Improvements to the value of at least two instalments of the purchase money must be effected on each farm allotment before the end of the first year from the date of the lease, and 10 per cent. of the purchase money before the end of the third year, and a further 10 per cent. before the end of the sixth year.

The amount of deposit (less £1 5s.) will be deducted from the capital value, and the half-yearly instalments calculated on the balance of purchase money.

Payments in advance may be made at any time at the option of the lessee, and proportionate reduction of interest secured thereby.

FORMERLY FOREMAN'S LAND.

THE several allotments included in the Schedule hereunder are declared available as Agricultural Labourers' Allotments to be taken up on Conditional Purchase Lease. Applications must be made on the prescribed forms, and forwarded to the Secretary, Closer Settlement Branch, Lands Department, on or before Monday, 29th July, 1912, accompanied by the deposit for the most valuable allotment applied for, as shown in Schedule hereunder. The deposit includes registration fee of 5s. and lease fee of £1. All applications so lodged will be deemed to have been simultaneously made. The Local Land Board to deal with applications will be held at Ballarat on Wednesday, 7th August, 1912, at 10 a.m.

Conditional Purchase Lease.

The leases issued to successful applicants may be for such a term of years, not exceeding 31½, as may be agreed upon between the lessee and the Board.

An applicant may apply for more than one allotment, but will only be required to lodge one deposit, being the amount chargeable on the most valuable allotment applied for.

No conditional purchase lease of an agricultural labourer's allotment can be granted to any person who is already the holder of land of the value of £200, or who would thereby become the holder of land exceeding such value.

The lessee must enclose his allotment with a substantial and sufficient fence within two years from the date of his lease unless sooner called upon under the provisions of the Fences Act 1890.

The lessee must reside on the estate within four months from the date of his lease. (Personal residence by a wife, or any child not less than eighteen years of age of lessee, may be considered personal residence by the lessee, with the approval of the Board.) A substantial dwelling house of a value of at least Thirty pounds must be erected on the allotment within one year from the date of his lease.

The lessee cannot transfer, assign, mortgage, or sublet the whole or any part of his allotment within the first six years of the lease.

The Crown grant may be issued to the lessee at the end of any half-year after the first twelve years have expired on payment of the balance of purchase money.

The amount of deposit (less £1 5s.) will be deducted from the capital value, and the half-yearly instalments calculated on the balance of purchase money.

Payments in advance may be made at any time at the option of the lessee, and proportionate reduction of interest secured thereby.

The balance of purchase money, with interest at 4½ per cent., must be paid by 63 or a lesser number of half-yearly instalments, calculated according to any of the tables under Division 3 of Part I. of the Savings Banks Act 1890 Amendment Act 1896, the first of such instalments being payable six months after the date of the lease. Each instalment will include interest upon the balance of the purchase money remaining unpaid.

Advances of money to assist in effecting improvements may be granted by the Board, such advances to be repaid in half-yearly instalments extending over fifteen years, bearing interest at 5 per cent. The half-yearly payment will be at the rate of £4 15s. 7d. for every £100 advanced.

Plans and further information may be obtained from the Closer Settlement Branch, Crown Lands Office.

Conditions.

1. The issue of this licence shall not prevent the land comprised therein, or any part or parts thereof, being sold, leased, licensed, alienated, or dealt with under any of the provisions of the Land Acts, except under the 187th section of the Land Act 1901, or being resumed by order of the Governor or Administrator of the Government of Victoria, with the advice of the Executive Council, for any of the purposes for which land may be reserved under section 10 of the Land Act 1901, or for mining purposes.

2. In case the said land, or any part thereof, should be sold, leased, licensed, alienated, dealt with, or resumed as aforesaid, the licensee shall not be entitled to any compensation other than that which the responsible Minister of the Crown for the time being administering the Land Acts may think fit.

3. This licence is subject to the rights of the holders of miners' rights or of mining leases now issued or hereafter to be issued to enter upon the allotment hereby licensed, and to search for gold, and to mine thereon, and to erect and occupy mining plant and machinery, without making any compensation to the licensee, his executors, administrators, or assigns, for surface or other damage.

4. Subject to these conditions, the licensee shall be entitled to use the land for the purpose for which this licence has been granted, until such land, or any part thereof, has been sold, leased, licensed, alienated, dealt with, or resumed as aforesaid, and thereupon all the interest of the licensee therein shall cease and be determined.

5. No land comprised in roads from time to time surveyed and marked out within the boundaries of the land comprised in this licence shall be deemed within its operation.

6. This licence shall entitle the holder thereof, during the period for which it is granted, to use the land therein comprised for depasturing purposes only, but shall not confer any right to build thereon, or to cultivate or, without the permission of the Minister, fence any portion thereof, or construct a dam or tank.

7. The taking in of stock for agistment or otherwise allowing the use of the land, or part thereof, without authority in writing by the Minister, is forbidden.

11. The licensee shall be liable to forfeiture if the licensee commit a breach of or neglect to comply with these conditions.

12. The publication of a notice in the Government Gazette, purporting to declare that the Governor or Administrator, with the advice aforesaid, has forfeited this licence, shall be conclusive evidence that the licence is forfeited.

13. The ring-barking of the timber upon the land by the licensee is forbidden, and he shall not be entitled to destroy or cut and take away any such timber.

