IN pursuance of section 4 of the Geelong and Melbourne Harbor Trusts Act 1934 (No. 4231), the Geelong Harbor Trust Commissioners make the following Regulations in respect to employees of the Commissioners:—

1. These Regulations shall come into operation on the first day of January, 1936, and shall be known as the Geelong Harbor Trust Superannuation Regulations.

2. In these Regulations, unless inconsistent with the context or subject-matter, the following interpretations shall apply:—

"Commissioners"—the Geelong Harbor Trust Commissioners.

"Contributor"—

(a) Any person who, being under the age of 60 years at the date of the coming into operation of these Regulations, shall have completed five years' continuous regular employment in the service, and who, having within two calendar months next after such date made the prescribed application to the Commissioners, has been notified that his application has been approved.

(b) Any person who, after the date of the coming into operation of these Regulations, shall have completed five years' continuous regular employment in the service and was at the time of the commencement of such service under the age of 55 years, and who within two calendar months next after the completion of such five years' employment, having made the prescribed application to the Commissioners, has been notified that his application has been approved.

"Person"—any employee of the Commissioners not being a "contributor."

"Year"—calendar year.

"Service"—exclusive employment in the service of the Commissioners, including temporary service in other employment when approved by the Commissioners.

(a) Attainment of the maximum age for retirement.

(b) Retirement on account of ill health or physical or mental incapacity to perform his duties.

(c) Voluntary resignation.

"Wages" includes salaries and means all the pecuniary emoluments received by a contributor or person in his capacity as such, but does not include payments made for overtime or otherwise of a temporary character or made for travelling allowances and expenses; and "annual wage" means the ordinary weekly rate of wages earned by any contributor or person multiplied by fifty-two.

"Fund"—the Geelong Harbor Trust Superannuation Fund.

"Contributor's account"—an account opened by each contributor in a subsidiary ledger.

"Dependant" shall mean a dependant at the time of death of a contributor as determined by the Commissioners; and "dependent" shall have a corresponding meaning.

Words importing the singular number shall include the plural, and vice versa.

Words importing the masculine gender shall include the feminine gender.

3. Accounts shall be opened and kept in the books of the Trust, and shall be entitled respectively "The Superannuation Fund Account" and the "Superannuation Fund Investments Account." There shall be opened and kept a subsidiary ledger in which there shall be kept contributors' accounts containing details of all credits and debits applicable to each contributor.

The Superannuation Fund Investments Account shall show from time to time the investments of the fund.

4. (a) The fund shall be controlled by the Commissioners, who may appoint permanent officials of the Trust and their successors in office as a Committee under the supervision of the Commissioners.

(b) All moneys received into the fund, after reserving the sum required to meet current liabilities, shall be invested in any or all of the following trustee securities:—

Investments in any other security mentioned in the Trustee Act 1928 or otherwise are hereby expressly prohibited.

(c) The fund shall be subject to audit under the provisions of the Geelong and Melbourne Harbor Trusts Act 1934 (No. 4231).

5. All expenses of the management of the fund shall be borne by the Commissioners, but in the event of any losses occurring in respect of investments hereby authorized they shall not be held liable therefor.

6. Notwithstanding anything in these Regulations, the Commissioners shall be empowered to exclude any person from becoming a contributor, and their decision shall be final.

7. The contributions to the fund by each contributor shall be based on an annual sum representing 5 per centum of the maximum of the wages group into which his annual wage falls from time to time, and a proportional part of such annual sum shall be deducted from his wages on each ordinary pay day unless otherwise determined by the Commissioners.

