- (b) Desks or seats shall be placed as far apart as the size of the examination room permits.
- (c) Candidates taking the same examination paper shall be so separated as to minimize the possibility of communicating with other candidates or of seeing the examination work of other candidates.
- (d) Subject to adequate safeguards, a candidate may, if the supervisor so decides, be allowed to leave and return to the examination room during the course of an examination.
- (e) Except as provided in sub-clause (d) of this clause no candidate shall be allowed to leave the examination room until half an hour after the commencement of the examination or, in the case of an internal examination, until the supervisor is certain that all other candidates are present, whichever is the shorter period.

- (i) The supervisor shall not peruse any answers of a candidate to the question papers.
- (j) (i) Except in cases specially provided for in paragraph (ii) of this sub-clause, question papers shall be kept securely under lock and key until five minutes prior to the commencement of the examination and shall then be placed face downwards or covered until the time of the commencement of the examination.

- (l) No books or aids other than those named by the examiner shall be brought into the examination room by a candidate.
- (m) Immediately before the commencement of the examination the supervisor shall read to candidates the instructions concerning their conduct in the examination room, and shall emphasize the penalties that may be imposed for talking, for copying from notes or from another candidate's work, for making copying possible, or for any other infringements of the instructions.

3. The instructions relating to the conduct of candidates at an examination shall include the following:—

- (a) During the course of an examination no candidate shall communicate by word or otherwise with any other candidate or copy from the work of any other candidate.
- (b) A candidate who wishes to communicate with the supervisor shall stand up in his place.
- (c) The supervisor may tell a candidate a word or a figure on the question paper that the candidate is unable to decipher or he may, if the candidate is in doubt concerning alternative questions, inform the candidate which question he is required to answer, but the reading of the questions by the supervisor or any comment which may in any way assist a candidate is prohibited.
- (d) Candidates shall place all completed examination papers together face downwards on the desk.
- (e) The candidates shall observe strictly the times specified for each subject, and all papers shall be immediately collected when the specified time has expired.

4. Any apparent breach of the regulations or instructions relating to the conduct of an examination shall be investigated by the district inspector or other officer in charge of the examination centre, or, in the case of an internal examination, by the head teacher.

(b) If any such candidate is found guilty of dishonest practice the Director shall, if he considers the circumstances warrant it, order the cancellation of the candidate's papers in any or all of the subjects taken at the examination.

(c) A candidate whose papers have been cancelled at an internal examination in any way connected with the award of a certificate shall not be recommended for such certificate by the head teacher but shall be permitted to sit for the corresponding external examination under the conditions relating to such external examination.