14. Free access to water shall be kept open at all times for travelling and other stock and for persons desiring to take water for domestic purposes.

16. The licensee shall keep the land free from vermin, and, should he fail to do so, the licence shall be liable to forfeiture.

17. This licence is issued subject to the right of saw-millers to graze on this area such horses and bullocks as are actually used in connexion with their licensed operations on this land.

18. In the event of the area being damaged by fire, the licence may be forfeited unless the licensee satisfy the Minister that neither he, directly or indirectly, nor his workmen or servants were in any way responsible therefor.

AS TO BUILDINGS.

1. Rules for determining the classes and rates to which buildings are to be deemed to belong for the purposes of these Regulations and the thickness of the walls of buildings of such rates.

CLASSES OF BUILDINGS.

2. For the purposes of these Regulations, all buildings, of whatever kind, subject to the provisions thereof, are to be deemed to belong to one or other of the following three classes, that is to say:—

First Class.

3. If a building be built originally as a dwelling-house, or for an office, or suites or sets of chambers or offices, or be occupied, or intended to be occupied as such, then it is to be deemed to belong to the first or dwelling-house class.

Second Class.

4. If a building be built originally as a warehouse, storehouse, granary, brewery, distillery, manufactory, work-shop, or public stable, or be occupied or intended to be occupied as such, or for a similar purpose, then it is to be deemed to belong to the second or warehouse class.

Third Class.

5. If a building be built originally as a church, chapel, or other place of public worship, college, hall, hospital, theatre, public concert room, public ball room, public lecture room, public exhibition room, or occupied or intended to be occupied as such, or for a similar purpose, or otherwise used or intended to be used, either temporarily or permanently, for the assemblage of persons in large numbers, whether for public worship, instruction, business, debate, diversion, or resort, then it is to be deemed to belong to the third or public building class, and must be in accordance with the Board of Public Health requirements.

Where the Class is Doubtful.

With regard to any building of whatever kind which is not expressly assigned to either of the above classes, or to the rates of such classes, so far as relates to the application of this Regulation thereto, if any person be desirous of erecting any building which does not come within either of the above classes, or of the rates of such classes; then such building shall be built in accordance with such class and rate as shall be directed by the surveyor.

Alteration of Class.

6. If any room, whether constructed within any other building or not, and whether included in the aforesaid classes or not, be used at any time for the public or general congregation of persons, then the building containing such room is to be deemed a building of the third or public building class.

If any building, originally built, or subsequently altered, so as to bring it within any one class, be subsequently converted into, or used as a building of another class, then it is to be deemed to belong to such other class; and as to it all the conditions prescribed with regard to buildings of the same rate of such other class must be fulfilled, as if it had been originally built of such class, subject nevertheless to such modifications as shall be sanctioned by the surveyor or official referee, on supervision thereof; or if a building be used partly as a dwelling-house, and partly for any purpose, which would bring it within the second or warehouse class, then it is to be deemed to belong to the said second or warehouse class; and as to it all the conditions prescribed with regard to buildings of the same rate of such class must be fulfilled, as if it had been originally built for such class, subject nevertheless to such modifications as shall be sanctioned by the surveyor or official referee on supervision thereof.

RATES OF BUILDINGS.

7. The buildings included in the said classes are to be deemed to belong to the rates of those classes according to the conditions of height, area, and number of stories set forth in the following tables, which conditions are to be determined according to the following rules:—

Rule for Ascertaining Height.

8. The height of every building is to be ascertained by measuring from the surface of the lowest floor of the building up to the top of the wall-plate for receiving the roof.

Rule for Ascertaining Area.

9. The area of every building (except the second or warehouse class) is to be determined by the number of squares contained in the surface of any floor, which shall contain the greatest number of squares at or above the principal entrance to such building; including in such surface the area of all the external walls, and such portions of the party walls as belong to such building, but excluding from such surface the area of any attached building or office, area, balcony, or open portico, where any building is divided by a cross-wall of the thickness specified in the following tables, then the area referred to in the tables shall be the largest area in the building enclosed between any such cross-walls and the exterior walls.

Rule for Ascertaining the Capacity of any Building of the Second Class.

Rule for Ascertaining the Number of Stories.

11. The stories of every building are to be counted from the foundation upwards.

If the space in height between the top of the footings and the level of the lowest floor do not exceed 5 feet, then the story above such space is to be considered the lowest or first story; but if such space exceed 5 feet, then such space is to be considered to contain the lowest or first story, and in that case such surface is to be considered the level of the lowest floor. Provided that cellars not exceeding three squares in area, and exceeding 5 feet in depth, shall not be deemed to be the lowest or first story.

Rule for Ascertaining the Thickness of Walls.

RULES CONCERNING BUILDINGS OF THE SECOND OR WAREHOUSE CLASS.

29. No building of the second class hereafter built or rebuilt, shall contain more than 400,000 cubic feet between the inclosing walls of such building; and where such building exceeds 200,000 cubic feet, the walls thereof shall be increased 4 inches in thickness from the foundation upwards, beyond the thickness prescribed in section 23 of these Regulations for buildings, not containing more than 160,000 cubic feet.

Roofs.

30. In order to prevent the formation of curbed roofs to such buildings the plane of the surface of the roof of every such building, must not incline from the external or party walls upwards at a greater angle than 40 degrees with the horizon.