Provided, nevertheless, that in any of the following cases, viz.:—

(a) Where a contributor enters the service after the date of the coming into operation of these Regulations;

(b) Where the wages of a contributor are increased and he becomes entitled to and does contribute on the basis of any wages group higher than that into which his annual wages fell at the date of the coming into force of these Regulations;

(c) Where, as provided in section 13, a contributor has requested the Commissioners to permit him to contribute on the basis of a lower wages group and he subsequently becomes entitled to and does contribute on the basis of a higher wages group—the contributor shall contribute to the fund an annual sum which will provide not less than one-half of the principal moneys as provided in section 14 (a), but the operation of this proviso shall be limited in any case under paragraphs (b) or (c) hereof to the additional principal moneys which will become payable by reason of contribution on the basis of the higher group as therein mentioned. A proportionate part of such annual sum to be contributed under this proviso shall be deducted from the wages of such contributor on each ordinary pay day unless otherwise determined by the Commissioners.

8. (a) Contributions by any contributor shall commence on the first regular pay-day next after the date of approval of his application to become a contributor.

(b) Contributions by any contributor shall cease after the pay-day last preceding the date of the conclusion of his service.

9. Where leave of absence from the service without pay or without full pay has been granted on the grounds of ill health or otherwise to any contributor, the Commissioners may, upon his application, permit the contributions falling due during his absence to be paid by him in such instalments and at such periods as the Commissioners approve.

Notwithstanding anything in section 14, the Commissioners shall discontinue their regular contributions on account of such contributor after the date of the last regular deduction of contribution from his wages, and subsequent contributions by the Commissioners on his account shall be in the same ratio as the actual contributions during any half-year by the contributor bears to the amount of contribution which he should have made over such period under the provisions of section 7.

Should any such instalment of contribution be not paid by the contributor, the Commissioners may discontinue their contributions on his account.

10. If the wages of a contributor are increased so that the annual wage falls within a higher wages group than that under which he was last contributing, such contributor may in writing elect before the next succeeding pay-day to continue his contributions on the basis of the previous wages group, failing which election he must contribute on the basis of the higher wages group.

11. If the wages of a contributor are reduced so that the annual wage falls within a lower wages group than that under which he was last contributing, such contributor, having had at least ten years' continuous employment in the service and the reduction in wages being not occasioned by his own fault, may in writing elect before the next succeeding pay-day to continue his contributions on the basis of the previous higher wages group, failing which election he must contribute on the basis of the lower wages group. Where he has not had at least ten years' continuous employment in the service, or his reduction in wages is occasioned by his own fault, he must contribute on the basis of the lower wages group.

12. Notwithstanding anything in sections 10 and 11, there shall not be any adjustment in contributions owing to any increase or decrease of a temporary nature or occasioned under the "cost of living" adjustment clause or similar clause in any industrial agreement or award or determination to an annual sum amounting to not more than £10 per annum more than the minimum of the wages group next higher or to not more than £10 per annum less than the maximum of the wages group next lower than that under which a contributor was last contributing.

13. Notwithstanding anything in these Regulations, the Commissioners, at the request of any contributor, may permit him to contribute on the basis of a lower wages group, but in no case shall such reduction of the wages group exceed two lower than that under which he is at the time entitled to contribute.

14. (a) In respect of each contributor there shall be contributed by the Commissioners to the fund a sum which will at the maximum age for retirement, together with the contributions of the contributor, amount in principal moneys to a total of £100 in respect of each £50 in the maximum of the wages group under which the contributor contributes from time to time. Of such contribution by the Commissioners fractional payments of equal amounts, which shall be raised or lowered according to any increase or decrease taking place in the maximum of the wages group under which the contributor is contributing shall be made by the Commissioners during the service of the contributor on or prior to the 30th June and 31st December respectively in each year or at such other half-yearly periods as the Commissioners may determine, the said fractional payments being of such amounts that, if paid as aforesaid until attainment by the contributor of the maximum age for retirement, their sum will be equal to the full contribution by the Commissioners in accordance with this sub-section.

(b) Notwithstanding anything in the preceding sub-section, the half-yearly amount of contribution by the Commissioners in respect of a contributor shall be in no case lower than 50 per centum of the total of the contributions by such contributor during such half-year.

