Prices Regulation Acts.

NOTICE OF SUSPENSION BY MINISTER OF
OPERATION OF PRICES REGULATION ORDER
No. 571.

WHEREAS, in pursuance of the powers conferred upon him by the Prices Regulation Acts, the Prices Commissioner did, by Prices Regulation Order No. 571 published in the Government Gazette No. 690 of the twelfth day of August, 1953, fix the maximum prices at which certain fermented liquors might be sold in Victoria: And whereas, in pursuance of the powers conferred upon me under those Acts, I, William Slater, the responsible Minister of the Crown for the time being administering those Acts, did on the twelfth day of August, 1953, request the Prices Commissioner to consider further certain matters dealt with by that Order: Now therefore, in further pursuance of the powers so conferred upon me, I do hereby suspend the operation of the whole of Prices Regulation Order No. 571 for a period of twenty-eight days from the said twelfth day of August, 1953.

Dated at Melbourne, this twelfth day of August, 1953.

W. SLATER,
Minister in Charge of Prices.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This not only helps in tracking expenses but also ensures compliance with tax regulations.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used for data collection and analysis. These include surveys, interviews, and focus groups. Each method has its own strengths and limitations, and the choice depends on the specific research objectives.

The third section delves into the statistical analysis of the collected data. It covers topics such as descriptive statistics, inferential statistics, and regression analysis. The goal is to identify patterns and trends in the data that can inform decision-making.

Finally, the document concludes with a summary of the findings and recommendations. It highlights the key insights gained from the research and provides practical advice for implementing these findings in a business context.