REQUISITES FOR DETERMINING THE RATE TO WHICH ANY BUILDING OF THE THIRD OR PUBLIC BUILDING CLASS IS TO BE DEEMED TO BELONG.

31. If any building of the third or public building class correspond in form, or structure, or disposition, with a dwelling-house, then the rate thereof is to be determined by the same rule as the rates of the first or dwelling-house class; and the thickness of the external and party walls, and the width of the footings thereof, are to be, at the least, 4 inches more than is hereby required for the external and party walls, and the footings thereof, of buildings of the same rate of the first or dwelling-house class, unless the surveyor or official referee in each case shall otherwise appoint; but if it correspond in form, or structure, or disposition, with a warehouse, or any building of the second class, then the rate thereof is to be determined by the same rules as the rates of the second or warehouse class, and the thickness of the external and party walls, and the width of the footings thereof, are to be, at the least, 4 inches more than is hereby required for the external and party walls, and the footings thereof, as buildings of the same rate of the second or warehouse class, unless the surveyor or official referee in each case shall otherwise appoint; but if it do not correspond in form, and structure, or in either, with buildings of the first or second classes, or any of them, then such building is to be subject, as to its walls or other construction, to the special approval of the surveyor or official referee.

RULES CONCERNING ATTACHED, AND DETACHED AND INSULATED AND COMPOSITE BUILDINGS AS TO THE RATES AND WALLS THEREOF.

Attached Buildings and Offices.

32. Buildings or offices now built, or hereafter to be built, privies, greenhouses, bathrooms, vineries, except aviaries, or such like buildings, whether such buildings or offices be attached to, or detached from the buildings to which they belong, all such buildings are to be deemed, in respect of the walls thereof, and all other requisites, as buildings of the rate to which they belong if they had been built separately.

WOODEN BUILDINGS.

33. Buildings of the first or dwelling-house class of not more than one story may be built of wood—or if already built either of wood or any other material may be added to in wood, subject to the following limitations and provisions:—

(a) All external walls hereafter to be built and which are not at least 4 feet distant from land not in the same possession or occupation must be of brick or stone at least $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches in thickness, built on a proper foundation, and projecting at least 1 inch beyond the face of the woodwork. And no external wooden wall of any building shall be built on land in the same possession or occupation with any other external wall of wood unless the distance between such walls be at least 8 feet.

(b) Foundations may be of stone, brick, concrete, or sound hardwood set on solid ground. Studs for external and internal walls shall not be less than 4 x 2 up to the height of 14 feet, 4 x $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 12 feet, and 3 x 2 to 10 feet, measured from the lower plate to the underside of the ceiling joists, and may be covered with galvanized iron, weatherboards, lath and plaster, or other suitable material.

With regard to skillions, the average height must not be less than 10 feet.

(c) If more than one house be erected in one block a party wall of brick, stone, or concrete must be built in manner as required by these Regulations between each of such houses, and be carried quite through and project at least 1 inch beyond the face of the woodwork.

(d) Should the external walls and party walls be built of brick or stone and carried up at least 1 foot above the roof covering or gutter—or should the whole of the external walls be at least 10 feet distant from land not in the same possession or occupation—then the roof covering may be of shingles or palings.

BATHROOMS, OPEN SHEDS, AND GREENHOUSES.

34. Bathrooms, open sheds, greenhouses, and the like, may be erected without other restriction than that such erections unless built of brick or other fireproof material, or covered with sheet-iron, be at least 4 feet distant from land not in the same possession, and that no fireplace be contained therein.

PRIVY CLOSETS AND STABLES.

35. Privy closets and stables, unless distant at least 4 feet from land not in the same occupation, must have walls of brick or stone at least $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches thick, projecting at least 1 inch beyond woodwork, and carried above roof gutter 1 foot 3 inches. Privy closets to be at least 10 feet distant from any street, and the pan door screened from public view.

36. Buildings for purposes of trade or for purposes other than a dwelling-house, and not otherwise herein particularly defined, may be built of wood, or if already built of either wood or any other material, may be added to subject to the following limitations and provisions:—

(a) All external walls hereafter to be built which are not at least 4 feet distant from land not in the same possession or occupation must be built in manner and of materials of the several heights and thicknesses for external walls of the rate to which the building belongs.

(b) In case the external walls of such building which are nearest to any land not in the same possession or occupation shall exceed 10 feet in height, then the distance from such land within which it shall not be lawful to erect the external walls of wood shall be increased by a distance equal to such excess. And when any external wooden walls of different buildings are built on land in the same possession or occupation, and shall exceed 10 feet in height, then the distance of the external wall, exceeding that height from any other such external wall, shall be increased by a distance equal to such excess.

(c) Should the external walls be built of brick, and be carried up at least 18 inches above the roof covering or gutter—or should the whole of the external walls be at such a distance from such land as that it shall be lawful to erect such walls of wood—then the roof covering may be shingles or palings.

RULES CONCERNING WALLS OF WHATEVER KIND.

Foundations.

37. Every external wall, and party wall, and every party fence-wall, must be built upon a constructed footing, based upon solid ground, or upon other sufficient foundation.

Materials.

38. Every footing must be built of brick or stone, or of such bricks and stones together, laid in and with mortar or cement, in such manner as to produce solid work, or concrete in proper proportions of lime or cement, sand, and stone.

Width.