(c) In any case where the contribution by the Commissioners has been varied consequent on any application of the provisions of sections 10, 11, or 13, the total principal sum accrued at the date of variation shall not be varied, but the variation shall be applied to all subsequent contributions by the Commissioners.

15. Any contributor who—

- (a) whilst in the service reaches the maximum age for retirement; or
- (b) before reaching that age retires through ill health or physical or mental incapacity to perform any duties allotted to him by the Commissioners either before or after such ill health or incapacity, the reason for such retirement being proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioners—shall have paid to him the total of his own contributions and the Commissioners' contributions in respect of him, as well as interest received and accrued thereon to the date of payment.

Provided that if such contributor re-enters the service and again becomes a contributor, his previous service shall be taken into account; and, should he again retire under the provisions of this section, there shall be paid to him a further sum representing the total of his own contributions and the Commissioners' contributions in respect of him from the date of his re-entering the service, as well as interest received and accrued to the date of payment of such further sum.

Provided also that when any contributor retires under the provisions of this section the total amount due to him, together with any amount which may have become due and been paid to him in connexion with a previous retirement (if any) not reaching an amount equal to a total of one week's wages (at the rate last received by him) for each complete year of service, there shall be paid to him any difference, and such payment shall be a charge solely against the Commissioners.

16. (a) Where any married contributor dies whilst in the service and before reaching the maximum age for retirement, there shall be paid to his widow dependent on him, or failing such a widow or if such widow shall have re-married, to the guardian of his children or his wife's children under sixteen years of age dependent on him, in trust for them, the total of contributions and interest received and accrued as mentioned in section 15.

(b) Where any contributor dies whilst in the service and before reaching the maximum age for retirement leaving neither widow nor children of himself or his wife under the age of sixteen years and dependent on him, but having dependent on him other dependants, there shall be paid to such dependants or, if any of them be under the age of 21 years, to their guardian or respective guardians, in trust for them, the total of contributions and interest received and accrued as mentioned in section 15.

(c) The provisions in section 15 shall, mutatis mutandis, apply herein.

17. Where any contributor who leaves neither widow nor children of himself or his wife under sixteen years dependent on him nor other dependants as in section 16 (b) dies whilst in the service and prior to the maximum age for retirement, the total of his own contributions only, plus received and accrued interest thereon to date of payment, shall be paid to his legal personal representatives.

18. Where any contributor under the maximum age for retirement resigns or is discharged, he shall have paid to him the total of his own contributions only, plus received and accrued interest thereon to date of payment.

Provided that where a contributor under the maximum age for retirement is discharged (such discharge not being occasioned by his own fault, whereon the Commissioners' ruling shall be final) and re-enters the service and again becomes a contributor, his previous service shall be taken into account for all the purposes of these regulations. Should he later retire under the provisions of section 15 or die under conditions as provided in section 16, the total of the amounts paid into the fund by the Commissioners on his behalf before and after his discharge, together with interest thereon (but only during such times as he was a contributor), shall be paid to him (or to his widow or to or on behalf of his dependants as provided in section 16), as well as the amount, with interest thereon, paid by such contributor to the fund after he re-entered the service. The total amount to be paid on a second or subsequent retirement in accordance with this proviso shall be subject to the provision of the second proviso to section 15.

19. Where under the provisions of sections 17 and 18 the contributions of the Commissioners in respect of any contributor are not payable to such contributor or to or on behalf of his dependants, the amount of the said contributions, plus interest thereon, shall remain in the fund, but, subject to the provisions of the proviso to section 18, shall not be applicable to any contributor's account in particular.

20. Where a contributor commits a breach of trust or other wrongful act by reason of which the Commissioners suffer or may suffer pecuniary loss, the Commissioners shall have full power to use the whole or any part of the amount standing to credit of such contributor's account in respect of his contributions, plus interest thereon, for the purpose of making good any such loss.

