in such district, and drills done with such Division shall be returned to the commanding officer and count towards retainer or allowance.

19. Officers detached on special duty shall be paid retainer or allowance on having performed the duties required of them by General Order.

20. Attendance at church musters or funerals shall not be allowed to count for retainer, nor shall pay be granted for such attendance.

21. Extra drills, afloat and ashore, will be called, in order to allow members the opportunity of earning the maximum amount of retainer or allowance.

Arrangements will be made to transport members of the Brigade to and from the drill ship free of expense. The time of drills afloat will count from the time they first embark.

22. When the Commandant, or officer deputed by him, makes the half-yearly official inspection of the Brigade or a detachment thereof, every officer, warrant officer, petty officer, and seaman should be present unless prevented by sickness or urgent necessity. In the former case, a certificate from the officer in medical charge to be produced; in the latter, leave may be granted by the officer commanding, but only in urgent cases. Any member not attending one of such inspections during the year is liable to a fine of £1.

23. In the event of any member becoming physically unfit for duty, the Commandant may cause a Medical Board to assemble to report upon such member, and upon their recommendation may deal with his case.

24. The time during which a member of the Naval Brigade is absent from drill on account of sickness or accident shall not count as part of the drill, unless such sickness shall have been caused by injuries received on active service, in which case the Naval Commandant may grant him leave of absence not exceeding six months, and for this period he will receive his retainer providing that he performs the proper proportion of drills during the remainder of the year. On his being removed from the sick list, he must perform the proper term of drill required by these Regulations.

25. In the event of the death of a member of the Brigade, the balance of any pay which may be due to him will be paid to his legal representative.

26. Any officer who does not attend more than three-fourths of the annual drills shall not be allowed to retain his commission or warrant, unless it be represented by the Commandant that there are special reasons for a relaxation of this Regulation.

27. Any petty officer who does not attend more than three-fourths of the annual drills shall be reduced to the position of an A.B., unless it shall appear to the Commandant that there are special reasons for the relaxation of this Regulation.

28. When any person is engaged in the Brigade, a certificate of his engagement will be delivered to him by his commanding officer. This certificate must be taken care of, as it will constitute the proof of his title to the pay and other advantages of the service. It must be produced every time he appears at drill, in order that the requisite entries may be made.

29. All entries on certificates must be made or counter-signed by an officer of the Brigade.

30. If any member accidentally lose his certificate, he should make application to his commanding officer to have it renewed.

31. Subject to these Regulations, no restriction is laid on the occupation of a member whilst belonging to the Brigade, provided that he complies with the conditions mentioned below, and especially with that condition which requires him to appear before some officer once every month, unless he obtains leave of absence for a longer period.

32. Every member shall give immediate notice to his commanding officer of any change of residence, or of the place to which letters and notices are to be addressed to him.

33. In event of the Brigade being called out by proclamation, every member is bound to serve in any vessel belonging to or employed by the Government of Victoria, or on shore, under penalty of being treated as a deserter.

34. When a member of the Brigade, after being called out by proclamation, is released from actual service, the requisite entries of service shall be recorded in his certificate.

35. The Commandant may discharge any members, other than officers, on attaining the age of 45 years.

36. Any member who is discovered to have been, at the time of engagement, suffering from disease, or to have sustained injury which incapacitates him, and who has concealed such disease or injury, or who is discovered to have made any false representation or to have produced any false papers on the occasion of engagement, shall at once be struck off the list, and will forfeit all claim to pay or other advantages of the Service.

SECTION III.—DISCIPLINE.

1. As it is desirable to keep up in all ranks a proper feeling and high sense of honour, by which the correct and willing discharge of duty will best be insured, officers of every rank should be impressed with the advantage which they individually, the Brigade, and the Service at large will derive from the adoption towards those under them of a system of command and treatment which shall insure respect towards superiors.

2. Officers are to adopt such a system themselves, and are to require it to be adopted by the petty officers; and the example of officers will have the effect of checking the use of improper and offensive terms on the part of the petty officers towards the men. If acts of intentional neglect or of insubordination should take place, and the means of correction and punishment authorized by the Regulations of the Service have to be resorted to, these measures will have double effect if not preceded by intemperate language.

3. Officers are to avoid reproving petty officers for any irregularity, neglect of duty, or awkwardness, in the presence or hearing of the men—unless it shall be necessary for the benefit of example that the reproof be public—lest their authority should be weakened or their self-respect lessened.

