Police Regulation Act 1958.

POLICE FORCE OF VICTORIA.

DETERMINATION No. 182 OF THE POLICE SERVICE BOARD.

This was an application to the Board by Sergeant L. R. Counsel, No. 10198 for an interpretation of paragraph 13 (b) of the Board's Determination relating to the Special Duties Allowance paid to mounted police.

The application was heard by the Board on 17th December, 1971, when Inspector J. D. Darley appeared for the Chief Commissioner of Police and Sergeant Counsel on his own behalf.

When the allowance for mounted men was introduced on 31st October, 1960 by Determination No. 86—and the substance of it is still in the same form—the provision was that there shall be paid to a member attached to the Mounted Branch while performing active mounted duties an allowance inclusive of any other Special Duties Allowance. The question, as Sergeant Counsel quite rightly said, was whether his duties at the Stud Depot can properly be described as performing active mounted duties within the meaning of those words in the Determination.

The Board came to the conclusion that they do not. The obvious purpose of the Determination was to limit the payment of the Special Duties Allowance while normal active mounted duties were being performed. It was true that Sergeant Counsel's duties did require him to perform a certain amount of work with horses, particularly in connexion with their breaking and training, but that is a special task requiring special skills no doubt which would not normally be called within the scope of members who were performing active mounted duties and indeed the requirements of his position involved a good deal of other specialised knowledge that is not required by members normally of the Mounted Branch.

Accordingly, the Board thought that the Sergeant is not entitled to be paid this allowance for the whole of the time that he has been at the Stud Depot but there is no doubt that he is entitled to be paid the allowance for the days on which he has, in fact, been required to perform normal active mounted duties and if he has not already been paid for those occasions the Board felt that he is entitled to be paid for them now.