21. At the close of each calendar year there shall be credited to each contributor's account an amount representing his proportion of the interest received during that year into the fund, such proportion being computed by such method as the Commissioners shall determine. Upon the determination of any contributor's employment where interest on either his own or on his own and the Commissioners' contributions on his behalf is payable to him or to or on behalf of his dependants or to his legal personal representatives, there shall be credited to his account his proportion of interest accrued but not received into the fund up to the date of his final settlement.

22. Any person who shall have had at least five years' continuous employment in the service, and who is excluded from becoming a contributor by reason of his being at the date of coming into operation of these Regulations of an age of 60 years or more, shall be—

- (a) on his retirement on or after the maximum age for retirement; or

- (b) on his retirement through ill health or physical or mental incapacity to perform any duties allotted to him by the Commissioners either before or after such ill health or incapacity, the reason for such retirement being proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioners; or
- (c) on discharge (such discharge not being occasioned by his own fault)— entitled to a gratuity equal to the sum of one week's wages at the rate last received by him for each complete year of employment in the service.

23. (a) In the event of the death after the coming into operation of these Regulations of any married person whilst in the service and before reaching the maximum age for retirement and who, had he then reached such age and retired would have been entitled to a gratuity under the provisions of section 22, there shall be paid to his widow dependent on him or, failing such a widow or if such a widow shall have re-married, to the guardian of his or his wife's children under the age of sixteen years dependent on him in trust for them an amount equal to such gratuity.

(b) In the event of the death after the date of coming into operation of these Regulations of any person whilst in the service and before reaching the maximum age for retirement and who, had he then reached that age and retired, would have been entitled to a gratuity under the provisions of section 22 and who leaves neither widow nor children under the age of sixteen years dependent on him, but who leaves dependent on him other dependants, there shall be paid to such dependants, or, if any of them be under the age of 21 years, to their guardian or respective guardians in trust for them, an amount equal to such gratuity.

24. Payment under the provisions of sections 22 and 23 shall be borne wholly by the Commissioners.

25. Notwithstanding anything in section 8 (b) where any contributor is required by the Commissioners to continue his employment in the service after the maximum age for retirement, contributions both by the Commissioners and by the contributor shall cease after the last pay-day prior to his reaching such maximum age for retirement, and the amount to the credit of such contributor's account shall be held in trust for him in the fund pending his retirement.

Any interest accrued on such amount held in trust to date of payment shall be included in the final settlement of his account.

26. Any contributor on his retiring on or after the age of 65 years may request the Commissioners from any credit balance in such contributor's account payable to him to arrange with a reputable assurance society for the purchase of an immediate annuity, and the Commissioners as soon as is possible shall do so.

27. Should any event occur which would, in the opinion of the Commissioners, prevent the continuance of further contributions to the fund, they may by Resolution determine that contributions by the Commissioners and by the contributors shall cease as from a date therein provided, and the same shall cease accordingly, but the fund as at such date shall continue and be administered and dealt with according to the provisions of these Regulations or such of them as having regard to the cesser of contributions shall continue to be applicable.

28. Any interest or benefit under any of the provisions of these Regulations is strictly personal, and if any contributor or persons shall become bankrupt or shall assign, charge, dispose of, or otherwise alienate or do or suffer any act or thing whereby he shall be deprived of the personal enjoyment of such interest or benefit, the same shall immediately be forfeited.

Provided that in any such event the Commissioners in their absolute discretion may apply the moneys representing such interest or benefit or such part of such moneys as they may think fit in or towards the maintenance or otherwise for the benefit of such contributor or person and his wife (if any) and children (if any) and dependants (if any) or of such one or more of the foregoing to the exclusion of the other or others as they may determine.

The common seal of the Geelong Harbor Trust Commissioners was affixed hereto on the twenty-sixth day of September. One thousand nine hundred and thirty-five, in the presence of—

J. SPENCER NALL, Chairman.
EDWARD BECHERVAISE, Commissioner.
(SEAL) HERBERT A. LUMB, Commissioner.