39. The bottom of the footing of every external wall and party wall of the first rate must be, at the least, 8 inches wider than the wall standing thereon; and the bottom of every footing of every external wall and party wall of the second and third rates must be, at the least, 6 inches wider than the wall standing thereon; and the bottom of the footing, and of every party fence wall must be, at the least, 4 inches wider than the wall standing thereon; the top of the footing of every party fence wall and of every external wall and party wall, must be, at the least, 4 inches wider than the wall standing thereon, and not to be less in depth than 12 inches below natural surface of ground.

Height.

40. The footing of every external wall and party wall must not be brought up nearer to the surface of the ground, area, or footway adjoining thereto, than 3 inches. The footing of every external wall and party wall of the first rate must be, at the least, 11 inches high above the foundation. The footing of every external wall and party wall of the second and third rates must be, at the least, 8 inches high above the foundation. The footing of every party fence wall, and of every external wall, and party wall of every other kind, must be at the least 5 inches high above the foundation.

Depth Below Lowest Floor.

41. The top of the footing of every external and party wall must be, at the least, 6 inches below the surface; and in any buildings of the first class the surface of the earth, or of any paving on the outside (except the pavement of any public way), must not at any time be raised to within 6 inches on the surface of the lowest or first floor of such building, and every external or party wall must have a damp-proof course of slate, cement, asphalt, or other damp-proof material, through the whole thickness of the wall, and in cases where it is not desirable to place the same throughout the structure at one level, then the said damp-proof course must be laid in horizontal or vertical layers and properly connected or overlapped to insure the moisture being kept down.

The space under ground floors to be thoroughly ventilated.

Insanitary Sites.

42. Whenever the surveyor or official referee shall deem it necessary for sanitary reasons he may, by writing, require the owner within a given time to cover the surface enclosed or about to be used with a coating of concrete, cement, asphalt, or other suitable material, so as to be impervious to water or foul exhalations. In no case shall the soil below the floor of any building be left undrained or so that water may remain stagnant on any portion thereof.

Thickness of Inclosing Walls to Stories of Buildings of Whatever Rate.

43. With regard to the inclosing walls to stories of buildings of the first and second classes, each of the inclosing walls of any such story (throughout the whole height thereof, from the top of the footing up to the top of such story, with all the setoff in addition required for such wall, to whatever rate or whichever class it may belong, including piers properly distributed, equal to one-third of the whole length of such wall), must be of the following dimensions (unless cross or return walls, coursed and bonded with the inclosing walls, shall, in the opinion of the surveyor or official referee, upon application to him in each particular case, give sufficient strength, with less thickness in such inclosing walls), that is to say:—

As to First-class Buildings.—If the story be in height more than 14 feet, unless the story shall be the next below the topmost floor, or shall be the only story of a building, in which case the height may be 14 feet, the thickness of its inclosing walls must be, at the least, $13\frac{1}{2}$ inches; or if the story be, in height more than 15 feet, then the thickness of its inclosing wall must be, at the least, $17\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

As to Second-class Buildings.—If the story be in height more than 9 feet, then the thickness of its inclosing walls must be at the least, $1\frac{3}{4}$ inches; or if the story be in height more than 12 feet, then the thickness of its inclosing walls must be, at the least, $1\frac{7}{8}$ inches, or if the story be in height more than 20 feet, then the thickness of its inclosing wall must be, at the least, 22 inches.

44. Nevertheless, as to any external wall of any building of the first class, in which there are no apertures or recesses, if there be another external wall and a cross wall, of not less than $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches thick, coursing and bonding with such external wall, or if two such cross walls occur within a length of 24 feet of such wall, then such external wall may be built of the thickness of $1\frac{3}{4}$ inches, or any height not exceeding 18 feet within any story, although the rate of the wall may require a greater thickness; but always upon the condition that the substructure of such wall is 4 inches thicker, at the least, than such superstructure, and vertically under it.

If any such wall be abutted by cross or return walls within a length of 12 feet, and if not more than one aperture or recess occurs within such length of 12 feet, and not more than one-half the quantity in length be taken out of such compartment of a wall by an aperture or recess, then such external wall may be built of any thickness not less than 13 inches, notwithstanding the rate of such wall may require a greater thickness.

Return or Cross Walls.

45. Return walls, which may be either external, party, or cross walls, must be built across the entire story, of either brick or stone, at right angles to the ridge of the roof, and to the full height of such story, and must be properly bonded to the external or party walls, and must not contain openings or recesses exceeding one-half of the superficial area of the wall measured in each story, and provided always that buildings containing not more than ten squares shall not require more than one cross wall.

Construction and Materials.

46. The component materials of external walls to buildings of whatever class must be built of brick or stone, or of brick and stone together laid in with mortar or cement, or of good, sound wood, plastered throughout on the inside; and every such wall must be carried up to its full thickness to the underside of the plate under the roof, except in the case of sheds, stables, and workshops, when the same may be constructed of studs, and covered with palings, weatherboards or iron, subject to distance as within specified.

47. In such walls, besides all requisite openings for doors and windows, recesses may be formed, so that the back thereof be of the thickness of $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches, at the least, provided that such recess or recesses shall be arched over with an arch having a rise at least equal to one-fourth of its span, and provided further that such recess or recesses shall in no case exceed 6 feet in width and 8 feet in height, measured to the springing, and that the aggregate of such recesses shall in no case exceed one-third of the superficial area of the wall in which such recess or recesses are constructed, and further that the stability and sufficiency of the wall be not injuriously affected by making such recesses.

