THE PORTLAND HARBOR TRUST COMMISSIONERS.

REGULATIONS—AMENDMENT No. 11.

IN pursuance of the Portland Harbor Trust Act 1958, the Portland Harbor Trust Commissioners make the following Regulations:—

After Section IV. of Regulation 138 the following new section is added:

SECTION V.

Standard Conditions for Construction and Installation of Pipe Lines for Transmission of Liquids Derived from Petroleum, Coal and/or Shale on and from Wharves to Storage Tanks.

1. These conditions shall apply to pipe lines for the transmission of liquids derived from petroleum, coal and/or shale from the point of discharge from or intake of the vessel to or from the storage point.
2. The various directions and requirements contained in these conditions shall be read as addressed to the owner of the pipe lines, valves, hoses, or other appliances except where specifically stated otherwise, and he shall be entirely and solely responsible for their full and complete observance.
3. Proposals for the installation of new pipe lines shall be submitted to the Commissioners together with all relevant details, before installation commences, and such pipe lines shall not be installed or put into use until approval is given by the Commissioners.
4. When an existing pipe line is to be relaid or renewed, or any major repairs to be effected, such pipe line or such section thereof as the Commissioners may determine shall be classified as a new pipe line and shall conform to these conditions. Major repairs include any repairs or alterations involving welding.
5. Where the Commissioners are of the opinion that it is in the interests of public safety so to do it may by notice, in writing, given to the owner of a pipe line require such owner to relay, renew or repair such pipe line.
6. Pipe lines, valves, flanges, and fittings shall comply with the relevant requirements of British Standards, British Institute of Petroleum Safety Codes, American Petroleum Institute Specification for Line Pipe or other specification approved by the Commissioners.
7. Joints in pipe lines shall be welded wherever practicable, and otherwise shall be made with flanged ends or other means approved by the Commissioners.
8. Where pipe lines are supported by a wharf, they shall be secured in an adequate manner, proper provision being made for expansion, movement and anchorage.
9. Where valves and outlets in pipe lines are placed below the deck of a wharf, access openings, with covers, shall be provided to them.
10. Pipe lines on wharves shall be fitted with a stop valve at the outer or seaward end, and an approved non-return valve shall be placed immediately behind the connexions between the flexible hose and the shore pipe line and also at the shore end of the wharf.
11. Rising spindle gate valves of a type approved by the Commissioners shall be used at pipe line control points.
12. Pipe lines used for the transmission of inflammable liquid with a flash point less than 150 deg. F. shall be suitably bonded and earthed in a manner approved by the Commissioners.
13. The seaward end of pipe lines and hoses left connected thereto on wharves shall be made liquid-tight by fitting with (a) blank flanges properly secured and fastened by at least four bolts, or (b) screwed caps.
14. Pipe lines and the control valves shall be marked as required by the Commissioners.
15. Pipe lines not situated on wharves shall be laid above ground wherever possible. Such pipe lines shall be properly supported at a height of not less than 6 inches above ground, but shall not rest directly on wood.
16. Pipe lines shall receive adequate protection against corrosion and/or other injury.
17. If so required by the Commissioners any pipe line laid under water shall be afforded cathodic protection in an approved manner.
18. Pipe lines laid under railway tracks, road or streets, or where they may be subjected to heavy loading, shall be installed in accordance with the plans and specifications of the "Recommended practice on form of agreement and specifications for pipe line crossings under railroad tracks" issued by the American Petroleum Institute (A.P.I. Code No. 26) or other specification or proposal in regard to sleeving or culverting approved by the Commissioners.

19. Pipe lines laid in ground, the surface of which is subject to loading of vehicular traffic, shall have at least 2 feet of approved cover over the top of the pipe, excluding flanges; proper access pits with covers, shall be provided for valves, and flanged joints shall be readily accessible.

20. When first installed, pipe lines shall be tested to a pressure of 300 lb. per square inch with water in sections over the full length of the pipe line, each section not exceeding distance between consecutive flanged joints. Full pressure shall be maintained for the period of each test with a minimum period of 30 minutes.

21. Provision shall be made to relieve excessive pressure due to temperature variations in pipe lines left full of liquid.

Maintenance and Operation of Pipe Lines for Transmission of Liquids Derived from Petroleum, Coal and/or Shale on and from Wharves to Storage Tanks.

1. Underground pipe lines between the wharf and the storage tanks shall be examined by the owner at intervals not exceeding three years and a certificate forwarded to the Commissioners that the pipe lines are in good order and condition. Such certificate shall state the basis on which it is issued e.g. visual examination, pressure tests or metal thickness tests.

2. Valves and other appliances used during pumping operations shall be inspected to ensure certainty of operation on each occasion before pumping commences.

3. Flexible hoses used in connexion with the—

- (a) Pumping of liquids derived from petroleum, coal and/or shale to or from a vessel shall be of approved quality with a safe working pressure of at least 100 lb. per square inch.
- (b) Such flexible hoses shall be fitted with Turk's Heads of hemp or sisal rope, or other approved means of protection at intervals of 3 feet.
- (c) The number of the hose, the safe working pressure and the ownership thereof, shall be indicated on each such flexible hose, by means of an engraved metallic plate incorporated in and forming part of such hose, or in such other manner as may be approved by the Commissioners.
- (d) Such flexible hoses shall be so fitted as to ensure complete electrical connexion between the pipe line and the vessel which is being discharged or loaded. The method adopted shall require the use of 44/012 copper wire mechanically connected to the metallic fittings at each end of the hose, or other method approved by the Commissioners.

