The reason for the proposed Regulations is to facilitate the undertaking of works and to ensure an appropriate degree of safety of persons in the declared area of Albert Park during construction and other works for the Australian Grand Prix.

The RIS concluded that the proposed Regulations are superior to the alternative of no regulations. This is because they do not provide any additional restrictions on access, but provide a clear indication of what behaviour is appropriate for all affected groups, individuals and the police without having to rely on general laws such as trespass and obstruction, thereby providing significant savings to the community.
