such distance being measured from the most remote point to the exit:

Provided that where an office or warehouse not of high hazard occupancy is divided into rooms, such distance shall be measured from the corridor entrance of such rooms to the nearest exit:

Provided further that in the case of a building covering a large area where the foregoing provisions cannot reasonably be applied, the location of exits may be determined by the Chief Inspector and the Surveyor.

(2) All rooms in every office or warehouse of high hazard occupancy shall be provided with alternative means of egress.

(3) All exits shall be as far apart as practicable and, when more than one exit is required, they shall be distributed as uniformly as possible within or around the floor area, room or space they are to serve.

(4) In every office or warehouse exits shall be so arranged that there are no pockets or dead ends in which occupants may be trapped.

Exits Required.

13. (1) In every office or warehouse exits shall be provided as follows:—

(a) At least one exit shall be provided from the ground storey, located as prescribed in Regulation 12 hereof; provided that the Chief Inspector in any case may require that alternative means of egress be provided from the ground storey;

(b) where any part of the office or warehouse is located on the first storey of a building of two storeys, alternative means of egress or a fire-isolated stair shall be provided from the first storey;

(c) where any part of the office or warehouse is located on any storey above the ground storey of a building of more than two storeys, alternative means of egress shall be provided from each storey above the ground storey, at least one of which shall be a fire-isolated stair; provided that in a building of Type of Construction 1 or 2 which is not more than three storeys in height, alternative means of egress shall not be required if the fire-isolated stair has no communication with the ground storey:

Provided that every such building of Type of Construction 1 or 2 containing not more than five storeys and having an area of not more than 4,000 square feet on each floor and not containing a high hazard occupancy may have only one stairway which shall be fire-isolated.

Provided further that, where the location of exits has been determined by the Chief Inspector and the Surveyor pursuant to the proviso contained in sub-regulation (1) of Regulation 12 hereof, the Chief Inspector and the Surveyor may also require that additional means of egress be provided.

(2) Where more than three stairs are required by these Regulations at least two shall be fire-isolated and where more than six stairs are required at least three shall be fire-isolated.

(3) Every basement shall have direct access to at least two independent exits, one of which shall be fire-isolated.

Width of Exits.

14. (1) The aggregate width of exits from any floor area shall be sufficient to provide for the number of persons to be served by such exits on the basis of 3 ft. 4 in. of width for 1 to 100 persons, and an additional 20 inches of width for each additional 100 persons or part thereof, provided that—

- (a) in calculating the number of persons to be served by such exits, there shall be added to the number of persons accommodated on that floor 50 per cent. of the number accommodated on the floor immediately above, 25 per cent. of the number accommodated on the two floors above the last-mentioned floor, and 10 per cent. of the number accommodated on the two floors next above, such additional numbers being in each case persons having access to such exits;
- (b) such aggregate width of exits may be decreased by 20 per cent. if the building is of Type of Construction 1 or 2, having alternative means of egress;
- (c) such aggregate width of exits may be further decreased by 20 per cent. for each fire-isolated stair provided in excess of those prescribed under these Regulations;
- (d) where fire-isolated stairs are required by these Regulations, the total width thereof shall be not less than 50 per cent. of the aggregate width of exits required by these Regulations;
- (e) where the width of exits determined under this Regulation is not a multiple of 20 inches, the next higher multiple shall be adopted, except that a stair serving a floor area accommodating not more than 25 persons may be reduced to 2 ft. 8 in. in width;
- (f) the width of any stair in excess of 6 ft. 8 in. shall not be regarded as part of the aggregate width required by these Regulations.

(2) Notwithstanding that the aggregate width of exits from any floor area in an office or warehouse may be sufficient to provide for a particular number of persons on the basis prescribed in sub-regulation (1) hereof, the Chief Inspector may, in any such case, determine that the aggregate width of exits provided is insufficient for the protection of the safety of such number of persons and may thereupon determine the number of persons (being less than the number which would otherwise be allowed under the provisions of sub-regulation (1) hereof) to be served by such exits.

(3) The width of stairs shall be measured—

- (a) when the stairs are enclosed on each side with walls, between the finished surfaces of the walls;
- (b) when a stair has a wall on one side only, between the finished surface of the wall and the inner side of the balustrade;
- (c) when balustrades are provided on both sides, between the inner surfaces of the balustrades.

(4) No means of exit shall decrease in width in the direction of exit travel.

Height of Exits.

15. Exits shall have a minimum height of 6 ft. 8 in. throughout.

Maintenance of Exits.

16. All exits shall be maintained in an efficient condition and shall, at all times during occupancy of the building, be kept readily accessible and clear of obstructions.

Fire-isolated Stairs.

17. (1) When a stair is required to be fire-isolated, the walls, ceilings, floors, and doors shall be so constructed as to provide complete enclosure of the stair from the room or space served to the exterior of the building, provided that—

- (i) a stair need not be enclosed on the topmost storey, except where it is the only means of exit from such storey or where it provides access to the roof of the building;

(ii) where a stair is not enclosed on the topmost storey, a solid balustrading of incombustible material shall be constructed on such storey to a height of 3 feet above the level of the floor.

