VICTORIAN RAILWAYS COMMISSIONERS.

BY-LAW No. 339.

THE VICTORIAN RAILWAYS COMMISSIONERS in the exercise of the powers conferred upon them by the Railways Acts do hereby make the following By-law and do hereby repeal so much of the provisions of all previous By-laws as conflicts therewith.

Storage charges on imports in the Montague Shipping Shed or on outside platforms there.

Any goods discharged from vessels at Port Melbourne or Williamstown Railway Piers or at the Victoria Dock respectively and conveyed thence by rail to the Montague Shipping Shed or outside platforms there may at the convenience of the Commissioners be allowed free storage in the Montague Shipping Shed or on outside platforms there for three working days after the final discharge of cargo from the railway trucks into the Montague Shipping Shed or on to outside platforms there provided that in no case shall this free storage period be less than six working days after the final discharge of the cargo from the ship into railway trucks and a charge at the rate of 1s. 4d. per ton or part thereof per day or part thereof shall be imposed for any subsequent period the goods remain in the Montague Shipping Shed or on outside platforms there.

If in the opinion of the Commissioners the non-removal of goods within the period of free storage hereinbefore prescribed has been due to some cause beyond the control of the consignee of the goods then the Commissioners may if they think fit on the application of the consignee grant a refund of such part of the said storage charges made under this By-law as they consider reasonable.

Notwithstanding anything contained herein the Victorian Railways Commissioners or their authorized officer may at any time after the expiration of the period of free storage without notice remove or order the removal to a warehouse of any such goods and the consignee or owner of the goods shall pay all charges and expenses connected with such removal including the warehouse rent and charges in addition to the said storage charges provided that no goods liable to duty shall be removed unless with the consent of or by arrangement with the Collector of Customs.

The provisions of this By-law shall become effective as from the first day of February, 1941.

In witness whereof the common seal of the Victorian Railways Commissioners was affixed hereto this twentieth day of January in the year of Our Lord. One thousand nine hundred and forty-one, in the presence of—

TERMS OF EMPLOYMENT.

19. (a) No employee shall be employed other than as a weekly time-work employee or a weekly piece-work employee, or a casual time-work employee or a casual piece-work employee.

(b) A weekly time-work employee to become entitled to payment of a weekly wage, shall perform such work as the employer shall from time to time require on the days and during the hours usually worked by such employee; but such work shall be of a similar class to the work usually performed by such employee.

(c) Any weekly time-work employee not attending for duty will lose his pay for the actual time lost unless he produces, or forwards within 28 hours of the commencement of such absence, evidence satisfactory to the employer or the Secretary for Labour that his non-attendance was due to personal ill-health necessitating such absence, but he shall not be entitled to payment for non-attendance on the ground of personal ill-health for more than six days in each year. Such year begins on the date on which this determination comes into force. An employee is to be entitled to not more than six days' payment in any year under this clause of the determination, notwithstanding that he may be employed by different employers.

(d) A weekly piece-worker is a piece-worker engaged as a weekly employee. The following conditions apply to the employment of a weekly piece-worker:—

(i) On each working day or night of the week, the weekly piece-worker shall present himself for employment at the usual time for beginning work at the place of business of the employer, unless informed by the employer that his attendance on any day or on any night is not required, but in any case where an employer has no work for a piece-worker to do on the next following shift, he shall so inform the employee prior to his terminating work, and in any such case the employee shall not be obliged to present himself for work on the following shift.

(ii) If the weekly piece-worker begins work on any such day or any night, he shall (subject to the provisions of sub-clause (e) of this clause) receive not less than four hours' continuous employment, or be paid for such four hours at the rate prescribed for a machine compositor on time work.

(iii) Subject to the provisions of sub-clause (e) of this clause, a weekly piece-worker shall be guaranteed at least 30 hours' employment in any working week. If such employment is not provided for him in any week, and in such week he complies with the provisions of paragraph (i) of this sub-clause, and faithfully performs all work provided for him during that week, he shall be paid for any hours short of this guarantee at the rate prescribed for a machine compositor on time work, and this notwithstanding that any public holiday or holidays occur in such week.

(iv) For six days in any year, such weekly piece-worker will be excused for not presenting himself for employment at the proper time and place, and such non-attendance shall not disentitle such piece-worker to payment for such absence if within 28 hours of the commencement of any such absence he produces or forwards to the employer evidence satisfactory to the employer, or to the Secretary for Labour, that his non-attendance was due to personal ill-health necessitating such absence. The year begins on the first day of January of each year. A weekly piece-worker shall be entitled to the benefits of this sub-clause in respect of not more than six days during any such year, notwithstanding that he may be employed by different employers.

(v) A piece-worker shall be paid for five hours for each of the six absences provided for in this sub-clause at the rate prescribed for a machine compositor on time work. An employer shall be entitled to count such five hours in any week in which a piece-worker has been sick to make up the weekly guarantee of hours in any week in which a piece-worker has worked less than 30 hours.

