On the decease of a stockholder in a joint account with other stockholders the death may be proved by production of probate of will or letters of administration, as in the case of a sole account, or by certificate of death, or burial extract, which in all cases will require a declaration as to the identity as before mentioned, and the certificate or extract will be retained by the bank. On the decease of the last survivor in a joint account the death must be proved by production of probate of will or letters of administration in the same manner as on a sole account, and the stock and dividends thereon will be at the disposal of the executors or administrator of such last survivor.

In the case of stock remaining in the name of a deceased person and the death of the executors taking place, on the usual proof being lodged at the bank, the stock will be at the disposal of the executors of the last surviving executor, but should the said executor die intestate, the administrator cannot act, nor can executors of an administrator be recognised.

(b) On the marriage of a female stockholder her name and description will be altered in the register with respect to stock standing either in her name solely or jointly with any other persons, on lodgment with the bank of a request signed by her stating the name in full of her husband (who, however, is not required to join in the request), and setting forth the accounts in which it is desired to have the alteration made.

To any stockholder, executor or administrator, other than the sole or first stockholder, executor, or administrator, or to any person, firm or company, on receipt by the bank of the requisite authority, on a form issued by the bank, signed by all the stockholders, executors, or administrators.

Dividends will be paid to any stockholder, executor, or administrator, personally attending at the bank, on his or her written request in the case of a sole account, or on the written request of all the stockholders, executors, or administrators in the case of a joint account, on a form issued by the bank.

(d) Dividend warrants transmitted by post will be crossed and will only be payable through a banker, but the bank will not undertake to cross them to any particular banker, and the stockholders must themselves instruct bankers and others, to whom warrants are sent, as to their disposal.

(e) Subject to the original Regulations as amended by these amending Regulations (in this sub-clause shortly referred to as the London Regulations) the bank is authorized to carry out the Board's Regulations with reference to inscribed stock dated the 24th day of February 1920 and which were approved by the Governor in Council of the State of Victoria on the 30th day of March 1920 and every amendment thereof and/or all Regulations substituted therefor and/or other the Regulations of the Board with reference to inscribed stock, for the time being in force in Victoria (all of which are in this sub-clause shortly referred to as the Victorian Regulations) so far as any Victorian Regulations can reasonably be made applicable to a branch register and be used in aid of the London regulations and to exercise the powers conferred by any of such Victorian Regulations and to comply with and do and perform all things in connexion therewith and particularly to carry out the powers and duties of the Board, the chairman, the registrar and of any officer of the Board in connexion with any of such Victorian Regulations and the operation thereof in regard to the London register.

9. For the purpose of convenience the original Regulations may be renumbered after including placing and numbering the new Regulations set out in the last preceding clause No. 8.

10. These amending Regulations shall be read as one with the original Regulations and such original Regulations and these amending Regulations, may be cited together as the inscription Regulations (London) of the Board.