48. With regard to other substances than the component materials of external walls, there may be such wood and iron as shall be necessary, and every plate, lintel, bond, or corbel, being of wood, and every wood brick laid into any external wall, and all ends of joists, of girders, and of the heads and sills of partitions running into any external wall, must be fixed at a distance from the external face of the wall of 4 inches, at the least, except ceiling joists, which may go through the wall, provided a sufficient corbel be formed to separate one building from another at the line of the party wall and external walls. The frames of doors and windows must be fixed in reveals, at a distance from the external face of the wall of 3 inches, at the least. Shop fronts must be fixed in such manner as is herein specially directed. The tiers of door case to warehouses must be fixed in the opening left in such walls, at a distance from the external face of the wall of 2 inches at least. No timber must be laid into any external wall in such manner or of such lengths as to render the part of the wall above it wholly, or in great part dependent upon the wood for support, or so that any such wood might not be withdrawn without endangering the safety of the superincumbent structure, except in the case of breastsummers.

Height and Thickness of Parapets.

49. If any external wall be built within 4 feet of ground in occupation of another, then such external wall must be carried up and remain 1 foot, at the least, above the highest point of its adjoining gutter. The thickness of an external wall, so carried up above the level of the underlie of the gutter plate, and forming a parapet, must be, at the least, in every such wall $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches thick, shall not be necessary for party or dividing walls between property owned by the same person to be carried up further than underside of slates of roof, provided such slates be well bedded in cement, or good mortar.

Breastsummers.

50. Every such breastsummer must have a bearing in the direction of its length of 6 inches at the least, at each end upon a sufficient pier of brick or stone; and where the span exceeds 14 feet between the bearings, the bearing must be increased 1 inch at end for every 4 feet or portion of 4 feet by which the bearing exceeds 14 feet, in addition to which the breastsummer must be supported, at the discretion of the surveyor or official referee, on one or more timber or iron story posts, fixed upon solid foundations, and the ends of such breastsummer if of wood shall not be placed nearer to the centre line of the party wall than $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Every breastsummer bearing upon any wall must be borne by a template or corbel of stone or iron. If of stone the template to be at least two courses deep, tailed into wall at least 2 feet 6 inches, and of the full width of the wall; if of iron, to be tailed through at least the thickness of such wall, and of the full breadth of the breastsummer. Every breastsummer to carry a brick wall shall be of iron.

Materials to be Used in Repairs.

51. With regard to the old external walls or other external enclosures of any buildings already built, if any walls or enclosures be not built of the materials required by these Regulations for external walls or other external enclosures hereafter to be built, then every part of such wall or other external enclosure may be at all times thereafter repaired with materials of the same sort as those of which such external wall or enclosure has been built. But if any building or part of a building or if any external wall or enclosure be at any time hereafter removed, taken down, or otherwise demolished, for the height of one story, or for a space equal to one-fourth of the whole surface of such external wall or building, then every part thereof, not built in the manner and of the several materials by these Regulations directed for external walls, must be taken down.

External Wall Used as a Party Wall.

52. If any external wall to any building already built be at the least $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches in thickness in every part, and be of sound and proper materials and in good condition, then such wall may, at the discretion of the surveyor, with the consent, in writing, of the owner thereof, be used as a party wall; but if the house of which such wall forms a part be rebuilt, then such wall must become, subject to the provisions of these Regulations, in respect to party walls according to the class and rate to which the said wall did first belong.

Division of Buildings.

53. If it be intended to divide any building into two or more distinct parts, then every wall for that purpose must be built as a party wall, in the manner and of the materials and of the several heights and thicknesses for party walls of the highest rates of building to which such party wall shall belong or adjoin, as prescribed in reference to the thickness or party walls in Schedule B.

54. If any building already built, or which shall be hereafter built, be converted, used, or occupied as two or more separate buildings, each having a separate entrance or staircase, such conversion, use, or occupation, not having been made, or not having taken place prior to these Regulations coming into operation, then every such building shall be deemed to be two or more separate houses, and such separate houses must be divided from each other by a party wall, or party arch, or arches, built in the manner and of the materials required for party walls, or for party arches for the class and rate to which the largest of the buildings so divided shall belong.

Construction and Materials of Walls.

55. Every part of a party wall must be built of sound bricks or stone, or of such bricks and stone together, laid in and with mortar or cement, in such manner as to produce solid work.

56. The bearing ends of wooden beams, breastsummers, girders, trimming joists, and the ends of partition heads and sills and the bearing ends of the main timbers of a roof, and wood bricks, may be laid into the substance of a party wall; but no such beam, breastsummer, girder, joist, partition, head, or sill, nor any part of a roof being wood, nor any wood bricks must be laid or placed within $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches of the centre of any party wall; and no other woodwork of any kind must be laid into, placed upon, or be run or driven into any part of the substance of any party wall.

57. If the end of timbers be carried on iron shoes, or stone corbels, then such iron shoes or stone corbels must be built into the wall, at the least one-half of the thickness of such wall.

58. The top of every such party wall must be finished with one course of sound hard bricks, set on edge, with good mortar or cement, or by a coping of any other properly secured, and sufficient waterproof and fireproof covering.