(vi) In respect of each public holiday referred to in clause 20 hereof, which occurs in any week, and on which the weekly piece-worker is not required to work by the employer, he shall be paid for five hours at the rate prescribed for a machine compositor on time work.

(e) The employment of a weekly time-work or piece-work employee may be terminated by one week's notice on either side, and such notice may be given at any time during any week to take effect one week after the day on which it is given. This shall not affect the right of the employer to dismiss any employee without notice for malingering, inefficiency, neglect of duty, or misconduct, and in such case wages shall be paid up to the time of dismissal only, or to deduct payment for any day the employee cannot usefully be employed because of any strike of the said union, or any other union, or through the breakdown of machinery or any stoppage of work for any cause for which the employer cannot be held responsible.

(f) Where a weekly piece-work employee gives or receives one week's notice of the termination of his employment, he shall, during the week that such notice runs, be given the same amount of piecework as it has been customary for him to perform during the period of his employment.

(g) If an employee's services be terminated during the course of a week, he shall be paid all money due to him at the termination of his service, or all money due to such employee shall be forwarded to him by post within 24 hours thereafter.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

20. (a) Nothing in this clause has reference to absence occasioned by ill-health.

(b) In any daily newspaper office—

Every employee shall be entitled to and be allowed fourteen working days' (excluding Christmas Day and Good Friday) leave on full pay in respect of each completed period of twelve calendar months' service, of which fourteen working days, twelve such days at least shall be consecutive, during the continuance of this determination.

(c) In other than a daily newspaper office (including a commercial printing office)—

Every employee shall be entitled to six working days' leave and eight public holidays on full pay in respect of each completed period of twelve calendar months' service, such six working days' leave to be six consecutive working days or otherwise, as the employer and the employee may agree upon, and the eight public holidays to be either public or local holidays as the employer and the employee may agree upon.

(d) In this determination, "public holiday" means the day observed in the State as any of the following days:—New Year's Day, Good Friday, Easter Saturday, Easter Monday, Eight Hours Day (or Labour Day), Christmas Day, Boxing Day, Anniversary (or Foundation) Day (the 26th of January), King's Birthday, Anzac Day, together with such district or local holidays as may be observed in the district or place in which an employee works.

(e) An employee, for his own purposes, and with the consent of the employer, may elect to take off an equivalent number of days in lieu of and substitution for one or more of the public holidays to which this clause entitles him.

(f) The period of twelve or six (as the case may be) consecutive working days prescribed in sub-clauses (b) and (c) herein shall include public holidays occurring within the period, but shall not include Sunday occurring within the period, or Good Friday or Christmas Day.

(g) Leave shall be taken at such time as the employer deems convenient, but within three months of such holidays becoming due. The employer may, at his option, allow an employee to take such annual leave before the completion of such twelve calendar months' service. An employee shall be given at least two weeks' notice of the commencing date on which he will be required to take his leave.

(h) If the employment shall be terminated after any annual leave shall become due, and the annual leave not have been taken, the employee shall be entitled to the payment of two weeks' wages in lieu thereof, the wages to be calculated as from the date when the leave accrued due.

(i) If during any twelve months of his service the employment of an employee who has been employed for more than three calendar months is terminated, such employee shall be paid the proportion of two weeks' wages which the period of employment bears to twelve calendar months. For the purpose of this clause, "the period of employment" shall mean the period commencing with his first employment, or upon the expiration of any twelve months of his employment. Any employee, other than a casual employee, whose period of employment when terminated is less than thirteen weeks, shall have a day's pay granted to him for any holiday, worked by him falling within the period of employment unless a day's leave in lieu thereof has been given.

(j) The wages payable to a piece-worker under this clause shall be the wages fixed for a machine compositor on time-work.

(k) An employer shall not terminate the employment of a weekly employee for the purpose of evading payment for the holidays prescribed by this determination.

(l) If during any twelve months of his service an employee entitled under this clause to eight public holidays on full pay has not been allowed at least eight public holidays, he shall be paid, if a time-worker, an ordinary day's pay, or if a piece-worker, an ordinary day's pay for a time-work machine compositor, in respect of each public holiday (not exceeding in all the number of eight) on which he has been required to work, notwithstanding that for the week including such public holiday he has been paid his full weekly wage or piecework rate, as the case may be, and such amount may be claimed within nine months after the expiration of such twelve months.

(m) If in any twelve months of his service an employee entitled under this clause to leave on full pay as prescribed in sub-clauses (b) and (c) herein, has not been allowed such leave, he shall be paid for each of the days mentioned, if a time-worker, at the full rate of payment, or if a piece-worker at the rate for a time-work machine compositor, notwithstanding that in respect of each of such days he has already received his wages or piecework payment, as the case may be, without deduction, and such amount may be claimed within nine months after the expiration of such twelve months.

(n) Payment under either of the above sub-clauses (l) and (m) shall not excuse an employer for failure to allow an employee to take a holiday or leave to which he is entitled under this clause, and such failure shall be a breach of this determination, notwithstanding any agreement whereby the employee purports to waive the holiday or leave to which he is entitled.

TIME BOOK.

