Planning and Environment Act 1987

Notice of Amendment to the Doncaster and Templestowe Planning Scheme Amendment L76

The City of Doncaster and Templestowe has prepared Amendment L76 to the Doncaster and Templestowe Planning Scheme.

The amendment replaces the three non-urban zones in the Scheme which include the Landscape Interest A, Landscape Interest C and Conservation A Zones with a new non-urban named Landscape Interest Zone.

This non-urban area is generally located east of Mullum Mullum Creek within Warrandyte/Park Orchards and is characterised by a diversity of lot sizes generally ranging from less than two hectares to eighteen hectares. This area is generally rural residential in character. The value of the land is not the product of its agricultural potential but its important visual and environmental qualities.

The amendment involves effectively merging the three non-urban zones into one non-urban zone and incorporating performance standards to provide a guide as to how the objectives of the Zone may be achieved. Additional uses have also been included which will require a planning permit. The prohibited uses section has also been changed to include a list of prohibited uses, consequently any use not identified within the prohibited uses section may now be considered under a planning application.

The amendment enables limited subdivision, subject to planning permit approval, where the land was purchased prior to 1978 and has been in continual ownership. The subdivision must satisfactorily meet certain performance criteria and be subject to a land management plan.

Overlay controls have been introduced which apply in addition to the zoning requirements. The sites with overlay controls were identified as Sites of Significance within the Environmental Studies East of Mullum Mullum Creek - Sites of Botanical and Zoological Significance Ecological Horticulture and Gerner and Sanderson (1992).

The overlay controls provide specific guidelines to ensure that any development which takes place within the relevant area is in keeping with the environmental and visual character of the area. This amendment refers to Sites of Significance within the proposed Landscape Interest Zone. A future amendment will deal with other Sites of Significance in other zones.

The amendment can be inspected at:

EXEMPTION

Application No. 13 of 1994

On 15 July 1994 the Equal Opportunity considered an application from Ms P. Roberts for and on behalf of Alcoa Rolled Products (a Division of Alcoa of Australia Limited) for the purposes of advertising and appointing women to three operator positions at their Geelong premises.

Upon reading the material in support of the application, the Board is satisfied it is appropriate to grant an exemption from sections 21 and 59 of the Act.

In granting the exemption the Board noted:

Alcoa is an old established company which has never employed women operators due mainly to down sizing for the last few years.

The Company now has a requisition for six operators for when it has received a large number of applications from males but none from females.

The Board hereby grants an exemption from the operation of operations of sections 21 and 59 of the Equal Opportunity Act 1984 this exemption to remain in force until 15 July 1997.