Height of Party Walls Above Roof Between Properties Belonging to Different Owners.

59. If a party wall adjoin to any roof, then such party wall must be carried up and remain 15 inches, at the least, above the part where the party wall and roof adjoin, measured at a right angle with the back of the rafters of such roof.

60. If any party wall in any building of the First Class adjoin a gutter, then such party wall must be carried up and remain 15 inches, at the least, above the highest part of any such gutter.

61. If any party wall in any building of the Second Class adjoin a gutter, then such party wall must be carried up and remain 2 feet at the least above the highest part of any such gutter.

62. If there be fixed within 5 feet of a party wall, upon the flat or roof of a building, any turret, dormer, lantern light, or other erection of combustible materials, then every such party wall must be carried up next to every such turret, dormer, lantern light, or other erection, and must extend 1 foot higher and 1 foot wider than any such erection on each side thereof.

Openings in Party Walls.

63. For the purpose of regulating the making of openings through any party wall between one dwelling-house and another whereby two or more dwelling-houses shall be united, with regard to any dwelling-houses of any rate, such dwelling-houses may be united by means of openings in party walls, which, when so united, shall be and continue to be in same occupation, upon its being declared by the surveyor or official referee that, in his opinion, the stability of any or either of such dwelling-houses will not be endangered by making such opening.

Recesses and Chases.

64. In every story recesses may be formed, but only with the written consent and authority of the surveyor or official referee first had and obtained, and so that the back of any such recess be not nearer than 1½ inches to the centre of the party wall, and provided that such recess or recesses shall be arched over with an arch having a rise at least equal to one-fourth of its span, and provided, further, that such recess or recesses shall in no case exceed 6 feet in width and 8 feet in height, measured to the springing, and that the aggregate of such recess shall in no case exceed one-third of the superficial area of the wall in which such recess or recesses are constructed, and further that the stability and sufficiency of such party walls be not injuriously affected thereby; if any chases be required for the insertion of ends of walls, of piers, of chimney jambs, of withes, of flues, of metal pipes, or of iron story posts, then every chase for any such purpose must not be left or be cut nearer than 4 inches at the least to the centre of a party wall, nor within a distance of 9 inches at the least from any front or back wall, and no two such chases must be made within a distance of 7 ft. 6 in. at the least, from each other, on the same side of a wall, and no such chase must be formed wider than 9 inches.

Party Walls and Party Arches between Intermixed Property.

65. If any building already, having rooms the property of different owners which lie intermixed, without being separated by any party wall, be altogether rebuilt, or to the extent of one-fourth of the cubical contents thereof, then such intermixed properties must be separated from each other by a party wall constructed in conformity with these Regulations.

With regard to party walls between different owners in reference to the site thereof, if the buildings be of equal rate, then such party walls must be built on the line of junction of such buildings; one-half on the ground of the owner of one such building, and one-half on the ground of the owner of the other such building.

If such buildings be of different rates, then such wall must be built on the line of junction thereof, as follows:—One-half of the thickness of the wall required for the building of the lower rate on the ground of each of the adjoining owners; and the whole of the additional thickness of the wall required for the building of the higher rate on the ground of the owner of such building of the higher rate.

Building Over Public Ways.

66. With regard to buildings extending over any public way, as to the part thereof which extends over such way so far as relates to the separation of such part from such public way, if such part be rebuilt, then it must be separated from such public way either by a floor or arch formed of brick or stone, or of other incombustible materials, subject to the consent of the surveyor or official referee; or by a floor formed of iron girders and brick arches, or stone landings, or by an arch formed of brick or stone, which arch, if the span thereof do not exceed 9 feet, must be of the thickness of 9 inches at the least, and which, if the span exceed 9 feet, must be of the thickness of 13½ inches at the least; and the soffit of the arch must not be less than 14 feet from the pavement of such public way; and such floor or arch, with its abutments, must be built in such manner as shall be approved of by the surveyor or official referee; but there must not be formed over any public way a ceiling of lath and plaster, or of lath and cement. No buildings shall be built over any street or public way after the date of these Regulations coming into operation, without special consent of the Council previously obtained.

RULES CONCERNING EXTERNAL PROJECTIONS.

Projections from the Face of Wall, &c.

67. With regard to buildings hereafter to be built or rebuilt, in reference to projections therefrom, as to the copings, parapets, cornices to overhanging roofs, blocking courses, piers, columns, pilasters, entablatures, facias, door and window dressings, or other architectural decorations, forming part of an external wall, all such must be built of the same materials as are by these Regulations directed to be used for building external walls to which such projections belong, or of such other proper and sufficient materials as the surveyor or official referee may approve or permit, and as to all porches, shop fronts, open enclosures of open areas, and steps, and water-pipes, and to all other projections from external walls not forming part thereof; every such projection must be built of brick, tile, stone, artificial stone, slate, cement, metal, or other fire-proof material; and such projections must be so built as not to overhang the ground belonging to any other owner, nor to obstruct the light or air, or be otherwise injurious to the owner or occupier of the buildings adjoining thereto on any side thereof; nor shall any such projections extend beyond the building line at any height less than 10 feet from the level of the public footway, nor encroach upon the building line of any public footway, except that the base of plinth thereof may project beyond the building line to an extent not exceeding 4 inches in the streets of 99 feet width, and 2½ inches in streets of less width. No projections, including steps, cellar doors, and area enclosures, are to encroach upon the building line of any public footway; and no verandah must approach nearer to the end of the house to which it belongs than 2 feet, unless built wholly of fire-proof material, or separated from any adjoining verandah or premises by party walls at least 8½ inches in thickness, provided that these restrictions do not apply to verandahs to be added to houses erected before the coming into force of these Regulations; and with regard to the projecting eaves of any building on either side thereof, such eaves may project beyond the face of the external wall, provided such eaves be at least 4 feet from the ground not in the same possession. No cornice must project a greater distance than the thickness of the wall of the story surmounted by the same, and every such cornice must have one course of stone flagging tailed through the inside of the said wall, unless the method of construction of such cornice shall have previously been submitted to the surveyor or official referee, and shall have been by him approved.

