(b) At intervals of at least one month from any previous visit.

(c) The duration of the visit shall be twenty minutes.

(d) A visit shall take place only in the presence of an officer and in a room provided for the purpose.

(2) A prisoner who is entitled to receive a visit from friends may write a letter and receive a reply in lieu of such visit.

(3) A person who has served a sentence in gaol, or is of reputed bad character shall not be admitted as a visitor without permission from the Inspector-General.

(4) In every case a prisoner shall be asked if he desires to see the visitor, and shall have the option of refusal.

Separation of Prisoners.

58. (1) In all cases, where practicable, every prisoner shall occupy a cell by himself. If in special circumstances it is necessary for prisoners to be associated, not fewer than three may be located in one cell, and each shall have a separate bed.

(2) Prisoners classified special or restraint shall be kept separate but may work in association with prisoners of their own class.

(3) Every prisoner convicted for the first time shall be kept apart from other prisoners unless otherwise ordered by the Inspector-General. He may be kept under separate treatment for any period of his imprisonment not exceeding six months.

(4) Any prisoner who has been convicted more than once shall be kept in separate treatment for such period or periods as may be ordered by the Inspector-General.

(5) Any prisoner undergoing punishment for any prison offence or whose removal may be considered necessary may be placed under separate treatment or removed to any other part of the prison, as may be ordered by the Inspector-General or at the direction of the gaoler, subject to the Inspector-General's subsequent indorsement.

(6) Every prisoner under separate treatment, solitary confinement, or close confinement, shall receive exercise in the open air for at least two hours daily, or a longer period as the Medical Officer may deem necessary.

(7) The Medical Officer or the Inspector-General may order that any prisoner undergoing separate treatment shall not be separately confined at all or only for a limited time. The Medical Officer shall, within seven days after, report to the Inspector-General his reasons for making the order.

(8) A prisoner not actually under separate treatment may work in association, but he will be lodged apart.

Termination and Remission of Sentences.

83. Remissions of sentences shall be subject to good conduct and industry and will be granted to a prisoner on the following conditions, viz.:—

(1) Under a sentence amounting to six months and less than two years, when he has completed seven-eighths of his sentence.

(2) Under a sentence amounting to two years and less than three years, when he has completed five-sixths of his sentence. Provided, however, that the term of imprisonment shall be increased by the term of all punishments for prison offences and by the time during which the prisoner has been absent from hard labour. In any case of special industry with good conduct the Inspector-General may increase the remission to one-sixth of the sentence when the sentence is six months and less than two years, and to one-fourth of sentence when the sentence is two years and less than three years.

(3) Under a sentence of three years and upwards when he has completed not less than three-fourths of his sentence in accordance with the number of marks allotted for industry and good conduct (see (a), &c., except under special provisions made under (c).

(a) Mark system—Every sentence will be represented by a certain number of marks calculated on the following basis:—

310 working-days, at nine marks per diem	2,790
52 Sundays, at six marks	312
3 holidays (Christmas Day, Good Friday, and King's Birthday), at six marks per diem	18
	3,120

(b) There shall be six stages under the mark system and the time in each stage will be represented by marks.

(c) Marks will be assigned as follows:—

In the first stage—nine on working days and six on Sundays.

In the remaining stages employed at hard labour and subject to good conduct and industry, twelve on working days and eight on Sundays.

If employed at light labour only, not more than eleven marks will be allowed on working days.

While absent from labour nine marks will be allowed on working days and six on Sundays.

A prisoner undergoing a cumulative sentence by a Visiting Justice will not be allowed marks, but must serve the extra sentence by time.

The Inspector-General may grant to any prisoner who may have been particularly diligent, useful, and trustworthy in the performance of special clerical work or special work of instruction or any skilled work, one extra mark for every day employed.

(d) The period of detention in the first stage will be from three to six months according to the length of sentence but may for misconduct be extended for a term not exceeding nine months.

(e) The marks earned after conviction before being placed in the first stage will be allowed in reduction of the number to be earned in the second stage. The marks allowed for any period in hospital are not to be counted for service in that stage, but are to be carried forward to the second stage.

(f) The number of marks earned after promotion to the second and before entering the fourth stage will be equally divided between the second and third stages.

(g) Under sentences of eight years or less, a prisoner will be eligible for the fourth stage when he has gained a number of marks sufficient to represent one-half of his sentence.

Under sentences exceeding eight years, and under twenty years, he will be eligible for the fourth stage when he has arrived at the period of five years from the probable date of discharge.

Under sentences of twenty years and upwards, he will be eligible for the fourth stage when he has arrived at the period of seven years from the probable date of discharge.

The marks to be earned in the fourth, fifth, and sixth stages will be allotted in the proportion of one-half to the fourth, one-third to the fifth, and one-sixth to the sixth respectively.

(h) A prisoner who may have previously undergone any sentence which was not considered by the Court at the time he was last convicted will only be credited with eleven marks on working days and seven on Sundays. The Inspector-General may at any time exempt any prisoner wholly or partly from the operation of this sub-clause.

(i) The promotion of a prisoner from one stage to another, and liberation from prison, will entirely depend on the number of marks earned. Should he misconduct himself after gaining the fourth stage he may be reduced to the third.

84. A prisoner under the mark system shall be entitled to every privilege allotted to his stage unless he forfeit the same by misconduct, or unless his removal to any other part of the prison be considered necessary by the Inspector-General.

85. A prisoner who is unable but not unwilling to perform hard labour, or who is under medical treatment in the hospital, may receive marks according to the circumstances of the case.

86. Persons imprisoned for terms amounting to six months and upwards, in default of finding sureties or for non-payment of any sum of money imposed as a penalty or forfeiture, will be allowed remission of sentence in accordance with the first part of clause 83 of these rules and regulations.

(1) A prisoner who has funds at his disposal or friends to assist him is not to be granted a gratuity.

(2) Good conduct and industry in gaol are to be indispensable conditions.