4. Flexible hoses used in connexion with the pumping of liquids derived from petroleum, coal and/or shale to or from a vessel shall be tested under working conditions at intervals of not more than six months to at least 25 per cent. in excess of the actual maximum working pressure under which it is operated. The results of such test shall be recorded in a register to be kept by the owner, and such record shall be made available for examination by the Commissioners as required. A report on tests of hoses used by an owner shall be provided to the Commissioners in January and July of each year. Such flexible hoses shall be properly and adequately supported to prevent chafing and kinking during pumping operations.

5. Pipe lines used in connexion with the pumping, to or from a vessel, of liquids derived from petroleum, coal and/or shale having a flash point of over 150 deg. F. and unrefined crude petroleum, shall be provided with drip trays or drums under the seaward end of the pipe line of a type approved by the Commissioners.

6. Pipe lines and fittings shall be inspected each time before use in loading or discharge and tested to a pressure 25 per cent. in excess of normal operating pressure at three-monthly intervals.

7. Electrical equipment on oil wharves or located within 50 feet of shore terminal valves in pipe lines shall comply with the appropriate section of the Wiring Rules of the Standards Association of Australia and the requirements of the proper local electrical authority and shall be inspected at intervals of not more than six months to ensure their continued compliance with such rules or requirements.

8. Pipe lines for transmission of inflammable liquid with a flash point less than 150 deg. F. shall be tested at intervals of not more than 12 months to ensure that they are suitably bonded and earthed as required by the Commissioners.

9. At the commencement of pumping of inflammable liquids having a flash point less than 150 deg. F. and after each change of grade of liquid at which water clearance is employed, the velocity in the pipe lines shall be restricted to a maximum of 3 feet per second for a period of 30 minutes, or sufficient time to clear the pipe line twice, whichever is the longer.

This slow pumping rate shall also be observed when filling empty tanks until the fill pipe is covered. When pipe lines vary in bore, the limiting rate shall be applied to that part having the smallest bore.

10. During pumping operations, pipe lines shall be regularly patrolled throughout their full length so that any leakage may be detected.

11. During the whole period of pumping operations, the terminal valves on wharf or jetty, and the delivery or control valve on the vessel, shall be closely watched by competent persons who shall close the valves in the event of any untoward occurrence.

12. Pipe lines, valves, hoses and other appliances used for transferring inflammable liquids with a flash point less than 150 deg. F. shall be maintained free from leakage and gas-tight, and unless otherwise authorized by the Commissioners on the completion of loading or unloading shall be thoroughly freed of inflammable liquid and the hoses disconnected from the shore pipe lines. Pipe lines, valves, hoses and other appliances used for transferring oil with flash point not less than 150 deg. F. shall be kept in good condition and free from leakage and all due precautions shall be taken to prevent any oil escaping into tidal water.

13. Necessary precautions shall be taken to ensure that boats, barges or other small craft shall not moor under or remain near the wharf where pumping operations are being carried out.

14. No naked light, matches or other source of ignition shall be brought within a distance of 50 feet of shore terminal valves when pumping operations are being carried out. Any torch used shall be of flameproof construction and any artificial light used shall also be of flameproof construction unless mounted at least 25 feet above the level of the wharf, when it shall be of a type approved by the Commissioners.

15. A reliable watchman or watchmen shall be stationed in the vicinity of the vessel during pumping operations and such watchmen shall be persons approved by the Commissioners and in such number as they may require.

16. A responsible representative of the Master of the vessel and a representative of the installation to which or from which the inflammable liquid is being transmitted by pipe lines, shall be on duty at all times at the point of discharge from or intake of the vessel during preparation for and pumping operations.

17. The owner of the vessel and of the installation to or from which pumping operations will be made shall ensure in his respective sphere that sufficient fire-fighting equipment as approved by the Commissioners is available for immediate use should such be required.

18. Any untoward occurrence shall be reported immediately to the Commissioners or their representative.

19. The approval of the Commissioners shall be obtained on each occasion in respect of each particular vessel before pumping operations commence and any additional conditions stipulated by them shall be observed.

20. Operations shall be discontinued should the Commissioners consider such course necessary in the interests of safety.

21. When pumping operations cease temporarily, valves on the vessel and on the shore pipe line shall be closed.

22. On completion of pumping operations, pipe lines outside storage installations and used for the transmission of inflammable liquids with a flash point less than 150 deg. F. shall be thoroughly cleared of the inflammable liquid by flushing with water and shall be kept full of water.

23. Notwithstanding the requirements of paragraph 22 the Commissioners may grant exemption from this provision in the case of underwater pipe lines used for the transmission of crude oil having a flash point of less than 73 deg. F.

24. Except with the approval of the Commissioners, on completion of pumping operations pipe lines shall be cleared of oil with flash point of not less than 150 deg. F. from the point of loading or discharge to the non-return valve at the shore end of the wharf.

25. Subject to the written approval of the Commissioners, liquids derived from petroleum, coal and/or shale may be pumped to or from a vessel after sunset, provided that the following conditions and such other conditions as may be stipulated by the Commissioners are complied with:—

- (a) Pipe lines, hoses, valves and other appliances shall be coupled up and pumping commenced at least one hour before sunset, and such pipe lines and hoses shall not be uncoupled or otherwise interfered with except in daylight, unless with special permission of the Commissioners and in the presence of their representative.
- (b) Adequate lighting of an approved type shall be provided to the satisfaction of the Commissioners.

26. Arrangements shall be made by the Master of the vessel to ensure that there shall be sufficient staff of officers and men available at all times to ensure the efficient carrying on of the work, or to remove the vessel, if so required.

Dated at Portland, this 8th day of June, 1959.