Projected Buildings Beyond the General Line of Buildings, and from other External Walls.

68. With regard to buildings already built, or hereafter to be built, as to bow windows or other projections of any kind, such projections must not be built with or added to any building on any face of an external wall thereof, so as to extend more than 2 feet beyond the building line in any street (which line shall be determined by the surveyor or official referee), except so far as hereinbefore provided, with regard to projections from face of walls and shop fronts, nor so as to overhang the ground belonging to any other owner, nor as to obstruct the light and air, or be otherwise injurious to the owners or occupiers of the buildings adjoining thereto, or any side thereof.

Wooden Shop Fronts, Shutters, Sign and Show Boards.

69. With regard to shop fronts, and their entablatures, their shutters and pilasters, and stall boards made of wood, no part of such shop front, except the cornice, must project from the face of a wall, whether there be an area or not, further than the base line nor must the cornice project therefrom more than 12 inches. The woodwork of any shop front must not be fixed nearer than 4½ inches to the centre line of a party wall.

70. With regard to such woodwork, if it be put up at such distance of 4½ inches, then a pier or corbel built of stone, or of brick, or incombustible material, to commence at the level of the underside of the plinth at bottom of the wood pilaster, and to be of the width of 8½ inches at the least must be fixed in line of the party wall so as to be as high as such woodwork, and so as to project 1 inch at the least in front of the face thereof. No showboard or signboard shall be affixed to the front of any building so as to extend over any public footway or nearer than 2 feet to the end of such building unless such showboard or signboard abut against a brick or stone corbel, pier, or pilaster 9 inches in thickness and projecting 1 inch beyond the face of such showboard or signboard, and be carried up to the full height of the same.

RULES CONCERNING CHIMNEYS HEREAFTER BUILT OR REBUILT.

Construction.

71. With regard to chimneys and chimney-stacks, except angle chimneys, in reference to the construction thereof, the foundations and footings of every such chimney and chimney-stack must be built of brick or stone, and every such chimney and chimney-stack must be built from the foundation to the top thereof without any corbelling over, whereby any upper part of the brickwork of such chimney or chimney-stack shall overhang any lower part of the brickwork; nevertheless, with regard to buildings of the first or dwelling-house class, the jambs, breast or flue in any single chimney may be built upon stone or iron corbels above the ceiling of the ground floor of every such building, and no such corbels shall have their beds upon timber, but the projection, both of such jambs and breast, must not in any case exceed 14 inches before the face of the wall or stack to which the same shall adjoin. With regard to angle chimneys, such chimneys may be built in the internal angle of any building so that the width of the breast thereof do not exceed 8 feet, and so that it be properly supported on iron girders, or with brick arches, or on strong stone landings, not less than 4 inches thick, and tailed at least 9 inches into each of the two walls forming such angle.

Dimensions and Materials.

73. No timber must be placed over any opening for supporting the breast of any chimney, but there must be an arch of brick or stone over the opening of every such chimney, to support the breast thereof, or an iron bar or bars must be built into the jambs, to tie in the abutments, and the jamb on either side is not to be of less width than one-fourth of the opening. No timber or woodwork must be placed or laid in any wall under any chimney opening within 16 inches at the least of the surface of the hearth to the fireplace of such chimney opening. As to any timber or woodwork, in reference to the fixing thereof in or against any wall containing flues, or against any chimney breast, or chimney jambs, if timber mantel or woodwork be affixed to the front of any jamb, or to the front or back of any chimney or flue, then it must be fixed by iron nails, or holdfasts, or other iron fastenings, which must not be driven nearer than 4 inches to the inside of any flue, or the opening of any chimney, and such timber or woodwork must not be nearer than 1 inch to the opening of any chimney; and no timber must be laid or placed within 3 inches of the face or breast, back, side, or jamb of any flue, or of any chimney opening where the substance of brickwork or stonework shall be less than 8½ inches thick, nor must any flooring board, batten, ground skirting, or other lining or fitting of wood, nor any wood staircase, nor anything else of wood, be fixed or placed against or near to the face or breast, back, side, or jamb of any flue, fireplace, or chimney opening unless and until the brick or stonework constituting the same shall have been thoroughly and efficiently rendered or pargetted with proper mortar or stucco, and such rendering must be, in every case, in addition to 4 inches at the least of solid fire-proof structure.

The inner hearth of every chimney must be laid and bedded wholly on brick or stone, or other incombustible substance, which must be solid, for a thickness of 9 inches at the least, beneath the surface of any such hearth.

Angles of Flues.