4. Officers are at all times accountable for the maintenance of good order and the rules and discipline of the Service, and they are to afford in these respects the utmost aid and support to the commanding officer. It is their duty to take notice of, repress, and instantly report any negligence or impropriety of conduct in petty officers and men, whether on duty or off duty.

5. Deliberations or discussions, having the object of conveying praise, censure, or any mark of approbation towards superiors or any others in Her Majesty's Service, are strictly prohibited, as being subversive of discipline, and an assumption of power which belongs to the Sovereign alone, or to those officers to whom the command and discipline of the Force may be trusted. Every officer will, therefore, be held responsible who shall allow himself to be complimented by officers, petty officers, or men who are serving, or who have served, under his command, by means of presents of plate, swords, &c., or by any collective expression of their opinion.

6. The Brigade will not assemble for any purpose unconnected with Naval muster, drill, or rifle practice except with the approval of the Commandant.

7. Members are not individually or collectively to attend political meetings or join in public political discussions or demonstrations in uniform. The Band is not to appear in uniform, except at muster or drill, without the consent of the commanding officer.

8. Officers are to use their utmost vigilance to prevent members publishing information relative to the numbers, movements, or operations of the Force, or any Naval details; and any member will be held personally responsible for reports of this kind which he may make without special permission, or for placing the information beyond his control, so that it finds its way into unauthorized hands. Furthermore, members are forbidden to give publicity to their individual opinions in any manner tending to prejudice questions that may at the time be undergoing official investigation by the Naval authorities. Anonymous complaints, and the publication through the medium of the press of anything calculated to act injuriously on the interests of the Service or to excite discontent in the Force, are also strictly prohibited.

9. Commanding officers shall be responsible for the discipline, drill, and instruction of those under their command, and they shall notice any infraction of the provisions of the law, or of the orders of the Commandant, relating to the use of arms, the Regulations about clothing, distinctive marks of rank, discipline, and the like.

10. When members of the Force belonging to one or more Divisions are brought together under arms, at rifle matches or on other occasions, either in or out of uniform, the senior officer present is to be considered as in command; and although his position in this respect does not involve any authority for his interference in the arrangements of the meeting, yet he is held responsible for the due maintenance of order and discipline among the members of the Force present.

11. Disobedience of orders or disrespect shown to higher authority shall be instantly reported to the commanding officer, and it is impressed upon all ranks that discipline depends entirely upon instant obedience; so that not only must all officers see that it is always duly enforced, but petty officers failing to report any contempt or neglect of their authority will be liable to be summarily reduced. Obedience must be rendered, even when it may be considered justifiable subsequently to prefer a complaint.

12. Any member may, for any offence against good order and discipline, be placed under arrest by his superior officer.

13. Arrest shall signify a suspension from all Naval duty and participation in rifle shooting; and any member placed under arrest shall deliver up his arms and accoutrements to such person as his commanding officer may direct.

14. If any member, while under arms or on duty with the Force to which he belongs or any portion of the Force, or while engaged in any Naval exercise or drill—either in uniform or plain clothes, or while going to or returning from any place of exercise or assembly—disobey any lawful order of the officer under whose command he then is, or is guilty of misconduct, any superior officer may order the offender, if an officer into arrest, and if not an officer into the custody of any petty officer or seaman; but so that the offender be not kept in such custody longer than during the time such portion of the Force as aforesaid remains under arms or on duty. After which, his case will either be disposed of by the officer commanding on the spot, or he will be suspended from duty under clause 13, and reported to higher authority.

15. Duty with any portion of the Force is held to mean not only presence under arms at drill, but the performance of all duties of a Naval nature in or out of uniform.

16. Officers commanding shall, immediately after drill, receive the reports of officers as to any members of the Force who have misconducted themselves, and shall either deal summarily with the case or report it to a higher authority. In case of a fine, record of offence and punishment shall be made in the Order Book. Petty officers shall not be subject to any fine unless previously reduced.

17. If any member have cause to think himself aggrieved, he may represent his case to his commanding officer. Any appeal against the decision of the commanding officer will be made through the proper channel to the Commandant, and any further appeal will be made through these officers for transmission to higher authority.

18. Any member who fails to produce, for inspection, when required, any arms, accoutrements, or other property intrusted to his care, may be proceeded against under the Act, and steps taken for his summary discharge, for disobedience of orders.

19. Any member whose services are dispensed with shall deliver up in good order, fair wear and tear only excepted, all arms, ammunition, accoutrements, clothing, or appointments, or any public stores or property issued to him, or paid for by the Government for his use, and if he refuse or neglect to comply with this Regulation he may be proceeded against under the Act.