(2) Such walls, floors, ceilings, doors and all openings shall be constructed in accordance with and shall comply with the provisions of the Uniform Building Regulations.

(3) When any exit stair leading from an upper floor to an exit from the building is continued past the level of such exit to provide access to any lower floor, such continuation shall be deemed to be part of such exit stair and shall be fire-isolated if the exit stair is required to be fire-isolated.

(4) Where a fire-isolated stair is required by these Regulations, an external stair may be substituted therefor.

(5) (i) All windows within 10 feet of an external stair shall be one-hour fire windows conforming to the requirements of the Uniform Building Regulations.

(ii) All doors within 10 feet of such stair shall conform to the requirements of the Uniform Building Regulations for doors to fire-isolated stairs.

Construction of Stairs.

18. (1) Materials.—Every stair and landing shall be constructed of fire-resisting materials as defined in the Uniform Building Regulations, provided that in the case of buildings exceeding three storeys in height, external stairs shall be constructed of metal not less than $\frac{1}{4}$ inch in thickness or of reinforced concrete.

(2) Winders.—Winders shall not be used in exit stairs.

(3) Geometric Stairs.—Geometric stairs may be used provided that—

(a) the centre of curvature is outside the outer string and at a minimum distance therefrom equal to at least two-thirds of the width of the stair; and

(b) the width of treads exclusive of nosing or overhang is 11 inches measured at a distance of 20 inches from the outer string.

(4) Treads and Risers.—

(i) Subject to the provisions of sub-regulation (3) of this Regulation, treads shall be of uniform width and risers shall be of uniform height.

(ii) Treads shall have a width of not less than 10 inches (exclusive of nosing) and risers shall have a height of not more than $7\frac{1}{2}$ inches, except that in stairs not required to be fire-isolated and in stairs to mezzanine floors the width of treads may be $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

(iii) Treads and landings shall be solid and shall be so constructed as to prevent persons slipping thereon.

(5) Head Room.—Every stair shall have a head room clearance of not less than 6 ft. 8 in., measured vertically above any landing or above a line connecting the nosings of the stair treads.

(2) When vestibules, open-air balconies, or bridges are used as parts of any horizontal exit, they shall be constructed of fire-resisting material as defined in the Uniform Building Regulations and their clear width shall be at least as great as that of the exit doorways opening into them, except that hand-rails may project into this clear width not more than 4 inches.

(3) Every opening used in connexion with a horizontal exit shall be protected by a two-hour fire door as defined in the Uniform Building Regulations, provided that—

(a) when located in a fire wall there shall be a two-hour fire door on each side of the wall and, if practicable a vestibule shall be provided on one side thereof; and

(1) The doors of exit doorways shall be so hung and arranged that when open they shall not diminish or obstruct the required width of the doorway, passageway, hallway, stair or other means of egress. Swinging doors in their swing shall not reduce the effective width of stairs or landings to less than 20 inches nor shall they reduce the effective width of a passageway or hallway to less than the minimum width required.

(2) All doors in exit doorways shall open in the direction of exit travel, excepting doors serving only a ground floor area of not more than 1,500 square feet, provided that this requirement shall not prohibit the use of doors swinging both inwards and outwards.

(3) Revolving doors may be used only in doorways giving direct access to a street but in no case shall a revolving door form part of a means of egress required under these Regulations.

(4) Doors abutting on a street shall be recessed so as not to encroach on the public way, or may open inwards provided they be locked back in such a manner as to require a key to release them.

(5) Except in the case of a door the sill of which is not more than 15 inches above ground level, no exit door shall open immediately on to a flight of stairs, but shall open on to a landing of which the width shall be not less than the width of the door, and the length in the direction of travel shall be not less than 3 feet or half the width of the door, whichever shall be greater, provided that in no case shall the width of a landing taken at right-angles to the direction of travel be less than the width of the stair required by these Regulations.

(6) Doors to fire-isolated stairs shall be self-closing, except that any such door may be kept open by a fusible link of a type approved by the Chief Inspector; provided that an additional self-closing door constructed of hardwood not less than 1½ inch in thickness or other material having equivalent fire-resisting qualities is fitted in the opening in such a manner as to cause no obstruction to the stair when opened, and provided further that any glazing in such additional self-closing door shall be fire-resisting and shall not exceed in area 30 per cent. of the area of the door.

Door Fastenings.

23. (1) Fastenings of any exit door shall be such that the door may be readily opened from the inside without the use of keys.

(2) No fastening shall be used on a door across a passage except such as will allow the door to be instantly opened from either side without a key or other special appliance.

(3) No fastenings whatever shall be used on the inner of two doors hung in the same doorway, archway, or other opening.

(4) Knobs of drawback and other locks and of bolts shall be securely riveted and all fastenings shall be maintained in good working order and state of repair.

(5) No door guard, lock, catch, handle, door pull or any similar appliance shall be affixed to the door of any exit so that when the door is in the fully-opened position such appliance projects and to any extent obstructs the exit.

Lighting and Ventilation of Exits.

24. (1) Every exit stair or other means of exit, and all corridors and passageways appurtenant thereto, shall be artificially lighted from a lighting circuit which shall be separate from the general lighting circuit of the office or warehouse.