75. If any flue be built with sufficient openings in it, if not less than 8½ inches square, and proper close iron doors and frames inserted in such openings, so that every part of such flue may be swept by machinery, then every angle of such flue may be of any degree; but if it be not so built, then every such angle must be 135 degrees at the least. Every salient or projecting angle within a flue must be rounded off 4 inches at the least, and protected by a rounded stone or iron bar.

Close Fires.

76. Every oven, furnace, coke, or close fire, used for the purpose of trade or manufacture, must be 6 inches at the least distant from any party wall, and must not be upon or within a distance of 18 inches of any timber or woodwork; and the floor on or above which such oven, furnace, coke, or close fire shall be built or fixed, must be formed and paved under, and for a distance of 2 feet all round the same, with stone, brick, tile, or slate, at the least 2 inches thick, or other proper incombustible and non-conducting materials.

Steam Boilers.

77. Any boiler used for the purpose of generating steam must not be set or fixed inside any house of the first or dwelling-house class, nor within a distance of 2½ feet of the external wall of any dwelling-house, nor within 5 feet of any land not in the same occupation, the said 2½ feet being in every case measured from the external face of the setting of the said steam boiler.

Chimney Shafts.

78. Every chimney shaft or flue hereafter built, raised, or repaired must be carried up in brick or stonework all round at least 4½ inches thick, to a height of not less than 3 feet above the highest part of such portion of the roof; flat or gutter adjoining thereto, measured at the point of junction. As to any chimney shaft (except that of a steam engine, brewery, distillery, or manufactory) the brick or stonework of such shaft or flue must not be built higher than 8 feet above the slope; flat, or gutter of the roof which it adjoins, measured from the highest point of junction, unless such chimney shaft shall be built of increased thickness, or be built with and bonded to another chimney shaft, or be otherwise rendered secure. The chimney shaft for the boiler furnace of any steam engine, or for any brewery, distillery, or manufactory, may be expected of any height, but not less than 60 feet high; measured from the natural surface of the ground at the base of the said shaft, and in such manner and of such strength, dimensions, and materials as shall be satisfactory to the surveyor or official referee, and in every case the plans must be submitted to the surveyor or official referee, and his assent thereto obtained.

Chimney Pots, Tubes, &c.

79. As to earthen or metal chimney pots, tubes, funnels, or cowls, of any description whatsoever, if such pot, tube, funnel, or cowl be higher than 6 feet above the brick or stonework of the flue, on which the same shall be placed, then it must be fixed 2 feet at least into the brick or stonework of the flue on which it shall be placed.

Smoke Pipes.

80. As to any metal or other pipe or funnel for conveying smoke, in reference to the position thereof, such pipe or funnel must not be fixed against or in front of any face of any building in any street or right-of-way, nor in the inside of any building nearer than 14 inches to any timber or other combustible material.

Cuttings into Chimneys.

81. No chimney shaft, jamb, breast, or flue already, or which shall be hereafter built, shall be cut into for any other purpose than the repair thereof, or for the formation of soot doors, or for letting in, removing, or altering stove-pipes, or smoke-jacks, except as directed for building an external wall against an old sound party wall, and except for inserting a ventilating valve, such cutting not to be nearer than 4½ inches to any timber, or other combustible substance, and that every part of such valve be made and fixed with incombustible materials.

89. For the purpose of providing for the proper administration of these Regulations generally, and also to determine sundry matters in question incident thereto, as well as to exercise in certain cases a discretion in the relaxation of the fixed rules and directions of these Regulations where the strict observance thereof is impracticable, or would defeat the objects of these Regulations, or would needlessly affect with injury the course and operation of business, an official referee shall be appointed by the members of the Shire Council in council assembled, provided that the persons so appointed shall be by profession an architect, surveyor, or practical builder. The Shire Council shall have power from time to time to remove the official referee so appointed by them, and in his place to appoint another person qualified as aforesaid; and while any such person shall hold the office of official referee he

92. Such official referee shall receive for his own use and benefit a fee of One pound for his time and trouble in determining any reference or appeal made to him under the provisions of these Regulations, whether in conjunction with the surveyor or not, such fee to be paid in the first place by the party making or demanding the reference or appeal, before the same is entered upon or decided, and ultimately by such persons as may be indicated in the award.

35. If such cattle, by reason of being so found at large, have been impounded by the Council, the amount of such penalty and costs, if adjudged respectively before the release or sale of such cattle, shall be added to the pound fees and charges payable in respect to such cattle, and the amount thereof, or such lesser amount (if any) as after the sale of the cattle may remain in the hands of the poundkeeper, shall be paid over by him accordingly; and if the proceeds of any sale of such cattle are not sufficient after paying the lawful fees and charges aforesaid to satisfy such penalty and costs, or if such penalty and costs have been adjudged after the release or sale of the cattle, the same or so much thereof as remains unpaid shall and may be recovered from the owner of the cattle in like manner as other penalties and costs adjudged by justices are by law to be recovered; and if in the case of any information under this section the owner be not known, then the provision of the last preceding section, so far as necessary to give the adjudicating justice jurisdiction shall apply.

36. If any person be guilty of any wilful offence or misfeasance, or wilful or negligent act of commission or omission contrary to any provision contained in this By-law, he shall forfeit a sum not exceeding Five pounds, unless a penalty otherwise is provided in this By-law.