20. When a member has been dismissed for misconduct, a notification of the fact, with the cause of dismissal, will be inserted in Orders, in addition to the Government Gazette.

21. Members must not, under any circumstances, alter or tamper with their rifles, or use other than the authorized ammunition; and any rifle which, on inspection, may be found to have had its lock or any other part altered or tampered with, will be at once returned into store, and repaired at the expense of the member to whom such rifle was issued, and the amount of such expense will be deducted from the retainer of such member.

22. Any loss, damage, or destruction of arms, accoutrements, uniform, or stores which may be traced to any member, unless caused by circumstances beyond his control, shall be made good by stoppage from his retainer; or, in default thereof, proceedings against him will be instituted under the Act.

23. The Commandant may summarily reduce in rank any petty officer, or may fine and dismiss any petty officer, or others below the rank of petty officer, for misconduct, or may discharge any petty officer or others below the rank of petty officer.

24. The commanding officer shall have power to enforce fines, not exceeding the following amounts:—

(a)	s.	d.
For appearing at muster or drill improperly dressed, or with clothing, arms, or accoutrements dirty ...	2	6
(b) Talking at muster or drills ...	2	6
(c) Inattention, and other minor irregularities ...	2	6
(d) Neglecting to notify change of address within fourteen days of such change ...	2	6
(e) Neglect of duty ...	5	0
(f) Leaving the muster or drill without permission ...	7	6
(g) Minor cases of insubordination ...	10	0
(h) Being absent without leave within the meaning of the Regulations ...	10	0
(i) Drunkenness on duty, or in camp, or elsewhere in uniform ...	20	0
(j) Failing to become effective ...	20	0
(k) Being absent from the annual review or half-yearly official inspection ...	20	0

All fines shall be noted in returns, and shall be appropriated according to law.

25. Every member of the Brigade shall attend at least one muster or drill in each month. Any member of the Brigade failing to attend the required number of musters or drills in any month, unless on leave, shall be at the end of each month deemed to have been absent without leave within the meaning of these Regulations.

26. Any member absent without leave for a period of two months shall be dismissed, unless in the opinion of the Commandant there be extenuating circumstances.

27. Any member contravening the Regulations under the Railway Act, with reference to the free conveyance of members of the Naval and Military Forces, thereby renders himself liable to dismissal.

28. Fines which cannot be settled from arrears of pay should be recovered by the commanding officer in a court of petty sessions.

SECTION IV.—INTERIOR ECONOMY.

OFFICERS.

1. A commanding officer is invested with authority which renders him responsible to his Sovereign and his country for the maintenance of discipline, order, and a proper system of economy in the Force under his command. He is to exact from officers and men the most implicit obedience to Regulations, and he is not only to enforce by command, but to encourage by example, the energetic discharge of duty.

2. He is to see that the officers are practically instructed in their duties. He will, at his discretion, direct the officers to take the command of the drill, and in his presence to exercise the Force. The instruction of his men also forms a most essential part of the supervision of the commanding officer.

3. It is the duty of a commanding officer to bring specially to the notice of the Commandant, through the proper channel, without favour or partiality, any officers who may be distinguished for attention to and proficiency in their duties, as well as those who, from incapacity or habitual inattention, are deficient in a knowledge of their duties, or show an indisposition to afford the commanding officer that support which he has a right to expect from them, or conduct themselves in a manner injurious to the efficiency and the credit of the Force.

4. An officer in temporary command is not to give out any Standing Orders, or to alter those issued by the commanding officer, without a reference to him or to the Commandant.

5. Commanding officers are to cause every Order and Circular issued for general information and guidance to be made known throughout their Divisions or Subdivisions; and they are to afford all officers under their command every facility for becoming acquainted with current changes in Regulations and Orders. Ignorance of published Orders will never be admitted as an excuse for their non-observance. All Orders relating to the Force are to be read and explained immediately after such Orders are received, and those of an important nature are to be read on three successive musters or drills.

6. Nothing more essentially tends to the maintenance of regularity and good order than that system or chain of responsibility which should extend from the highest to the lowest grade. With this view, the Brigade is divided into Divisions.

7. It is of importance that a commanding officer should, at all times, make himself thoroughly acquainted with the professional abilities of the whole of the officers placed under his charge, so as to assist the Commandant in the appreciation of the Naval requirements of those under his command.