21. (a) Each employer shall keep a time and wages book, correctly and fully written up in ink, showing the name of each employee and his occupation, the hours worked (including overtime) each day or night, and the wages, overtime and allowances paid each week, provided that the employer may, at his option, use a mechanical clock in lieu of a time book for the purpose of recording the time of each employee. The book, or when a clock is installed the time cards, shall be open for inspection by a duly accredited official of the said union during the usual office hours at the office or other convenient place.

(b) A duly accredited official of the said union shall mean any officer of such organization, or of the Victorian branch thereof who may be accredited in writing by the general secretary, or by the Victorian branch secretary, and shall include such branch secretary.

POWER TO ENTER.

22. The secretary of the Victorian branch of the Printing Industry Employees Union of Australia, or an officer of that branch accredited in writing by the general secretary, or the Victorian branch secretary, of the said union, shall, by arrangement with the employer or his representative in charge, have the right to enter and inspect during working hours any part of a printing factory or workshop and to interview the employees in working hours. The official shall exercise this right reasonably, and shall interfere with the work and duties of an employee as little as possible.

CASUAL EMPLOYEES.

23. (a) An employer when engaging a person for casual employment shall inform him then and there that he is to be employed as a casual. Except where this is done the employee shall be a weekly time-worker or weekly piece-worker. A casual employee after two weeks of continuous employment as a casual employee shall become a weekly time-worker or weekly piece-worker.

(b) Where a casual employee commences duty, or where the employer expressly agrees to employ a casual employee on any employment, and the casual employee, in pursuance of such agreement, actually attends for duty, such employee—

- (i) If a time-worker engaged in the publishing department, shall be paid for three hours of employment at the least;
- (ii) If a time-worker engaged as a machine compositor, shall be paid for four hours at the least;
- (iii) If a time-worker engaged in any other work, shall be paid for four hours at the least;
- (iv) If a piece-worker, shall be given four hours' work at the least or paid for four hours at the appropriate rate for a time-worker.

(c) The hourly rate for any work for which a weekly rate is prescribed by this determination is to be ascertained by dividing the weekly rate by the number of hours which constitute the employee's prescribed working week.

(d) A casual employee, other than a casual publishing employee, whether working at piecework or time-work and working on day shift, shall be paid for such work the piecework rate or the hourly rate prescribed for such work, with the addition of 10 per cent.

(e) A casual employee, other than a casual publishing employee, whether working at piecework or time-work, and whether working mixed day and night shift, or night shift, or on work extending to not later than 6 o'clock Sunday morning, shall be paid for such work the piecework rate or the hourly rate prescribed for night work, with the addition of 10 per cent.

(f) A casual publishing employee, working on day shift, shall be paid for such work the hourly rate of 2s. 1d. per hour.

(g) A casual publishing employee, whether working mixed day and night shift, or night shift, shall be paid for such work the hourly rate of 2s. 4d. per hour.

(h) A casual employee, when working overtime shall have his rate of pay as a casual employee increased by the same proportion (e.g., one half, or double, as the case may be) as the weekly worker's rate applicable to the class of work done by the casual employee is directed to be increased under this determination for work done on overtime with the addition of 10 per cent.

PROBATIONERS ON TYPE-CASTING OR SLUG-CASTING MACHINES.

24. An employer shall not employ an employee as a probationer on the keyboard of a type-casting or slug-casting machine unless such employee is a compositor who has served a full term of apprenticeship or is an apprentice who has served three years' apprenticeship as a compositor.

PIECEWORK.

25. (a) No work shall be performed by any employee by contract or sub-contract or other similar system.

(b) No piecework shall be performed by an employee other than in respect of work done in connexion with machine composition in a newspaper office in Hamilton, and in any other newspaper office where four or more slug-casting machines are in use, as may be agreed upon between the said union and an employer or, failing agreement, as fixed by an amendment of this determination.

(c) The minimum piecework rates payable to an employee by an employer shall be the rates prescribed in Schedule A of this Determination, and such schedule is hereby incorporated in this determination.

CALL CLAUSE.

26. (a) In respect to newspaper work, two hours shall be paid for as a call to any employee brought in on any week-day to issue any special edition or do any work not in his ordinary working hours for that week. Such call, together with the time worked, shall be paid for at the rate of time and a half or rate and a half, except on Sundays. On Sundays, double time or double rate shall be paid for the call, and for the time worked, with a minimum of two hours. This clause shall only apply when an employee is not notified before he leaves work that he will be required for special duty. In any case where an employee is brought in without notice because of another employee having unexpectedly absented himself from his work, the provisions of this clause shall not apply, but the employee so brought in to work shall be paid double time or double rate for the hours worked by him should such hours be outside his ordinary working hours for that week.

(b) In respect to commercial printing work, one hour's time at the least, in addition to the actual time worked and/or the time the employee is required to stand by for work, shall be paid for as a call to any employee brought in to do any work not in the ordinary working hours, such to be paid for at the rate of time and a half or rate and a half, except on Saturday afternoon and Sunday, when double time or double rates shall be paid.
