NOTICE TO MARINERS.—VICTORIA.

[No. 1 of 1934.]

PORT PHILLIP HEADS.

Extension Westward of Deep-water Fairway and Directions for Navigation of Deep-draft Vessels.

CONSEQUENT on the resumption of the blasting operations from October, 1932, mariners and others are now notified that the fairway over the Rip bank has been deepened to 43 feet for a width of 450 feet westward from the line of leading lights.

Demarcation, by Day.—The western limit of the 43 feet channel is from now until further notice defined by the High Lighthouse, bearing 044 deg. showing halfway between the Low Lighthouse and the Hume Tower Light which stands 65 feet north-west from the Low Lighthouse.

This western limit is also well defined by the line of Swan Island Beacon and the outer end of the Queenscliff new pier bearing 047 deg.

By Night.—The fixed and occulting white light of the High Light bearing 044 deg. showing halfway between the occulting white light from the Low Lighthouse and the occulting red light from the Hume Tower. The eastern limit of the 43 feet channel is marked as heretofore by the line of the High Light (fixed and occulting white by night) and the obelisk (occulting green by night) bearing 038 deg.

Directions—Deep-draft Steamers.—Mariners in charge of deep-draft steamers are from now until further notice informed that they are navigating in the centre of the deep-water fairway over the Rip bank by day when the High Lighthouse appears just on the east edge of the Low Lighthouse, and by night when the High Light shows just open east of the Low Light.

General Directions—Entrance to Port Phillip.—Since the fairway across the Rip bank at the entrance to Port Phillip has been deepened to 43 feet for a width of 1,000 feet to the eastward and for 450 feet to the westward of the line of leading lights, and as there is a least depth of 37 feet for an additional width of 450 feet, or 900 feet in all, to the westward from the line of leading lights, and a least depth of 37 feet also for an additional 1,000 feet, or for 2,000 feet in all, to the eastward from the line of leading lights, mariners in charge of vessels drawing less than 29 feet may now navigate the fairway with greater safety than heretofore by keeping eastward or westward of the mid-channel course according as they are entering or clearing the Heads while still conforming to the rule of the road.

The other directions for Port Phillip Heads will remain unchanged until further notice.

Charts Affected (Temporary Correction).—Departmental: "Entrance to Port Phillip, South Channel, 1921"; "Entrance to Port Phillip (including west, Symond's, and portion of South Channel"; Admiralty Charts (temporary correction), Nos. 2747 and 1171.