8. Great attention is required from commanding officers to the cleanliness of the clothing, arms, and accoutrements. The dress and appearance, as well as the demeanour of members, should on all occasions and in all situations be such as to create a respect for the Service. Members must be properly dressed when going to and returning from musters or drills.

9. Junior officers, on joining, are to provide themselves with a nominal roll of their Subdivisions or Sections, and are as soon as possible to make themselves acquainted with the disposition, character, age, and service of each of their men.

10. It is expected that every officer who has been two years in the Service will be capable of commanding and exercising a Division in every situation, either afloat or ashore, and will be perfectly acquainted with its interior arrangement, economy, and discipline. No officer is to be dismissed from drill until he has gone through a course of musketry instruction; and a course of singlestick, fencing, and Navy signalling instruction.

11. All officers must furnish themselves with the latest edition of the Queen's Regulations and Admiralty Instructions for the Navy, The Gunnery Manual, The Regulations Victorian Naval Brigade, The Torpedo Manual, Field Exercises, Rifle and Musketry Instruction, Manual on Manufacture of Rifled Guns, Manual on Gunpowder, Manual on Ammunition Instruction, and such other books as may be directed by the Commandant from time to time.

The following books will be supplied to the officer commanding, for the use of head-quarters and Divisions of the Brigade:—

- 3 copies Queen's Regulations and Admiralty Instructions for the Navy.
- 5 copies Gunnery Manual (Naval).
- 5 copies Torpedo Manual.
- 5 copies Field Exercise.
- 5 copies Rifle Exercises and Musketry Instruction.
- 5 copies Manufacture of Rifled Guns.
- 5 copies Treatise on Ammunition.
- 5 copies The Discipline Act and its Amendments.

WARRANT OFFICERS.

12. All members promoted to chief warrant or warrant rank will receive warrants bearing the signature of the Commandant.

PETTY OFFICERS.

13. All other candidates for the rank of petty officer must pass such examination as may be directed by General Order before being eligible for appointment by the commanding officer.

14. Petty officers may, with their commanding officer's consent, resign their rank, and revert to the rank or position they may have previously held, but they are not allowed to do so in order to escape the consequences of misconduct without the special sanction of the Commandant. A certificate of the commanding officer, stating the cause of the resignation (together with the written authority of the Commandant, if the case has been referred to him as above), is to be forwarded to the Commandant to be appended to the man's enrolment form.

15. Every petty officer is required to provide himself with, and to have in his possession, a copy of the Regulations for the Field Exercise and of the Gunnery Manual.

16. When additional petty officers are required, 2nd class petty officers may be appointed to act as 1st class petty officers, and men as 2nd class petty officers, who, if they prove themselves efficient, are to be promoted as vacancies occur. Such appointments not to carry extra pay.

17. Petty officers, after having served as such for five years, may be retired on the recommendation of the commanding officer.

18. All funds for the payment of retainers and other moneys shall be paid to and administered by commanding officers.

19. At the commencement of each year, the commanding officer will be credited for each effective member the sum of 20s. per head, together with 30s. per head on the established strength; to be expended by the said commanding officer, on behalf of the Force, on the following items:—

- Clothing, not including pea-jackets.
- Store-rooms.
- Expenses in connexion with musters, camps, and inspections.

Expenses incidental to target practice and prizes, not exceeding 15 per cent. of the effective money.

Band.

Cost of all supplies received from the Ordnance Department on repayment, or any other expenditure authorized by the Council of Defence.

20. In case of the disbandment of the Brigade, any balance of the funds in the hands of the commanding officer shall lapse into the Defence vote, after payment of all expenses sanctioned under these Regulations.

21. Commanding officers shall be responsible to Government for the due custody and expenditure of the Government allowances, no portion of which shall pass from their control or be expended except by their direction. The Government allowances shall be kept in a special bank account, and all books and accounts connected with the expenditure thereof shall be produced when required at inspections.

22. On or before the 10th of July in each year, a balance-sheet of the past year's receipts and expenditure, signed by the commanding officer, and countersigned by two other officers, must be forwarded to the Minister of Defence. No portion of the annual allowance shall be issued to any corps until such balance-sheet shall have been received by the Minister.

23. The Council of Defence shall from time to time appoint and authorize some person or persons to examine all books and accounts of any commanding officer, and report thereon.

24. Commanding officers shall furnish such guarantee as may be decided by the Governor in Council.

25. One shilling per head on the establishment of the Brigade shall be deducted from the effective allowance, and the amount thereof paid to the treasurer of the Victorian Rifle Association for the support of the ranges, &c.

BAND.

