Director of Public Prosecutions Act 1982, Section 10 (1)
GUIDELINES TO MEMBERS OF THE POLICE FORCE

In pursuance of the powers conferred by section 10 (1) of the Director of Public Prosecutions Act 1982 the Director of Public Prosecutions on 17 July 1984 furnished guidelines to members of the Police Force with respect to the conduct of summary proceedings before a Magistrates' Court where the prosecution is being conducted by a member of the Police Force. The following general propositions are applicable to the conduct of such prosecutions:

1. The Police Prosecutor alone bears the responsibility for deciding whether a person will be called as a witness for the prosecution.

2. The presiding Magistrate may but is not obliged to question the Prosecutor in order to discover the reasons which lead the Prosecutor to decline to call a particular person. He is not called upon to adjudicate the sufficiency of those reasons.

3. Whilst at the close of the prosecution case the presiding Magistrate may properly invite the Prosecutor to reconsider such a decision and to have regard to the implications as then appear to the Magistrate at that stage of the proceedings, he cannot direct the Prosecutor to call a particular witness.

4. When reaching his decision the presiding Magistrate may take into account to such extent as he then thinks to be appropriate the failure of the Prosecutor to call a particular person as a witness. No doubt such consideration, if any, will be affected by such information as to the Prosecutor's reasons for his decision as the Prosecutor thinks it proper to divulge.

How does a compensation system strike a balance between the "dictates of humanity" and "economic necessity"?

A unique and exhaustive resource is now available to service this debate – in the form of the Report of the Cooney Enquiry into the Victorian Workers' Compensation System. The Report provides specific chapters on the following key issues:

- Pay-as-you-go versus Funded Schemes
- Central funds
- Insurers
- Self-Insurance
- Common Law
- Lump Sums
- Benefits

In the current national climate of extensive review of workers' compensation systems this Victorian Report is essential reading for unions, employers, Government administrators, academics, students and practitioners in this area.