26. The Band of the Naval Brigade is not to exceed a total strength of twenty, in addition to the boys allowed to be engaged. These men are to be effective for service, to be perfectly drilled, and liable to serve in the Force on any emergency. Attendance at Band practice to count as drills. The commanding officer is empowered to employ supernumeraries as Bandsmen, in addition to the numbers authorized, provided that no portion of the cost falls upon the funds of the Brigade.

27. The Band is to be dressed the same as the Brigade.

28. The following books of instruction, published by authority, are to be strictly adhered to by the Brigade, without additions or alterations; either as regards the soundings or their application:—"The Naval Bugle Sounds," "Instructions for the Pipe," and "The Art of Beating the Drum."

29. In order to ensure uniformity, the instruments are to be of the same pitch as that adopted by the "Ancient Philharmonic Society."

* The areas here given, except in the case of New Zealand, are the results of planimetric calculations made in the office of the Surveyor-General, Melbourne.
 † In making up the estimates of population in Victoria and New South Wales, allowance has been made for unrecorded emigration. If this had not been done, the population of Victoria would have been set down as 1,072,107, and that of New South Wales as 1,073,203. Maoris, who numbered 41,939 at the Census of 1886, are not included in the population of New Zealand. On the 30th June 1888 the estimated population of Victoria was 1,069,419, and that of New Zealand 694,865.
 ‡ The figures of revenue and expenditure for Victoria are for the twelve months ended 30th June 1887, but those for the other colonies are for the calendar year.
 § Including refunds of revenue, drawbacks, &c., amounting to over £231,000.
 ¶ As a set-off against the public debt of New Zealand, there exists an accrued sinking fund amounting to about 3½ millions sterling.
  The figures in these columns refer to the whole area sold by auction, selected under deferred payment system, and granted without purchase during the year. The amount entered as the purchase-money represents the total amount paid in 1887, or payable in future years in respect of the lands referred to, exclusive of interest. The relatively small amount of purchase-money in South Australia and New Zealand is accounted for by the large areas granted without purchase during the year, viz., 19,124 acres in the former and 316,488 acres in the latter colony; whilst the amount set down for Western Australia is probably understated.
 †† No agricultural statistics having been collected in South Australia in either of the last three years, the figures for 1884-5 for all the crops except wheat—for which approximate information has been supplied—have been repeated in the case of that colony. The area under cultivation is exclusive of fallow land in New South Wales, and of grass-own lands in Western Australia and New Zealand.
 ††† In New South Wales 171,692 acres of maize, producing 4,953,125 bushels; and in Queensland 73,139 acres of the same crop, producing 1,631,890 bushels, are included under this head.
 †††† The numbers of live stock in New Zealand are those ascertained at the time the census was taken in March 1886.

CONDITIONS OF SALE OF THE RIGHT TO LEASE FOR PASTORAL ALLOTMENTS.

1. The occupation of the pastoral allotments will be offered for sale at the annual rents respectively stated and annexed to the description thereof, and the bidder of the highest sum by way of premium will be declared the purchaser, provided he shall immediately pay down such sum and sign the description hereto-annexed, of the pastoral allotment of the occupation of which he shall have become the purchaser, thereby binding himself to the observance of the above and following conditions; and in default of such payment being immediately made the pastoral allotment shall again be forthwith put up to auction.

2. The annual rents determined by the Board of Land and Works to be paid in respect of these pastoral allotments will be due and payable by the purchasers, in advance, in two half-yearly moieties, on the 1st January and 1st July in every year, till the termination of the period of occupation so purchased.

3. Immediately after the biddings on each pastoral allotment are concluded, and before another allotment is put up, the name of the purchaser will be entered, by the officer conducting the sale, in the list of the descriptions of the pastoral allotments annexed to these presents. If, previous to such entry, any question or dispute shall arise between the seller and bidder, or amongst the bidders themselves, the allotment in question shall be put up for sale again. 6. Persons having affixed their signatures to the list of descriptions of the pastoral allotments annexed to these presents, in token of their having become purchasers or agents of purchasers of the occupation of the allotments to the descriptions of which their signatures are so attached or affixed, will be held to have previously obtained all necessary information, and shall not be entitled to allege ignorance or any other cause for their not fulfilling all and every obligation incumbent upon them by these articles and conditions.

NOTE.—All offers and leases relative to these pastoral allotments will be held to refer to the boundaries of same as projected on the public charts, and will accordingly be described as containing an area more or less. Any future claim for compensation as to any alleged difference in the area cannot therefore be entertained.
